RETURN BOTTLE LATEST FAD OF RUM SMUGGLERS

New Phase in International Rum Running Gives Good Returns.

AEROPLANES BUSY.

MALONE, N.Y., June 20.—Rum-running activities along the Canadian border, resumed a few months ago after a slight decrease during the winter, are climbing to the summer's peak with the recent advent of warm weather.

The nocturnal roar of continuous cavalcades of motor cars echo the North Country. From some quarters have come statements that even airplane squadrons are being used to swell the ever-increasing stream into the northern part of New York State.

But a change has been noticed in the routes which the smugglers are following, for, instead of passing through this section in large caravans, they appear to have selected the extreme eastern and western districts of the State for the entry of their cargoes.

Water Routes Busy.

The water routes available along the St. Lawrence and through Lake Champlain seem to be appealing to the bootleggers. They have not altogether forsaken their old tracks, however, for the roads in this vicinity, and the Pok-o-Moonshine road between Keesville and Elizabethtown in the eastern Adirondacks, are apparently still favorite thoroughfares.

There have been many reports and rumors that rum-running is not paying this year, but the size of the group which continues to engage actively in the calling would tend to belie the assertion.

Many women are now members of the bootlegging fraternity, according to revenue agents. The "bootleg queen" at first was very successful in passing the watchful eyes of agents with cargoes of rum, but of late their wiles have met with less sympathy, agents say.

New Phase of Game.

With the coming of the women rum-runners, there has also developed a new phase of the bootlegging profession—the return of used bottles to Canadian concerns—an angle of the bootlegging game which is netting no little return for a daring few.

Already one person has been arrested on a charge of "bootlegging" used bottles northward across the Canadian line.

The ruddy kingfisher, a bird native of Borneo, makes its nest in the hive of a vicious kind of bee.

HOT WAVE TOOK LIVES OF EIGHT

CHICAGO, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Relief is promised to-day from the hot wave which yesterday caused eight deaths in the Middle West and brought a record-breaking temperature to the regions which have so far experienced a cool and delayed spring.

Overcast skies, forerunners of the storms, are expected to lower the Chicago temperatures, which made a 33-degree jump in eleven hours to the 94-degree peak yesterday evening.

One man dropped dead and another was drowned when he sought relief from the heat, while three prostrations were reported.

Two persons, believed to have been deranged from the 100-degree heat in Iowa, hanged themselves.

Four heat victims were reported from Cleveland, two of them from drowning.

Another prostration victim was in a serious condition.

SECRET OF KEEPING YOUNG

Why is it that some women look older at thirty-five than others do at fifty? Why is it that so many women are always run-down, weak, pale, nervous, irritable and unhappy? Health, vitality and freedom from pain and disease alone can prevent the signs of age from fastening themselves upon women. All over the country women are awakening to the fact that the ills, aches and pains of women may be relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the result is renewed life, energy and the glow of health. In fact the secret of keeping young is to ward off all internal ailments that cause premature old age, which is easily accomplished by this remarkable root and herb remedy.

SPREADING

Democracy is as contagious as smallpox. It is a fire that steadily consumes artistocracy. In England, for instance, less than 40,000 families paid heraldy tax in 1923 (registration of coat-of-arms). In 1880 the number was 252,000.

Rising democracy is submerging the nobility over here. In nobility's place will come an aristrocrcy of wealth, if Britain follows the American precedent.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

One cup strawberries, 2 thin slices cold boiled ham, 1 open vegetable sandwich, ¼ pound baked bluefish with 2 tablespoons tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons string beans, ½ medium-sized cucumber sliced on 2 ounces lettuce, 2 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 2 thin slices crisp gluten toast, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint buttermilk.

OPEN VEGETABLE SANDWICH (INDIVIDUAL)

Two thin slices whole wheat bread, 1 heart lettuce, 1 tablespoon chopped boiled beets, 1 tablespoon sliced radishes, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons diced cooked asparagus, 1 tablespoon lemon juice seasoned with salt and pepper.

The bread should be cut very thin as for any sandwich. Open lettuce heart and cover bread with leaves. Arrange vegetables in the tiny cups, sprinkle with parsley and pour prepared lemon juice over vegetables. Reasonable care should be taken that the lettuce holds the juice.

One cup strawberries with 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup salt codfish with 1 boiled egg creamed on toast, 1 cup cream of spinach soup with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 1 open vegetable sandwich, 2 slices cold boiled ham, 20 potato chips, 1 cup strawberry cream whip, ½ pound baked bluefish with 4 tablespoons tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons scalloped potatoes, 4 tablespoons string beans in cream, ½ medium sized cucumber sliced on 2 ounces of lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 cornmeal muffins, 2 tablespoons croutons, 1 large piece sponge cake, 4 slices rye bread, 1 pint whole milk.

The open vegetable sandwich for the gaining diet is made with buttered bread. Three tablespoons oil mayonnaise take the place of the lemon juice in the reducing sandwich.

The rye bread used in the calculation is from the long thin loaf generally found in bakeries.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 cup chicken and asparagus soup, 2 tablespoons beet greens with 6 beet marbles, 4 ounces broiled hamburg steak, 1 large baked onion, ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons diet French dressing, 3 radishes, 2 green olives, 2 crisp pieces gluten toast, 1 bran roll, 1 whole slice whole wheat bread, 1 pint skimmed milk.

CHICKEN AND ASPARAGUS SOUP.

One 4-pound fowl, 2 medium-sized carrots, 3 stalks celery, 1 medium-sized onion, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups skimmed milk, 1 cup asparagus tips.

Wash and disjoint chicken. Put in soup kettle with onion, carrots and celery diced. Cover with 7 cups of cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Let simmer three or four hours. Add salt at the end of the first half of the cooking. Strain stock and let stand until cool. Remove fat. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Add 2 cups chicken stock and reheat. Add cooked asparagus tips and serve very hot.

This rule is calculated to serve four persons.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 cup uncooked cereal with 1 sliced banana, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ cup cream, 2 eggs scrambled with 2 tablespoons minced ham, 1 cup chicken and asparagus soup, 2 tablespoons beet greens with 6 beet marbles and 2 tablespoons hot orange sauce, 4 tablespoons shrimp and egg salad, 1-6 Washington cream pie with strawberries, 1 cup cream of spinach soup, 4 ounces broiled hamburg steak, 4 tablespoons creamed potatoes, 1 large baked onion with 1 tablespoon butter, ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 3 radishes, 2 ripe olives, 4 tablespoons strawberry Bavarian cream, 2 slices buttered toast, 2 bran rolls, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

The same soup is used for the gaining menu but 4 tablespoons heavy cream is added before serving. The normal person will find the soup quite rich enough even if it is made with skimmed milk.

If tiny beets were on the greens remove them after cooking and serve in a wreath around the mound of greens. If the beets were good sized cut in marbles with a French vegetable cutter after cooking and slipping skins and serve the same.

Rine olives have real food value, as they are rich in fat, while the green ones are merely a condiment.

LEFTOVERS

Left-over parsley or lettuce should be washed and then stored in clean cloths or glass jars without water.

"The Finish that Endures"

EXTERIOR PAINT

For Exterior and Interior Painting Gives the Lowest Annual Service Cost Per Thousand Square Feet.

Covers 500 Square Feet, Two Coats, to the Gallon

Floglaze Exterior gives this greater covering capacity and 25% greater durability by reason of the fact that it is made from a scientifically treated pure raw linseed oil. This oil has all of the good qualities of a long-aged linseed oil, so well known to the old-time painters. It produces a self-levelling finish—it leaves no brush marks, and gives a high gloss, enamel-like finish that does not gather nor retain dust or soot. Floglaze Exterior is not an enamel, but a strictly pure linseed oil paint. Its long life eliminates frequency of renewal, thereby cutting down labor costs in keeping your property well painted and thoroughly protected.

The BRIDAL CROP—
One of Canada's Richest Harvests

This year, the crop promises to be just as bountiful. And these 72,000 brides will spend millions of dollars in furnishing their homes and starting up housekeeping.

$10,800,000 for One Line

Allowing the small sum of $150.00 for furniture for each bride, these 72,000 brides will spend the huge total of $10,800,000 for this one line of goods alone.

Other millions will be spent for rugs, housefurnishings, bedding, pianos, phonographs, silverware, china, linen, stoves, refrigerators, kitchen cabinets, cooking utensils, electrical appliances and many other things for the home.

These 72,000 brides will, also, enter the market as continuous buyers of household necessities, such as flour, breakfast foods, tea, coffee, sugar, canned goods, soap.

These 72,000 brides open up a tremendous new market every year to Canadian manufacturers and dealers.

360,000 in Five Years

During the next five years, there will be over 360,000 brides starting housekeeping in Canada. If a manufacturer could induce a fair percentage of these 360,000 brides to use his product, it would mean a nice increase in business for him.

The surest way of reaping a good share of the bridal harvest during the next five years or ten years or twenty years is to advertise in newspapers, magazines and farm papers. Many of the things the bride purchases this year, she has been reading about and thinking about anywhere from a few months to five years.

Right Before Their Eyes

The manufacturer who advertises brings his product right before the eyes of the brides-to-be. He makes them familiar with the name of his product. They learn its good points. When it comes time for them to buy, they are far more certain to purchase an article that they know by name and reputation than an unadvertised competitive line they know nothing about.

Do you want a larger share of the bridal crop than you have been getting?

Then, it is up to you to sow some advertising seed and keep sowing it continuously year after year. A harvest of growing sales, that will become more bountiful year after year, will be the result.

CAN MAN ROB EARTHQUAKES OF THEIR TERROR?

By R. E. Martin.

While Japan clears the wreckage of the cities of Tokio and Yokohama, leveled by the recent earthquake, the forces of science are being marshalled to find a way to prevent repetition anywhere on earth of what is now known to have been the most terrible disaster in history.

Not that science hopes to prevent other earthquakes. These cataclysms of nature undoubtedly are due to structural changes in the earth itself, and are consequently beyond the power of man to control. But science does expect in time to remove the chance of any such terrible loss of life and property as marked the Japanese catastrophe.

Means of forecasting earthquakes so that the inhabitants of a threatened area may flee in safety before the quake arrives, and the construction of earthquakeproof buildings—these are the goals toward which science is working. In the opinion of leading scientists the day is not far distant when people may live in larger security in places like Japan where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence.

The tremendous importance of this task in which some progress already has been made is evident when we consider that 160,000 earthquakes actually have been catalogued and that about 4,000 earthquakes are felt each year in different parts of the world.

Probably the most important work that has been done in the observation of the causes and nature of earthquakes has been accomplished since the beginning of the twentieth century. Previously all earthquakes were generally regarded as being of volcanic origin. Scientists now believe that most earthquakes are caused by wrinkling and slipping of part of the earth's crust, caused by strain resulting from shrinkage of the more plastic interior of the earth, contortion of the earth's strata, or changes in pressure in the crust itself. However, in some cases, subterranean volcanic action is believed to have been the cause of certain quakes.

The crust of the earth may be considered as a relatively thin skin or rind of rock, about five miles in thickness. As stone broken in a quarry splits along certain definite lines, so this outer covering of the earth tends to split along lines of weakness which geologists know as "faults." Variations in pressure—which may be caused by the weight of mountains or of the water in the ocean—cause movements or dislodgements between the section of the crust, which, of course, are constantly seeking to remain in equilibrium.

The situation may be compared with a row of building blocks, laid side by side and subjected to pressure from both ends. When the pressure becomes too great to be resisted by the friction between the blocks, something will give. They will buckle, and the buckling the blocks, something will give. They will buckle, and the buckling will correspond in a way to the movement of the earth's crust that causes an earthquake.

The most unsettled part of the earth's surface is the western shore of the Pacific Ocean. Here the crust is being thrust upward, giving rise to steep slopes. It was such a buckling of the earth's crust along the cracks believed to exist in the bottom of the Tuscarora Deep, off the coast of Japan, that caused the recent disaster, according to theories so far advanced. The proximity of the Japanese coast to this great trough-like "deep," which goes down more than five miles, and the numerous earthquakes experienced by Japan, lend weight to the theory that pressure exerted by this tremendous volume of water is the cause of such disturbances.

Earthquakes under the sea are called seaquakes. So tremendous are the waves that they can travel at a rate of four or five hundred miles an hour, and still be detected after a journey of more than 10,000 miles.

Earthquakes are known to have occurred in the eastern part of the United States at various times, but science scouts the notion of any quake of a devastating sort ever visiting any but the western coast of America.

Following the Japanese shock, Dr. Bailey Willis, emeritus professor geology at Stanford University, asserted unequivocally that man and not nature is to blame for the disastrous consequences of earthquakes in localities like Japan, Chile, and California, which are known to be in the earthquake zone. His statement was based on observations in Chile, where he had been investgating causes of earthquakes for the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. He pointed out that it is not the earthquakes themselves—the actual ground tremors—that cause the frightful loss of life, but the events that follow the quakes—the falling of masonry, the fires, the floods from reservoirs and similar things.

"To construct a house that will withstand an earthquake is not difficult if you can command the right materials and good carpenters," says Doctor Willis.

"A point that has not been recognized generally by architects or engineers is that it is the earth that moves while the house tries to stand still. If you could put a ball bearing between your house and its foundations, it would be safe in time of earthquake. This idea is embodied in every instrument for recording earthquakes and was applied many years ago by Sir John Milne to the construction of a lighthouse in Japan. I believe it can be introduced successfully in some combination of bearings, springs, or shock absorbers.

"For the ordinary house a broad ditch packed with cobblestones on which there rests a well braced frame of heavy beams would not be a bad substitute. It would allow the ground to slide around under the house, which could be jacked back into position with reference to such unstable things as trees, garden walks, and roads at your convenience."

Doctor Willis adds that the displacement within the earth that results in rock slips that science now regards as the cause of earthquakes is developing below the surface for months before the quake occurs. This displacement usually does not actually reach the surface, but produces vibrations or waves that can be recorded by special instruments as a means of obtaining forewarning of the of the coming quake. The vibrations travel great distances at high velocity before they die out.

"The instruments will have to be set up in many places," said Doctor Willis, "and records kept for years before the science of predicting earthquakes is set on a firm basis. I think it is not at all unlikely that in the future earthquakes can be predicted much as the weather is predicted now. Warnings can be sent so threatened districts and measures taken by the populations to save themselves."

WATER JEWELS

Well, well! The girls don't have to leave their jewellery off when they go in swimming nowadays. Rubber bracelets and earrings have solved their problem. And they look pretty nice, too—especially on this young swimmer, Laura Walters, of New York.

NEGROES

Six million negroes now are members of the Universal Negro Improvement Association. They want "a black republic in Africa." Liberia, modeled on this idea, has proved a failure. They may have been due to its location and resources. "Africa for the black man' is a logical slogan, though a far-off dream.

ARE DEPENDENT ON EACH OTHER

The necessity for more personal contact and more practical co-operation between all commercial, scientific, and agricultural factors in the development of communities and the nation, and the need for the realization that the prosperity of no city can be greater than the prosperity of its surrounding territory, were urged today by Carl J. Baer, Manager of the Development Service Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis, in an address before the Eighth Annual convention of all the 1259 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada, now being held in Denver, Colorado.

"Today we are in a critical condition because of the growing breach between the people of the cities and the people on the farms of the country," said Mr. Baer.

"We have failed to look upon agriculture as a business, and the majority of people do not realize that it is the largest business in the world. It is a big business, but in comparison with others, it is not a profitable one. Taking into consideration the investment, the labor, the false credit for the profit because of the rise in land values, and the decreasing fertility of the soil, the average farmer has not been able to accumulate any money in the last fifty years.

"Business men of the cities must see to it that the 45,000,000 people on the farms have an even break with city people. Rural children sho uld have the same facilities for education, recreation, and health as city children. Farm people should have equal facilities for educational and financial advancement as the people in the cities.

"Even at present, the jealousies and suspicion between farm and city people in some sections is pitiful. Conditions separate the people instead of drawing them together.

"Numerous examples of the necessity to co-operate to eliminate such conditions in our economic life prove the inter-dependence of town and country, and in every case they show that the assistance of business men, civic and commercial organizations on direct behalf of the farmers in their own sections has increased the commerce of their cities.

"Seventy per cent. of all the raw products of the world come from the farm. While five and one half billion dollars was necessary to run the American government last year, ninety per cent. of that amount was spent in the payment of war debts, and in maintaining the army and navy. Of the one per cent. that went to education and agriculture, only one third, or thirty cents out of every hundred dollars went to the agriculture that produced seventy dollars of the one hundred. Since much more money will probably not come from the government, the problem is up to the people in each community itself.

"We in the cities have been organizing every kind of an organization to protect business and labor, but we haven't had sense enough to help organize the very institution that is the basis of all prosperity. We need to rehabilitate the farms, get farmers in all civic groups, and secure the co-operation necessary to make for balanced prosperity."

PRICES.

What goes up, must come down. This is true of stones, arrows and baseballs. Sometimes we're not so sure about prices, which seem to have a special gravitational law of their own.

However, Dun's Review reports that average wholesale prices in March dropped more than two per cent. How long until this will be reflected in the cost of living, if ever? Two per cent may not seem much. But it'd mean two cents on every dollar you spend.

FROHMAN TALKS OF EARLY DAYS

NEW YORK, June 20.—Daniel Frohman, at the head of the theatrical profession after an experience of forty years in all phases of it, president of the Actors' Fund, and still one of the big producers and managers; known from Coast to Coast by fame and by personal contact, still loves a show, and the atmosphere of the theatre is the perfume of flowers to him. While shading the time-worn age of three-score and and ten, which in this advanced era is merely matured youth, he is one of the most active actors in the drama of everyday life and in the varied energies of the stage and its vocation.

His office, on one of the upper floors of his Lyceum Theatre, at 149 West Forty-fifth Street, is his workshop, and within, the four walls are crowded memories which are the very essence of his life: books, letters, presents, photographs, memoirs, mementoes and programmes, with every one of which some cherished association is connected. In his early life, Mr. Frohman was in advance of his profession—that is, he was one of the original "advance men." The press agents who came after him had a picnic compared with the plodders who puddled through with the problems of his time, when Daniel Frohman, of the Lyceum, was just Dan of the One-Night Stands.

In his Lyceum studio when the writer was present the other afternoon he harked back to the olden days, and when he opened up the land of reminiscence what a wonderful procession of men and women passed through its gates—Booth, Barrett, McCullogh, Barton Hill, Sothern, Florence, Steele Mackaye, Augustin Daly, Clara Morris, Mrs. Whiffen, Lotta, Effie Ellsler, Bernhardt, Duse and Modjeska, the last three the most wonderful women, to his mind, who ever adorned the stage.

"When I started out on the road in the late seventies," he said, "I went ahead with a 1500-pound trunk containing our posters and cuts. My business was not only with the billposters and newspapers, but I had to find a hall and hire it. Fifteen dollars for the hall and $3 for the licence, and the one-night stand was ready. Then I hired a horse and wagon and went on to the next town, where I left it at a branch stable, and the next man going the other way took it home.

"There was no telephone in those days, and fast work, such as it was, had to be done by telegraph. Down South and out in California we worked the horse-and-buggy route, and in Texas and California many a livery stable was transformed into a theatre. In Califoruia, where the climate was delightful and reliable, when I got into a big town, I used to make for the market-place, where the farmers' rigs were hitched and from where stage coaches left for various towns. I could book several towns there through the coaches, sending my printing and advance stuff for the newspaper ahead.

"I was ahead of a minstrel show controlled by Jack Haverly, then the biggest operator in the business. But mine was only a little show, and the first thing a troupe did when it reached town was to give a procession. In those days of minstrelsy and burlesque the artists were required not only to sing and dance and talk some, but had to know how to play some instrument so that they couls swell the procession.

"Of course, that applied to the road shows. They didn't parade in New York, but some of the big shows had their parades in such towns as Chicago and San Francisco. The only chance I had to see our show was when we would get a booking for a week in Cincinnati, Chicago or some of the big cities. Then all I had to do was to bil the town and take a week's surcease from the sorrows of the one-night stand. How we little fellows did envy the advance men of the regular week shows! They would come into the billposter's shop, like the owner of the show, and say: "Smith, my stuff will be on on Tuesday; get it out Wednesday. Good day.'

"They'd express their stuff and we'd pack ours in a buggy or wagon, and we certainly had to hustle. We got a pass on the railroad for ourselves and trunks, and where there were rival parallel roads we'd sometimes get two passes for the sake of our trade. On the road we would get a room on the top floor for $2 a day, including four meals, professional rates. I think that it was the famous old Continental Hotel, of Philadelphia, that first set out the actors' floor, the top.

"The hardships of the road were fully compensated by the knowledge they brought one. I learned that when Wteele Mackaye engaged me as business manager of the old Madison Square Theatre, at Twenty-fourth and Broadway, back of the old Fifth Avenue Hotel, Mackaye succeeded Augustin Daly, who brought out Clara Morris there, who had just inflamed the town with her emotional acting.

"Under Steele Mackaye's management 'Hazel Kirke' was put on and made the first long run in New York, lasting through 486 performances. Effie Ellsler, who played the title role, was then taking juvenile parts, and now she is playing the old lady in 'The Bat'; Mrs. Whiffen, who appeared as her mother in the play, is still playing old-lady parts and is in 'Goose Hangs High.' Clara Morris, the foremost actress of her time, was always sick, and while she was on the stage some one always stood in the wings to hand her sustaining medicines in case of an expected collapse. She is still living and in her old age has turned to literature.

"Lotta, charming, piquant, fascinating, alluring little Lotta Crabtree, was the sunbeam of the stage. She could sing, dance, act and play several musical instruments. She was the star of 'Firefly,' and played 'Little Nell' and the 'Marchioness' in 'Old Curiosity Shop.' She was the rage and many sought her hand, only to receive the mitten. She was just as popular in San Francisco, from where she came, and where a monument bearing her name has been erected in her honor in the heart of the city. Lotta never married. She lives in Boston and is worth several million dollars.

"I have seen many of the Juliets and Ophelias of those days playing old-lady parts in their later life, and not a few of them are in the Actors' Fund Home on Staten Island, guests of the profession in safe and comfortable shelter in their declining years. When I was prowling around as an advance agent I little thought that I would become president of the Actors' Fund to take care of these fading lights of a once glorious day.

"Often when I see old-lady parts being played the characters tell me that they like to see me in front, knowing that I remember them in their youth. On the other hand, the younger women rather regret, if not resent, my presence, realizing that I know how old they are. But on the stage, years have nothing to do with the age of an actress. She always is young as long as she can contribute charm and effect.

"During the forty years of my experience I have not ceased to regard the members of the profession with affection and respect for their deeds and accomplishments and manitaining the dignity of the stage as a noble and useful institution."

HE'S A DOCTOR THOUGH BLIND

Jacob Bolotin, 35, of Chicago, is a successful doctor despite the fact that he was born blind. He was recently appointed director of the Illinois Tuberculosis Hospital.

Bolotin earned his way through college by selling typewriters. He rose to a high position with the typewriter concern and then turned to medicine. Medicine bottles he uses are marked with raised letters.

YEARS

A romantic Irish girl, Elizabeth Kinch, 18, threw a sealed green bottle into the ocean. It took 42 years to cross the Atlantic. The other day it was picked up on the eastern coast by a real estate man. He read the note inside. The girl had written that she "hoped some nice boy would find it."

If she still is living, you can imagine her surprise when she hears from the real estate man or reads the story in the newspapers.

She is 60 now and many have forgotten all about the bottle. Things that seem crucially important in youth fade with the passing of the years.

MURDOCK ISSUE WILL BE HEARD

Charges Against Hon. James Will Be Cleared Up Next Wednesday.

PORTER IS ILL

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —Final discussion of the charges made against Hon. James Murdock, in connection with the Home Bank, will take place in the House of Commons next Wednesday. Notice to this effect was given yesterday by J. E. Archambault, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, which recently exonerated the minister of labor from charges that he wrongly used knowledge obtained as a minister of the crown. Mr. Archambault had given notice that he would move adoption of the report yesterday, which would have precipitated the discussion.

However, E. Guss Porter (Conservative, West Hastings), who made the charges, was ill, and he had consented to put the motion over until Wednesday. Further delay would not be fair to the minister, who wanted to resume his seat in the House.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen commented that it could hardly have come up in the last few days. It would not be right to introduce such a matter in the absence of the prime minister.

HONORED BY HOLY SEE

Mgr. Rouleau Made Apostolic Protonotary and Received Recognition From France.

QUEBEC, June 20 (Canadian Press). —On the occasion of his golden jubilee as a priest and a professor, Mgr. T. C. Rouleau, principal of the normal school for the last thirty years, was honored both by the Holy See and by the government of the French Republic, being raised to the honor of apostolic protonotary, and made an officer of the French Academy.

The announcement was made at the close of a luncheon at the Chateau Frontenac, which formed part of the programme of the celebration held at the normal school and attended by hundreds of educationalists, priests and laymen.

BURNED TO DEATH

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Thomas Harrison, 26, was burned to death yesterday in a fire of unknown origin which destroyed a boarding house here. Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Covell, owners of the house, and their son, escaped from the burning building by jumping from an upstairs window.

Harrison's absence was not noticed until his charred body was found in the ruins of the building.

AMEND IMMIGRATION ACT.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —A bill to amend the Immigration Act was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration. The bill provides among other things, that if the head of a family is to be deported, the minister may require the transportation company to take back the man's family also free of charge. Another amendment proposed give free transportation in certain circumstances to immigration officers of the different provinces.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —There are at present fifty-seven ships in the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, told F. Renfret (Liberal, St. James, Montreal) in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Sixty-three ships were built; two have been lost, and four sold.

DONALD KIRKE GIVES TANLAC FULL CREDIT

That Montreal play-goers are literally packing their Orpheum Theatre at every performance is at once a tribute to the high standard of the entertainment offered and to the finished artistry of the famous Duffy stock players, not the least popular of whom is Donald Kirke.

Mr. Kirke is not only a favorite on the legitimate stage but is a screen player of note, and it is a further tribute to his consummate acting that, even while tortured with stomach trouble, nervousness and other ills, he kept "on with the play" day in and day out until he found relief by taking TANLAC. As he says:

"My stomach had almost failed me and I wonder now how I ever kept up I ate so little. Nights I would toss and turn for hours in nervousness; piercing sick headaches made me suffer agony, and at times on the stage I was so nervous, weak and trembly that I could hardly remember my lines.

"I would have given a thousand dollars to get the relief Tanlac has given me for less than five dollars. My appetite was never better, I eat everything and have gained 12 pounds. I'm never a bit weak or nervous, never have a headache, and I feel fine and dandy. I will gladly confirm these facts by 'phone or letter."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

SMUTS WILL CONTEST.

General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, whose majority in the Assembly was wiped out in this week's election has accepted the offer of Colonel G. M. Glaasson, member of the assembly for Standerton, Transvaal, to contest for his seat.

DELUGE OF LAW.

The steady additions to Federal and Provincial statutes has been referred to as a "Rain of Law."

On this basis the dying moments of the recent session of the Ontario Legislature treated this Province to a deluge, judging from the following statistics recently compiled: 20 bills were passed through committee in one session, while third reading was given to 58 measures in the brief space of 14 minutes. Another record for the session was the putting of 9 bills through three stages in one sitting. Parliamentary bills, Federal and Provincial, passed in the past year total 900.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —A bill to amend the act incorporating the board of the Presbyterian College, Halifax, was passed by the Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons yesterday.

OLD SPELLING IN DOCUMENTS

Criticism of Adherence to English Spelling Voiced in Parliament.

OUT OF ORDER

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —A criticism of the spelling used in parliamentary reports and documents, wherein it adheres to the old English form in spelling certain words, was ruled out of the report of the parliamentary committee on printing by Mr. Speaker yesterday. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux said that the committee's function was to investigate and report on such matters as were referred to it by the House. The orthography of parliamentary papers had never been placed under its purview. C. A. Gauvreau, chairman of the committee, explained that the committee had felt itself bound to consider the representations of Fred Cook on the subject. The Speaker replied that the authority of Parliament was higher than Mr. Cook's. W. F. Maclean (Conservative, South York) agreed that the criticism should not be accepted, and L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants) said, "stick to the old English spelling."

HOME BANK HEARING.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). —As many as two hundred Home Bank depositors may be present when their deputation is received by the commons banking and commerce committee. An intimation to this effect was given by Chairman Vien at the meeting yesterday. The date for receiving the Home Bank deputation is Wednesday, June 25.

MILKMEN FIGHT OVER A BOTTLE

Case in Police Court This Morning Amused the Railbirds.

A quarrel between two south-end milkmen provided a police court case this morning. A bottle was partially the cause of the altercation; not a beer bottle, but an innocent milk bottle.

"I'll get him again, break his ——— neck and throw him in the river," were the words of a youthful witness, who declared that the defendant had made that statement to him, respecting the plaintiff, last Sunday morning.

The feature of the proceedings was the fact that the accused conducted his own case, and he performed his task remarkably well. He had a list of queries all prepared for the plaintiff and when Magistrate Langley told him he could ask the witness any questions, on his evidence, he rose to his feet and speaking firmly and defiantly, cross-examined the plaintiff in good style, covering every point.

Magistrate Langley was gracious and considerate and gave the accused every advantage a member of the bar could demand.

The alleged encounter took place last Tuesday morning, in the vicinity of the Locks Bridge as two milk wagons drew up totgether.

The plaintiff testified that the accused stepped into his wagon, without explanation, engaged him in a quarrel and before he could shake him off and get the horse started, he had received several blows about the head. "I am afraid of this man," he told Mr. J. A. O'Brien, who conducted the case for the prosecution. A 14 year old boy testified that he saw lumps on each side of the plaintiff's jaw and one on his nose the day after the fight. Other witnesses told of seeing the horse coming down the street, with the accused in the wagon and of hearing the plaintiff say, "I will have you arrested."

On the other hand the defendant declared that he only wanted to see the prosecutor about certain slanderous statements he had made and "I was greeted by a slash from a gad" he told the court. "He scratched my face and hit me with a milk bottle on the head and after that I thought it was about time I was getting into it, so I stepped inside and somehow or another my right fist connected with his jaw," said the witness.

The prosecutor in his evidence-in-chief stated that he struck at the accused to defend himself.

In his cross-examination he was asked by the accused:—

"You said that you struck at me with a bottle."

"Yes, to defend myself."

"Well let me tell you now that that bottle hit me right on the head," said the accused.

"Do you consider it a manly thing to hit a man with a gad, just as he goes over to greet you the time of day."

"It's for me to say what is manly," said His Worship.

After Mr. O'Brien had recalled the Plaintiff to the stand His Worship told the accused that he could examine the plaintiff further on what he had stated in is reply.

"Your Worship, it seems useless for me to question him as this man is not telling the truth," replied the defendant.

"Possibly he thinks the same of your testimony, and its the duty of counsel to show that he is not telling the truth, in an endeavour to strengthen your case," His Worship explained.

He saw the difficulty in another light and proceeded to question the prosecutor.

The small boy who gave evidence broke down as he entered the stand. His Worship assured him that there was nothing to be afraid of and that he was in the midst of a body of policemen who would protect him, if it were necessary. After a few soothing remarks he cleared his eyes and gave his evidence.

Mr. O'Brien while trying to show to Court that the youth appreciated the nature of an oath, asked he witness if he attended Sunday School.

"Yes sir," was the reply.

"What happen to people who tell lies," he was asked.

"They go to the bad place," he told Mr. O'Brien.

This explanation satisfied the Magistrate that the boy understood the solemnity of an oath and he was duly sworn.

The accused was fined $20 and costs and the Magistrate severely reproved his conduct.

A fine of $20 is the maximum penalty on a charge of criminal assault and His Worship stated that he would have included a prison term in his sentence if a charge if aggravated assault had been laid.

A Recital

An interesting piano recital by pupils of Miss Norma Moore, A.C.A.M., assisted by little Miss Margaret Pitchford and Mr. Robert Moore, was given in the music hall of the J. M. Greene store on Tuesday evening, in the presence of a good-sized and appreciative audience. Those taking part gave a performance creditable to themselves and their teacher. They were: Miss G. Doig, Dorothy Allen, Josephine Parkins, Nellie Butler, Myrtle Jones, Thelma Duffin, Eleanor Gibson, Beatrice Wallace, Helen Barrie, Phyllis Kidd, Irene Killingbeck, Fern Rahmel, Chrissie Milby, Geraldine Campbell, Eileen Rose and Ella Heal, Lionel Ferguson, Francis Andrews, Rayborn Cook, Lionel Doughty, Roy Tranter, Hudson Hale, Harold Sowden, Willie Austin, Willie Warren, Stewart Young and Reginald Howden.

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAMES SATURDAY

Punch Derry Will Have to Pitch His Head Off on Saturday to Hold the C.G.E. Crew.

Can Punch Derry hold the C.G.E. in Saturday's game at the Exhibition Park? He held them once in their first game, but whether he can hold them again or not is a question that is hard to solve. This question will be settled on Saturday afternoon when the two teams clash in a game that is sure to be a battle. These two teams battled out a game in Cobourg about two weeks ago, and the homesters came out on top when they succeeded in manufacturing one lone tally, while they held the C.G.E. to a few scattered hits and no runs. The C.G.E. will step a snappy looking aggregation into the field, and amongst them will be seen Herb. Wolfe, who has been released by the Central League team. He will add some strength to their team, and with the rest of the Generals on their best behavior they should give the Cobourg team a great battle. The Raybestos and the Dye Works of Cobourg will also put on a game. These teams will be out fighting their heads off to get out of the cellar position, and they should give the fans a treat of snappy ball.

SMITH TOWNSHIP BARNS DESTROYED

Two Barns on Farm of Mr. Fred Heard Went Up in Smoke.

The two barns belonging to Fred. Heard, 8th Concession of Smith Township, were burned this morning at eleven o'clock, along with two pigs, two calves and a quantity of farm machinery. A hastily-organized bucket brigade succeeded in confining the fire to the barns, which were burned to the ground. Although the certain cause of the fire is unknown, it is thought that it had some connection with a brush fire in the vicinity, from which sparks might have ignited the barns. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

PRINCE OF WALES ON TRAINING TRIP

Dragoons Camping at the Exhibition Grounds.

Exhibition Park is the scene of much activity these days. The 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons are holding their annual training here, opening their camp at the park yesterday. There were 130 in all ranks with their equipment and include 100 fine horses.

A visiting general will inspect the ranks next Wednesday and Thursday and a wide range of sporting events will commence to-morrow.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR DEPARTING TEACHERS

On Wednesday evening of this week, Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the Y.W.C.A. Boarding Home, entertained the girl residents at the annual High Tea which acts as a farewell party for departing Normalites and teachers and vacation-seeking business girls who have made their home at the 'Y' during the year. The tea was served in the dining-room, at tables prettily arranged with lilacs and cosmos. Mr. D. Walker, principal of the Normal school, was present, and spoke briefly in appreciation of the 'Y' home as a haven for Normal students, and of the kindly supervision exercised by Mrs. Morrison, who looked after the girls so carefully and well. Mrs. Morrison also spoke of the pleasant relations existing in the Home throughout the year, between herself and the girls, and acknowledged with hearty thanks Mr. Walker's remarks and the presentation of a handsome basket of American Beauty roses, presented by the girls. During the evening, which broke up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, Miss Lois Garret played several times,, and Miss Dorothy Engel sang.

A GRAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN ON MONDAY

A grand concert to be given in the G.W.V.A. hall on Monday evening of Next week, June 23rd, will include a special performance by Miss Jean B. Cooper, teacher of dancing at the United Kingdom Academy, Dumferm line, Scotland. Miss Cooper, who is at present the guest in the city of Mr. and Mrs. James Milby, has performed in all the leading theatres in Scotland and England, and is also a teacher of dancing in the United Kingdo. Academy, in Dumfermline. At her last performance in St. Andrew's Hall, in Glasgow, over 3000 people were in attendance.

An exhibition of classical and characteristic dances will be given by Miss Cooper on Monday evening, including "La Bacchanal," the Dance of the Water Nymphs, and a Russian Dance. This is Miss Cooper's only exhibition performance in Canada and will be given to further the cause for which the concert has been arranged, in aid of the charitable work of the G.W.V.A. Messrs. Stevenson, basso; T. Stazicker, baritone, and W. Thompson, Scotch comedian, have also kindly consented to take part in the programme.

The programme will be followed by dancing, for which a good orchestra has been provided.

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

MINING LETTER.

The mining market was devoid of any feature this morning. The only stock to show any action was Canadian Lorraine, which sold at 60 on small trading. The rest of the list was unchanged but held firm. The Toronto and Montreal markets were steady this morning but the transactions were on a small scale. The only stock to show any action worth mentioning was Toronto Rails which sold up to 95¼. The rest of the list was unchanged.

New York showed pressure this morning at the opening but after the initial selling was over the list steadied up and trading fell away to very small proportions. At noon the market was quiet and trading was on a small scale. The next news to break is the Republican convention. The market may be expected to mark time till then.

The wheat crop in Russia this year has been practically devastated, so Washington has been advised. The drought and field mice are said to be responsible.

WEEK END PROGRAM AT ROYAL IS GREAT

"Boy of Mine" a Wonderfully Attractive Picture—Balance of Programme is Excellent.

The Comedies are fine and with the novelty pictures make an extremely well balanced and acceptable program. We would like everybody who can to see this picture. The Royal Theatre. Another week end picture at the Royal "Boy of Mine" is attracting most favorable comment. It is a Booth Tarkington story and is one of the best human stories he has written.

ROOF BURNED OFF HOUSE ON GEORGE

Contents Were Not Damaged But Fireman Had Hands Burned by the Flames.

The fire which broke out this morning at 11.55 at the residence of 340 George street south, completely destroyed the roof. The whole roof was in flames and the dry shingles caused a dense heat that made it all the harder for the firemen who did everything in their power to save as much of the roof and the building as possible. The building was of red brick but the lower part of the house was not damaged. The roof was the only part of the dwelling that was destroyed. When the firemen arrived at the scene the fire had had a good start before the alarm was turned in. The flames were reaching high into the sky and dense smoke was gushing out through holes in the roof. Two lines of hose were laid while the firemen also used every thing else they had

The fire raged for over an hour before it was extinguished. The following fire fighting apparatus was used: 500 feet of 2½ inch hose, a 35 gallon chemical, 200 feet of chemical hose, 1 length of 1½ inch hose, two three gallon chemicals, 20 foot ladder, 12 foot roof ladder, one 3 gallon chemical, 4 tarpaulins 21 foot wall ladder, 28 foot wall ladder and a 12 foot roof ladder, 15 foot roof ladder, one four gallon chemical and four brooms. Nothing inside the house was destroyed but Mr. Verge Carr, the chief's driver, had his hands burned by the flames. The cause of the fire is unknown and the loss has not yet been estimated.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE THAT—

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as Local Improvements, Warrenite bitulithic pavements on the following streets between the points hereinafter mentioned, and intends to specially assess part of the cost upon the land abutting directly on the said works respectively.

2. The estimated cost of each of said works, the estimated portion of the cost of each of them to be paid by the Corporation, and the estimated special rate per foot frontage for each of said works are set out below. The special rate is to be paid in 10 annual instalments.

Street	Cost of Work	Portion Payable by Corporation	Estimated Special Rate Per Foot Frontage
Water Street, from Brock St. to Dublin St.	$25,328.50	$15,156.25	$4.11

Peterborough, June 20, 1924.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeCarlonis have returned home from motor trip to Toronto, Hamilton, and Brantford. Mr. and Mrs. DeCarlonis brought back with them from Brantford their little daughter Aida, who is a pupil at the Brantford School for the Blind, and who received first-class honours in pianoforte examinations at the Institute this year. The young girl is also taking up the study of the violin.

Among the Peterborough people who motored down to Wallace Point yesterday for th picnic of the combined U.F.O Clubs of Cavan and South Monaghan were noticed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wearing, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burnham and daughter Dorothy, Miss Verna Fell, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clarke and Mr. Harry Clarke.

Dr. J. A. Morgan, who has been attending the meetings of the Canadian and Ontario Medical Societies in Ottawa this week, returned this morning. Dr. N. D. Buchanan also returned home. Other local physicians who attended the meetings were Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. F. C. Neal, and Dr. A. Moir.

Mrs. J. W. Grice, of St. Thomas, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. S. Kemp, George Street, and with her brother, Mr. James Bestard, in North Monaghan.

Omission was made yesterday in the account of the wedding of Miss Erma Elliott of this city and Charles Palmer, of Toronto, which took place on Wednesday, of the names of the ushers at the ceremony. A brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Wilfred Palmer of Toronto, and the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. James Price of Peterboro, acted in this capacity. The bride's dress was of shell-pink georgette, trimmed with silver lace.

WEDDING BELLS

HUNTER—MACFARLANE.

The marriage took place in Keene, on Wednesday of this week, at three o'clock, of Mary Eleanor, daughter of Mrs. Emma Macfarlane of Keene, and the late Mr. Macfarlane, and Herbert O. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hunter, of Port Stanley. The ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian church, by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Archibald..

The bride was stylishly attired in a suit of navy tricotine, with black lace picture hat and bouquet of ophelia roses. A brother of the bride, Jack Macfarlane, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene, who also sang during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony, a luncheon to the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties was served at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left later on a motor trip to Detroit. They will reside in Port Stanley.

SILK COAT DRESS

DEATH OF PROMINENT GEORGE ST. MERCHANT

L. J. (Joe) Picard, Jr., of the firm of H. LeBrun & Co., passed away this afternoon.

The death took place this afternoon about four o'clock of L. J. Picard, Jr., of H. LeBrun & Co., Charlotte street west, after a very short illness of only a few days.

OBITUARY.

MRS. SYDNEY BARFETT.

The death occurred in Rochester on Thursday, June 19th, of Mrs. Sydney Barfett, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Howell, leaving one brother, Harold.

Interment to take place in Little Lake Cemetery. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

LOCAL WOMEN'S COUNCIL HELD MONTHLY MEETING

The Local Council of Women held their regular monthly meeting, which will be their last regular meeting until September, in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. A. Stevenson, occupied the chair.

Correspondence was read by Mrs. A. Mowat.

A letter from the Market Supply Department at Ottawa was read, in answer to a communication forwarded to that branch some time ago by Dr. Jessie Birnie, convenor of the Committee on Public Health, asking information on how inspection of meat was carried out. The letter from Ottawa contained an offer to put ort a demonstration of meat inspection methods in Peterborough, in charge of the Department.

A request from the Peterborough Liberal Women's Association, requesting affiliation with the Local Council, was received, also one with the same request from the Female Voice Choir. Both societies were taken into affiliation.

A letter from the Provincial Council was received, advocating the formation of a League of Nations Committee, also urging the sending of a representative to the Social Service Council to be held in Toronto next week.

Closer supervision of vaudeville programmes in theatres was also suggested.

Mrs. Stevenson suggested consideration by the affiliated societies of the question of advocating a change in election day date from New Year's Day until some time early in December, with the idea of bringing in a resolution along this line some time in the fall.

Mrs. J. Mills reported on the recent tea held by the Council, which brought in net proceeds somewhere in the neighbourhood of $40.00.

CO-OPERATION IS URGED AT U. F. O. ANNUAL PICNIC

THE REFERENDUM

Rev. A. H. McConnachie Regretted Action of Farmers in Entering Politics.

(By Staff Reporter.)

The annual picnic of the combined U.F.O. Clubs of Cavan and South Monaghan took place yesterday at Wallace's Point, with an attendance of between five and six hundred people, a total made lower than usual on account of the annual picnic of the Peterboro U.F.O. Club, held yesterday, also in Smith Township. Speakers at Wallace's Point were Mr. John F. Martin, of Paris, Ontario, organizer for the U.F.O. Co-operative Company, and Mrs. F. Webster, of Oakwood, secretary of the United Farm Young People's Society for the County of Victoria. Rev. A. H. McConnachie, of Centreville, also spoke briefly. Others present on the platform were Mrs. J. White, of South Monaghan, a prominent member of the U.F.W.O. Club, and S. Staples, ex-M.L.A. for East Durham. E. Anderson, president of the combined South Monaghan and Cavan Clubs, occupied the chair.

The picnickers were made heartily welcome on the spacious and attractive premises at Wallace's Point owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell. The weather was propitious all afternoon, a very light shower being the only intermission in a perfect picnic day, and merry parties enjoyed picnic suppers on the grass, and patronized extensively the ice-cream booth. Two baseball games, with a softball game by two competing teams of ladies, were played off before nightfall. A dance in the big dance hall on the grounds ended a pleasant day. c

Interesting Speeches.

A brief address by the chairman was followed by the speech of Mr. J. F. Martin, who spoke on the necessity of co-operative methods in marketing farm products, and the advantages to be derived from the system. Instancing the example of the manufacturers of farming machinery in eliminating competition and combining to sell their products at a fixed price, Mr. Martin said: "We should take a leaf out of their book and try and do the same thing."

LOCAL STRIKE ENDED TODAY

All Hands Reported for Duty in Peterboro Office This Morning.

CRISIS PASSED

The postal strike is ended, so far as Peterboro is concerned.

Postmaster John Corkery expressed his pleasure this morning in the agreement that brought all his men into the office to resume work at opening time. There was a meeting of the postal workers last night that lasted into the early hours of this morning. Mail carriers were out on their routes at 8.30, and the work had not become so badly disorganized, the Postmaster said, that it will not take long to get back to normal.

The telegraph offices in the city were kept busy yesterday with the extra work sent their way through the failure of the mails, and several firms sent messengers to Toronto to convey their private mail.

At noon to-day the committee representing the Peterborough Letter Carriers issued the following statement:

"For the benefit of the local labor unions and the public generally, the Letter Carriers of this city beg to state the reason for returning to duty after being called out by their Federated secretary, was the effect of a telegram being received by the Postmaster to the effect that the positions of the postal workers would be filled, which caused a certain number of the postal clerks to change their attitude in regard to remaining out, thereby causing the Letter Carriers to also return to duty as we could not carry on the strike without the support of the full local staff."

Signed on behalf of Local Carriers,

J. J. GRISDALE, Pres.
G. S. CARTER.
E. E. LEE.

Special arrangements were made by The Examiner to receive its news during the tie-up, and while by far the larger part comes by telegraph there is to-day the usual full complement of district news for the early mail edition.

FREIGHT BOATS RETURN PROFIT

Sir Henry Thornton Tells House Government Ships Made $78,026 in Year.

ESTIMATE APPROVED

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Eight grain steamers operated by the Government Merchant Marine made 107 trips, carrying 11,387,000 bushels, on the Great Lakes last season, Sir Henry Thornton told the House of Commons committee examining the Canadian National Railway and Government Merchant Marine account, yesterday. On these voyages the earnings were $585,288, and operating expenses $507,261. A profit of $78,026 was shown; this figure did not include interest charges, said Sir Henry.

The estimate of $900,000 for Merchant Marine was approvad by the committee.

The Hotel Scribe.

Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways, said he had gone to Europe in the summer of 1923 regarding the purchase of the Hotel Scribe. He found that Mr. Aronovici, who had acted for the railway company in the purchase, had plans to rent the upper stories of the Hotel Scribe building to a hotel company at what would probably be considerable profit to himself. This was disapproved and the plan abandoned. Later Mr. Aronovici stated that he had no wish to make any money out of the thing. Major Bell made the arrangements for the formation of the company to make the purchase, and the necessary loans. He returned to Ottawa and received the informal consent of the Government to proceed with the purchase.

The difficulties encountered in getting the tenants out of the Scribe building were outlined. Major Bell had declined to pay to Mr. Aronovivi commission on any transactions for which vouchers could not be produced. The final settlement with him was 1,735,000 francs. The total cost for the Hotel Scribe transaction was $2,700,000. Major Bell was of the opinion it was the finest site in Paris.

It was estimated that, by the time the offices were rented and occupied it would return six per cent. The alterations would cost between five and six thousand dollars.

Sir Henry Drayton asked if it was true that the matter had never been before the C.N.R. directors previous to its being made public in the House of Commons last June.

"That is correct," said Sir Henry Thornton.

Sir Henry Thornton declined to give the names of the two gentlemen who had given him the information he had regarding the value of the property. Sir Henry also objected to disclosing the name of the New York syndicate that had originally undertaken to finance the purchase. Later the deal had fallen through.

Three-tenths of the earnings of a Belgian convict are given to him at the end of his term of imprisonment.

CARE URGED IN LEPROSY STUDY AT CONVENTION

Ten Cases in New Brunswick and Nine in British Columbia, Says Doctor.

SMOKING DEFENDED

Canadian Medical Convention Heard Prominent Speakers at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—The Canadian medical profession were urged by Dr. J. D. Page, of the Federal Department of Health, at the Canadian Medical Convention here yesterday to investigate leprosy more closely so that they could diagnose the disease when a leper, not knowing what he was suffering from, came to the physicians for treatment.

He instanced the case of a girl visiting various doctors for two years before a correct diagnosis was made that she was afflicted with leprosy. At the present time there were ten cases of leprosy in New Brunswick, of which four were active, while there were nine cases in British Columbia, of which seven were active.

Smoking Defended.

The "athletic heart," like the strained heart, were myths, while evidence of tobacco causing a permanent disease of the heart was meagre, declared Dr. John Parkinson, of London, England, eminent authority on heart disease. He said that even excessive smoking did not injure the heart permanently, nor was there evidence to show that heart disease originated from smoking to excess.

The main causes of heart disease were rheumatic fever, known as heart fever, and syphilis.

He urged medical men to try and decide with accuracy whether heart disease existed or not. This was important, because by excluding heart disease, the patients were relieved in their minds and confidence restored. He deplored the tendency to reject men during the war on the slightest evidence of valvular disease, and added that the same process was going on in civil life. It should be a point of honor with the medical profession not to cause needless alarm in giving judgment which had neither discovered good ground for assurance of heart disease, nor omitted to sift the evidence, he said.

COUNTRY MAY LOSE ITS COAL RESERVE

Senator Pope Says Facts Are Being Concealed and Urges an Investigation.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—Senator Pope, in the Senate yesterday, spoke on his inquiry in reference to the alienation of coal lands within the national coal reserves in Alberta and also regarding the correspondence between the Government of Canada and that of the United States in so far as the Isenburg lease in this area was concerned. He gave notice of a special committee to inquire into the position of leases in the national coal reserve.

Senator Dandurand said that there were 290,000 acres in this coal area, and but seven leases amounting to 7,500 acres held by private parties. These leases were either in existence before the reserve was created or applications had been made for them. The Government was not in a position to deal with the international phase of the situation, but that he would give all other information asked for except that as regarded the correspondence with the United States authorities. He could not see the necessity of a private special committee.

Senator Pope felt the facts about this coal reserve were being concealed. These leases to private parties had been in arrears and had not been cancelled as had been done with the Isenburg lease. This discrimination had produced serious complications and the country was in danger of losing the whole coal area.

BRITAIN ASKS U.S. TO TAKE OVER EFFECTS

Cummins' Withdrawal From Mexico Necessitates Request for Protection.

MISSION CANCELLED

President Obregon Stopped Proceedings to Expel British Agent.

WASHINGTON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Action of the State Department in instructing Charge Schoenfeld at Mexico City on Wednesday to take over the archives and effects of the British Legation contemplated only the actual physical custody.

So far as now is known the request for this action did not include the assumption by the United States of the task of watching over the interests of British nationals nor of exercising any other functions.

The British Government continues to retain in Mexico its Consulate-General and Consuls in various parts of the Republic. It is assumed here that the Consul-General in Mexico City will transmit to the Foreign Office whatever communications are necessary between the two countries.

The necessity for passing the custody of the Legation into the hands of the United States or those of some other nationality arose from the fact that Consuls do not enjoy diplomatic immunity as do diplomatic representatives.

Under the arrangement made, the British Legation now is under protection of the United States Embassy, and entitled to all the immunities of the Embassy.

CUMMINS WITHDRAWN.

MEXICO CITY, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Proceedings of the Mexican Government to expel Herbert C. Cummins, British Agent, were ordered stopped yesterday by President Obregon upon his arrival in Mexico City.

His action was taken by the President after he had conferred with Foreign Minister Aaron Saenz, and learned that Great Britain had ordered Cummins' withdrawal, to-day.

ACTION DEFENDED.

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — In the House of Commons yesterday Premier MacDonald defended the action of Agent Cummins in connection with the safety and well-being of a British subject, Mrs. Evans, and read the letters regarding which the Mexican Government had complained.

This evoked cheers from the House.

Mr. Maconald indicated that there would be a cancellation of the British mission under Sir Thomas Hohler, which was about to proceed to Mexico to make inquiries with a view to Great Britain's formal recognition of the Mexican Government.

CRIMINAL COURT BUSY

WINNIPEG, Man., June 20. — Thirteen years in the penitentiary and twenty lashes, was the sentence passed yesterday by Justice Adamson on Nick Gregorchuk, convicted at the present criminal assizes of drugging and robbing Andrew Nadubinski and Joe Zlatnickivich last December.

Steven Duchzysyn, an accomplice, was sentenced to nine years imprisonment and ten strokes with the lash.

Katie Kadeniuk, convicted on the charge of manslaughter, was given eight years in Stony Mountain Penitentiary, while Heath Jackson, formerly an officer of the court, drew a sentence of four years for thefts of funds entrusted to his care.

ALONE IN THE BUSH WITH DEAD HUSBAND

Harrowing Experience of Month Old Bride—Husband Was Shot.

ONION LAKE, Sask., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—While Warren LaRoche, 58, operator of a muskrat ranch, was portaging a boat eight miles north of here on Wednesday a gun was discharged accidentally, fatally wounding him. His wife, a bride of a month from England, was with him and managed to get the boat back in the water to go for help. She knew nothing of boating, however, and the light skiff upset. Managing to make her way to the shore she wandered for miles through the dense bush, finally late on Wednesday night reaching a neighbor's house six miles from her own home.

CENTRAL EXECUTION

Petition From Women of London Asks for Central Place of Execution.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —A petition asking for the establishment of a central place of execution in Canada was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by J. F. White (Conservative, London) on behalf of the Union Mothers' Club of that city.

NO EXCUSE FOR IT

Have you discovered how little it costs to replace many of the parts onthe car that are giving trouble? If you haven't, the chances are that you are still making apologies for the worn and broken things about the car and are still ignorant of the pleasure of having your car ship-shape. For $25 it is possible on majority of cars to buy enough new parts to brighten them up considerably, which is a very small sum compared to what majority of owners lose when they trade in because they have to let the car go to seed. Nothing is more unsatisfactory in a car than door catches that do not work properly. People will go for months with something on this order and never know that for 85 cents or thereabouts and a half hours' time they could put the door in order.

POSTAL WORKERS' STRIKE ABORTIVE AS A RESULT OF SCATTERED ACTION AND REFUSAL TO OBEY UNION ORDER

Hon. Chas. Stewart to Carry Fight All the Way to the Striking Workers.

MAINTAIN SERVICE

Men Taken on to Replace Strikers Will Be Retained.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — "The mail service of Canada must move. I am going to take, so far as I can, every legitimate means to move it."

So declared Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, in the House shortly before dinner recess last night, when questioned on the Government plans in the postal strike.

Referring to the hope of settlement, he declared:

"If better judgment does not prevail, then I will fill the place of the strikers, and maintain a complete service."

He further stated that men taken on in this manner will be retained in the service if found satisfactory.

Mr. Stewart reviewed the negotiations of Wednesday closing with a government offer to maintain the present rates for the lower paid men with the addition of a promise to review the whole situaion after the revision of rates had been concluded for the civil service as a whole.

The minister said that the postal workers had gone out on Wednesday night in Toronto and Montreal, but that the Montreal workers had returned. He had issued a notice in Toronto that unless the men returned by ten o'clock yesterday morning the postmaster should obtain substitutes. Four hundred man hed applied and 180 employed in this manner in Toronto.

Up to 5 o'clock last night the federation officers had not persuaded the Toronto employees to return. The representatives of the Hamilton workers on the men's committee had resigned and intimated that he would try to prevent the men going out in Hamilton. They were out at present in Toronto, and London, in Windsor

AFRAID TO TELL BOY IS DROWNED

Saw Companion Drown But Feared He Would Be Whipped—Body Found.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Eight-year-old Holland Foucault was drowned while playing with his companion on the shores of the Ottawa River on Wednesday evening, it became known yesterday.

Following notification of the disappearance of the boy made to the police by his mother, Raphael Morin, aged 9, who was last seen playing with the young lad, was questioned, and finally told how young Foucault had walked out on a plank overhanging the shore, and when nearing the end slipped and fell into the river. He said he was afraid to tell of the drowning because "he would ge a whipping."

The body has been recovered.

EDMONTON ELEVATOR

Vote of $1,000,000 for Erection of New Government Elevator Passed.

OTTAWA, June 20.— (Canadian Press).—A vote of 1,000,000 for the construction of the Government grain elevator at Edmonton was considered in the House of Commons in committee of supply to-day. Hon. Thomas A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated that the elevator would have a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. It was hoped that it would be ready by the time the next crop was moved.

This item was carried just before the house rose for dinner.

Have Striking Posties Violated Their Oath?

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Have the striking postal workers violated the oath of office which all civil servants are required to swear on appointment?

This question is being asked by a number of people here who are familiar with the oath.

In the oath, the following words appear:

"And I do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will faithfully and honestly fulfill the duties which devolve upon me as * * * and that I will not ask, or receive any sum of money, services recompense or matter or thing whatsoever, directy or indirecly, in return for what I have done or may do in the discharge of any of the duties of my said office, except my salary or what may be allowed me by law or by an order of the Governor-in-Council."

It is held by some that in swearing to fulfill faithfully and honestly the duties which devolve upon him, the civil servant of any class or occupation, relinquishes the right to strike.

DEPLORE ACTION STRIKERS TOOK

EMPLOY LOYAL MEN

OTTAWA, June 20th.

Mesages urging a firm stand in dealing with striking post employees are coming into the government. One from the Canadian Founders and Metal Trades Association states that the members of this organization "deplore the fact that public employees in the civil service should arrogate to themselves the power to strike and throw into confusion the already harrassed business and industrial elements of our nation." The telegram urges that steps should be taken immediately to fill the places of the strikers with "loyal citizens, who will have regard for the moral and public obligations undertaken in entering the public service."

BEACH METAGAMA TO SAVE VESSEL

Captain Forced to Run Ship Ashore After Collision — Flooding Fast.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—The following telegram was received from Montreal at 7.20 last night by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company here regarding the accident to the Metagama of that line which was in collision with the Italian steamer Cora Comus:

"The captain of the Metagama reports by wireless that the ship was struck in a fog by the Cora Comus at 8.45 a.m. and her bunkers were flooded. The Metagama, with 700 passengers aboard, is proceeding under her own steam to St. John's Nfld., and expects to arrive to-night and that all is well aboard."

Forced to Beach

With the water entering her hold gaining on the pumps, the captain of the Metagama was forced to beach the vessel on a shoal near the drydock upon her arrival in port, at St. John's, Newfoundland.

Cora Camus Arrived

The Italian steamer which collided with the Metagama seven miles off Cape Race in a dense fog yesterday, arrived at St. John's at six o'clock last night. Her forepeak was crumpled back to the forecastle head indicating the tremendous force of the impact of the collision.

Steamer to Assist

The Metagama of 7,484 tons, was bound from Glasgow for Montreal, while the Clara Camus, registering 4,416 tons was last reported as having arrived at Montreal from London on June 9. The steamer Rosalind bound from New York for St. John's went to their assistance.

And in Meantime the Strike Moves in Fog of Uncertainty as Isolated Branches Go Out.

FAR FROM UNANIMOUS

From all Over Country Come Reports of Dissatisfaction and Resumption of Work.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Definite word that the strike of postal employees go into effect throughout the Dominion at 5 p.m., yesterday afternoon, was received at the headquarters of the postal clerks here at noon.

A go-as-you-please attitude was shown in Ottawa as in other sections of the country, Not only separate branches of the union, but individuals in the branches, being left to follow their own inclinations.

The rumored general walkout of railway mail clerks in Toronto and Quebec City has failed to materialize, and all mail trains leaving these cities this morning were manned according to a statement issued by the Post Office Department shortly after noon to-day. Hon. Charles Stewart said that all mail trains throughout the Dominion were manned and there was practically no strike in this part of the system. A communique issued from the Department declared that the strike is petering out, according to telegraphic advices received.

Officials of the Toronto Post Office, under Postmaster Lemon, are making a strong effort to give a mail service to Toronto business houses and public institutions. At present an extended general delivery service is operating, which aims to distribute mail to banks, newspaper offices, municipal buildings, the Parliament Buildings, wholesale houses, brokers, insurance houses, and manufacturing concerns. It is the hope of the Postmaster that, if the strike continues for any considerable length of time, a system will be developed by which business houses and stores will be served through the general delivery wickets. When the sorting of the mail has been got well under way it is planned to send business mail out to the various postal districts of the city for general delivery service.

An ultimatum was issued by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, to striking postal workers at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting to-day.

Postal workers are informed that they have until 6 a.m. standard time Saturday, June 21, to return unconditionally to work, provided positions are available. After that time no striking employees will be employed in the service under any conditions.

Mr. Stewart states that up to the present the Government has permitted strikers to returns to duty unconditionally, although no promise has been given for re-instatement. New employees have been taken on, and sufficient help is now available to man the service.

Neither Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, nor Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, would make any statement this morning as to what the Government proposes to do with the surplus men taken on in places where old postal employees later return to work.

MONTREAL, June 20—(Canadian Press).—Victor Gaudet, Postmaster of Montreal, was called from Ottawa to-day on the long distance telephone and given permission to reinstate all strikers who might present themselves for employment.

BRANTFORD, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—At 10.20 it was announced that a wire had been received from Ottawa to take back the strikers unconditionally, and the men at once took up their normal duties.

Shortly after that hour, Secretary Kelly announced that the letter carriers would NOT go on strike on account of having no support from the postal clerks. Those due for WORTH REMEMBERING.

When changing a right tire to the left side of the car the former inner side should be to the outside in its new position. This is necessary so that the tire can run in the same direction, a feature which is claimed to prolong its life. As the inner side of the tire will invariably be dirty this should be a simple way to keep the directions in mind. Also a gentle reminder to clean the tire and rim when mounted in their new position.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS VOTED FOR A STRIKE

Postal Workers' Strike Had Full Effect From Midnight in Toronto

COMPLETE TIE-UP

Stewart Will Not Consider Further Meetings with Federation

TORONTO, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—At midnight last night the strike of postal workers had taken complete effect in Toronto and despite last minute efforts at conciliation there was no indication of any improvemetnt in the situation.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Toronto district railway mail clerks, with only six dissenting votes at a meeting attended by more than 70 employees decided to abandon work. Clerks leaving Toronto on late trains were ordered from their cars and today the 163 members in the district will be on strike.

Representatives present from London district informed the meeting that their membership was willing to follow the example of Toronto.

Attempts to prevent a complete tie-up were made late last evening by officers of the Federation with T. L. Church M.P., actively intervening. In long distance telephone conversations both Hon. Mr. Stewart, acting postmaster general and Hon. Mr. Murray reaffirmed the stand which the government has taken. These statements were made to Mr. Church and to B. B. Redditt, Secretary of the Federation.

No More Meetings

Hon. Mr. Stewart when possibilities of a further meeting between officers of the Federation and the cabinet was suggested to him by Mr. Redditt, was of the opinion that such a meeting would be without avail. He referred the secretary to a staement made in the house yesterday afternoon.

Misread Telegram

Much excitement arose among the officers of the federation last evening when an announcement was made to the effect that the government had decided to accept proposals made yesterday afternoon by the employees. The statement was reported to have arisen through misreading a telegram sent by G. R. Jackson, Dominion president of federation for one said to be from Hon. Mr. Stewart. T. L. Church M.P., together with officers of the Dominion Executive immediately telephoned to Ottawa seeking confirmation but were bitterly disappointed.

Hamilton Men Return

HAMILTON, June 20.— (Canadian Press). Hamilton's striking postal employees voted to return to work shortly before midnight last night when J. E. Archer, secretary of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees, informed the workers at a mass meeting held in the Labor Temple that the government had admitted in writing that postal salaries as recommended by the civil service commission were totally inadequate The night staff left the meeting to return to work at the Post Office.

When John A. Webber, was interviewed the Post Office immediately following the decision, Mr. Webber confirmed the mens' announcement that the strike was over.

"The men have accepted unconditionally," said Mr. Webber. It was further announced that all the men who left their jobs were to be reinstated. The strike breakers, who took yesterday's mail will be informed in the morning that their services are no longer required.

That the Government would introduce legislation immediately to reopen the whole salary question, was the announcement made by Mr. Archer to the meeting. The request was made by the postal employees and the men are quite satisfied with the action taken.

SASKATOON, June 20. — W. H. Smith, secretary of the local postal group of amalgamated civil servants association, stated last night that his men had voted against a strike, and were standing to their decision.

REGINA, June 20. — Charles Gardner, general secretary of the amalgamated civil servants last night adhered to the opinion that there would be no postal strike in western Canada. In the meantime the local Regina situation remains undefined as neither local branch of the A.C.S. nor its executive have held a meeting. It is predicted however that a general meeting of the local will be called some time during the next few days to consider the situation.

Representative members of the various branches of the service here are virtually unanimous that the Regina men will remain at their posts.

THE RAILWAYMEN.

OTTAWA, June 20. — Rumors that an order had been issued to the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees to refuse to handle government mail, in the course of the strike of the postal employees, were denied by A. R. Moser, the president of the Brotherhood. He stated that he had issued a suggestion to the railway officials that the railway employees should not be asked to act in place of striking postal employees, or in other words to act as strikebreakers.

ORLAND DEFEATED HASTINGS OUTFIT

Closest Game of the Season Took Place With Orland Winning by the Score of 4 to 3.

ORLAND, June 20.—The closest game of the season in this League was played here between Hastings and the home team, the latter winning by the small margin of one.

Herrington pitched a wonderful game, but was up against a formidable array of batters, having only four strikeouts added to his string of scalps. He walked Houlihan once, and hit no batters, which was evidence of his good control.

Scriver caught a good game, but got into a mixup with Downs at the plate, and then held the ball too long, finally making a wild throw to first, letting in two runs in the fifth.

The visitors made a nice double and did it very deliberately, Herrington to Cruickshanks to Steveson.

He had six strikeouts to his credit and was debited with three men hit and one man walked.

Samis came into the limelight with a running jump, spearing with one hand a liner off Cruickshank's bat, heading off two runs and retiring the visitors.

Another feature for the home team was the remarkable record of Moran, who made four safe hits in four times to bat, and one was a two-bagger. Downs and Way also made two baggers.

During the fourth inning Hastings disputed the close decision of Umpire Cowan on first. It was hard to say just which was right, but Umpire Cowan had the satisfaction of having Mr. Hayes, of Toronto, who was a stranger to both teams, and who took the task for the balance of the game, saying he would have given the same decision. Umpire Wellman was good, and won the approval of both teams by his fair decisions. This finishes these teams for the series, the honors being divided equal.

The teams:

Orland—Ingalls p, Downs c, Way 1b, Houlihan 2b, Mulhall 3b, Samis and Belford ss, Beatty and Zufelt rf, Moran lf, Dawson cf, Samis and Zufelt subs.

By innings—

Orland .. .. 10102000—4
Hastings .. .. 20001000—3

Umpires — Wellman, Cowan and Hays.

DEMANDS ACTION IN DEVELOPMENT

Motion in Senate Urges Need of Immediate Action in St. Lawrence Plan.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Hon. J. D. Reid, former Minister of Railways, moved a resolution in the Senate yesterday asking that immediate action be taken by the Government of Canada in the negotiations with the United States for the development of the St. Lawrence Waterway.

He pointed out that this could not be an entirely Canadian project, as under a treaty with the United States that country had the same right in the use of our canals and the St. Lawrence Waterway as ourselves.

Under these circumstances, he could not see why we should pay the cost of the development of this waterway and the United States have the same right of use. He felt that in the interest of Canada this channel should be immediately completed.

Debate on the motion was adjourned.

POSTAL WORKERS

As regards the postal clerks, it was stated by D. McLarty, secretary of the Ottawa branch of the Postal Clerks' Association, that a meeting was held in the basement of the Post Office.

No vote was taken either way, and the understanding was that it would be left to each individual to decide for himself what his course of action should be.

Fred D. Taylor, secretary of the local branch of the postal porters, announced that the porters had decided they would strike if the other branches did, and if not, they would not.

F. C. Carruthers, secretary of the local branch of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association, announced that the railway mail clerks would NOT strike in the Ottawa district.

STRIKERS REPLACED.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press). — The tie-up in the local postal service was complete at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, the walk-out of postal servants being complete.

At four o'clock a crowd of about fifty applicants for positions was gathered outside the office of V. Gaudet, who later yesterday afternoon announced that more than that number had been hired to replace the strikers.

He said he expected to have things running smoothly.

BONAVENTURE DESERTED.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press). — The postal handlers at Bonaventure decided at 4 o'clock yesterday to go out on strike in sympathy with their fellow postal employees, leaving the despatch and receipt of mail bags for trains paralysed from 5 p.m. onwards.

The morning staff was reported to have been instructed not to report.

At the Windsor (C) Station everything was reported normal.

TRICKLING BACK TO WORK.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Yesterday afternoon several of the striking postal clerks returned to work, while at three o'clock there were ten letter carriers on the scene ready to work.

The strikers held a meeting in the Labour Hall at two o'clock, but nothing was given out as to the decisions arrived at.

Postmaster Stewart took a load of mail at noon to the outer station and deposited it on the trains going east and west.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 20 (Canadian Press). — "Business as usual" was the rule at tS. John Post Office yesterday, and all the clerks and letter carriers were at their posts.

MOOSE JAW AWAITS ADVICE.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Postal clerks have received instructions from the headqdarters of their union at Regina to stay on the job pending further advices.

The union in question is the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, and its jurisdiction extends from Sault Ste. Marie to Vancouver.

Railway mail clerks and mail carriers are still performing their duties and awaiting advice from the respective unions.

CALGARY STAYS AT WORK.

CALGARY, Alta., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Local postal workers at a meeting held here yesterday afternoon reached a decision not to participate in the strike called from Toronto.

SASKATOON CALLS CANNY.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Sunday's strike ballot among the postal workers here was 65 to 25 against a walk-out, it was learned yesterday.

Employees in all branches of the service stated disinclinations to follow the lead of the East.

"There are 16,000 former British postal employees in Canada to-day ready to step into our jobs," said one union official.

UTIMATUM ACCEPTED.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — After being on strike since early morning, the local mail clerks returned to work late yesterday afternoon after they were lectured by Postmaster Carlisle, and given until four o'clock to return or their jobs would be thrown open to others.

There was no delivery yesterday, but it is expected that the delivery men will return to-day.

VANCOUVER MEN WORKING.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Postal employees in this city are working as usual. A meeting has been called when the situation will be considered.

LETHBRIDGE FULLY MANNED.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., June 20 (Canadian Press). — No vote on the wage dispute has yet been taken by the local postal employees, and yesterday all branches of the service were fully manned. Union men say the men are likely to remain at work unless the strike is declared Dominion-wide.

VICTORIA OPERATING.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Every branch of the postal service in this city was operating yesterday as usual, and nothing definite could be learned as to whether or not the men would walk out.

PORT ARTHUR PEEVED.

PORT ARTHUR (Ont.) June 20 (Canadian Press). — As a result of general dissatisfaction among postal workers here because of premature walk-outs in the East, the local branch may not go out.

EDMONTON THINKS IT OVER.

EDMONTON, June 20 (Canadian PressPress). — Postal workers here are continuing their duties, but it is understood an important meeting is called, when the strike question will be fully discussed.

REGINA CARRY ON.

REGINA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — There are no developments in connection with the postal workers here. Not a man has gone out on strike, and no statement has been issued by the Western headquarters of the men.

WINNIPEG STILL WORKS.

WINNIPEG, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Officials here of the postal workers' organisations declared yesterday afternoon that there would be no strike of the postal employees in Winnipeg. T. J. Kneeborne, secretary of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association said he had no request from the East to call out his men.

MAIL CLERKS AT WORK.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Shortly before seven o'clock last night it was declared at the four railway terminals of the city that all trains had carried their mails as usual, and that the regular crews would take out other trains scheduled to depart last night.

The situation in Montreal is vague, for statements of the officials of the Railway Mail Clerks' Union were definitely that the mail clerks would strike at six o'clock last night.

Efforts to replace the men already on strike in the general offices continue, and Postmaster Gandet announces that he has already engaged 150 men.

CO-OPERATION IS URGED

of marketing wheat by the farmer, he referred to the method pursued by the buyer, who always spoke in a pessimistic manner of prospects, and advised the farmer to take the price offered before quotations went lower. Following this method out with other farmers, the consequence was that the whole wheat produced in a district would be disposed of at a low price, because each farmer was afraid he would not get rid of his wheat before everybody else had disposed of their supply.

Two things must be remembered, Mr. Martin asserted; first—the creation of a demand; second—the elimination of competition in the marketing of farm produce. The farmer of Canada had created a demand for his wheat. In the past year the United States had purchased twenty million bushels of Canadian wheat to mix with their own, in order to compete with Number One Canadian Hard. "The United States must have our wheat to raise their grade, while we stand idly by and allow the world to think that they are growing as good wheat as ours when they are not doing any such thing. But, although we have created the demand, we have not eliminated competition in selling."

Dairy Products.

"The Ontario markets used to fix the price for the world's cheese," said the speaker. "Now New Zealand does it. They came over to Ontario about twenty-six or twenty-seven years ago and took seven of our best cheesemakers from Ontario to New Zealand, and they have built up a trade that has cut out our Ontario cheese. Their cheese is sold through one co-operative selling agency, and sold according to grade. We have always sold our product to the man who grades it for us, which means that it is to the buyer's interest, when grading, to grade it down. We farmers have never known, until we sold co-operatively, the real value of a single thing that we produced. The business man, when buying from us, has used our lack of knowledge for his own benefit. I don't blame him. That is only human nature, and it is the way that we farmers deal with one another."

"Now cheese passes through the hands of an independant grader, and we know what kind of cheese we have to sell." Mr. Martin referred to a meeting where cheese sold co-operatively, and graded into four grades, had eighty bids made for the total supply—a thing unheard of on the ordinary cheese board. The fact that there was only one seller and twenty-three buyers eliminated the usual competition by sellers to get rid of their product.

"Competition in selling breaks the market."

Mr. Martin spoke of a request received some years ago from Co-operative people in England, wanting to do business in cheese directly with Canadian Co-operative agencies. Their request had to be refused, because the Co-operative Company could not risk offending the exporters on this side. "If we had real co-operation from the sellers, if we knew that we could have depended on their loyalty in dealing with us. We could have gone ahead dealt directly id this manner; but we didn't, and so that chance slipped away from us."

Mr. Martin quoted the example of a cattle brander in the Woodstock district who wanted $90 for a cow, was offered $80, and got $99 when he sold the animal to the Co-operative Company, proving conclusively to the owner that his long experience in marketing marketing cattle still left him wide of the real value of such an animal by a margin of $9.

Regarding Fruit Markets.

Speaking of fruits, Mr. Martin instanced the sale of British Columbia apples in Ontario at $3.20 a box. These apples, grown in a province whose fruit district land brought $300 an acre, and shipped a distance of three thousand miles, had such an extensive market because ninety per cent. of the fruit-growers of British Columbia had signed up to sell their products through one co-operative company for a period of five years. And yet, in competition with Western apples, Ontario fruit had taken seventeen out of twenty-one prizes; and, las MM twenty-one prizes, and, last year, the the McIntosh Red of Ontario was declared by British judges to be the most delicious dessert apple in th world.

When Canadian producers started selling wool co-operatively, leading textile journals declared the foolishness of the move, but contrary opinions were expressed by the same journals when it was found that the system was a success. "We created a demand for our wool by grading it, and not trying to sell to the mills wool that they will never use."

An instance of carelessness in handling wool was given in the case of the man who bound his product with binder twine and thought it quite good enough for the purpose. This binder twine, said Mr. Martin, creates a nap which sticks to the wool, and later creates a spotted color when the wool is dyed. "That shows the indifference of many farmers to their own betterment."

Live Stock Selling.

Shipments in co-operative live stock marketing had increased last year over the year before to the extent of fifteen trainloads, or about 595 cars, which was an encouraging fzctor, said Mr. Martin. An instance of efficient methods in the co-operative company's handling of stock was given in the diverting of about eighteen cars of hogs away from the Toronto market at a time last year when congestion was sending the price down. "By diverting these cars we saved farmers half a cent a pound on all hogs marketed in Ontario during that week."

The Egg Pool.

"The egg pool was started," said the speaker, "so that we might participate in the benefit of having eggs to sell when the price is high." Mr. Martin asserted that the pool had been instrumental this spring in halfing a falling market, when, by relieving a congested market, the price of eggs was raised from 18 cents a dozen to 26 and 28 cents.

It had also, he asserted, been of great benefit in eliminating the bad egg, and improving the quality of the product. When the pool began, seventy or eighty per cent of the eggs were Number Ones. A recent survey of one circle of fifty-one farmers showed a total of 642½ dozen eggs. Of these, 98½% were extras and firsts, 10 dozen were Number Twos, and there was one bad egg. "The times have passed when poor eggs will get by. The farmer has to produce good quality eggs, and gets paid for them accordingly."

Woodstock farmers who send over two cases of eggs on trial to England had started a demand for Canadian eggs in that country which was increasing in volume.

In conclusion, reiterating his plea for more interest in co-operative methods of marketing, Mr. Martin said: "We have found out that if we expect to take anything out we must put something in."

Mrs. F. Webster.

The address by Mrs. Webster was along on inspirational lines. Beginning and concluding with quotations of optimistic poetry, Mrs. Webster emphasized the need of constructive work and lack of destructive criticism, which had been a fault of the farmers' movement, she declared.

The need of more interest in and reading up of current events was also stressed; also the necessity for the right sort of leaders. The home should be open to the boys and girls, instead of allowing them to seek their entertainment elsewhere. "We have boys and girls in the towns that are as good as the boys and girls of the country, but, as a class, they are not as good."

Speaking of the coming plebescite on the O.T.A., Mrs. Webster pleaded with her audience to adhere firmly to the principles of the U.F.O. party, one of the planks of whose platform had been the prohibition of the manufacture, import and sale of intoxicating liquor. "The fight will be in the rural districts," said the lady, referring to the futility of the attitude of "letting George do it," and speaking of the influence exercised by each individual, "the influence which begins with our birth, goes with us through life, clings to us in death and reaches into eternity."

Rev. Mr. McConnachie.

Rev. A. H. McConnachie, speaking briefly, thanked both visitors for their serious and thoughtful addresses, and expressed his enthusiastic belief in the principles of the co-operative system of marketing farm produce. He said that, while farmers represented the largest body of industrial workers, they were the most poorly organized of workers. "Your are working in isolation on the farms, and your desperate need is for co-operation. The lack of it results in your being flayed by every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along."

Mr. McConnachie expressed regret that farmers five years ago, instead of entering politics, had not specialized in co-operative selling, leaving their entrance into the political arena until such time as they were commercially powerful enough to make a successful bid for political honors.

He also announced the holding of U.F.O. Sunday on Sunday next, when the junior band of the Salvation Army will be in attendance.

Three interesting games, one of softball, and two games by men's teams, were played, particulars of which appear on the sport page of this issue.

Sunlight—for your Washing Machine

A WASHING machine is made to wash your clothes without rubbing or boiling — and it succeeds just in proportion to the value of the soap you use.

Sunlight Soap dissolves quickly and completely in hot water and works up into an abundant suds. This is very necessary so that its rich cleansing ingredients may search through and through the meshes of the clothes and dissolve the dirt and soil spots. Then, when rinsing comes, all dirt and soapy matter runs entirely away, leaving your clothes sweet, fresh and snowy clean.

The pure lather of Sunlight Soap cleanses the clothes naturally, not chemically. The $5,000 Guarantee of Purity is stamped on every tablet of Sunlight Soap.

Pare half a cake of Sunlight into hot water in your machine and stir into generous suds. Put in the clothes and operate the machine—your clothes will be clean.

CANADA GETTING HER STRIDE.

The Examiner said the other day that Canadians should be broadcasting messages of optimism, and every day supplies new evidence in support of such a statement.

Official figures from Ottawa show that Canada piled up a favourable trade balance in May of nearly $32,000,000.

The reinforcements from the granaries of the West turned the tide for the increase of over $30,000,000 in the exports last month is explained by the fact that there has been an outward movement of the remainder of last year's prairie grain crop.

The trade figures are encouraging.

The exports for May totalled $104,150,715, while the same month last year showed only $74,814,544. At the same time the imports showed a decrease of $12,000,000.

During the twelve months ending May 31 of this year Canada's exports reached a grand total of $1,009,715,880, as compared with $958,844,577 in the preceding twelve months.

The Land of the Maple is getting its stride.

Sir John Aird's period of "unprecedented prosperity" may be even nearer than most people think.

WHEN THE PUBLIC IS HIT.

Whatever may be the general opinion as to the reasonableness or otherwise of the postal workers' demands, there is undoubtedly a very strong feeling that the public should not be called upon to suffer inconvenience and loss because of the failure of the Civil Service Commission to satisfy the workers.

In all public utility positions, the Examiner believes, there should be included in the contract of employment a clause calling for the submission of disputes over wages and working conditions to arbitration.

All employees in public utility departments, whether Federal, Provincial or municipal, should, as a condition of their employment, promise to refuse to strike and to abide by the decision of an independent arbitration board when disagreements may arise.

The workers should have a right to air their grievances, they should be properly paid and have proper working conditions, they should have the right to appeal to arbitration, but when they go further than that and demoralize the business of and inconvenience the population of the whole country they are going further than is fair to the people generally.

The Examiner has more than once declared in favour of a non-strike clause in all contracts of employment for public utility workers, and the walk-out of the postal employees only strengthens the conviction that the public whose servants are such employees should be protected by such a condition.

SAFETY FIRST.

Mr. W. D. Robb, Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, was one of the speakers at the Belleville U. E. L. celebration this week, and in the course of his address gave a very solemn warning to automobile drivers who try to race across a railway crossing in front of a train.

"I doubt," said the C. N. R. Vice-President, "if there is a motorist living able to estimate accurately the speed of a train when he is approaching a crossing at an angle. If he should succeed in this respect he will probably overlook the speed of his own automobile. The moment at which the crossing is reached is the sum of two speeds, that of the automobile and that of the train, and it is the failure to complete this mathematical problem which brings the inevitable tragedy at the railway crossing."

That is sound advice from an expert and should be heeded.

It is a risky game trying to judge this speed of two fast moving objects, when a failure to judge correctly means the death of the man who is making the attempt.

The minute or so the motorist has to wait for a train to pass means nothing so far as time goes, but everything when it is considered that it often stands for the difference between life and death.

Mr. Robb did well to take advantage of the Belleville celebration to place before a large crowd of people this important little lesson in safety first principles.

That it is needed the record of level crossing fatalities supplies only too convincing evidence.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN ELECTIONS.

The majority of Canadians have heard with regret the news that General Smuts' campaign in South Africa has been unsuccessful, and that his party will be unable to carry on the duties of government.

General Smuts has laboured so faithfully for a better understanding between Briton and Boer, and for a closer union of South Africa with the Empire that the realization that he has been rejected by the electors comes as a distinct shock.

The verdict, however, has not the significance that it might have had several years ago.

The triumph of the Nationalists does not interfere with the relations between South Africa and the Empire, and may be accepted largely as due to economic grounds.

It was necessary for the Nationalist leaders to scrap their republican plans in order to hold the allegiance of the Labour Party, the majority of whom are British and staunch in their loyalty to the Empire.

The campaign, therefore, did not hinge upon the possible severance of South Africa from the commonwealth of British nations, and while naturally the republican feeling will be bolstered up by the defeat of Smuts, there is, according to political observers closely in touch with the conditions, no reason to worry about South Africa's future as a member of the Empire.

Nevertheless Canadians will regret the defeat of General Smuts, and will hope that ere long he'll be back in the saddle again.

Belleville has succeeded in proving that a celebration can be made a success even in these modern days.

WHY THE FARMERS ORGANIZE.

The appearance of Hon. E. C. Drury at Pond Mills a few days ago, and his reference to various farm organizations, has given some of the newspapers in the Province a chance to have another fling at the Farmer Government in Ontario.

The U. F. O. Government in Ontario was not a perfect governing body. Unfortunately, we have not reached that stage in any department of endeavor. It was exclusive in its membership, and was open to criticism on that score. Some of its Ministers left records that will have to be justified before the courts. The charge is levelled at them that once in office they forgot the people who sent them there, and became obsessed with the idea of looking after their own interests. The future will tell to what extent those charges have been substantiated.

But the farmers' entrance into the field of practical politics was something more than that. It was the move on the part of the farmers themselves to focus attention on their situation as a class. That is why it was easy for them, to use a phrase much in evidence at the time, to feel the sense of class consciousness. They had the same problem. The farmers in Middlesex or Lambton had to meet the same baffling conditions as farmers in central or eastern Ontario, some hundreds of miles away.

That is why the farmer movement deserved more consideration at the hands of the public and through the columns of the press than an ordinary political upheaval. It was purely an effort to right very apparent wrongs, and it did not aim at inflicting a hardship on any other class in the community.

The fact that the conditions which called the U. F. O. into existence have not been set right can mean only one thing, and that is that the agitation will have to continue. The farmers have tried co-operative action, and they have proved the bona fides of their intention by sinking their own money in many of these schemes. Unfortunately, there has been a confusion of effort through the attempt in many cases to sell to the farmers rather than centralizing in an attempt to create an agency to dispose of farm produce to advantage.

It is easy enough to sit back and criticize, and Hon. E. C. Drury has had his full share of criticism. He made his contribution to the effort to right the wrongs that have seized the farmers of Ontario; he had no ulterior motive in so doing. He was called in to head up a Government that came into power on a few days' notice, and he had to work with the material at hand.

It is no reflection upon the ex-Premier or the U. F. O. movement that it failed to do for the farmers of Ontario what its sponsors had hoped for. There were wrong conditions to be remedied, and many of these conditions remain as unfavorable as they were; in fact, some of them are even more aggravated. There is still plenty of reason for the existence in even a more efficient and determined form of the farmers' organization.—London Advertiser.

BANDITRY AS AN ORGANIZED BUSINESS

The robbery of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail and express train by four carloads of armed bandits, and the taking of mail valued at two millions of dollars, shows how close rascality has come to being a highly organized and very renumerative piece of business.

The idea of recognizing robbery as an organized business is not pleasing, but for the moment it commands that standing by reason of the detail that was perfected for the robbery of one of the richest trains on the American continent.

Four loads of armed men in fast motor cars waited at a spot where the train was to cross a country road. Armed men had taken possession of the engine crew shorty after leaving Chicago, and the train stopped exactly where the robbers wanted it stopped.

Messengers and clerks in cars containing the desired bags extinguished the light, and refused to open the barred doors. The bandits had anticipated all this, and they did not even blow the doors open or knock them in. Gas bombs were thrown, through the windows, and the men on the inside were forced to escape or die.

Every known appliance that science has invented has been seized upon by the man who wants to break the law.

The officer of the law has no more chance in using destructive or protective methods or machinery than the bandits.

If the forces of the law buy a gun the robber can buy a gun; if the custodians of wealth, as represented in this case by the mail clerks on the train shut and lock the door on him the robber can hurl his gas bombs and make it necessary to open the door and probably the windows. As long as he has money the robber can be just as well equipped as the officer of the law. The only difference is that the police have access to a larger fund.

The law makes it very easy for those who want to fight it to arm themselves for the fray. It legalizes the sale of weapons. It maintains a great postal service that is used to distribute them.

It is possible for a bandit to use all these agencies, sanctioned by the law and maintained by the people, to arm himself to defy and possibly defeat the purpose of the law.

Banditry of a size practiced in the latest Chicago case brings the business into a new field. It is no longer a case of a man sneaking up a back alley, but the deliberate equipping of twenty or more men with all the machinery and deviltry they can command.

It is a humiliating thing that it is possible to so thoroughly tie up in a knot a whole train, with 70 clerks, all armed, rob it and put its treasures through a sieve, and ride off into the night. There is something lacking. If it has developed into a battle of wits, armament being equal, then the robbers have better brains than the forces of law and order.

Each few days sees lawlessness becoming a little bolder, a little more daring. Each success provides a reason for the next attempt. Law in United States is having the clenched fist of banditry shoved right close against its chin, and it has got to strike back faster than it has ever done before.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Premier King went to Yale University to get his letters—but the people at home have to wait for theirs.

A lot of people will find a silver lining in the postal strike cloud by reason of the fact that bills are not coming in as fast as usual.

A Kingston woman celebrated her 100th birthday the other day. A century is a long time to live—especially in Kingston.

This Continent, says the Globe, will have to choose between civilization and the carrying of concealed weapons. It becomes evident that we cannot have both.

A THOUGHT

FRIENDS.

My friends are the birds and the singing grass;
The droning bees and the winds that pass;
The lisping leaves and the trembling trees
Lifting their arms to God's mysteries;
The dandelion whose gleaming gold
Is sunshine scattered upon the wold;
Lilacs, sweet at the fall of dew;
Mignonette and the wild rose, too;
Drifting clouds and the sun and moon
The wan stars singing an age-old tune
The winding path and the shadowy place;
The cool rain falling upon my face;
But folks are far too wise to see,
They think I am lonely—and pity me!
—Edgar Daniel Kramer.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Heavy selling yesterday, due more or less to good rains in the northwest, caused wheat prices to drop about four cents after an early advance in which September delivery touched a new high price record for the season. Wheat closing prices were unsettled, 1 1-8c to 1 7-8c net lower, July $1.14 3-4 to $1.14 7-8 and September $1.15 7-8 to $1.16 with corn 3-4c to 1 1-8c off; oats varying from 1-2c to 5-8c decline, to a shade advance, and provisions two to 35c down.

It was only for a brief time at the start that the wheat market showed a decided upward trend. The temporary strength was ascribed largely to reports of hot winds in Kansas said to be the worst of the year. Higher quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires counted also in favor of the bulls. The rise, however, induced traders to take profits freely and on the ensuing reaction houses with eastern connections became aggressive sellers. Meanwhile, the fact was emphasized that moisture conditions in the domestic Spring wheat belt were favorable and the crop reports from the Canadian northwest suggested an outlook about equal perhaps to last year.

Late reports that the hot wave in the southwest was breaking acted as a curb to subsequent rallies in the wheat market and so too, did gossip that purchases yesterday for shipment to Europe included no United States wheat. Besides, the technical position of the market appeared to have been a good deal weakened by the recent advance of 13 1-2 and 14 1-2c from the low point of a week ago. Monday.

Summer temperatures in the corn belt and assertions that corn had been put up to an unprofitable feeding basis, had a bearish effect on corn and oats.

Provisions declined with grain and hogs. Packers sold lard.

IN LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

LAKEFIELD, June 19.—The regular monthly meeting of the Village Council was held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening of last week. The members present were—Reeve Strickland (in the chair), Councillors Madill, Leonard, Moore and Tanner.

A petition was presented, signed by the majority of the merchants of the village, asking that shops be closed at 6 p.m. every day except Wednesday and Saturday, and days before holidays. It was pointed out that a by-law to that effect had been passed in 1918 and was still in force. The committee on by-laws is considering the matter of revision, and is to report at a special meeting of the Council to be held on June 23.

The Financial Committee presented their report and recommended the payment of the following accounts:—

Lakefield News, printing, $132.95; Bell Telephone Co., $5.77; Sawyer-Massey Co., repairs, $4.83; W. J. Charlton, oats, etc., $11.50; U. A. Moore, plank, $22.03; Miss Sanderson, lay, $13.80; Pay roll, $276.90; Dr. Moore, services, $3.50; Dr. Smith, services, $11.50; A. G. Lowless, $9; L.H.E.P.C., street lighting, $308.34; Hall lighting, $25.99; Stable light, $2—total, $828.11.

The report was, on motion, received and adopted.

F. J. Lillecrop addressed the Council with reference to building a bathing house for the accommodation of the young people of the village. He also stressed the importance of advertising the village to attract the tourist trade. The Council then adjourned till June 23rd.

The annual union excursion of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools was held on Saturday last per steamer "Stoney Lake." The objective of the trip was Crowes' Landing, where dinner was served and games and races took place. Leaving there, the party enjoyed a sail round the lake returning to the village about 6 o'clock. There was a good crowd, and ideal weather prevailed and contributed a great deal to the enjoyment of the trip. Financially the returns were satisfactory.

Tree Struck.

During the thunderstorm last Wednesday, the high wind and uncommonly heavy rain dislodged a large limb off a giant in the grounds of the old Church of England, and a section of the tree, quite as large as an ordinary tree, was blown down. Luckily the tree fell inside the fence and no damage was done to life or property. Investigating the cause, one could see that the tree, which is of great age, is rotten at the heart, and the forces of nature merely hastened its fall.

A number of ladies, representing the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church, attended the annual meeting held last week in Norwood. Mrs. J. H. Chant, of the local society, was elected social service secretary for the Presbytery of Peterboro.

Among the local delegates were:—Mesdames E. W. Bailey, J. A. Porter, J. H. Chant, Charles Lake, Bruce Garbutt, Charles Thomson, Tucker, H. J. Sutton, and Misses Edna Blewett, Morrison and Stewart.

On Sunday morning, Rev. P. L. Jull gave an interesting account of the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, held in Owen Sound, which closed its deliberations last week, to his congregation in the Presbyterian Church. This year's assembly, which may possibly be the last if the vote on church union indicates the trend of events, was especially interesting, and Mr. Jull's concise account of it was greatly appreciated. Mr. Jull clearly defined the position of those who entered the Union and also of those who preferred to remain outside.

Getting Ready.

The baseball team will play George Street to-night, and have been hard at practice all week to get in trim for a good game. Thus far the locals have had fair success, as they won from Curve Lake and Mackeys, but went down before last year's champions—the Coguawagas. Their game with their old rivals (Keene) is being looked forward to, as, for several years, a friendly rivalry has existed between these two oldest teams in the East Peterborough League.

The girls' softball team is shaping up well, and several snappy games with outside teams are in prospect. Last Friday a game between the Warsaw girls and the locals drew a good crowd, and the play was hotly contested. The return game will be played in Warsaw on Friday of this week. Probably the annual game with the Keene girls will take place during this month.

The Thursday half-holidays have been rather half heartedly observed in the village, as last week a tour of Queen Street revealed nearly as many open stores as closed stores. The number of people on the street was very few, as the proclamation had gone forth that Thursday was the half-holiday.

The steel work on the Canada Cement Company's local plant is proceeding at a steady rate of speed and has already altered the appearance of the buildings considerably. A gang of specially skilled men have this job in hand and the work is going on well.

The S.S. and Parish excursion of St. John's Church is planned for Monday, June 30, and will be held to Stoney Lake. A committee has the matter in charge and a good time is promised.

Mrs. H. E. Moore was in Whitby last week attending the jubilee celebrations of Whitby Ladies' College.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Northey were at Balmy Beach last week enjoying a brief holiday.

W. L. Ianson, of "Viamede," was in the village on Monday on business.

Mr. J. C. Strickland opened "The Victoria" at McCracken's Landing, for the season, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hunter and Miss Marjorie Laing, left last week for a two weeks' outing at Sandy Point, Clear Lake.

Mrs. Wakeley, of Agincourt, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tanner in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McWilliams motored to the village on Sunday and attended the decoration day celebrations of the I.O.O.F.

Russell Brooks, of Young's point, was in the village on Sunday visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Watson left last week for McCracken's Landing where they will remain for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blewett left last week for their summer home at Burleigh Falls.

Mr. W. A. Elder, of French River, who has been renewing acquaintances in the village after an absence of forty-one years, has returned home.

Mrs. W. J. Northey, who has been in Nicholl's Hospital for the past three weeks, has returned home. She has made satisfactory progress after her recent serious operation.

R. C. Strickland, who spent the past six months in the village, has gone to Mount Julian, Stoney Lake, where he will spend the summer.

Rev. C. Adams, chaplain of the Navy League of Canada, was in the village last week for a few days.

Mrs. R. S. Robertson, of Little Britain, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Moore.

Miss Jean Erskine, of the Peterboro Normal School, spent the week-end in the village.

Clark Dixon, of Odessa, was in the village last week visiting numerous old friends.

Miss Mildred Bailey was successful in passing her second year Arts examinations at Toronto University.

Mrs. J. H. Sherin was in Whitby last week attending the anniversary celebrations at Whitby Ladies' College. She also visited friends in Toronto.

Rev. P. L. Jull returned last week from Owne Sound where he was a delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

MAKING AMENDS.

In the course of a stroll I recently saw a gentleman sitting on a city park bench, a beautiful collie crouched at his feet, a Boston man writes. I spoke to him, saying: "There is something wrong with a man who does not care for a dog." He laughingly replied: "Whatever that something may be, it is not what is the matter with me, or with you, I'd judge, sir." This was the opening to a rather long dog conversation between us, in the course of which he told me a story, which is worth passing on.

He said that many years ago his home, with his parents and brothers and sisters, was in a rambling old house in the outskirts of Cincinnati. The house was surrounded by a deep veranda, overlooking rather neglected grounds. The rooms opened from one to another, bungalow style. There was no upper story. Towards noon the family, excepting the mother, were on the veranda, apart from the rest of the family, smoking.

The mother came through the front door, disturbed saying that Towser—a non-descript house dog—had taken the beef tongue, which was to be cooked, from a table on which it had been left. Just then the gentleman saw Towser sneaking around a corner. The dog came up the veranda steps, looking guiltily. He, no doubt, had heard the accusation. From his demeanor it was so evidently just that he was punished.

The punishment ended, Towser passed to the lawn, skirted the house, went to an edge of a side yard, where there was a patch of raspberry vines, growing in rich loam, began pawing, unearthed something, and brought it, and deposited it in the lap of one of the sisters. It was the tongue which had confessed and made amends.

CHIEF OBJECTS KLAN REGALIA BEFORE JUDGE

MANY WITNESSES

The Kluxer Robe Examined by the Presiding Judge—Regalia Admitted.

EBENSBURG, Pa., June 20.—Five men and a woman sat silently together in the County Courthouse last Wednesday and listened to the testimony of the thirty-seven witnesses called by the State in the Klan riot case.

As witness after witness presented evidence involving Klansmen in the fatal outrage at Lilly, April 5, the members of this group recorded the testimony in notebooks. To most of the 300 persons in the courtroom these six were known, but it was not until two of them were called to the stand that the others learned they were the six ruling powers of the Invisible Empire in Pennsylvania.

The Klan officers, W. B. Souser, self-termed "presiding officer of the Klan in Johnstown," and Ambrose Berkebile, Johnstown, identified by Klan counsel as the "big man in the Klan," proved reluctant and reticent witnesses.

While Souser was on the stand, District Attorney Weimer wrung from him a few remarkable statements about the financial intricacies of the hooded organization. Then, with dramatic suddenness, Weimer walked up to the witness. From a small bag he drew a white gown and a stiffly starched white hood.

"Are these the regalia of the Klan?" he asked.

"Yes," stammered Souser.

Regalia Admitted as Evidence.

Souser turned pale, stammered something inaudible, then looked appealingly toward the Klan counsel table. Percy Allen Rose, chief Klan counsel, sprang to his feet and presented objections.

Judge Finletter, of Philadelphia, smiled, upheld Rose's objection, then asked for the robe and hood.

"I have never seen this before," he said. "Let me examine it."

The robe had a blue and red insignia on the front, while a single red tassel was the only decoration of the hood. The regalia was admitted as evidence, but Souser, much to his gratification, was not required to 'try them on.'

Souser then was requested to look at the forty-four defendants, twenty-eight of them Klansmen.

"Point out those that you know," Weimer said.

Souser named four or five, then declared he knew no one of the remaining.

"Is there anything in the obligations you take as a Klansman," Weimer asked, "that does not permit you to identify a Klansman?"

Hesitating before replying, Souser was rebuked sharply by Judge Finletter, who ordered him to answer.

"I don't just recall. The obligation is so long, and I didn't memorize it," the Klansman said.

The next question, put in a sarcastic voice by the Attorney, was: "Do you know if there is anything in that Klan obligation which makes it desirable fo one Klansman to have a forgetful memory when testifying against a fellow Kluxer?"

"No," Souser answered.

Question of Finance.

"Is there any reason why you can't tell the Court which of the defendants are Klansmen?"

"It is the financial standing of the members that I don't know."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, if a Klansman doesn't pay his dues, then he is suspended and he isn't a klansman any more."

Berkebile's testimony was even less informative. According to the District Attorney, Berkebile had "dodged" a court subpœna for more than a week, and it was only that morning that he had been caught unawares.

Berkebile had never been mentioned in connection with the case, and his appearance on the stand proved a surprise. His answers were evasive, and the District Attorney showed his displeasure by turning him over to the defence for cross-examination. The defence asked no questions and he returned to his seat.

The Commonwealth, having questioned thirty-seven witnesses last Wednesday, and thirty-one on the first two days of the trial, has built up an apparently convincing case on the charges of riot, affray and unlawful assemblage against the accused. Mr. Weimer said that the Commonwealth would complete its case early the following day.

"We have proved that there was a riot," he said. "We have proved that members of the Klan and Lilly residents participated in that riot. We have proved by personal identification of the numerous witnesses that virtually every defendant was seen in the vicinity of the riot on April 5. To-morrow we shall rest our case, confident of success."

Attorney Rose, of the defence, when informed of the plans of the Commonwealth, said it was probable the defence would not summon any witnesses, but would depend on "the weakness of the prosecution," as its best defence.

A twelve-year-old Lilly boy, who was shot twice in the Klan riot on April 5, provided the most damaging testimony against the Klan defendants.

The boy, Francis Appaluccu, described the shooting of Frank Miasco, one of the three killed in the riot.

His testimony contradicted that of prior witnesses. Miasco, he testified, had turned the water hose as the Klansmen returned to the railroad station after their demonstration on the hill.

"A big Klansman, all in white," he testified, "then rushed out and knocked Frank down. Then this big Klansman shot Frank, then he started to shoot into the crowd."

Percy Allen Rose, chief Klan counsel, surprised by the sudden shift in the testimony, cross-examined the boy at length without being able to break down his story.

Appaluccu, who was in the midst of the fighting, was shot in the side and leg, he testified.

Rose, in a second cross-examination, asked: "Were you not with Miasco and helping him hold the nozzle?"

"No, sir, I was not," the boy replied.

"That's all," Rose thundered. The boy glared angrily at the defence counsel and started to leave the stand, but was recalled by Judge Finletter for further questioning by the Court.

Boy's Testimony Confirmed.

Charles Henley, an aged Lilly shopkeeper who followed Appaluccu on the stand, confirmed in large part the boy's testimony.

"I saw a big Klansman break from the robed ranks," he said. "Then I saw a stream of water played on the Klan ranks. The big Klansman jumped at the man holding the hose nozzle. Then I went into my store."

Henley explained that his store is opposite the railroad depot. His home was riddled with bullets, he testified, and at least four men who were in his store and on his porch were injured.

District-Attorney Weimer, by skillful questioning, brought out that the bullets must have come from the Klan ranks, because of the location of his house.

Joseph Ritch, of Lilly, was next called. In broken English, Ritch, who lives near the Lilly depot, said all he knew was that the shooting started and he was shot in the leg, while he was on the porch.

John McCool, who lives near Piefers Hill, where the Klan burned the cross, testified that after the Klansmen had burned the cross several explosions were heard.

"My house is about 700 feet from the hill, but the force of the explosion was so strong that it broke three windows," he said.

Charles Dougherty, of Lilly, shot in the fray, was next called to the stand. He was shot in the side, he testified, as he ran into the Healey store during the fray.

While the struggle for the nozzle was going on, he said, some one in the Klan ranks shouted: "Ready, aim, fire."

Two shots were fired into the air, he testified, and then a steady stream of fire came from the railroad coaches.

SUNNY SPAIN from time immemorial has furnished the world with certain tit-bits in the way of natural products and pastimes.

The Spanish dance, full of fire and dash and lurking passion—red and black always running through the picture — the toreador, the lady of the mantilla — these are the more spectacular conceptions.

Men and women with well-fed donkeys gathering olives and almonds and peanuts and tinkling along mountain roads to the market place however are more typical of the real Spain.

Moir's men have gone into Spain; to the Southern slopes where the almonds are at their best, and contracted for the choicest nuts with ancient dons in their haciendas, and for the most toothsome peanuts from the growers — kernels that roast with a flavor no others seem to have.

You taste of the golden fruits of many lands in a single box of Moir's.

Spain

The Celt, the Andalusian, the Roman and the Vandal all have played a part in the history of Spain. Culture and barbarism have been commingled in the history of this nation. Despite the onslaughts of many conquerors down to Napoleon, the race, because of an intense patriotism, has never been held under the heel of foreign domination.

Party of British Financiers is Near Grain and Shipping Trade.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—That the British group of financiers reported in a Canadian Press despatch from London as having commenced preliminary negotiations for the acquisition of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from the British Columbia government, are financial interests closely in touch with the grain and shipping trade, was stated here by Captain MacKenzie, a government candidate in Vancouver. The announcement from London, he said, was the culmination of two and a half years of negotiations, and was the real object of Hon. T. D. Pattullo's trips to London during that period.

FARMER PARTY IN CONVENTION

New Party Reached Nominations in St. Paul—Duncan McDonald Named.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 20. — (Canadian Press). The new Farmer-Labor party reached the nomination stage late yesterday. Alexander Howatt placed the name of Duncan McDonald, of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, before the convention.

P. Peterson, a Minnesota dirt farmer, offered Lafollette as a candidate. He withdrew it when William Mahoney, of St. Paul, repeated the word that reached the convention on Wednesday night that Senator Lafollette would publicly repudiate an endorsement by the new party.

The nominations were closed, and without waiting for a vote of any kind, Charles E. Taylor, chairman, declared McDonald the unanimous choice of the convention. The farmers kept their seats through the demonstration.

Some Walked Out.

W. J. Taylor, of Nebraska, and about twenty farmer delegates, walked out of the convention late last night. They left unobtrusively. Six delegates from that State remained. Taylor said five of them were Communists.

GERMANY SEES A BETTER DAY

Unemployment is now considerably less than in England, and is rapidly getting down to a pre-war standard. In Berlin it is now no greater than before the war.

Stability of the rentenmark has made it possible for the cities to get sufficient foods from he country and from abroad. Last fall and winter, the cry of starvation was in part due to poor distribution, partly to the fact that the junkers would not accept the sliding paper mark, and partly to the fact that the industrial situation threw many out of work.

There was a cerain pinch for a few months, but Germany's wealthy did not cart for their own as they could have. That is admitted, even by professional child feeders.

No that nearly everybody is again at work, the starvation cry is diminishing. It has also grown dimmer since the Dawes report showed Germany is intrinsically sound, and can again come to the front if given a brief breathing space and a temporary financial lift.

Child feeding continues in the schools, as there are admittedly many kiddies suffering from a chronic undernourishment. Whether this admirable work can be continued during the vacation period is in question.

But there is no longer the extreme anxiety that was felt last fall. The German is wont to exaggerate his woes, especially since the war, and he saw the winter through extremely dark spectacles.

However, the rentenmark has completely changed the national viewpoint. The housewife can now buy and she can also save.

Moreover, the prospect of a real reparations settlement, even if it brings with it severe burdens, is proving a relief. Most Germans are now saying, "We will again have a chance to work and to save; the Dawes plan will make it possible for use to get out of the mire and to become again self-supporting and self-respecting."

Floating Specks Before The Eyes Means Liver Trouble

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything seems to turn black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you can rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and clear away the accumulated mass of waste and poisonous matter from the system.

Mr .Chas. Ayland, Frankville, Ont., writes:—"I used to be awfully bothered with floating specks before my eyes, headaches and sickness to my stomach. I took just half a vial of your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and ever since I have felt as well as I ever did. Now I always keep them on hand."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Belleville, and Brantford, and partially in Montreal. In the west, at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and most of the large centres, there was no indication of a strike and he was given to understand that opinion was not unanimous among the workers. He had received no word from Vancouver or Victoria, where the intimation that the strike had been postponed had been received relatively much earlier than in the east. In Montreal the mail was being moved and everything was going except at one postal station.

In the maritime provinces, except at Moncton, there was no intimation that the postal workers intended to go on strike.

Must Carry On

The Minister said that his personal sympathies were strongly with the labor but he felt that it was the government of Canada which must carry on business. (This statement was received with general applause in the chamber.)

He said that he had told the men's committee that while he sympathized with them until they declared a strike after that he had exercised all the ingenuity he possessed to carry on the postal service. As to whether the men who had gone out would be given their jobs back, he said that "while the light holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return," but that this could not be continued indefinitely The mail service must be kept moving and he was going to take every legal means to move it.

R. C. Hocken (Conservative, West Toronto), in reply to whom Mr. Stewart had made his statement, asked further whether the men taken on in Toronto had been guaranteed their positions.

Mr. Stewart replied that a notice had been posted in the Toronto Post office that those who had left their work would be considered out of the service .The new men had, of course, been taken on temporarily, as was required under the civil service act, but they would have to be protected.

Deplores Hasty Action.

"The public will deplore the action of the postal employees at Toronto and a few other points in going out on strike at the very time their representatives in conference with the committee of the Cabinet here had instructed them to defer action for 24 hours until an important concession made by the government could be considered."

This was the statement made last night by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster-general, in further reviewing the present situation.

"The government," he said, "had no official notification from the postal employees federation that the schedule of salaries named by the civil service commission was not satisfactory. Press despatches however indicated that it was not, and that an order to strike at five o'clock on Wednesday would be given. Immediately on learning of this the Minister of Labor, by telephone, asked the employees executive, to come to Ottawa for further negotiations. They conferred with a committee of the cabinet and the government agreed that the bonus, the elimination of which the postal workers objected to, would be continued in every case where the salary recommended by the civil service commission was less than the salary and bonus previously received This was to continue until the civil servants' salaries were adjusted, at which time the government agreed to meet the postal employees and to discuss the whole situation fully.

Offer Considered Fair.

"If it developed that in their opinion inadequate salaries or other matters needed adjustment, the government was prepared to recommend to parliament that adjustments be made.

"That I consider a very fair offer," added emphatically the acting postmaster-general, "and I am very sorry that the hasty action of some of the postal employees disregarded the advice of their executive to withhold action for 24 hours until this could be considered.

"In case there has been some misunderstanding between the employees and their executive as to calling off the order to strike, the government has fixed a limited time within which the men may return to work. The door is still open. In the meantime, it becomes my duty to take immediate steps to ensure the forwarding of the mails. This I propose to do as efficiently and as rapidly as possible. Undoubtedly there will be inconvenience to business interests and to public, but we trust there will be no real distress. I still have hope that the postal employees will ,upon mature consideration, decide that their best interests will be served by returning to work, and be willing to adjust matters by negotiation rather than by hasty action in striking and attempting to tie up this most important service to the people of Canada. If better judgment does not prevail then I will fill the place of the strikers and maintain a complete service. I do not anticipate that there will be any difficulty in doing this. Already we have hundreds of applicants for positions vacated by the strikers."

Strikers Already Discharged

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—Following a meeting of cabinet council yesterday, it was announced that arrangements had been reached betwen the post office department and the civil service commission whereby men taken on to replace strikers will be retained in the service, if found satisfactory.

Hon. Charles Stewart, acting post master general, states that Postmasters, acting under instructions, have already begun to take on men.

"Does the order issued last night under which postal employees who did not return to work by ten o'clock this morning .are .discharged from the service still hold good?" Mr. Stewart was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

Mr. Stewart stated that, up to the close of the cabinet meeting, no word had been received from the executive of the postal federation as to whether a general strike order would be issued or not.

Drop Salary Increases

MONTREAL, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—By common consent the Dominion postal strike was taboo at the Canadian Postmasters' Association conference which continued here yesterday.

A telegram was received prior to the opening of the session that the postmaster general would receive a delegation from the association at a conference on Friday afternoon at Ottawa, when various subjects looking to the betterment of the postal service would be gone into.

Various motions looking for increased salaries to postmasters in the smaller centres throughout the Dominion were voted down, the concensus of opinion being that the time was not opportune to ask this, in view of the present financial condition of the exchequer at Ottawa.

COUNTY COUNCIL FIX ASSESSMENT

Equalized Assessment Raised at a Meeting Held Yesterday

The county's equalized assessment was raised by $188,499.00 by an increase of 2 per cent. in the fixed assessment made at yesterday afternoon's session of the County Council.

On convening in the afternoon, Council adjourned and went into committee on equalization and assessment, with Mr. W. A. Anderson in the chair.

The fixed equalized assessment is now greater than the local by $82,139.00. The Council found it necessary to raise the assessment as the fixed equalized assessment must be equal to or greater than the local assessment of the municipalities, according to law.

In the absence of Warden M. Coughlin, Mr. H. B. Rye presided.

Mr. Thos. Sullivan, of Douro, addressed the Council. Mr. Sullivan complained of a county road that angled through part of his farm, and suggested that the county buy a piece of his property for road allowance.

On motion of Messrs. Anderson and Strickland, the matter was left in the hands of the chairman of the County Roads Committee, the Reeve of Douro, and the County Road Superintendent.

A communication was read from the Mothers' Allowances Commission, asking the county to appoint their nominees to the local board for the year 1924-25.

On motion of Messrs. B. Middleton and W. A. Anderson, the present members of the Local Mothers' Allowances Commission, Miss Tanner, Lakefield, and Mr. C. J. Darling, Warsaw, were re-appointed.

School Section 16 of Otonabee appealed to the County Council under the provisions of Section 17 of the Public Schools Act against a by-law passed by the Township Council of Otonabee, making certain boundary alterations between School Sections Numbers 16 and 10, Otonabee.

The boundaries were changed, as children living within the territory in dispute, and formerly belonging to School Section 16, was closer to School Section Number 16. School Section 16 do not wish to lose the territory, and have made this appeal as a result.

Mr. E. A. Peck, county solicitor, explained that it was optional to the county to allow the appeal to proceed, and that if they considered it proper, to grant the appellant's request, then the Council should appoint an arbitrator to sit in conjunction with the County Judge and County Public School Inspector.

Messrs. Smithson and Anderson, the Otonabee Reeves, stated that they had acted arbitrarily throughout and were of opinion that a board of arbitrators should deal with the matter. A resolution to this effect was passed and, on motion of Messrs. Smithson and Anderson, Mr. W. J. Porter, of Otonabee, an ex-Warden of the County, was appointed to act as the county representative on such board.

The Council adjourned and went into committee of the whole on county property, with Mr. John Scott in the chair.

Mr. Scott read the report of the Grand Jury, recommending certain alterations and repairs to the Court-House, and mentioned certain repairs to the roof which the janitor had reported.

A committee was appointed with power to act, to investigate and make necessary repairs.

Tenders for coal were opened, and Messsr. H. B. Taylor & Son, the lowest bidders, were awarded the county fuel contract.

The decree, awarded to Vergil James Montani from Florence N. Montani, was signed by Supreme Court Justice Wagner who heard the divorce testimony two weeks ago.

WOMEN ARTISTS TURNED BANKERS

Clara, her sister, wanted to be a musician.

And they turned out to be bankers! Why they turned their talents from art to finance is the story behind the founding of the Woman's Savings & Loan Co. here, which now numbers 1500 local women depositors and stockholders.

After her graduation from high school, Miss Lillian Westropp went to New York, enthusiastic about a stage career. She "landed" and in a year was playing leads.

Meanwhile, Miss Clara Westropp, in Cleveland, was studying and teaching music.

But family opposition to Lillian's work grew so strong that the young actress decided to give up her stage career—at least temporarily. About the same time, her sister decided music was paying poor dividends and took up bookkeeping on the side.

To mitigate her disappointment Lillian started the study of law. The first year of practice was so difficult that she had little time to spend in regrets. Instead, she built up a successful clientele while her sister was gaining business experience keeping books.

Both girls made up their minds that in business the biggest opportunities are closed to women, so when a friend came to Lillian with a woman's savings and loan proposition, she was immediately interested. It took her three months to get the company started. At the end of this period Clara Westropp became the company's secretary and chief stock salesmen. In one year she sold $500,000 worth of stock.

But the two sisters found themselves going ahead, and today, after three years, their company ranks among the most successful of its kind in the country.

"Women must be pioneers and carve out their own success. When they do that, men will stand by them and help them advance—not before."

REGRET BRITISH DECISION

Australians Express Opinion That Verdict on Preference Is Not Final.

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 20 — (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—Federal Premier Bruce, while regretting the decision of the British House with regard to the preference resolutions, expresses the opinion that the narrow majority shows the decision is not final, though it must be accepted for the present.

Premier Bruce welcomes the intimation from Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that the British Government is now prepared to endorse the appointment of an Imperial Economic Committee, which could consider the matter of marketing and distributing Dominion produce.

Matthew Charlton, leader of the Federal Labor party, while regretting the decision of the British House regarding the preference resolutions, says he realizes that it is a matter which concerns the British people. "We have no right to criticize the conduct of Britain's internal affairs."

The Melbourne Age says: "The little-England supporters of the British Labor Government take a regrettably sordid and narrow view of Imperial relations."

WERE NOT DOUKHOBORS

Sect in Saskatchewan Denies That Participants in Fight Belonged.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—Unqualified denial that any of the persons involved in the killing of Alex Berezowski and fatally injuring Mike Regina, near Veregin, Sask., on Monday, are Doukohobors, was made yesterday by P. G. Makaroff, Saskatoon barrister. Mr. Makaroff said the Doukhobors in the Veregin district were highly incensed at being described as attending a dance and engaging in a free-for-all battle with fence posts, when their religion calls for non-resistance and bars dancing. He said that all of the thirty or more persons involved in the fight were Calicians or Ukrainians, not of the Doukhobor faith.

BOGUS DOCTOR USES GOLF AS BLIND FOR ROLE OF RAFFLES

Daring Thefts All Over England Revealed When Adventurer is Trapped in Country Hotel Working New Job

Raffles, the hero of E. W. Hornung's famous novel, was the gentleman cricketer who visited country houses and spent the passing hours in robbing his hosts. Charles Wadsworth, now 42, substituted golf for cricket, and found his skill as a player quite a considerable asset in the role of society crook. Because he was a well-educated, good-looking fellow, who dressed with taste, and called himself a doctor, he succeeded in imposing upon a great many people. Had some of his victims known, however, that the "Doctor" had been convicted twice in January last they might very well have been reluctant to play with him. Early last March, Wadsworth wrote to the Army and Navy Co-operative Society, asking to be permitted to open an account. He gave his address as South Side, Clapham Common, and stated that he was Flight-Lieut. George Brookman, of the Royal Air Force.

In due course he received a membership card, and a few days later he called at the Stores and handed in a cheque for £10 as a deposit. Immediately he had done this he went to various departments and ordered a suit case, together with a good many articles of clothing, valued in all at £26 10s. He paid for them with a cheque, subsequently found to be valueless, and was permitted to take the goods away. When the cheque came back the police were notified, but by this time the offender was out enjoying himself on country golf links. With his suit of plus fours, a bag of clubs, which had evidently seen good service, and some very engaging manners, he played golf for the better part of a month with some of the best-known people in the country.

He would go to an hotel in the neighborhood of a famous course, book a room, and then make the acquaintance of people who were also golfing. Most of the time he called himself "Dr. Brookman," while he was also "Dr. Wadsworth" and "Dr. Davidson." Nobody suspected him, for he spoke and acted like a gentleman, and played golf as though he was a scratch man. When funds ran short he had a very simple method of replenishing the exchequer. He would watch one of his golfing friends out of the hotel, and then go up to his room and steal. Usually he also took a bag, and put that in his own bedroom to delude the hotel servants into thinking he was STILL STAYING IN THE PLACE.

But what he did do was hire a car and drive off to the railway station. In Norfolk and Suffolk the "Doctor" had a right royal time. At a Cromer hotel he cultivated the friendship of an elderly man and his daughter, with whom he went golfing every day for a week. Usually the "Doctor" dined with the couple after teaching the father to play. All went well for the week, when the matter of the "Doctor's" bill obtruded itself. So one night at dinner the "Doctor" excused himself and went upstairs. There he passed to the bedrooms of his newfound friends, and stole all the woman's jewellery and a set of valuable cuff links belonging to the father. Then he walked off to the station, caught a train to Norwich, and had disappeared before father and daughter had the slightest idea that anything was wrong.

In Huntingdon, where he stayed for some few days at the George Hotel, he stole a silver chain bag and purse valued at £27 from a lady whose acquaintance he had made on the links. This was in January last, before he had gone to Clapham Common. Following Huntingdon, the "Doctor" went to the Angel Hotel, in Northampton, still in possession of his golf clubs. There he utilised his chances to steal a suit case and its contents, including a cheque book, valued altogether at £17. For the better part of a month he played golf all over the South of England, and there were many well-known men whose acquaintance he made at various clubs who had not the slightest idea that their affable companion who played so well was an ex-gaol bird, living on his wits. The tale the "Doctor" told sounded very plausible.

He explained that he was a medical man with a big practice in London, compelled to give up work after a nervous breakdown. Some of his victims thought it more than a little strange that the "Doctor" should play such wonderful golf if his nerves were bad. He would go round in bogey without turning a hair, and his putting, especially if there was a wager on the game, was something to marvel at. The "Doctor" informed all and sundry that he was a member of the Royal and Ancient, and also belonged to Coombe Hill, Royal St. George's,

AND OTHER FASHIONABLE CLUBS.

Wealthy elderly gentlemen found him a most admirable tutor though afterwards, when their mentor had been through their belongings, their feelings underwent a change.

Occasionally he "crashed a "dud" cheque at a golf club, and on half a dozen different occasions bought balls from the professional and paid for them with cheques, which were also returned marked "Refer to drawer." In February he turned up at a hotel at Sidcup. He stayed a few days, played golf regularly, and then mysteriously disappeared. When he departed a pocket-book belonging to one of the other guests, containing £12 10s., went with him. He was next traced to Clapham Common. He stayed only a short time, and when he went, after obtaining the suit-case from the Army Co-operative Society, he gave a worthless cheque for his bill. Then the "Doctor" made his appearance at that fashionable little seaside resort, Frinton-on-Sea. He played golf over the local course with a number of people whom he met in the hotel, tried to borrow money from them, and, being unsuccessful, flitted out, owing the hotel £3 10s.

The same day he had the impudence to go to another place in Frinton, where he stayed just long enough to cash a cheque for £7 7s. On April 17, calling himself "Dr. Brookman," he turned up at Chalfont St. Peters, Bucks, still carrying his bag of clubs. He had a few games of golf, but aroused suspicion by being found prowling around the hotel. The manageress had him watched, and as by this time his description had been circulated by the police the local constabulary were communicated with. Insp. Neal called at the hotel to interview him. Nothing could have been more disarming than the manner in which the "doctor" received his visitor. He had a long story to tell, and was careful to explain that he had not practised as a doctor in this country to any extent.

Most of his life had been spent in the Colonies, and he had come to England for a golfing holiday. It all sounded very interesting, but the inspector was not convinced. He told the "Doctor" he had better go to the police-station with him, because he answered the description of a man who was wanted for a series of thefts all over England and Scotland.

On their way to the station the suspect grew confidential and informed the inspector that his real name was not Brookman, but "Dr. Charles Wadsworth, M.D., M.R.C.S." The inspector wanted to know where he had obtained his degrees, and by saying that they were American diplomas. Other information he volunteered was that he had practised at Harrow-road, Walkey, Sheffield. The police in that town were communicated with, and, to the "Doctor's" mortification, they wrote back saying that the individual who lived at the address in Harrow-road was a greengrocer. In the meantime Inspector Neal ascertained that the "Doctor" was wanted all over the country, and eventually he was handed over to Det.-Sergt. Loader, of Streatham.

The "Doctor" was indignant at the suggestion that his golf had been a blind for the role of Raffles, and the idea that open confession was good for the soul did not commend itself to him. However, the police preferred to keep him in custody while they got him identified by a few of his numerous victims. They discovered that he had stolen hundreds of pounds worth of jewellery and promptly pawned it, besides giving dozens of worthless cheques. So eventually the "Doctor" appeared before the Recorder at the Old Bailey, where he pleaded not guilty to the charges against him.

He defended himself with ability, which could only come by long practice, but the jury found him guilty.—Sergeant Loader mentioned that Wadsworth was a mystery man. Although there was no trace of him being a doctor, he had undoubtedly received a first-class education and mixed in very good society. In June, 1920, at North London, he was sent to prison for a month for stealing money from a girl. The following month, at Marylebone, he was committed for another three months for obtaining money by false pretences, while in January, 1922, at Derby he received 12 months' hard labor for passing worthless cheques. Brought up on a Home Office order in the following February, he got another 12 months, to run concurrently with his previous sentence, on other charges of obtaining money by fraud.

At Southport, in May, 1923, he got six months for stealing an attache case from an hotel, while at Derby in January, 1924, he received a nominal sentence of one day for obtaining £10 by false pretences. At Grimsby, nine days later, he was bound over under the Probation of Offenders' Act for a similar offence. Immediately after getting out of this trouble he recommenced his career as a society thief.—"I swear," dramatically exclaimed prisoner, addressing the judge, "that if you grant me clemency, this will be my last conviction."

His operations will be curtailed for some considerable time, because he was sentenced to penal servitude for three and a half years as a plausible and dangerous rogue, who had indulged in a perfect orgy of frauds. The "Doctor" bowed politely on leaving the dock and went below looking rather sorry for himself.

Eight Ways of Stopping Sneeze In Polite Society

To tickle the soles of your feet, puff out your cheeks, press on the eyeballs, contract the forehead and eyebrows, are various ways of gracefully stopping a sneeze suggested to Dr. Paul Farez, of Paris, who has written a monograph on the subject.

Other methods advocated by the doctor are contracting the lips as much as possible and blowing hard, rubbing the jaws, pressing the upper lip with a finger, or stretching out the neck.

He believes that the blowing hard method will become a recognized form of good breeding to prevent sneezing.

Scientific experts, says Dr. Farez, have shown that sneezing is by no means such a ready source of infection as people usually think, and that it is far better to enjoy a good sneeze than to stifle it. Polite society, on the other hand, continues to think otherwise, he adds.

Woman Doctor is Elected to Medical Council in Britain

Dr. Christine Murrell is the first woman to be elected a member of the council of the British Medical Association.

She was one of five people nominated for four places as representatives of the Metropolitan Counties' Branch.

The voting was conducted on the single transferable vote system, and on the first count Dr. Murrell headed the list. She was, consequently, the first of the five nominees elected.

Dr. Murrell is one of the many distinguished medical women who have trained at the London School of Medicine for Women. She is also a well-known worker in other spheres.

During a critical period of the war she was chairman of the executive committee of the Women's Emergency Corps, and she is president of the Women's Election Committee.

Another Ice Age is coming, under which the present world will disappear.

Dimitri Loanovici, a Rumanian engineer, has written to the United States, British, Danish, and Canadian governments, declaring that an ice cap 10,000 feet thick will crush Greenland and alter the position of the world's axis. He does not mention when the disaster will occur.

He suggests that he shall be authorized and financed to build a huge dam across Fury-and-Hecla Strait, between the Bay of Boothia and Fox Channel, thus turning the Arctic current northwards, and allowing the warm Gulf Stream to reach Greenland and melt the ice.

RADIO DIAGNOSIS TEST BY DOCTORS

The first attempt in England to diagnose symptoms of heart trouble by wireless has been made by Dr. Ticehurst, of St. Leonards, Hastings, who "listened in" from his home to a patient's heart-beats at Cardiff.

This wireless diagnosis is said to have been partially successful, and the experiment may be repeated later.

One of the assistants at the Cardiff Broadcasting Station was taken ill, and as he suffers from heart trouble and desired to get advice from his family doctor (Dr. Ticehurst) at St. Leonards, an arrangement was made for his heart-beats to be broadcast, in an interval which would not interfere with the ordinary broadcasting program.

Dr. Harrington, of Cardiff, used his stethescope over the man's heart, and the microphone was placed close to it. Meanwhile, Dr. Ticehurst, himself an enthusiastic wireless amateur, who owns a valve set, listened-in to his patient at a distance of nearly 200 miles.

The heart-beats were heard, but the microphone used was one of an old pattern, and it is thought that with more modern apparatus better results would have been obtained.

Miner Blows Up Home and is Only Victim of Folly

The house of George Binnie, a miner, of Dennyloanhead, Stirlingshire, was wrecked by an explosion of gelignite. Binnie was killed, his body being shattered to pieces, but the 14 other occupants of the house escaped with minor injuries.

Binnie is alleged to have blown up the dwelling while his wife and family, together with the aged grandmother, were asleep.

Several were injured, and a daughter jumped from a window as the staircase was blown away.

Members of the family were injured by falling plaster and woodwork. Windows were blown out and holes made in the roof.

SUFFER PAIN IN AMPUTATED LIMB

Interesting medical opinion on the question of pain was given at Bridgend, Somerset County Court, in the course of a compensation case — His honor pointed out that he had come across cases where persons who had had a limb amputated suffered pain during a change of weather at the end of the limb amputated.—Two of the medical witnesses testified that persons who had had a leg amputated sometimes had pain in the amputated part. The impulse was carried to the brain and connected by the person with the amputated limb. What caused that impulse of pain they could not say. There was no pathological reason for it.—His Honor: This man had pain like pain from neuritis on typical neuritis days.—The man himself explained that after the loss of his fingers he could feel pain shooting from them.

FASCISTI LIMITED LATEST COMPANY

"British Fasciti, Limited," is the title by which England's black shirts are now officially known, the body having been registered at Somerset House as a limited company.

This does not mean that British Fascists will be daily quoted on the Stock Exchange under Italian securities, or possibly oil, and that they will rise and fall according to the state of the Communist poll,

"We only want to legalize our position," said Mrs. Alma C. M. Wroughton, joint secretary to the British Fascisti said. "We are limited by guarantee, not having a share capital, and the guarantors are the members of the council.

"We are entirely constitutional, and it is ridiculous to say that we are a secret society or that we practice revolver shooting in Chelsea cellars."

GOLD SOVEREIGNS IN RUBBISH HEAP

He took off the lid and found inside 82 sovereigns and six half-sovereigns in gold.

The coins date from 1871 to 1912.

Wright has handed them over to the police.

HORSE BEATS MAN WITH LOT TO SPARE

R. J. Stephenson, the farmer, who started on his horse from Trafalgar-square in an endeavor to reach York before George Cummings, the walker, won the match. He completed the journey in 43¾ hours.

He stated that by midnight of the day he started he was 11 miles from London, and after a rest at Grantham he went on to Selby, another 72 miles.

"I have never used a whip on the horse, and it has walked a lot.

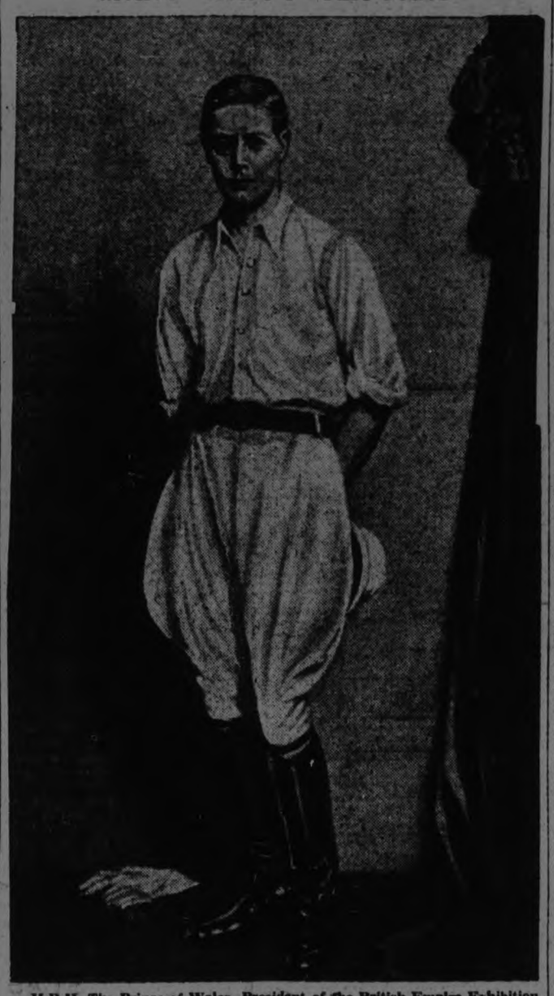
GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, of Wellbury Cottages, Hitchin, Herts, have recently celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Walker, who is 82 years of age, has been married twice.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS



H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, President of the British Empire Exhibition, Ambassador of Empire and Canadian Rancher, reaches his thirtieth birthday on the twenty-third of this month, having been born on June 23, 1894. The portrait of him in polo kit reproduced here was painted by Mr. John St. Helier Lander, for "The Illustrated London News," which presented it to the Manchester City Art Gallery. The artist has been asked to paint a replica of the head and shoulders for the Queen.

PANDEMONIUM AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Booing, cat-calls, singing, and general disorder on the part of a Welsh choir disappointed with the decision of the adjudication held up the Empire Musical Festival at the Crystal Palace.

The disturbance took place while women's choirs were competing. The manager of the Crystal Palace appealed in vain for quiet, and eventually the adjudicators were compelled to leave their table.

Mr. Cyril Jenkins, the eminent composer, who was one of the adjudicators, said that the unfortunate incident was the worst example of unsportsmanlike conduct he had encountered.

Such an attempt to break up a festival by choirs dissatisfied with the judgment given, he said, was unique in his long experience of musical festivals.

POOR MISS 1924

"Swollen Ankles, Flattened Toes, Misshapen Calves"

"It is enough to make one weep," said Dr. Ethel Benthom, Labor candidate for Islington, at a meeting at Highbury, "to see the bulging, swollen ankles, the misshapen calves, and flattened toes of the high-heeled girl of today. It is an exception to find an adult foot that is not more or less deformed."

HIS DEATH KNELL.

TOO OLD AT 31 EDICT IN LONDON

No workman is to be engaged on Wood Green Urban District Council, London, staff whose age exceeds 30 years, except ex-service men, for whom the age limit is to be 35.

Labor members strongly opposed the decision.

They argued that although the council might save on its superannuation scheme, the poor law relief burden would be correspondingly heavier in respect of the older men, who would be unable to get jobs.

Drum Contest in Ireland Followed By Free Fighting

Crowds watching rival Orange drummers competing for a £5 wager, at Castlecaulfield, Co. Tyrone, were dissatisfied with the referee's decision. A free fight followed.

When the police intervened, both parties combined and drove the constables to barracks. It was not until reinforcements arrived that the beleaguered police were able to venture out.

Many persons have now been arrested including several special constables.

REAL-LIFE ALICE IN LOOKING-GLASS

Girl Whose Writing Has to Be Read in Mirror

A case of "Alice Through the Looking-Glass" in real life has been discovered by Dr. H. H. Haward, of Northwich, Cheshire, in a girl patient who finds she can most easily write looking-glass writing with her left hand.

She is a very sharp and healthy child, and when she writes to her school friends they have to use a looking-glass to read it; but she uses her right hand when she must, and has passed her examinations with good results, including bookkeeping, since leaving school.

"She can now write with both hands simultaneously — by the left looking-glass writing, by the right ordinary; the left hand works twice as quickly as the right."

ENOUGH OPIUM TO KILL 14,000, SEIZED

For being in possession of 9¾lb. of opium, Ah Song, a Chinese, at Cardiff was find £10, with the option of 3 months' imprisonment, and recommended for deportation.

It was stated that the opium was enough to provide 70,000 doses and contained sufficient morphia to kill 14,000. He also had in his possession a loaded automotic pistol.

Frail Craft Perched On Edge Of Rapids Gave Baronet Thrill

While fishing above the Falls of Assaroe, which plunge over a 30ft. high cliff at Ballyshannon, County Donegal, Sir Basil and Lady Brooke, of Brookeborough, County Fermanagh, had a narrow escape.

Their boat was swept by the current towards the rapids. Just above the Falls the anchor caught in the rocks and held the boat. Ropes were thrown to secure it against the force of the river, and messengers hurried to Beleek, about 3 miles upstream to close the sluicegates and lower the river.

Lady Brooke took off her boots and some of her clothing so that if she were carried over the falls she might have a chance of escape. For two hours the boat hung on the edge of the cliff until the force of the stream abated sufficiently to allow of the rescue of Sir Basil and his wife.

BAND CONDUCTOR USES NO MUSIC

MUSICAL MEMORY

Lieut. Adkins Reads Score Over and Knows It by Heart

Thousands of people who have listened to the massed military bands of 1,000 performers in the Stadium at the British Empire Exhibition have been amazed to discover that no music score is ever used by the conductor, Lieut H. E. Adkins, director of the Royal Military School of Music.

The explanation is that Lieut. Adkins possesses an abnormally developed "musical memory." After once reading a score he "knows the music by heart," He said to a reporter.

I began memorizing when I started my career as a bandmaster in 1913. It has now become natural to me, and it does not cost me the least effort. Recently I memorized Mr. Gustav Holst's very difficult work, "The Planets," after hearing it performed once at the Queen's Hall and then reading it over in the military band score.

When I am standing in the midst of the massed bands I am able to visualize pages of the music being played. I memorize the whole of each day's program. My usual practice is to prop up the scores before me on a table at home and concentrate on them. In a short time the pages are, as it were, printed on my memory.

CIRCULAR FORMATION.

Lieut. Adkins himself conceived the idea of placing the bands in circular formation for ease of control. "It is the first time," he said, "that massed bands have been placed in this way, the ordinary method being to arrange the performers in the pattern of a horse-shoe or in a semi-circle."

The 600 performers who form the rings are provided with numbers and all are able to take their places in the great "Catherine Wheel" within five minutes.

In addition to the 600 instrumentalists there are 100 drums and pipes and a corps of 300 drums and fifes.

Lieut. Adkins is himself able to play every instrument used by a military band.

At the end of each performance at Wembley he is very fatigued physically, and on reaching his dressing room he jumps into a hot bath and afterwards into a cold one.

CELEBRATE VICTORY.

An ancient custom begun in the 14th century to celebrate the English victory over the Scots at Neville's Cross, near Durham, in 1346, was observed by the Dean, clergy, and choir of Durham Cathedral, who ascended to the top of the Central Tower and sang anthems. John Nutton, a lay clerk, was one of the party for the 51st time.

THUMB PRICK AT OPERATION FATAL

Evidence at the inquest on Dr. Forbes Fraser, C.B.E., the distinguished Bath, Somerset, surgeon, showed that death resulted from a prick on the thumb while he was performing an operation. Poisoning supervened.

Dr. W. G. Mumford said these cases were by no means rare among surgeons—it was one of the risks the profession ran.

SCHOMBERG PENSION WILL BE COMMUTED

A Treasury minute has been issued providing for the final commutation of the perpetual pension given in 1695 to the Duke of Schomberg. The minute must lie for 30 days on the table of the House of Commons before it can be given effect to.

The pension was originally £4,000, but successive commutations have reduced it to £350 (net), which, since the dukedom and direct line have long been extinct, is paid to Major W. S. Gosling.

This gentleman, it is proposed, will receive £7,560, as 21 years' purchase of his pension, and the pension will then disappear.

The original Duke of Schomberg, to whom this pension was granted, was the second in command in William III's army in 1688, when James II was driven out. He commanded in Ireland until the King came over. He died at the battle of the Boyne.

WEATHERWISE TREES FORECAST SUMMER

Farmers of Dursley, Gloucestershire, are preparing for the summer, which begins, according to the calendar, on June 21, to be one of mixed sunshine and rain.

They are basing their expectations on the behaviour of two elm trees in the district which are considered to be unfailing weather prophets.

If the leaves show white the summer will be dry. If the leaves show green the summer will be wet, says local legend. This year the leaves are mingled green and white.

GAS STRIKE OVER.

Although the Dublin gas-workers' strike is over and 700 men have returned to work the city is still without gas, and a week will elapse before the supply can be restored.

Dublin Cabman is Heir to Estate of £80,000, Says Court

Wm. Brown, a Dublin cabman has become entitled to real estate valued at £80,000 as the result of an application to the Chancery Court in Dublin.

He has proved himself heir-at-law to the late Mrs. Jane Isabella Lewis, whose husband, Mr. Harvey Lewis, was High Sheriff of Kildare and an M.P.

Mr. Brown has been a "jarvey" for 52 years. The Master of the Rolls made an order for the immediate payment to Mr. Brown of £250.

NATURE POET IS DEAD IN ENGLAND

The death has taken place at Colchester of Hugh Stannard, formerly of Woodford and well-known as the author of nature poems, including the "Cycle of the Seasons."

Seventy-four years of age, he had been a chorister in Colchester and Woodford Congregational Church choirs for over 60 years.

DEVASTATING FLOODS MAKE NEW LAKES IN WEST OF ENGLAND

Torrential Rains Bring Darkness to Cities and Ruin of Crops in Country Districts—Worcester and Hereford Very Badly Hit

Worcester with its electric light and power cut off, and many hundreds of houses surrounded by water, and swans swimming in the streets—

Chains of lakes miles wide in the Severn basin; hundreds of acres of crops damaged in the Vale of Evesham—

Tamworth, in Staffordshire, isolated on three sides, and some of its streets under water; torrential rains in Northern England—

These are some of the outstanding features of the floods which have invaded great areas of Great Britain. At least five lives have been lost.

To understand the greatness of the disaster which has befallen the Western Countries, it is necessary to bear in mind the size of the basin of the Severn.

On the western side it stretches from the slope of Plinlimmon, Montgomeryshire, and on the eastern side from the high ground at Naseby, whench the Avon runs westeriy.

The main rivers are the Avon on the east and the Teme on the west, with the Severn in the centre. Besides these there are countless small streams and brooks which feed them. And the great volume of water pours down from Gloucester into the Bristol Channel.

With ordinary rainfall the rivers and streams are capable of carrying off the storm water as it comes; that is, if the ground is not saturated and can absorb part of the water. But during the past week both these conditions were absent.

There was an extraordinary rainfall, while the ground was as full as it could hold from previous downfalls.

The records of rainfall are extraordinary. A competent observer at Malvern gives it at 4:24 in. for the 24 hours.

At Stourport the gauges indicated 3.6 in. in 24 hours, and at Worcester 2:36.

RIVER'S 10 FEET RISE.

There is, therefore, no wonder that the Severn rose 10 feet during one day.

Great chains of lakes, in some cases miles wide, have been formed from Warwick, Tewkesbury, Tenbury, to Worcester.

Many bridges have been destroyed.

Growing crops and gardens have been ruined.

Livestock has been rescued with difficulty, and in some cases with danger to the rescuers.

Many hundreds of houses have been surrounded by water, and in some cases the occupants have been driven to the upper floors.

The glorious old abbey of Tewkesbury, with its magnificent tower, stood overlooking the wide-spreading floods of the Avon and Severn, while all the low-lying streets of the town were under water.

FLOODS STILL RISING.

That other abbey church at Pershore looked upon a similar scene, where the Avon had overflowed, and orchards and garden abundant crops of asparagus and strawberries were dying beneath the waters.

Along the great Vale of Evesham, the market garden of the Midlands, hundreds of acres of valuable crops have been spoilt by the raging torrents pouring over them, and the pity of it was that there never was a fairer promise of an abundant crop.

In all the low-lying streets beside the Severn the houses were surrounded by water, and their inhabitants were being supplied by boats.

The mortuary in Worcester which lies near the Severn, was unapproachable, although a body lay there awaiting burial.

The electric light works, which are near the Severn, are flooded, and the electric lighting of the town has been cut off. Power is supplied from this station to the tramways. They, too, have been stopped.

Inhabitants have been notified that the water supply of the city will have to be reduced.

At the same time there have been no casualities. The poorer class of the community who have been injured by the flood are being helped by the Corporation and the inhabitants, and are being given every assistance in their time of trouble.

WEIRD NOISES OF HISSING GHOST

Inhabitants of Dudley Stirred Up Over Antics of Spectre

The prosaic manufacturing town of Dudley, Worcestershire (population at last census 55,908), is being visited by a ghost, which is causing great alarm to timid people.

In a certain house, at the dead of night, it is said, weird tappings have been heard, pictures on the walls have been shaken and chairs have been transferred from one side of a bed to the other by some supernatural agency.

Worse than this, there has been an uncanny hissing noise, causing the blood of those who heard it to freeze in their veins, and their hair (if any) to stand on end.

The occupants of the house called in a clergyman, presumably to lay the ghost. (This cannot be done by a layman.) He is wisely maintaining an open mind on the matter until it is cleared up.

One individual who boldly went to find the why and wherefore declared that £10 will not induce him to sleep in the bed again. There are no offers.

Many theories are advanced to account for the presence of the ghost. Years ago there lived near the spot a man who assisted the common hangman in his duties, and it is said that he lent an article of clothing to the tenant of the house, who never returned it. The ghost is now believed to be in search of it.

In the meantime the ghost is having a week-end holiday.

GIANT ORGAN IS PUT UP AT WEMBLEY

To complete the wonder of the Empire Stadium the biggest portable organ in the world has been erected in the centre of the stand opposite the Royal Box at Wembley.

The organ, which cost £10,000, weighs 30 tons, and contains over 3,000 pipes, the largest of which is 32 ft. in height and the smallest ¾ in. It is a five manual instrument with 75 stops, and over 85 miles of electric wire has been used in the action, which is electro-pneumatic throughout.

The work of erecting the organ was fraught with many difficulties. It had to be hauled up an incline 200 ft. long to a height of 80 ft. Two cwt. of 4-in. nails were used in the construction of the platform on which it stands, and twelve gross of 4-in screws. There are 5,000 electric contacts.

EARL HANDS OVER ESTATE TO SON

In a letter to Folkestone Town Council, the Earl of Radnor intimated that he had transferred his Folkestone estate to Viscount Folkestone, his eldest son).

In future the Viscount, who is 28, is to be Lord of the Manor.

Last November Lord Glanusk, Lord Lieutenant of Breconshire, transferred his estates by deed of gift to his son and heir, the Hon. W. R. Bailey, and announced he was going to live in his fishing box.

At least ten peers have had their lands transferred to limited liability companies.

LIVERPOOL DOCK LABORER ARTIST

"I gave him a pencil long before he was 10 years old," said his sister, Mrs. Parkins, of Davidson street, Liverpool, "and he would draw familiar objects with ease and faithfulness of detail."

Mrs. Parkins has been the principal patron of her brother's art.

"Whenever my brother could find the money he would buy paints and canvas," she added, "and go out to some of the beauty spots of Liverpool and sketch. I have invariably bought his work for a few shillings in order that he might get more material to carry on his painting.

"A few years ago he had some training at a school of art, but it was a hard struggle for him to pay the fees."

"If I had only had half a chance," said Robinson, "I feel I could have done something much better."

Three Sets of Twins In Kentish Woman's Flock of Twenty-two

Sixteen boys and six girls, including three sets of twins, represent the family up to date of Mrs. Lucas, of Baltic road, Tonbridge, Kent, who has given birth to her twenty-second child. Her first husband died in consumption. Her present husband is an engine mate earning £2 ($9.00) a week, and one son gives her $1.50 a week. There are ten children at home, the eldest aged nine, and the bread bill (for eight or more loaves daily) varies from sixteen to eighteen shillings. (about $4.00).

BOY CONJURER, WHO TRICKS MERCHANTS

An innocent-looking boy of 14 has found a way of getting his money's worth—and a little extra—according to the story told of him at Willesden.

His practice, before the police took charge of him, was to buy some trifling article, offering the shopkeeper a Treasury note.

On getting his change he would turn his back to the counter, flick a florin up his sleeve, and show the shopkeeper the money in his hand, demanding another 2s.

He was remanded to a place of juvenile detention.

PICTURES IN JAIL TO BRIGHTEN LIFE

Water colors and oil paintings have been supplied to Halloway Gaol to cheer up the prisoners' surroundings. They were the gift of Miss Edith M. Tann, of Farnham, who has also been given permission to send other to the Borstal Institution at Aylesbury.

"My idea," she says, "was that each prisoner should have a beautiful picture in his own cell, but whether the authorities will agree I don't know. It may be they will only allow the pictures to be exhibited in a sort of common room.

ROUMANIAN RULERS WANT ALLIE'S AID

Rival Claims For Possession of Bessarabia Most Serious Menace To-day To Peace of Europe.

By HENRY WOOD

GENEVA, June 19 (United Press) —In the recent visit of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie to the League of Nations and the principal powers of the Allies, European political experts profess to see Roumania's preparation for a showdown with Russia on the question of Bessarabia.

The possibility of the latter questitutes, according to these experts, tion only being settled by war con the most serious menace to European peace existing today.

And in the event of such a war, Roumania would be obliged to count upon one of two things, either full support of the League of Nations or the armed suport of the principal European nations of the Big Entente.

It was for the purpose of placing Roumania's position on this question squarely before the League of Nations and squarely before the Big Entente that the Roumanian rulers are declared to have undertaken their recent tour of the European capitals.

That Roumania would prefer the full support of the League of Nations is said to be indicated not only by the prestige of his visit to Geneva and the unmistakable declarations which he made there relative to Roumania's position in the League, but also similar declarations of league support exchanged with King George of England in their formal public greetings.

Claims Bessarabia

"Bessarabia was assigned to Roumania, after a full expression of its population to that effect, by the treaty signed at Paris, October 28, 1920, between England, France, Italy, Japan and Roumania. Roumania stands for the integral and loyal respect of existing treaties, and she intends to call on the League of Nations, should the occasion arise, to carry out its obligations under the covenant for the maintenance of her rights and territory."

In the event Roumania makes this appeal to the League, it is conceded that it will create the most serious test to which the League has ever been subjected and it is because of the uncertainty of what the League might do under such circumstances, that King Ferdinand is said to have made the tour to Paris and London to see what the joint signatories of the treaty which assigned Bessarabia to Roumania, might be disposed to do if the Soviets push the question to a showdown of arms

In the event of Roumania's appeal to the League it is pointed out that the covenant provides when such apeal is against a state not a member of the League that the Council shall first invite that state to accept regular League obligations for the settlement of the difference.

No question exists in any one's mind as to what Tchitcherine's reply would be to the League's invitation that the Soviets accept the obligations of League membership.

With Russia's refusal known in advance, the Council would then be obliged to enforce against Russia the provisions of Article 16 for an economic and financial blockade.

Blockade Futile

Unfortunately for the League in this moment, Russia has virtually no financial or economic relations with anyone and has demonstrated for a number of years past that she can get along very comfortably without outside financial and economic relations.

All that the Council could then do would be to recommend under Article 10 that the members of the League take military and naval action against Russia in support of Roumania. But here again, Article 10 provides that all the Council can do is to make a recommendation and it is then for the leaguers themselves to decide whether or not they wish to carry out the recommendation.

As a consequence in the final analysis of an eventual appeal of Roumania to the League of Nations, the principal European members of the League would have to decide for themselves whether in pursuance of their obligations under the covenant and upon recommendation of the League Council, they might wish to go to Roumania's support.

According to International experts, King Ferdinand probably assured himself during the course of his visit to the European capitals that enough of the big powers will respond to the appeal of the League not only to save Roumania, but to save the League itself.

KEEP THESE IN MIND.

The so-called pep in lots of motors is nothing but a too limber accelerator. When an accelerator is too sensitive, as is the case when no provision is made for steadying the foot, it's a very simple matter to make the engine jump. You could do the same with any motor by suddenly pulling the hand control all the way down, but you wouldn't.

Tapping the muffler now and again helps to dislodge some of the carbon from its inner sides which is partially blown out by racing the engine just a little.

A little oil on the carbureter controls will do much to save wear and consequent air leaks. This applies to the shaft of the throttle valve, the rods or plungers for the auxiliary air or gas valves and to the accelerator and hand throttle control assembly. These parts frequently appear lubricated merely because they are covered with gasoline or kerosene from the carbureter, which is just another way of saying they are sadly in need of real lubrication.

REDUCTION OF ROAD MILEAGE

Due for Discussion By County Council in Open Session.

GRANTS SOLICITED

At Thursday's session of the County Council the recommendation of the County Road committee were dealt with and deputations from the G.W.V.A. and Peterboro Poultry Association were heard .

Mr. Rye presented his report as Chairman of the County Roads' committee, touching upon the matter of reducing the mileage of the roads which have been assumed as County Roads in the County.

The chairman stated that one or two inspections had been made not included in his report, the results of which Mr. Middleton would report.

"I believe the Department has established and has in operation at the present time an advisory board and there is to be a meeting of that Board in July," said Mr. Rye, "at which the representatives of the municipalities in the County Road system will meet, and put forth their views. It will make it easier for us to deal with the Department."

The Chairman's report was received on motion of Messrs. Curtis and Brown and tabled in parliamentary style. Mr. Rye's report is as follows:

This I believe is the first report of this nature (that is. a report of the Chairman of this Committee.

I trust you will not infer that I am presumptious from the fact that the matter of lessening the mileage of the County Road System is under consideration.

You appointed a Committee composed of Messrs. County Solicitor, Superintendent of County Roads and myself to draft a bylaw revising the County Road System to be sumitted to the Council for consideration at this session.

After listening to Mr. Muir the Chief Engineer of Highways who addressed this Council on February last and endeavoring to eleminate certain roads consistent with the expressed opinions of the various members of this Council at that time, we placed in the hands of the Clerk such by-law, that has been drafted by the Solicitor.

We your Committee believe that the Department of Highways will approve of the same in the main although such Department may suggest further eliminations.

We will welcome and be gratified to hear any references to said bylaw as to being satisfactory or a suggestion that would be beneficial to the conduct of the carrying into effect, the expenditure of monies appropriated for highway purpose.

I would respectfully solicit all to make an honest endeavor to bring the mileage of the Highway System to a limit that would enable the Superintendent and Committee to accomplish the very best results.

After reading his report, Mr. Rye read by-law No. 1139, the original County Road by-law, passed in 1920 introducing eight townships into the County Road system. Since that time four subsidiary road by-laws have been passed adopting certain roads as County roads.

The Department of Highways has advised the County to reduce the mileage on the County Roads which has been already assumed, being of opinion that the present assumption of the County is too large an undertaking.

In response to this suggestion a committee was appointed by the Council with Mr. Rye as chairman for the purpose of making recommendations of the roads to be abndoned. Mr .Rye read the amended list as recmmended by the committee.

This amended list will be dealt with in open Council and a revising by-law, cancelling the five previous road by-laws and constituting the roads recommended by the Committee as comprising the County Road system hereafter. If this by-law is accepted at this session, it will be forwarded to the Government for approval and if approved, it will be confirmed at some future session.

Asked For Grant.

Mr. Harry Lush, as representative of the Peterboro Poulty Association appealed to the Council for assistance. "The scope of the Association extends throughout the County and we depend on the farmers for a large portion of the exhibits," said Mr. Lush. In the course of his address Mr. Lush spoke of the educational value of the Poultry Association and mentioned the Guelph Conference, which is being held next week to discuss the improper sale and importation of American second grade eggs into Canada. "Our work is continually up hill and I trust you will see your way clear to make us a liberal grant," he concluded.

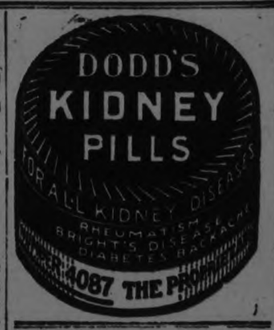
This matter was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Sidney Whatley addressed the Council on behalf of the Great War Veteran's Association and said that "he thought it was a just matter of reminding the Council and the Association would receive the usual grant of $50.00." Mr. Whatley pointed out that the work of the association extended beyond the city as they looked after the disabled and widows in all parts of the County as a link to the Pension Board. In thanking the members Mr. Whatley stated that the veterans in general would appreciated any assistance that the County might give.

This request was also referred to the finance committee.

CANADIANS AT LIVERPOOL

LIVERPOOL, June 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The Canadian team who will take part in the rifle competitions at Bisley, arrived yesterday.



BUSINESS BETTER

Britain Will Pay the Hitherto Unpaid Chairman of Shipping Committee.

LONDON, June 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—When introducing the board of trade estimates in the house of commons yesterday Sidney Webb, president of the board of trade, said that owing to the development and importance of the imperial shipping commitee it had been decided to pay the hitherto unpaid chairman of the committee Sir Halford Mackinder £2,000 a year.

Trade conditions, said the minister, are considerably more promising than at the same date last year. There had been a wonderful increase of imports mainly of the principal raw materials on which British commerce depended. Exports also had increased. Coal and steel production in Britain had reached pre war figures.

Lloyd George expressed the opinion that the prospects for a settlement of conditions in Europe were good in view of the fact that the Dawes report dealing with the reparations question was almost certain to be put into operation.

OVER THE TOP TODAY

British Columbia Expects Biggest Vote on Record With All Parties Out.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—All political parties in British Columbia with the campaign now completed, yesterday were putting in the finishing touches on their organization to get out the vote. The polls will eb open from 8 a.m. o 7 p.m. today. It is estimated that with four parties concentrating on bringing out the vote the largest poll ever recorded in the history of the province will be registered. In Vancouver it would occasion no surprise if between forty and fifty thousand ballots were cast out of the fifty eight thousand on the list.

WOMEN CHAMPS LEFT

EDMONTON, Alta., June 20.—(Canadian Press)—Thousands of Edmontonians gathered at the Canadian National depot yesterday to say good-bye to the commercial grads, women's basketball champions of North America, who are enroute to Paris where they will represent Canada in the Olympic games. There were ten in the party.

VOTERS OF JAPAN GAINING CONTROL

The People of Japan Have Had a Little Taste of Power This Spring.

(By Frank H. Hedges.)

TOKIO, June 19. — Out of the elections of this spring in Japan has emerged one salient fact which here after can not be overlooked in attempting to gauge the possible line of action that this Empire may follow. The people have had a taste of power.

No matter how much the elder statesmen and bureaucrats may interfere, the 2,800,000 qualified voters of Japan have discovered that what they say and do influences the affairs of State.

For fifty years, or virtually ever since the opening of the nation to the Western World, they have been told by a handful of party leaders, that this was so, or at least that it might be made so if the people only wished it. They listened to such statements, but scoffed at them.

Here was Yukio Ozaki, for instance, the veteran liberal leader of Japan, telling them that this was true, but against his statements they saw the late Prince Ito, the late Prince Yamagata, Prince Saionji and Prince Matsukata continuing to play their old game of clan politics and directing affairs of State.

The recent elections were revelations. The people of Japan were surprised, very much surprised, when they saw that by their votes they had made it impossible for Premier Viscount Kiyoura, the choice of the Genro and the bureaucrats, to continue in office beyond 25th June at the latest, the date of the convening of the extraordinary session of the Imperial Diet.

Premier Kiyoura must go and it is not the Genro but the people who have decreed this.

There is not as yet a full realisation on the part of the electorate of the power that it possesses, but there is the dawning of such a consciousness. It will grow and reach maturity. Never again will it be possible for a group of men close to the throne to say this shall and that shall not be done.

In the future, if the Genro is to control, and it may yet for a considerable time, it can do so only by manipulating the electorate to its own ends.

OPEN-AIR CONVOCATION

History Made at Prince Albert—Degree Conferred on Primate of All Canada.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 20.—(Canadian Press.)— History was made on Wednesday in Prince Albert when probably the first open air convocation for the conferring of degrees in the annals of any univrsity was held in connection with the semi-centenary celebrations of the diocesan synod of Saskatchewan. The recipient of the degree of D.D. of Emmanuel Collegee was the primate of all Canada, His Grace Archbishop Matheson. The degree was conferred in the presence of the senate of the college, of the members of the synod and of the public.

REV. J.J. BLACK IS NEEDED AT BURNBRAE

BURNBRAE, June 19.— At a congregational meeting held at St. Andrew's church, Burnbrae, Mr. W. A. Milne and Mr. John Murray were appointed by the congregation to attend the meeting of Presbytery to be held Friday, June 20th in St. John's church, Belleville, to try and retain Rev. J. J. Black as minister of Seymour and Rylstone. Delegates from Rylstone congregation are Sanford Meiklejohn and William Allan.

Preparatory service will be conducted in the congregation of Seymour and Rylstone on Thursday. About a dozen children will receive the sacrament of baptism. Also two adults will be baptized. Communion service will be held at both congregations next Sabbath day.

The Menie Cheese Factory is making cheese on Saturday nights now and will continue during the hot weather.

The crops in this district have made splendid progress during the past few days. The warm sunshine and occasional showers have quite made up for the cold and backward spring. The farmers are looking forward to a good harvest.

Rev. Alexander Rannie and Mrs. Rannie and daughter Ruth of Calgary, Alberta, are visiting relatives in Burnbrae and vicinity. Mr. Rannie was a Burnbrae boy and he preached to a large congregation Sunday in his home church in Burnbrae.

BOGUS DOCTOR USES GOLF AS BLIND FOR ROLE OF RAFFLES

Daring Thefts All Over England Revealed When Adventurer is Trapped in Country Hotel Working New Job

Raffles, the hero of E. W. Hornung's famous novel, was the gentleman cricketer who visited country houses and spent the passing hours in robbing his hosts. Charles Wadsworth, now 42, substituted golf for cricket, and found his skill as a player quite a considerable asset in the role of society crook. Because he was a well-educated, good-looking fellow, who dressed with taste, and called himself a doctor, he succeeded in imposing upon a great many people. Had some of his victims known, however, that the "Doctor" had been convicted twice in January last they might very well have been reluctant to play with him. Early last March, Wadsworth wrote to the Army and Navy Co-operative Society, asking to be permitted to open an account. He gave his address as South Side, Clapham Common, and stated that he was Flight-Lieut. George Brookman, of the Royal Air Force.

In due course he received a membership card, and a few days later he called at the Stores and handed in a cheque for £10 as a deposit. Immediately he had done this he went to various departments and ordered a suit case, together with a good many articles of clothing, valued in all at £26 10s. He paid for them with a cheque, subsequently found to be valueless, and was permitted to take the goods away. When the cheque came back the police were notified, but by this time the offender was out enjoying himself on country golf links. With his suit of plus fours, a bag of clubs, which had evidently seen good service, and some very engaging manners, he played golf for the better part of a month with some of the best-known people in the country.

He would go to an hotel in the neighborhood of a famous course, book a room, and then make the acquaintance of people who were also golfing. Most of the time he called himself "Dr. Brookman," while he was also "Dr. Wadsworth" and "Dr. Davidson." Nobody suspected him, for he spoke and acted like a gentleman, and played golf as though he was a scratch man. When funds ran short he had a very simple method of replenishing the exchequer. He would watch one of his golfing friends out of the hotel, and then go up to his room and steal. Usually he also took a bag, and put that in his own bedroom to delude the hotel servants into thinking he was

STILL STAYING IN THE PLACE.

But what he did do was hire a car and drive off to the railway station. In Norfolk and Suffolk the "Doctor" had a right royal time. At a Cromer hotel he cultivated the friendship of an elderly man and his daughter, with whom he went golfing every day for a week. Usually the "Doctor" dined with the couple after teaching the father to play. All went well for the week, when the matter of the "Doctor's" bill obtruded itself. So one night at dinner the "Doctor" excused himself and went upstairs. There he passed to the bedrooms of his new-found friends, and stole all the woman's jewellery and a set of valuable cuff links belonging to the father. Then he walked off to the station, caught a train to Norwich, and had disappeared before father and daughter had the slightest idea that anything was wrong.

In Huntingdon, where he stayed for some few days at the George Hotel, he stole a silver chain bag and purse valued at £27 from a lady whose acquaintance he had made on the links. This was in January last, before he had gone to Clapham Common. Following Huntingdon, the "Doctor" went to the Angel Hotel, in Northampton, still in possession of his golf clubs. There he utilised his chances to steal a suit case and its contents, including a cheque book, valued altogether at £17. For the better part of a month he played golf all over the South of England, and there were many well-known men whose acquaintance he made at various clubs who had not the slightest idea that their affable companion who played so well was an ex-gaol bird, living on his wits. The tale the "Doctor" told sounded very plausible.

He explained that he was a medical man with a big practice in London, compelled to give up work after a nervous breakdown. Some of his victims thought it more than a little strange that the "Doctor" should play such wonderful golf if his nerves were bad. He would go round in bogey without turning a hair, and his putting, especially if there was a wager on the game, was something to marvel at. The "Doctor" informed all and sundry that he was a member of the Royal and Ancient, and also belonged to Coombe Hill, Royal St. George's,

AND OTHER FASHIONABLE CLUBS.

Wealthy elderly gentlemen found him a most admirable tutor though afterwards, when their mentor had been through their belongings, their feelings underwent a change.

Occasionally he cashed a "dud" cheque at a golf club, and on half a dozen different occasions bought balls from the professional and paid for them with cheques, which were also returned marked "Refer to drawer." In February he turned up at a hotel at Sidcup. He stayed a few days, played golf regularly, and then mysteriously disappeared. When he departed a pocket-book belonging to one of the other guests, containing £12 10s., went with him. He was next traced to Clapham Common. He stayed only a short time, and when he went, after obtaining the suit-case from the Army Co-operative Society, he gave a worthless cheque for his bill. Then the "Doctor" made his appearance at that fashionable little seaside resort, Frinton-on-Sea. He played golf over the local course with a number of people whom he met in the hotel, tried to borrow money from them, and, being unsuccessful, flitted out, owing the hotel £3 10s.

The same day he had the impudence to go to another place in Frinton, where he stayed just long enough to cash a cheque for £7 7s. On April 17, calling himself "Dr. Brookman," he turned up at Chalfont St. Peters, Bucks, still carrying his bag of clubs. He had a few games of golf, but aroused suspicion by being found prowling around the hotel. The manageress had him watched, and as by this time his description had been circulated by the police the local constabulary were communicated with. Trap, Neal called at the hotel to interview him. Nothing could have been more disarming than the manner in which the "doctor" received his visitor. He had a long story to tell, and was careful to explain that he had not practised as a doctor in this country to any extent.

Most of his life had been spent in the Colonies, and he had come to England for a golfing holiday. It all sounded very interesting, but the inspector was not convinced. He told the "Doctor" he had better go to the police-station with him, because he answered the description of a man who was wanted for a series of thefts all over England and Scotland.

On their way to the station the suspect grew confidential and informed the inspector that his real name was not Brookman, but "Dr. Charles Wadsworth, M.D., M.R.C.S." The inspector wanted to know where he had obtained his degrees, and by saying that they were American diplomas. Other information he volunteered was that he had practised at Harrow-road, Walkey, Sheffield. The police in that town were communicated with, and, to the "Doctor's" mortification, they wrote back saying that the individual who lived at the address in Harrow-road was a greengrocer. In the meantime Inspector Neal ascertained that the "Doctor" was wanted all over the country, and eventually he was handed over to Det.-Sergt. Loader, of Streatham.

The "Doctor" was indignant at the suggestion that his golf had been a blind for the role of Raffles, and the idea that open confession was good for the soul did not commend itself to him. However, the police preferred to keep him in custody while they got him identified by a few of his numerous victims. They discovered that he had stolen hundreds of pounds worth of jewellery and promptly pawned it, besides giving dozens of worthless cheques. So eventually the "Doctor" appeared before the Recorder at the Old Bailey, where he pleaded not guilty to the charges against him.

He defended himself with ability, which could only come by long practice, but the jury found him guilty.—Sergeant Loader mentioned that Wadsworth was a mystery man. Although there was no trace of him being a doctor, he had undoubtedly received a first-class education and mixed in very good society. In June, 1920, at North London, he was sent to prison for a month for stealing money from a girl. The following month, at Marylebone, he was committed for another three months for obtaining money by false pretences, while in January, 1922, at Derby he received 12 months' hard labor for passing worthless cheques. Brought up on a Home Office order in the following February, he got another 12 months, to run concurrently with his previous sentence, on other charges of obtaining money by fraud.

At Southport, in May, 1923, he got six months for stealing an attache case from an hotel, while at Derby in January, 1924, he received a nominal sentence of one day for obtaining £10 by false pretences. At Grimsby, nine days later, he was bound over under the Probation of Offenders' Act for a similar offence. Immediately after getting out of this trouble he recommenced his career as a society thief.—"I swear," dramatically exclaimed prisoner, addressing the judge, "that if you grant me clemency, this will be my last conviction."

His operations will be curtailed for some considerable time, because he was sentenced to penal servitude for three and a half years as a plausible and dangerous rogue, who had indulged in a perfect orgy of frauds. The "Doctor" bowed politely on leaving the dock and went below looking rather sorry for himself.

Eight Ways of Stopping Sneeze In Polite Society

To tickle the soles of your feet, puff out your cheeks, press on the eyeballs, contract the forehead and eyebrows, are various ways of gracefully stopping a sneeze suggested to Dr. Paul Farez, of Paris, who has written a monagraph on the subject.

Other methods advocated by the doctor are contracting the lips as much as possible and blowing hard, rubbing the jaws, pressing the upper lip with a finger, or stretching out the neck.

He believes that the blowing hard method will become a recognized form of good breeding to prevent sneezing.

Scientific experts, says Dr. Farez, have shown that sneezing is by no means such a ready source of infection as people usually think, and that it is far better to enjoy a good sneeze than to stifle it. Polite society, on the other hand, continues to think otherwise, he adds.

Woman Doctor is Elected to Medical Council in Britain

Dr. Christine Murrell is the first woman to be elected a member of the council of the British Medical Association.

She was one of five people nominated for four places as representatives of the Metropolitan Counties' Branch.

The voting was conducted on the single transferable vote system, and on the first count Dr. Murrell headed the list. She was, consequently, the first of the five nominees elected.

Dr. Murrell is one of the many distinguished medical women who have trained at the London School of Medicine for Women. She is also a well-known worker in other spheres.

During a critical period of the war she was chairman of the executive committee of the Women's Emergency Corps, and she is president of the Women's Election Committee.

Another Ice Age is coming, under which the present world will disappear.

Dimitri Loanovici, a Rumanian engineer, has written to the United States, British, Danish, and Canadian governments, declaring that an ice cap 10,000 feet thick will crush Greenland and alter the position of the world's axis. He does not mention when the disaster will occur.

He suggests that he shall be authorized and financed to build a huge dam across Fury-and-Hecla Strait, between the Bay of Boothia and Fox Channel, thus turning the Arctic current northwards, and allowing the warm Gulf Stream to reach Greenland and melt the ice.

RADIO DIAGNOSIS TEST BY DOCTORS

The first attempt in England to diagnose symptoms of heart trouble by wireless has been made by Dr. Tickhurst, of St. Leonards, Hastings, who "listened in" from his home to a patient's heart-beats at Cardiff.

This wireless diagnosis is said to have been partially successful, and the experiment may be repeated later.

One of the assistants at the Cardiff Broadcasting Station was taken ill, and as he suffers from heart trouble and desired to get advice from his family doctor (Dr. Ticehurst) at St. Leonards, an arrangement was made for his heart-beats to be broadcast, in an interval which would not interfere with the ordinary broadcasting program.

Dr. Harrington, of Cardiff, used his stethescope over the man's heart, and the microphone was placed close to it. Meanwhile, Dr. Ticehurst, himself an enthusiastic wireless amateur, who owns a valve set, listened-in to his patient at a distance of nearly 200 miles.

The heart-beats were heard, but the microphone used was one of an old pattern, and it is thought that with more modern apparatus better results would have been obtained.

Miner Blows Up Home and is Only Victim of Folly

The house of George Binnie, a miner, of Dennyloanhead, Stirlingshire, was wrecked by an explosion of gelignite. Binnie was killed, his body being shattered to pieces, but the 14 other occupants of the house escaped with minor injuries.

Binnie is alleged to have blown up the dwelling while his wife and family, together with the aged grandmother, were asleep.

Several were injured, and a daughter jumped from a window as the staircase was blown away.

Members of the family were injured by falling plaster and woodwork. Windows were blown out and holes made in the roof.

SUFFER PAIN IN AMPUTATED LIMB

Interesting medical opinion on the question of pain was given at Bridgend, Somerset County Court, in the course of a compensation case — His honor pointed out that he had come across cases where persons who had had a limb amputated suffered pain during a change of weather at the end of the limb amputated.—Two of the medical witnesses testified that persons who had had a leg amputated sometimes had pain in the amputated part. The impulse was carried to the brain and connected by the person with the amputated limb. What caused that impulse of pain they could not say. There was no pathological reason for it.—His Honor: This man had pain like pain from neuritis on typical neuritis days.—The man himself explained that after the loss of his fingers he could feel pain shooting from them.

FASCISTI LIMITED LATEST COMPANY

"British Fascisti, Limited," is the title by which England's black shirts are now officially known, the body having been registered at Somerset House as a limited company.

This does not mean that British Fascists will be daily quoted on the Stock Exchange under Italian securities, or possibly oil, and that they will rise and fall according to the state of the Communist poll.

"We only want to legalize our position," said Mrs. Alma C. M. Wroughton, joint secretary to the British Fascisti said. "We are limited by guarantee, not having a share capital, and the guarantors are the members of the council.

"We are entirely constitutional, and it is ridiculous to say that we are a secret society or that we practice revolver shooting in Chelsea cellars."

GOLD SOVEREIGNS IN RUBBISH HEAP

He took off the lid and found, inside 82 sovereigns and six half-sovereigns in gold.

The coins date from 1871 to 1912.

Wright has handed them over to the police.

HORSE BEATS MAN WITH LOT TO SPARE

R. J. Stephenson, the farmer, who started on his horse from Trafalgar-square in an endeavor to reach York before George Cummings, the walker, won the match. He completed the journey in 43¼ hours.

He stated that by midnight of the day he started he was 11 miles from London, and after a rest at Grantham he went on to Selby, another 72 miles.

"I have never used a whip on the horse, and it has walked a lot.

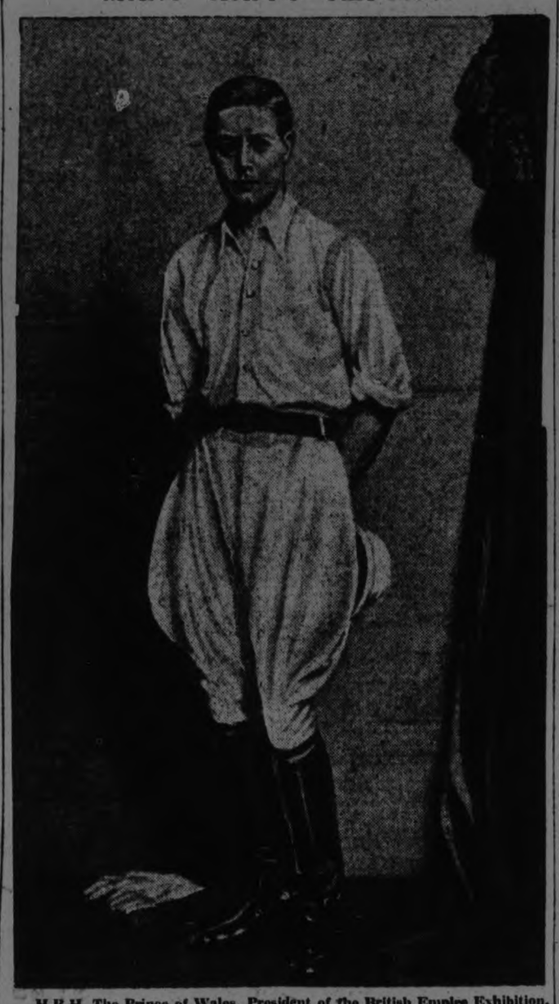
GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, of Wellbury Cottages, Hitchin, Herts, have recently celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Walker, who is 82 years of age, has been married twice.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS



H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, President of the British Empire Exhibition, Ambassador of Empire and Canadian Rancher, reaches his thirtieth birthday on the twenty-third of this month, having been born on June 23, 1894. The portrait of him in polo kit reproduced here was painted by Mr. John St. Helier Lander, for "The Illustrated London News," which presented it to the Manchester City Art Gallery. The artist has been asked to paint a replica of the head and shoulders for the Queen.

PANDEMONIUM AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Booing, cat-calls, singing, and general disorder on the part of a Welsh choir disappointed with the decision of the adjudication held up the Empire Musical Festival at the Crystal Palace.

The disturbance took place while women's choirs were competing. The manager of the Crystal Palace appealed in vain for quiet, and eventually the adjudicators were compelled to leave their table.

Mr. Cyril Jenkins, the eminent composer, who was one of the adjudicators, said that the unfortunate incident was the worst example of unsportsmanlike conduct he had encountered.

Such an attempt to break up a festival by choirs dissatisfied with the judgment given, he said, was unique in his long experience of musical festivals.

POOR MISS 1924

"Swollen Ankles, Flattened Toes, Misshapen Calves"

"It is enough to make one weep," said Dr. Ethel Benthom, Labor candidate for Islington, at a meeting at Highbury, "to see the bulging, swollen ankles, the misshapen calves, and flattened toes of the high-heeled girl of today. It is an exception to find an adult foot that is not more or less deformed."

HIS DEATH KNELL.

TOO OLD AT 31 EDICT IN LONDON

No workman is to be engaged on Wood Green Urban District Council, London, staff whose age exceeds 30 years, except ex-service men, for whom the age limit is to be 35.

Labor members strongly opposed the decision.

They argued that although the council might save on its superannuation scheme, the poor law relief burden would be correspondingly heavier in respect of the older men, who would be unable to get jobs.

Drum Contest in Ireland Followed By Free Fighting

Crowds watching rival Orange drummers competing for a £5 wager, at Castlecaulfield, Co. Tyrone, were dissatisfied with the referee's decision. A free fight followed.

When the police intervened, both parties combined and drove the constables to barracks. It was not until reinforcements arrived that the beleaguered police were able to venture out.

Many persons have now been arrested including several special constables.

REAL-LIFE ALICE IN LOOKING-GLASS

Girl Whose Writing Has to Be Read in Mirror

A case of "Alice Through the Looking-Glass" in real life has been discovered by Dr. H. H. Haward, of Northwich, Cheshire, in a girl patient who finds she can most easily write looking-glass writing with her left hand.

She is a very sharp and healthy child, and when she writes to her school friends they have to use a looking-glass to read it; but she uses her right hand when she must, and has passed her examinations with good results, including bookkeeping, since leaving school.

"She can now write with both hands simultaneously — by the left looking-glass writing, by the right ordinary; the left hand works twice as quickly as the right."

ENOUGH OPIUM TO KILL 14,000, SEIZED

For being in possession of 9¾lb. of opium, Ah Song, a Chinese, at Cardiff was find £10, with the option of 3 months' imprisonment, and recommended for deportation.

It was stated that the opium was enough to provide 70,000 doses and contained sufficient morphia to kill 14,000. He also had in his possession a loaded automatic pistol.

Frail Craft Perched On Edge Of Rapids Gave Baronet Thrill

While fishing above the Falls of Assaroe, which plunge over a 30ft. high cliff at Ballyshannon, County Donegal, Sir Basil and Lady Brooke, of Brookeborough, County Fermanagh, had a narrow escape.

Their boat was swept by the current towards the rapids. Just above the Falls the anchor caught in the rocks and held the boat. Ropes were thrown to secure it against the force of the river, and messengers hurried to Beleek, about 3 miles upstream to close the sluicegates and lower the river.

Lady Brooke took off her boots and some of her clothing so that if she were carried over the falls she might have a chance of escape. For two hours the boat hung on the edge of the cliff until the force of the stream abated sufficiently to allow of the rescue of Sir Basil and his wife.

BAND CONDUCTOR USES NO MUSIC

MUSICAL MEMORY

Lieut. Adkins Reads Score Over and Knows It by Heart

Thousands of people who have listened to the massed military bands of 1,000 performers in the Stadium at the British Empire Exhibition have been amazed to discover that no music score is ever used by the conductor, Lieut H. E. Adkins, director of the Royal Military School of Music.

The explanation is that Lieut. Adkins possesses an abnormally developed "musical memory." After once reading a score he "knows the music by heart." He said to a reporter.

I began memorizing when I started my career as a bandmaster in 1913. It has now become natural to me, and it does not cost me the least effort. Recently I memorized Mr. Gustav Holst's very difficult work. "The Planets," after hearing it performed once at the Queen's Hall and then reading it over in the military band score.

When I am standing in the midst of the massed bands I am able to visualize pages of the music being played. I memorize the whole of each day's program. My usual practice is to prop up the scores before me on a table at home and concentrate on them. In a short time the pages are, as it were, printed on my memory.

CIRCULAR FORMATION.

Lieut. Alkins himself conceived the idea of placing the bands in circular formation for ease of control. "It is the first time," he said, "that massed bands have been placed in this way, the ordinary method being to arrange the performers in the pattern of a horse-shoe or in a semi-circle."

The 600 performers who form the rings are provided with numbers and all are able to take their places in the great "Catherine Wheel" within five minutes.

In addition to the 600 instrumentalists there are 100 drums and pipes and a corps of 300 drums and fifes.

Lieut. Adkins is himself able to play every instrument used by a military band.

At the end of each performance at Wembley he is very fatigued physically, and on reaching his dressing room he jumps into a hot bath and afterwards into a cold one.

CELEBRATE VICTORY.

An ancient custom begun in the 14th century to celebrate the English victory over the Scots at Neville's Cross, near Durham, in 1346, was observed by the Dean, clergy, and choir of Durham Cathedral, who ascended to the top of the Central Tower and sang anthems. John Nutton, a lay clerk, was one of the party for the 51st time.

THUMB PRICK AT OPERATION FATAL

Evidence at the inquest on Dr. Forbes Fraser, C.B.E., the distinguished Bath, Somerset, surgeon, showed that death resulted from a prick on the thumb while he was performing an operation. Poisoning supervened.

Dr. W. G. Mumford said these cases were by no means rare among surgeons—it was one of the risks the profession ran.

SCHOMBERG PENSION WILL BE COMMUTED

A Treasury minute has been issued providing for the final commutation of the perpetual pension given in 1695 to the Duke of Schomberg. The minute must lie for 30 days on the table of the House of Commons before it can be given effect to.

The pension was originally £4,000, but successive commutations have reduced it to £350 (net), which, since the dukedom and direct line have long been extinct, is paid to Major W. S. Gosling.

This gentleman, it is proposed, will receive £7,550, as 21 years' purchase of his pension, and the pension will then disappear.

The original Duke of Schomberg, to whom this pension was granted, was the second in command in William III's army in 1688, when James II was driven out. He commanded in Ireland until the King came over. He died at the battle of the Boyne.

WEATHERWISE TREES FORECAST SUMMER

Farmers of Dursley, Gloucestershire, are preparing for the summer, which begins, according to the calendar, on June 21, to be one of mixed sunshine and rain.

They are basing their expectations on the behaviour of two elm trees in the district which are considered to be unfailing weather prophets.

If the leaves show white the summer will be dry. If the leaves show green the summer will be wet, says local legend. This year the leaves are mingled green and white.

GAS STRIKE OVER.

Although the Dublin gas-workers' strike is over and 700 men have returned to work the city is still without gas, and a week will elapse before the supply can be restored.

Dublin Cabman is Heir to Estate of £80,000, Says Court

Wm. Brown, a Dublin cabman has become entitled to real estate valued at £80,000 as the result of an application to the Chancery Court in Dublin.

He has proved himself heir-at-law to the late Mrs. Jane Isabella Lewis, whose husband, Mr. Harvey Lewis, was High Sheriff of Kildare and an M.P.

Mr. Brown has been a "jarvey" for 52 years. The Master of the Rolls made an order for the immediate payment to Mr. Brown of £250.

NATURE POET IS DEAD IN ENGLAND

The death has taken place at Colchester of Hugh Stannard, formerly of Woodford and well-known as the author of nature poems, including the "Cycle of the Seasons."

Seventy-four years of age, he had been a chorister in Colchester and Woodford Congregational Church choirs for over 60 years.

DEVASTATING FLOODS MAKE NEW LAKES IN WEST OF ENGLAND

Torrential Rains Bring Darkness to Cities and Ruin of Crops in Country Districts—Worcester and Hereford Very Badly Hit

Worcester with its electric light and power cut off, and many hundreds of houses surrounded by water, and swans swimming in the streets—

Chains of lakes miles wide in the Severn basin; hundreds of acres of crops damaged in the Vale of Evesham—

Tamworth, in Staffordshire, isolated on three sides, and some of its streets under water; torrential rains in Northern England—

These are some of the outstanding features of the floods which have invaded great areas of Great Britain. At least five lives have been lost.

To understand the greatness of the disaster which has befallen the Western Countries, it is necessary to bear in mind the size of the basin of the Severn.

On the western side it stretches from the slope of Plinlimmon, Montgomeryshire, and on the eastern side from the high ground at Naseby, whench the Avon runs westerly.

The main rivers are the Avon on the east and the Teme on the west, with the Severn in the centre. Besides these there are countless small streams and brooks which feed them. And the great volume of water pours down from Gloucester into the Bristol Channel.

With ordinary rainfall the rivers and streams are capable of carrying off the storm water as it comes; that is, if the ground is not saturated and can absorb part of the water. But during the past week both these conditions were absent.

There was an extraordinary rainfall, while the ground was as full as it could hold from previous downfalls.

The records of rainfall are extraordinary. A competent observer at Malvern gives it at 4:24 in. for the 24 hours.

At Stourport the gauges indicated 3.6 in. in 24 hours, and at Worcester 2:36.

RIVER'S 19 FEET RISE.

There is, therefore, no wonder that the Severn rose 19 feet during one day.

Great chains of lakes, in some cases miles wide, have been formed from Warwick, Tewkesbury, Tenbury, to Worcester.

Many bridges have been destroyed.

Growing crops and gardens have been ruined.

Livestock has been rescued with difficulty, and in some cases with danger to the rescuers.

Many hundreds of houses have been surrounded by water, and in some cases the occupants have been driven to the upper floors.

The glorious old abbey of Tewkesbury, with its magnificent tower, stood overlooking the wide-spreading floods of the Avon and Severn, while all the low-lying streets of the town were under water.

FLOODS STILL RISING.

That other abbey church at Pershore looked upon a similar scene, where the Avon had overflowed. n orchards and garden abundant crops of asparagus and strawberries were dying beneath the waters.

Along the great Vale of Evesham, the market garden of the Midlands, hundreds of acres of valuable crops have been spoilt by the raging torrents pouring over them, and the pity of it was that there never was a fairer promise of an abundant crop.

In all the low-lying streets beside the Severn the houses were surrounded by water, and their inhabitants were being supplied by boats.

The mortuary in Worcester which lies near the Severn, was unapproachable, although a body lay there awaiting burial.

The electric light works, which are near the Severn, are flooded, and the electric lighting of the town has been cut off. Power is supplied from this station to the tramways. They, too, have been stopped.

Inhabitants have been notified that the water supply of the city will have to be reduced.

At the same time there have been no casualties. The poorer class of the community who have been injured by the flood are being helped by the Corporation and the inhabitants, and are being given every assistance in their time of trouble.

WEIRD NOISES OF HISSING GHOST

Inhabitants of Dudley Stirred Up Over Antics of Spectre

The prosaic manufacturing town of Dudley, Worcestershire (population at last census 55,908), is being visited by a ghost, which is causing great alarm to timid people.

In a certain house, at the dead of night, it is said, weird tappings have been heard, pictures on the walls have been shaken and chairs have been transferred from one side of a bed to the other by some supernatural agency.

Worse than this, there has been an uncanny hissing noise, causing the blood of those who heard it to freeze in their veins, and their hair (if any) to stand on end.

The occupants of the house called in a clergyman, presumably to lay the ghost. (This cannot be done by a layman.) He is wisely maintaining an open mind on the matter until it is cleared up.

One individual who boldly went to find the why and wherefore declared that £10 will not induce him to sleep in the bed again. There are no offers.

Many theories are advanced to account for the presence of the ghost. Years ago there lived near the spot a man who assisted the common hangman in his duties, and it is said that he lent an article of clothing to the tenant of the house, who never returned it. The ghost is now believed to be in search of it.

In the meantime the ghost is having a week-end holiday.

GIANT ORGAN IS PUT UP AT WEMBLEY

To complete the wonder of the Empire Stadium the biggest portable organ in the world has been erected in the centre of the stand opposite the Royal Box at Wembley.

The organ, which cost £10,000, weighs 30 tons, and contains over 3,000 pipes, the largest of which is 32 ft. in height and the smallest ¾ in. It is a five manual instrument with 75 stops, and over 85 miles of electric wire has been used in the action, which is electro-pneumatic throughout.

The work of erecting the organ was fraught with many difficulties. It had to be hauled up an incline 200 ft. long to a height of 80 ft. Two cwt. of 4-in. nails were used in the construction of the platform on which it stands, and twelve gross of 4-in screws. There are 5,000 electric contacts.

EARL HANDS OVER ESTATE TO SON

In a letter to Folkestone Town Council, the Earl of Radnor intimated that he had transferred his Folkestone estate to Viscount Folkestone, his eldest son).

In future the Viscount, who is 28, is to be Lord of the Manor.

Last November Lord Glanusk, Lord Lieutenant of Breconshire, transferred his estates by deed of gift to his son and heir, the Hon. W. R. Bailey, and announced he was going to live in his fishing box.

At least ten peers have had their lands transferred to limited liability companies.

LIVERPOOL DOCK LABORER ARTIST

"I gave him a pencil long before he was 10 years old," said his sister, Mrs. Parkins, of Davidson street, Liverpool, "and he would draw familiar objects with ease and faithfulness of detail."

Mrs. Parkins has been the principal patron of her brother's art.

"Whenever my brother could find the money he would buy paints and canvas," she added, "and go out to some of the beauty spots of Liverpool and sketch. I have invariably bought his work for a few shillings in order that he might get more material to carry on his painting.

"A few years ago he had some training at a school of art, but it was a hard struggle for him to pay the fees."

"If I had only had half a chance," said Robinson, "I feel I could have done something much better."

Three Sets of Twins In Kentish Woman's Flock of Twenty-two

Sixteen boys and six girls, including three sets of twins, represent the family up to date of Mrs. Lucas, of Baltic road, Tonbridge, Kent, who has given birth to her twenty-second child. Her first husband died in consumption. Her present husband is an engine mate earning £2 ($9.60) a week, and one son gives her $1.50 a week. There are ten children at home, the eldest aged nine, and the bread bill (for eight or more loaves daily) varies from sixteen to eighteen shillings. (about $4.00).

BOY CONJURER, WHO TRICKS MERCHANTS

An innocent-looking boy of 14 has found a way of getting his money's worth—and a little extra—according to the story told of him at Willesden.

His practice, before the police took charge of him, was to buy some trifling article, offering the shopkeeper a Treasury note.

On getting his change he would turn his back to the counter, flick a florin up his sleeve, and show the shopkeeper the money in his hand, demanding another 2s.

He was remanded to a place of juvenile detention.

PICTURES IN JAIL TO BRIGHTEN LIFE

Water colors and oil paintings have been supplied to Halloway Gaol to cheer up the prisoners' surroundings. They were the gift of Miss Edith M. Tann, of Farnham, who has also been given permission to send other to the Borstal Institution at Aylesbury.

"My idea," she says, "was that each prisoner should have a beautiful picture in his own cell, but whether the authorities will agree I don't know. It may be they will only allow the pictures to be exhibited in a sort of common room.

CASTLE FOR PUBLIC.

The Earl of Dudley has offered the ruins of Dudley Castle and the extensive grounds which surround them to the town of Dudley on a 99 years' lease at a nominal rent.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:—

When John Collinge died, he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate, and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad.

After the death, Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, tells Wanda that Paul is coming home before the reading of the will, which, as she expects to be Collinge's sole heiress, somewhat mystifies her.

Paul arrives unexpectedly and Wanda hates him at once, because he shows plainly that he will not be ruled by her.

The will is read—and Wanda learns that she has been disinherited, on account of a quarrel she had had with the dead man, and that Paul is the heir

Later that night Paul, going back to the inn where he is staying, hears Wanda speaking at an upstairs window in her bedroom to Clare Garnet, her one friend. She is speaking of Paul and the reading of the will.

"I was silly to lose my temper," she says, "but it was such a shock. Of course, the best thing would be to marry him."

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

VII—PAUL FINDS WOMEN STRANGE.

The fact that he had been hated and feared by everyone did not deter the entire village from turning out to follow him to the grave; and though Wanda shrank from the many curious eyes that seemed to watch her, Mrs. Garnet apparently enjoyed her position of chief friend and consoler.

She walked from the church to the grave with her arm round Wanda, though the girl was not at all in need of support, and now and again she applied a delicate lace handkerchief to the corner of her eyes.

Wanda stood beside her, straight and stiff. She was very very pale, but there was no other sign of emotion in her face and the thought kept going through her mind; "Nobody cares. I wonder if anyone will care when I die. How awful not to be loved! How awful for nobody to mind!"

She looked at Paul, who stood bare-headed, a little distance from her, and again she was struck by the great likeness he bore to his father.

"Only he's better-looking—kinder!" she thought, and then checked the thought ashamedly, bringing her mind back with an effort to the present.

"Dust to dust. Ashes to ashes—"

The polished elm coffin—what a length it looked!—was carried into the vault, and Paul took a step forward, then stopped.

Well, it was all over; he stood for a moment, his fine head a little downbent, then he drew himself up and turned away.

Mrs. Garnet touched Wanda.

"You would like to take a last look, dear?"

She was a woman who always tried to do the correct thing. As Wanda took a reluctant step forward, she thrust a bunch of white roses into the girl's hand.

"They were his favorites, you remember," she murmured sentimentally.

Wanda looked at the roses, startled, then quite suddenly she burst into wild tears.

Paul stopped, glanced at her, then with a half shrug of his shoulders, moved on again.

"Hysteria," he thought contemptuously. "What a woman to have to live with!"

He was glad to get back to the house. The grey loneliness of his father's burial place had depressed him.

"I hope to heaven I don't have to lie there," he thought, as he followed Mr. Lindsay into the library.

It was Mr. Lindsay who broke the silence.

"Miss Griffin seemed very upset," he said.

Paul smiled rather grimly.

"Upset because she has lost Grey Chumley, perhaps," he submitted.

"I think you are a little unjust to her, Paul," Mr. Lindsay protested.

Paul made no answer; he had no belief in the sincerity of Wanda's tears.

"I've no doubt she thought to cry and make a scene was the right thing to do," he said contemptuously.

Mrs. Garnet came in to give them tea.

"Wanda has a headache. She is lying down," she apologised.

She looked very pretty and womanly as she sat by the little table, and Paul watched her with a sense of pleasure; he liked this gentle, rather old-fashioned type of woman; Wanda's wilfulness and independence exasperated him.

"What does Wanda mean to do?" he asked bluntly.

Mrs. Garnet shook her head.

"I do not know at all. I have tried to advise her, but she will not listen—even to me—and I believe Wanda is fond of me."

"She is lucky to have you for a friend," Paul said.

Mrs. Garnet flushed with pleasure.

"She is very headstrong and wilful," she murmured.

Paul moved restlessly.

"She will have to make some sort of plans for herself," he said again "She cannot stay here. It would not be right, for one thing, would it?" he submitted with a half smile. "I mean—of course, as long as you are kind enough to stay it is all right, but we cannot expect you to consider us indefinitely."

Mrs. Garnet smiled; she had a very pretty smile, and a little dimple in one cheek.

"I am only too pleased to stay," she answered. "Wanda will feel leaving Grey Chumley very much, I am afraid."

Paul frowned. "I daresay she will, but if a thing has to be done, it is better faced as soon as possible. Besides I am not particularly anxious to remain."

"She is certainly very difficult," Mrs. Garnet agreed. She stretched out a white hand. "Will you have some more tea?"

"Thank you. No sugar this time, please."

She gave a little remorseful exclamation.

"Did I sugar it before? I am so sorry. I will not forget again."

"It doesn't matter," Paul said nonchalantly.

He sat silent for a few moments, staring before him with frowning brows, and Mrs. Garnet watched him sympathetically.

"I shouldn't worry too much," she said at last. "Things will come all right. It is early days yet to approach Wanda with regard to plans, but she can be managed."

Paul laughed at that.

"Oh, I shall be able to manage her all right," he agreed confidently. "I should like to see her presently, if you will tell her."

"I will tell her now," Mrs. Garnet said; she rose at once, hesitated, then came over to where he sat, and laid a white hand on his shoulder. "Be kind to her, Paul."

"Oh, I'll be kind to her," he promised gruffly.

Women were strange creatures, he thought; certainly he had never seen two who made a greater contrast than Mrs. Garnet and Wanda.

Tomorrow—"I Hate Him!"

WHAT PULLS POPULATION?

By ROBSON BLACK
Manager Canadian Forestry Assocn.

Brought up as we are on public speeches that identify the getting of population with the opening up of "farms" it sometimes takes us by surprise to learn that the forest is, in large sections of Canada, the best agent of immigration we have and as regards millions of acres is the only member of the family of resources that can provide human sustenance. We have talked of population for so long in terms of prairie acres that we have entirely overlooked the fact that on eighty per cent. of the area of Canada there are no farming possibilities; forest growth, and forest industries alone can attract people. We have equally forgotten that the deforesting of great areas of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick has exiled from those districts and the Dominion large bodies of population. In our hurry to greet new batches of immigrants we have neglected to consider the problem whereby hundreds of once prosperous, well populated Canadian towns and villages have decreased in population or closed up shop altogether because of the disappearance of the forests, representing their reason for existence.

A vivid and authoritative instance of this depopulating process has come to the notice of the present writer. Here is an Ontario district known as the Madawaska river district. Fifty years ago lumbering on the Madawaska and Bonnechere rivers was at its best. Twelve companies and individuals were then operating. In 1875 and 1875 they took millions of feet of pine and rafts of timber to Quebec. At that time they considered nothing less than fifteen inches and up, and all clear stuff. Later on they took it down as low as eight inches. The square timber was all hewn by hand.

Thriving and populous towns came into existence and rapidly expanded. One of the towns had two hotels, three stores, two blacksmith shops and a population of five hundred. It has now one general store, two hotels, one sawmill and a population of about fifty. Another of the towns had four hotels, eight stores, three sawmills and a population of about eight hundred. It has now two hotels, four stores, a power plant and a population of about three hundred. Another town had in 1903 a population of several hundred, the exact number not being known, five stores, three hotels (worth fifteen thousand dollars) and two hundred thousand logs in the annual drive. In 1923 the population had dwindled to sixty, with three stores, two hotels (worth four thousand dollars) and one-tenth the number of logs in the drive.

In non-agricultural areas, the permanence of population is directly measured by the permanence of "timber crops;" and the outstanding foe of timber crops is the human-set forest fire.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, June 20.—The town council has let a contract for a lavatory at Victoria Park to M. Jex & Co. The contract price is $1,609.

Appealed Against Decision

The Imperial Accident and Guarantee Company of Toronto has appealed against the decision handed out by Mr. Justice Logie in the case of the town of Cobourg versus the abovementioned company, whereby the town of Cobourg was awarded nearly $1,800.

Raised 775.

The self-denial appeal made by the Salvation Army here was very successful. Including the tag day, returns, which have just come in in full, show that $775 was raised for all purposes.

Barrie—Winn.

The marriage took place on Saturday at Elmview, Hamilton Township, the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Bert Winn, of Miss Sadie Alida Winn and Mr. Thomas Barrie, of Port Hope. Rev. J. E. Griffith officiated. The marriage was quiet, only immediate relatives being present. The bride wore white crepe de chine, and was given in marriage by her brother. She was unattended. Among the guests present was Mr. Norman Montgomery, Brighton, the bride's uncle. After the wedding luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Barrie left for Midland and other points, the bride wearing a tailored suit of brown. They will take up residence near Port Hope.

The Lowest Temperature Yet Reached.

The Bureau of Standards, Washington, D.C., recently announced that the nearest approach to the absolute zero temperature which has yet been attained has been recently achieved by Professor H. Kamerlingh Onnes, of the University of Leyden, Holland, says the Scientific American.

The record temperature of 272.18 below zero Centigrade, or, as the physicists express it, .82 degrees absolute, was reached by the Dutch scientist in an unsuccessful attempt to solidify liquid helium. The temperature is equal to approximately 485 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. At this temperature the liquid helium showed absolutely no tendency to solidify, according to the report of Dr. Onnes, who expressed the opinion that helium may remain a liquid even at the absolute zero. This temperature, 273 degrees below zero Centigrade denotes the entire absence of heat, or, expressed in more scientific language, the entire absence of atomic or molecular motion.

Every gas has been liquefied and solidified except helium which has never been reduced to the solid state in spite of years of effort. Dr. Onnes, in his recent attempt, evaporated the liquid helium in the most perfect vacuum attainable, the pressure at the surface of the liquid being only thirteen thousandths of a millimeter of mercury, or about one sixty-five thousandth of an atmosphere. A battery of twelve glass and six iron Langmuir vacuum pumps connected in parallel was used to obtain this result. The previous attempts to solidify helium having produced a temperature of 1.05 degree absolute. Dr. Onnes undertook his latest attempt with the utmost refinement of technique and he was successful in getting the lowest temperature ever produced by man.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

CUTIE SAVES THE CORN CROP

When Mister Crow left Mister Bags' store in such a hurry, he bumped pell mell into Cutie Cottontail, who had come in for a bag of candy.

"Polite, isn't he!" remarked Cutie, for instead of saying "Excuse me," Mister Crow had said "Get out of my way!" rudely.

"I'm afraid he'll get into trouble yet," said the fairyman, shaking his head. "He came to find out when Farmer Jones was going to plant his corn, and when he discovered that it was already in the ground he could not wait to get away to eat it up."

"What do you want to buy, Cutie?" asked Nick. "I'll wait on you."

"Ma gamme a nickel," said Cutie. "I want a nickel's worth of candy. I'll pick it out."

The little rabbit boy pressed his nose down against the glass case and looked over all the goodies.

"Gimme a cent's worth of those black lickrish balls," he said, "an' a stick of chewing gum—that kind in the pink paper, an' a strawberry lolly pop, an' a cent's worth of chocolate drops, and a cent's worth of marshmallows."

When he was going home he passed the cornfields just as Mister Scare Crow arrived, flapping his wings in great excitement over the good news he had heard.

Mrs. Crow had just told him that she had made a discovery that day. Not only had Farmer Jones planted his corn, but it had started to grow.

"Ha, ha, ha!" screamed Mister Crow, lighting on the fence with a great commotion. "Here's where I have a feast right now. Look at that old scarecrow out there — the silly thing! Anybody would know that old gun of his is only a stick and hasn't got any bullets in it. In all the years I've lived here, he has never shot it once. Who's afraid!"

So he set to work and started to pull up the green corn shoots, gobbling them down as fast as he could.

Cutie Cottontail came along and stopped. Then he sat up on his hind legs and ate his candy. First he ate his marshmallows, then he ate his chocolate drops, then he ate his licorice balls, then his chewing and his lollypop he stuck in his pocket.

That left the little red and greed striped bag empty.

By this time Mister Crow was over near the place where the scare-crow stood pointing his gun, but he stopped eating long enough to call out. "Mister Smarty gave a party, and nobody came but an old black crow, and that's me. Well, your party is very nice, thank you, Mister Crow, and I'll come again." Then he went on eating.

Cutie sat there watching Mister Crow, and thinking that he'd better be getting home pretty soon so his Mama wouldn't be worried.

"I'll blow up the bag and get!" he said to himself.

So he twisted the top of the bag together, leaving only a teeny weeny hole—and then he blew into it as hard as he could. When it was good and tight he went bang! The bag blew up like a cannon.

"The old scarecrow shot me after all!" he gasped. "Never let any of the children go near that field, Carrie. Our lives are in danger. It was only a miracle that I escaped. Dear, Dear, Who'd have thought it"

Cutie Cottontail hopped home, not knowing that he had saved Farmer Jones' corn crop. At least he never said anything about it.

FABLES ON HEALTH

Out came the ancient palm fans as soon as the hot days came, and all the members of the Mann family soon were frantically waving.

Had everyone asked why, the answer very probably would have been: "To keep cool, of course!"

Which seems like a very reasonable answer.

But the real hygienic value of the hand fans is that it keeps air from stagnating; it provides an artificial means for keeping the air in motion.

When there is no natural movement in the air it should be kept in motion by artificial means. Hence, the electric fan and even the hand fan has a distinct hygienic value.

Air should never be allowed to become stagnant, and stagnant air is particularly noticeable in the hot weather.

Get rid of it!

RETURN BOTTLE LATEST FAD OF RUM SMUGGLERS

New Phase in International Rum Running Gives Good Returns.

AEROPLANES BUSY.

MALONE, N.Y., June 20.—Rum-running activities along the Canadian border, resumed a few months ago after a slight decrease during the winter, are climbing to the summer's peak with the recent advent of warm weather.

The nocturnal roar of continuous cavalcades of motor cars echo the North Country. From some quarters have come statements that even airplane squadrons are being used to swell the ever-increasing stream into the northern part of New York State.

But a change has been noticed in the routes which the smugglers are following, for, instead of passing through this section in large caravans, they appear to have selected the extreme eastern and western districts of the State for the entry of their cargoes.

Water Routes Busy.

The water routes available along the St. Lawrence and through Lake Champlain seem to be appealing to the bootleggers. They have not altogether forsaken their old tracks, however, for the roads in this vicinity, and the Pok-o-Moonshine road between Keesville and Elizabethtown in the eastern Adirondacks, are apparently still favorite thoroughfares.

There have been many reports and rumors that rum-running is not paying this year, but the size of the group which continues to engage actively in the calling would tend to belie the assertion.

Many women are now members of the bootlegging fraternity, according to revenue agents. The "bootleg queen" at first was very successful in passing the watchful eyes of agents with cargoes of rum, but of late their wiles have met with less sympathy, agents say.

New Phase of Game.

With the coming of the women rum-runners, there has also developed a new phase of the bootlegging profession—the return of used bottles to Canadian concerns—an angle of the bootlegging game which is netting no little return for a daring few.

Already one person has been arrested on a charge of "bootlegging" used bottles northward across the Canadian line.

HOT WAVE TOOK LIVES OF EIGHT

CHICAGO, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Relief is promised to-day from the hot wave which yesterday caused eight deaths in the Middle West and brought a record-breaking temperature to the regions which have so far experienced a cool and delayed spring.

Overcast skies, forerunners of the storms, are expected to lower the Chicago temperatures, which made a 33-degree jump in eleven hours to the 94-degree peak yesterday evening.

One man dropped dead and another was drowned when he sought relief from the heat, while three prostrations were reported.

Two persons, believed to have been deranged from the 100-degree heat in Iowa, hanged themselves.

Four heat victims were reported from Cleveland, two of them from drowning.

Another prostration victim was in a serious condition.

SECRET OF KEEPING YOUNG

Why is it that some women look older at thirty-five than others do at fifty? Why is it that so many women are always run-down, weak, pale, nervous, irritable and unhappy? Health, vitality and freedom from pain and disease alone can prevent the signs of age from fastening themselves upon women. All over the country women are awakening to the fact that the ills, aches and pains of women may be relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the result is renewed life, energy and the glow of health. In fact the secret of keeping young is to ward off all internal ailments that cause premature old age, which is easily accomplished by this remarkable root and herb remedy.

SPREADING

Democracy is as contagious as smallpox. It is a fire that steadily consumes artistocracy. In England, for instance, less than 40,000 families paid heraldy tax in 1923 (registration of coat-of-arms). In 1880 the number was 252,000.

Rising democracy is submerging the nobility over here. In nobility's place will come an aristocracy of wealth, if Britain follows the American precedent.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

One cup strawberries, 2 thin slices cold boiled ham, 1 open vegetable sandwich, ¼ pound baked bluefish with 2 tablespoons tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons string beans, ½ medium-sized cucumber sliced on 2 ounces lettuce, 2 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 2 thin slices crisp gluten toast, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint buttermilk.

Total calories, 1093. Protein, 361; fat, 94; carbohydrate, 438. Iron, .0162 gram.

OPEN VEGETABLE SANDWICH (INDIVIDUAL)

Two thin slices whole wheat bread, 1 heart lettuce, 1 tablespoon chopped boiled beets, 1 tablespoon sliced radishes, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons diced cooked asparagus, 1 tablespoon lemon juice seasoned with salt and pepper.

The bread should be cut very thin as for any sandwich. Open lettuce heart and cover bread with leaves. Arrange vegetables in the tiny cups, sprinkle with parsley and pour prepared lemon juice over vegetables. Reasonable care should be taken that the lettuce holds the juice.

One cup strawberries with 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup salt codfish with 1 boiled egg creamed on toast, 1 cup cream of spinach soup with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 1 open vegetable sandwich, 2 slices cold boiled ham, 20 potato chips, 1 cup strawberry cream whip, ½ pound baked bluefish with 4 tablespoons tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons scalloped potatoes, 4 tablespoons string beans in cream, ½ medium sized cucumber sliced on 2 ounces of lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 cornmeal muffins, 2 tablespoons croutons, 1 large piece sponge cake, 4 slices rye bread, 1 pint whole milk.

The open vegetable sandwich for the gaining diet is made with buttered bread. Three tablespoons oil mayonnaise take the place of the lemon juice in the reducing sandwich.

The rye bread used in the calculation is from the long thin loaf generally found in bakeries.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 cup chicken and asparagus soup, 2 tablespoons beet greens with 6 beet marbles, 4 ounces broiled hamburg steak, 1 large baked onion, ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons diet French dressing, 3 radishes, 2 green olives, 2 crisp pieces gluten toast, 1 bran roll, 1 whole slice whole wheat bread, 1 pint skimmed milk.

CHICKEN AND ASPARAGUS SOUP.

One 4-pound fowl, 2 medium-sized carrots, 3 stalks celery, 1 medium-sized onion, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups skimmed milk, 1 cup asparagus tips.

Wash and disjoint chicken. Put in soup kettle with onion, carrots and celery diced. Cover with 7 cups of cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Let simmer three or four hours. Add salt at the end of the first half of the cooking. Strain stock and let stand until cool. Remove fat. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Add 2 cups chicken stock and reheat. Add cooked asparagus tips and serve very hot.

This rule is calculated to serve four persons.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 cup uncooked cereal with 1 sliced banana, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup cream, 2 eggs scrambled with 2 tablespoons minced ham, 1 cup chicken and asparagus soup, 2 tablespoons beet greens with 6 beet marbles and 2 tablespoons hot orange sauce, 4 tablespoons shrimp and egg salad, 1-6 Washington cream pie with strawberries, 1 cup cream of spinach soup, 4 ounces broiled hamburg steak, 4 table-creamed potatoes, 1 large baked onion with 1 tablespoon butter, ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 3 radishes, 2 ripe olives, 4 tablespoons strawberry Bavarian cream, 2 slices buttered toast, 2 bran rolls, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

The same soup is used for the gaining menu but 4 tablespoons heavy cream is added before serving. The normal person will find the soup quite rich enough even if it is made with skimmed milk.

If tiny beets were on the greens remove them after cooking and serve in a wreath around the mound of greens. If the beets were good sized cut in marbles with a French vegetable cutter after cooking and slipping skins and serve the same.

Ripe olives have real food value, as they are rich in fat, while the green ones are merely a condiment.

LEFTOVERS

Left-over parsley or lettuce should be washed and then stored in clean cloths or glass jars without water.

The Finish that Endures

EXTERIOR PAINT

For Exterior and Interior Painting Gives the Lowest Annual Service Cost Per Thousand Square Feet.

Covers 500 Square Feet, Two Coats, to the Gallon

Floglaze Exterior gives this greater covering capacity and 25% greater durability by reason of the fact that it is made from a scientifically treated pure raw linseed oil. This oil has all of the good qualities of a long-aged linseed oil, so well known to the old-time painters. It produces a self-levelling finish—it leaves no brush marks, and gives a high gloss, enamel-like finish that does not gather nor retain dust or soot. Floglaze Exterior is not an enamel, but a strictly pure linseed oil paint. Its long life eliminates frequency of renewal, thereby cutting down labor costs in keeping your property well painted and thoroughly protected.

The BRIDAL CROP—

This year, the crop promises to be just as bountiful. And these 72,000 brides will spend millions of dollars in furnishing their homes and starting up housekeeping.

$10,800,000 for One Line

Allowing the small sum of $150.00 for furniture for each bride, these 72,000 brides will spend the huge total of $10,800,000 for this one line of goods alone.

Other millions will be spent for rugs, housefurnishings, bedding, pianos, phonographs, silverware, china, linen, stoves, refrigerators, kitchen cabinets, cooking utensils, electrical appliances and many other things for the home.

These 72,000 brides will, also, enter the market as continuous buyers of household necessities, such as flour, breakfast foods, tea, coffee, sugar, canned goods, soap.

These 72,000 brides open up a tremendous new market every year to Canadian manufacturers and dealers.

360,000 in Five Years

During the next five years, there will be over 360,000 brides starting housekeeping in Canada. If a manufacturer could induce a fair percentage of these 360,000 brides to use his product, it would mean a nice increase in business for him.

The surest way of reaping a good share of the bridal harvest during the next five years or ten years or twenty years is to advertise in newspapers, magazines and farm papers. Many of the things the bride purchases this year, she has been reading about and thinking about anywhere from a few months to five years.

Right Before Their Eyes

The manufacturer who advertises brings his product right before the eyes of the brides-to-be. He makes them familiar with the name of his product. They learn its good points. When it comes time for them to buy, they are far more certain to purchase an article that they know by name and reputation than an unadvertised competitive line they know nothing about.

Do you want a larger share of the bridal crop than you have been getting?

Then, it is up to you to sow some advertising seed and keep sowing it continuously year after year. A harvest of growing sales, that will become more bountiful year after year, will be the result.

CAN MAN ROB EARTHQUAKES OF THEIR TERROR?

By R. E. Martin.

While Japan clears the wreckage of the cities of Tokio and Yokohama, leveled by the recent earthquake, the forces of science are being marshalled to find a way to prevent repetition anywhere on earth of what is now known to have been the most terrible disaster in history.

Not that science hopes to prevent other earthquakes. These cataclysms of nature undoubtedly are due to structural changes in the earth itself, and are consequently beyond the power of man to control. But science does expect in time to remove the chance of any such terrible loss of life and property as marked the Japanese catastrophe.

Means of forecasting earthquakes so that the inhabitants of a threatened area may flee in safety before the quake arrives, and the construction of earthquakeproof buildings—these are the goals toward which science is working. In the opinion of leading scientists the day is not far distant when people may live in larger security in places like Japan where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence.

The tremendous importance of this task in which some progress already has been made is evident when we consider that 160,000 earthquakes actually have been catalogued and that about 4,000 earthquakes are felt each year in different parts of the world.

Probably the most important work that has been done in the observation of the causes and nature of earthquakes has been accomplished since the beginning of the twentieth century. Previously all earthquakes were generally regarded as being of volcanic origin. Scientists now believe that most earthquakes are caused by wrinkling and slipping of part of the earth's crust, caused by strain resulting from shrinkage of the more plastic interior of the earth, contortion of the earth's strata, or changes in pressure in the crust itself. However, in some cases, subterranean volcanic action is believed to have been the cause of certain quakes.

The crust of the earth may be considered as a relatively thin skin or rind of rock, about five miles in thickness. As stone broken in a quarry splits along certain definite lines, so this outer covering of the earth tends to split along lines of weakness which geologists know as "faults." Variations in pressure—which may be caused by the weight of mountains or of the water in the ocean—cause movements or dislodgements between the section of the crust, which, of course, are constantly seeking to remain in equilibrium.

The situation may be compared with a row of building blocks, laid side by side and subjected to pressure from both ends. When the pressure becomes too great to be resisted by the friction between the blocks, something will give. They will buckle, and the buckling the blocks, something will give. They will buckle, and the buckling will correspond in a way to the movement of the earth's crust that causes an earthquake.

The most unsettled part of the earth's surface is the western shore of the Pacific Ocean. Here the crust is being thrust upward, giving rise to steep slopes. It was such a buckling of the earth's crust along the cracks believed to exist in the bottom of the Tuscarora Deep, off the coast of Japan, that caused the recent disaster, according to theories so far advanced. The proximity of the Japanese coast to this great trough-like "deep," which goes down more than five miles, and the numerous earthquakes experienced by Japan, lend weight to the theory that pressure exerted by this tremendous volume of water is the cause of such disturbances.

Earthquakes under the sea are called seaquakes. So tremendous are the waves that they can travel at a rate of four or five hundred miles an hour, and still be detected after a journey of more than 10,000 miles.

Earthquakes are known to have occurred in the eastern part of the United States at various times, but science scouts the notion of any quake of a devastating sort ever visiting any but the western coast of America.

Following the Japanese shock, Dr. Bailey Willis, emeritus professor geology at Stanford University, asserted unequivocally that man and not nature is to blame for the disastrous consequences of earthquakes in localities like Japan, Chile, and California, which are known to be in the earthquake zone. His statement was based on observations in Chile, where he had been investgating causes of earthquakes for the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. He pointed out that it is not the earthquakes themselves—the actual ground tremors—that cause the frightful loss of life, but the events that follow the quakes—the falling of masonry, the fires, the floods from reservoirs and similar things.

"To construct a house that will withstand an earthquake is not difficult if you can command the right materials and good carpenters," says Doctor Willis.

"A point that has not been recognized generally by architects or engineers is that it is the earth that moves while the house tries to stand still. If you could put a ball bearing between your house and its foundations, it would be safe in time of earthquake. This idea is embodied in every instrument for recording earthquakes and was applied many years ago by Sir John Milne to the construction of a lighthouse in Japan. I believe it can be introduced successfully in some combination of bearings, springs, or shock absorbers.

"For the ordinary house a broad ditch packed with cobblestones on which there rests a well braced frame of heavy beams would not be a bad substitute. It would allow the ground to slide around under the house, which could be jacked back into position with reference to such unstable things as trees, garden walks, and roads at your convenience."

Doctor Willis adds that the displacement within the earth that results in rock slips that science now regards as the cause of earthquakes is developing below the surface for months before the quake occurs. This displacement usually does not actually reach the surface, but produces vibrations or waves that can be recorded by special instruments as a means of obtaining forewarning of the of the coming quake. The vibrations travel great distances at high velocity before they die out.

"The instruments will have to be set up in many places," said Doctor Willis, "and records kept for years before the science of predicting earthquakes is set on a firm basis. I think it is not at all unlikely that in the future earthquakes can be predicted much as the weather is predicted now. Warnings can be sent so threatened districts and measures taken by the populations to save themselves."

WATER JEWELS

Well, well! The girls don't have to leave their jewellery off when they go in swimming nowadays. Rubber bracelets and earrings have solved their problem. And they look pretty nice, too—especially on this young swimmer. Laura Walters, of New York.

NEGROES

Six million negroes now are members of the Universal Negro Improvement Association. They want "a black republic in Africa." Liberia, modeled on this idea, has proved a failure. They may have been due to its location and resources. "Africa for the black man' is a logical slogan, though a far-off dream.

ARE DEPENDENT ON EACH OTHER

The necessity for more personal contact and more practical co-operation between all commercial, scientific, and agricultural factors in the development of communities and the nation, and the need for the realization that the prosperity of no city can be greater than the prosperity of its surrounding territory, were urged today by Carl J. Baer, Manager of the Development Service, Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis, in an address before the Eighth Annual convention of all the 1259 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada, now being held in Denver, Colorado.

"Today we are in a critical condition because of the growing breach between the people of the cities and the people on the farms of the country," said Mr. Baer.

"We have failed to look upon agriculture as a business, and the majority of people do not realize that it is the largest business in the world. It is a big business, but in comparison with others, it is not a profitable one. Taking into consideration the investment, the labor, the false credit for the profit because of the rise in land values, and the decreasing fertility of the soil, the average farmer has not been able to accumulate any money in the last fifty years.

"Business men of the cities must see to it that the 45,000,000 people on the farms have an even break with city people. Rural children should have the same facilities for education, recreation, and health as city children. Farm people should have equal facilities for educational and financial advancement as the people in the cities.

"Even at present, the jealousies and suspicion between farm and city people in some sections is pitiful. Conditions separate the people instead of drawing them together.

"Numerous examples of the necessity to co-operate to eliminate such conditions in our economic life prove the inter-dependence of town and country, and in every case they show that the assistance of business men, civic and commercial organizations on direct behalf of the farmers in their own sections has increased the commerce of their cities.

"Seventy per cent. of all the raw products of the world come from the farm. While five and one half billion dollars was necessary to run the American government last year, ninety per cent. of that amount was spent in the payment of war debts, and in maintaining the army and navy. Of the one per cent. that went to education and agriculture, only one third, or thirty cents out of every hundred dollars went to the agriculture that produced seventy dollars of the one hundred. Since much more money will probably not come from the government, the problem is up to the people in each community itself.

"We in the cities have been organizing every kind of an organization to protect business and labor, but we haven't had sense enough to help organize the very institution that is the basis of all prosperity. We need to rehabilitate the farms, get farmers in all civic groups, and secure the co-operation necessary to make for balanced prosperity."

FROHMAN TALKS OF EARLY DAYS

NEW YORK, June 20.—Daniel Frohman, at the head of the theatrical profession after an experience of forty years in all phases of it, president of the Actors' Fund, and still one of the big producers and managers; known from Coast to Coast by fame and by personal contact, still loves a show, and the atmosphere of the theatre is the perfume of flowers to him. While shading the time-worn age of three-score and and ten, which in this advanced era is merely matured youth, he is one of the most active actors in the drama of everyday life and in the varied energies of the stage and its vocation.

His office, on one of the upper floors of his Lyceum Theatre, at 149 West Forty-fifth Street, is his workshop, and within, the four walls are crowded memories which are the very essence of his life: books, letters, presents, photographs, memoirs, mementoes and programmes, with every one of which some cherished association is connected. In his early life, Mr. Frohman was in advance of his profession—that is, he was one of the original "advance men." The press agents who came after him had a picnic compared with the plodders who puddled through with the problems of his time, when Daniel Frohman, of the Lyceum, was just Dan of the One-Night Stands.

In his Lyceum studio when the writer was present the other afternoon he harked back to the olden days, and when he opened up the land of reminiscence what a wonderful procession of men and women passed through its gates—Booth, Barrett, McCullogh, Barton Hill, Sothern, Florence, Steele Mackaye, Augustin Daly, Clara Morris, Mrs. Whiffen, Lotta, Effie Ellsler, Bernhardt, Duse and Modjeska, the last three the most wonderful women, to his mind, who ever adorned the stage.

"When I started out on the road in the late seventies," he said, "I went ahead with a 1500-pound trunk containing our posters and cuts. My business was not only with the billposters and newspapers, but I had to find a hall and hire it. Fifteen dollars for the hall and $3 for the licence, and the one-night stand was ready. Then I hired a horse and wagon and went on to the next town, where I left it at a branch stable, and the next man going the other way took it home.

"There was no telephone in those days, and fast work, such as it was, had to be done by telegraph. Down South and out in California we worked the horse-and-buggy route, and in Texas and California many a livery stable was transformed into a theatre. In California, where the climate was delightful and reliable, when I got into a big town, I used to make for the market-place, where the farmers' rigs were hitched and from where stage coaches left for various towns. I could book several towns there through the coaches, sending my printing and advance stuff for the newspaper ahead.

"I was ahead of a minstrel show controlled by Jack Haverly, then the biggest operator in the business. But mine was only a little show, and the first thing a troupe did when it reached town was to give a procession. In those days of minstrelsy and burlesque the artists were required not only to sing and dance and talk some, but had to know how to play some instrument so that they couls swell the procession.

"Of course, that applied to the road shows. They didn't parade in New York, but some of the big shows had their parades in such towns as Chicago and San Francisco. The only chance I had to see our show was when we would get a booking for a week in Cincinnati, Chicago or some of the big cities. Then all I had to do was to bil the town and take a week's surcease from the sorrows of the one-night stand. How we little fellows did envy the advance men of the regular week shows! They would come into the billposter's shop, like the owner of the show, and say: "Smith, my stuff will be on on Tuesday; get it out Wednesday. Good day.'

"They'd express their stuff and we'd pack ours in a buggy or wagon, and we certainly had to hustle. We got a pass on the railroad for ourselves and trunks, and where there were rival parallel roads we'd sometimes get two passes for the sake of our trade. On the road we would get a room on the top floor for $2 a day, including four meals, professional rates. I think that it was the famous old Continental Hotel, of Philadelphia, that first set out the actors' floor, the top.

"The hardships of the road were fully compensated by the knowledge they brought one. I learned that when Wteele Mackaye engaged me as business manager of the old Madison Square Theatre, at Twenty-fourth and Broadway, back of the old Fifth Avenue Hotel. Mackaye succeeded Augustin Daly, who brought out Clara Morris there, who had just inflamed the town with her emotional acting.

"Under Steele Mackaye's management 'Hazel Kirke' was put on and made the first long run in New York, lasting through 486 performances. Effie Ellsler, who played the title role, was then taking juvenile parts, and now she is playing the old lady in 'The Bat'; Mrs. Whiffen, who appeared as her mother in the play, is still playing old-lady parts and is in 'Goose Hangs High.' Clara Morris, the foremost actress of her time, was always sick, and while she was on the stage some one always stood in the wings to hand her sustaining medicines in case of an expected collapse. She is still living and in her old age has turned to literature.

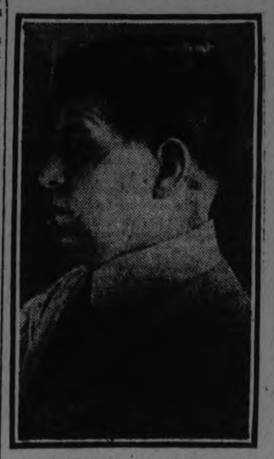
"Lotta, charming, piquant, fascinating, alluring little Lotta Crabtree, was the sunbeam of the stage. She could sing, dance, act and play several musical instruments. She was the star of 'Firefly,' and played 'Little Nell' and the 'Marchioness' in 'Old Curiosity Shop.' She was the rage and many sought her hand, only to receive the mitten. She was just as popular in San Francisco, from where she came, and where a monument bearing her name has been erected in her honor in the heart of the city. Lotta never married. She lives in Boston and is worth several million dollars.

"I have seen many of the Juliets and Ophelias of those days playing old-lady parts in their later life, and not a few of them are in the Actors' Fund Home on Staten Island, guests of the profession in safe and comfortable shelter in their declining years. When I was prowling around as an advance agent I little thought that I would become president of the Actors' Fund to take care of these fading lights of a once glorious day.

"Often when I see old-lady parts being played the characters tell me that they like to see me in front, knowing that I remember them in their youth. On the other hand, the younger women rather regret, if not resent, my presence, realizing that I know how old they are. But on the stage, years have nothing to do with the age of an actress. She always is young as long as she can contribute charm and effect.

"During the forty years of my experience I have not ceased to regard the members of the profession with affection and respect for their deeds and accomplishments and manitaining the dignity of the stage as a noble and useful institution."

HE'S A DOCTOR THOUGH BLIND



Jacob Bolotin, 35, of Chicago, is a successful doctor despite the fact that he was born blind. He was recently appointed director of the Illinois Tuberculosis Hospital.

Bolotin earned his way through college by selling typewriters. He rose to a high position with the typewriter concern and then turned to medicine. Medicine bottles he uses are marked with raised letters.

YEARS

A romantic Irish girl, Elizabeth Kinch, 18, threw a sealed green bottle into the ocean. It took 42 years to cross the Atlantic. The other day it was picked up on the eastern coast by a real estate man. He read the note inside. The girl had written that she "hoped some nice boy would find it."

If she still is living, you can imagine her surprise when she hears from the real estate man or reads the story in the newspapers.

She is 60 now and many have forgotten all about the bottle. Things that seem crucially important in youth fade with the passing of the years.

MURDOCK ISSUE WILL BE HEARD

Charges Against Hon. James Will Be Cleared Up Next Wednesday.

PORTER IS ILL

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press)—Final discussion of the charges made against Hon. James Murdock, in connection with the Home Bank, will take place in the House of Commons next Wednesday. Notice to this effect was given yesterday by J. E. Archambault, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, which recently exonerated the minister of labor from charges that he wrongly used knowledge obtained as a minister of the crown. Mr. Archambault had given notice that he would move adoption of the report yesterday, which would have precipitated the discussion.

However, E. Guss Porter (Conservative, West Hastings), who made the charges, was ill, and he had consented to put the motion over until Wednesday. Further delay would not be fair to the minister, who wanted to resume his seat in the House.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen commented that it could hardly have come up in the last few days. It would not be right to introduce such a matter in the absence of the prime minister.

HONORED BY HOLY SEE

Mgr. Rouleau Made Apostolic Protonotary and Received Recognition From France.

QUEBEC, June 20 (Canadian Press).—On the occasion of his golden jubilee as a priest and a professor, Mgr. T. C. Rouleau, principal of the normal school for the last thirty years, was honored both by the Holy See and by the government of the French Republic, being raised to the honor of apostolic protonotary, and made an officer of the French Academy.

The announcement was made at the close of a luncheon at the Chateau Frontenac, which formed part of the programme of the celebration held at the normal school and attended by hundreds of educationalists, priests and laymen.

BURNED TO DEATH

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Thomas Harrison, 26, was burned to death yesterday in a fire of unknown origin which destroyed a boarding house here. Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Covell, owners of the house, and their son, escaped from the burning building by jumping from an upstairs window.

Harrison's absence was not noticed until his charred body was found in the ruins of the building.

AMEND IMMIGRATION ACT.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press)—A bill to amend the Immigration Act was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration. The bill provides among other things, that if the head of a family is to be deported, the minister may require the transportation company to take back the man's family also free of charge. Another amendment proposed give free transportation in certain circumstances to immigration officers of the different provinces.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press)—There are at present fifty-seven ships in the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, told F. Renfret (Liberal, St. James, Montreal) in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Sixty-three ships were built; two have been lost, and four sold.

DONALD KIRKE GIVES TANLAC FULL CREDIT

That Montreal play-goers are literally packing their Orpheum Theatre at every performance is at once a tribute to the high standard of the entertainment offered and to the finished artistry of the famous Duffy stock players, not the least popular of whom is Donald Kirke.

Mr. Kirke is not only a favorite on the legitimate stage but is a screen player of note, and it is a further tribute to his consummate acting that, even while tortured with stomach trouble, nervousness and other ills, he kept "on with the play" day in and day out until he found relief by taking TANLAC. As he says:

"My stomach had almost failed me and I wonder now how I ever kept up I ate so little. Nights I would toss and turn for hours in nervousness; piercing sick headaches made me suffer agony, and at times on the stage I was so nervous, weak and trembly that I could hardly remember my lines.

"I would have given a thousand dollars to get the relief Tanlac has given me for less than five dollars. My appetite was never better, I eat everything and have gained 12 pounds, I'm never a bit weak or nervous, never have a headache, and I feel fine and dandy. I will gladly confirm these facts by 'phone or letter."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

SMUTS WILL CONTEST.

General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, whose majority in the Assembly was wiped out in this week's election has accepted the offer of Colonel G. M. Glaasson, member of the assembly for Standerton, Transvaal, to contest for his seat.

DELUGE OF LAW.

The steady additions to Federal and Provincial statutes has been referred to as a "Rain of Law."

On this basis the dying moments of the recent session of the Ontario Legislature treated this Province to a deluge, judging from the following statistics recently compiled: 20 bills were passed through committee in one session, while third reading was given to 58 measures in the brief space of 14 minutes. Another record for the session was the putting of 9 bills through three stages in one sitting. Parliamentary bills, Federal and Provincial, passed in the past year total 900.

OLD SPELLING IN DOCUMENTS

Criticism of Adherence to English Spelling Voiced in Parliament.

OUT OF ORDER

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press)—A criticism of the spelling used in parliamentary reports and documents, wherein it adheres to the old English form in spelling certain words, was ruled out of the report of the parliamentary committee on printing by Mr. Speaker yesterday. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux said that the committee's function was to investigate and report on such matters as were referred to it by the House. The orthography of parliamentary papers had never been placed under its purview. C. A. Gauvreau, chairman of the committee, explained that the committee had felt itself bound to consider the representations of Fred Cook on the subject. The Speaker replied that the authority of Parliament was higher than Mr. Cook's. W. F. Maclean (Conservative, South York) agreed that the criticism should not be accepted, and L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants) said, "stick to the old English spelling."

The ruling was accepted with further debate.

HOME BANK HEARING.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press).—As many as two hundred Home Bank depositors may be present when their deputation is received by the commons banking and commerce committee. An intimation to this effect was given by Chairman Vien at the meeting yesterday. The date for receiving the Home Bank deputation is Wednesday, June 25.

MILKMEN FIGHT OVER A BOTTLE

Case in Police Court This Morning Amused the Railbirds.

A quarrel between two south-end milkmen provided a police court case this morning. A bottle was partially the cause of the altercation; not a beer bottle, but an innocent milk bottle.

"I'll get him again, break his ——— neck and throw him in the river," were the words of a youthful witness, who declared that the defendant had made that statement to him, respecting the plaintiff, last Sunday morning.

The feature of the proceedings was the fact that the accused conducted his own case, and he performed his task remarkably well. He had a list of queries all prepared for the plaintiff and when Magistrate Langley told him he could ask the witness any questions, on his evidence, he rose to his feet and speaking firmly and defiantly, cross-examined the plaintiff in good style, covering every point.

Magistrate Langley was gracious and considerate and gave the accused every advantage a member of the bar could demand.

The alleged encounter took place last Tuesday morning, in the vicinity of the Locks Bridge as two milk wagons drew up totgether.

The plaintiff testified that the accused stepped into his wagon, without explanation, engaged him in a quarrel and before he could shake him off and get the horse started, he had received several blows about the head. "I am afraid of this man," he told Mr. J. A. O'Brien, who conducted the case for the prosecution. A 14 year old boy testified that he saw lumps on each side of the plaintiff's jaw and one on his nose the day after the fight. Other witnesses told of seeing the horse coming down the street, with the accused in the wagon and of hearing the plaintiff say, "I will have you arrested."

On the other hand the defendant declared that he only wanted to see the prosecutor about certain slanderous statements he had made and "I was greeted by a slash from a gad" he told the court. "He scratched my face and hit me with a milk bottle on the head and after that I thought it was about time I was getting into it, so I stepped inside and somehow or another my right fist connected with his jaw," said the witness.

The prosecutor in his evidence-in-chief stated that he struck at the accused to defend himself.

In his cross-examination he was asked by the accused:—

"You said that you struck at me with a bottle."

"Yes, to defend myself."

"Well let me tell you now that that bottle hit me right on the head," said the accused.

"Do you consider it a manly thing to hit a man with a gad, just as he goes over to greet you the time of day."

"It's for me to say what is manly," said His Worship.

After Mr. O'Brien had recalled the Plaintiff to the stand His Worship told the accused that he could examine the plaintiff further on what he had stated in is reply.

"Your Worship, it seems useless for me to question him as this man is not telling the truth," replied the defendant.

"Possibly he thinks the same of your testimony, and its the duty of counsel to show that he is not telling the truth, in an endeavour to strengthen your case," His Worship explained.

He saw the difficulty in another light and proceeded to question the prosecutor.

The small boy who gave evidence broke down as he entered the stand. His Worship assured him that there was nothing to be afraid of and that he was in the midst of a body of policemen who would protect him, if it were necessary. After a few soothing remarks he cleared his eyes and gave his evidence.

Mr. O'Brien while trying to show te Court that the youth appreciated the nature of an oath, asked he witness if he attended Sunday School.

"Yes sir," was the reply.

"What happen to people who tell lies," he was asked.

"They go to the bad place," he told Mr. O'Brien.

This explanation satisfied the Magistrate that the boy understood the solemnity of an oath and he was duly sworn.

The accused was fined $20 and costs and the Magistrate severely reproved his conduct.

A fine of $20 is the maximum penalty on a charge of criminal assault and His Worship stated that he would have included a prison term in his sentence if a charge if aggravated assault had been laid.

A Recital

An interesting piano recital by pupils of Miss Norma Moore, A.C.A.M., assisted by little Miss Margaret Pitchford and Mr. Robert Moore, was given in the music hall of the J. M. Greene store on Tuesday evening, in the presence of a good-sized and appreciative audience. Those taking part gave a performance creditable to themselves and their teacher. They were: Miss G. Doig, Dorothy Allen, Josephine Parkins, Nellie Butler, Myrtle Jones, Thelma Duffin, Eleanor Gibson, Beatrice Wallace, Helen Barrie, Phyllis Kidd, Irene Killingbeck, Fern Rahmel, Chrissie Milby, Geraldine Campbell, Eileen Rose and Ella Heal, Lionel Ferguson, Francis Andrews, Rayborn Cook, Lionel Doughty, Roy Tranter, Hudson Hale, Harold Sowden, Willie Austin, Willie Warren, Stewart Young and Reginald Howden.

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAMES SATURDAY

Punch Derry Will Have to Pitch His Head Off on Saturday to Hold the C.G.E. Crew.

Can Punch Derry hold the C.G.E. in Saturday's game at the Exhibition Park? He held them once in their first game, but whether he can hold them again or not is a question that is hard to solve. This question will be settled on Saturday afternoon when the two teams clash in a game that is sure to be a battle. These two teams battled out a game in Cobourg about two weeks ago, and the homesters came out on top when they succeeded in manufacturing one lone tally, while they held the C.G.E. to a few scattered hits and no runs. The C.G.E. will step a snappy looking aggregation into the field, and amongst them will be seen Herb. Wolfe, who has been released by the Central League team. He will add some strength to their team, and with the rest of the Generals on their best behavior they should give the Cobourg team a great battle. The Raybestos and the Dye Works of Cobourg will also put on a game. These teams will be out fighting their heads off to get out of the cellar position, and they should give the fans a treat of snappy ball.

SMITH TOWNSHIP BARNS DESTROYED

Two Barns on Farm of Mr. Fred Heard Went Up in Smoke.

The two barns belonging to Fred. Heard, 8th Concession of Smith Township, were burned this morning at eleven o'clock, along with two pigs, two calves and a quantity of farm machinery. A hastily-organized bucket brigade succeeded in confining the fire to the barns, which were burned to the ground. Although the certain cause of the fire is unknown, it is thought that it had some connection with a brush fire in the vicinity, from which sparks might have ignited the barns. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

PRINCE OF WALES ON TRAINING TRIP

Dragoons Camping at the Exhibition Grounds.

Exhibition Park is the scene of much activity these days. The 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons are holding their annual training here, opening their camp at the park yesterday. There were 130 in all ranks with their equipment and include 100 fine horses.

A visiting general will inspect the ranks next Wednesday and Thursday and a wide range of sporting events will commence to-morrow.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR DEPARTING TEACHERS

On Wednesday evening of this week, Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the Y.W.C.A. Boarding Home, entertained the girl residents at the annual High Tea which acts as a farewell party for departing Normalites and teachers and vacation-seeking business girls who have made their home at the 'Y' during the year. The tea was served in the dining-room, at tables prettily arranged with lilacs and cosmos. Mr. D. Walker, principal of the Normal school, was present, and spoke briefly in appreciation of the 'Y' home as a haven for Normal students, and of the kindly supervision exercised by Mrs. Morrison, who looked after the girls so carefully and well. Mrs. Morrison also spoke of the pleasant relations existing in the Home throughout the year, between herself and the girls, and acknowledged with hearty thanks Mr. Walker's remarks and the presentation of a handsome basket of American Beauty roses, presented by the girls. During the evening, which broke up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, Miss Lois Garret played several times,, and Miss Dorothy Engel sang.

A grand concert to be given in the G.W.V.A. hall on Monday evening of Next week, June 23rd, will include a special performance by Miss Jean B. Cooper, teacher of dancing at the United Kingdom Academy, Dumferm line, Scotland. Miss Cooper, who is at present the guest in the city of Mr. and Mrs. James Milby, has performed in all the leading theatres in Scotland and England, and is also a teacher of dancing in the United Kingdom Academy, in Dumfermline. At her last performance in St. Andrew's Hall, in Glasgow, over 3000 people were in attendance.

An exhibition of classical and characteristic dances will be given by Miss Cooper on Monday evening, including "La Bacchanal," the Dance of the Water Nymphs, and a Russian Dance. This is Miss Cooper's only exhibition performance in Canada and will be given to further the cause for which the concert has been arranged, in aid of the charitable work of the G.W.V.A. Messrs. Stevenson, basso; T. Stazicker, baritone, and W. Thompson, Scotch comedian, have also kindly consented to take part in the programme.

The programme will be followed by dancing, for which a good orchestra has been provided .

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

(Quotations Supplied by Arthur C. Hawley, 'Phone 186).

MINING LETTER.

The mining market was devoid of any feature this morning. The only stock to show any action was Canadian Lorraine, which sold at 60 on small trading. The rest of the list was unchanged but held firm. The Toronto and Montreal markets were steady this morning but the transactions were on a small scale. The only stock to show any action worth mentioning was Toronto Rails which sold up to 95¼. The rest of the list was unchanged.

New York showed pressure this morning at the opening but after the initial selling was over the list steadied up and trading fell away to very small proportions. At noon the market was quiet and trading was on a small scale. The next news to break is the Republican convention. The market may be expected to mark time till then.

The wheat crop in Russia this year has been practically devastated, so Washington has been advised. The drought and field mice are said to be responsible.

WEDDING BELLS

HUNTER—MACFARLANE.

The marriage took place in Keene, on Wednesday of this week, at three o'clock, of Mary Eleanor, daughter of Mrs. Emma Macfarlane of Keene, and the late Mr. Macfarlane, and Herbert O. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hunter, of Port Stanley. The ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian church, by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Archibald.

The bride was stylishly attired in a suit of navy tricotine, with black lace picture hat and bouquet of ophelia roses. A brother of the bride, Jack Macfarlane, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene, who also sang during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony, a luncheon to the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties was served at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left later on a motor trip to Detroit. They will reside in Port Stanley.

SILK COAT DRESS

The silk coat dress promises as well for the summer as the cloth one did for spring. It is a most practical type of dress, requiring no wrap and being particularly attractive with a scarf or fur. This one is of beige silk with a wrap around skirt that ties on the side.

DEATH OF PROMINENT GEORGE ST. MERCHANT

L. J. (Joe) Picard, Jr., of the firm of H. LeBrun & Co., passed away this afternoon.

The death took place this afternoon about four o'clock of L. J. Picard, Jr., of H. LeBrun & Co., Charlotte street west, after a very short illness of only a few days.

OBITUARY.

MRS. SYDNEY BARFETT.

The death occurred in Rochester on Thursday, June 19th, of Mrs. Sydney Barfett, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Howell, leaving one brother, Harold.

Interment to take place in Little Lake Cemetery. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

LOCAL WOMEN'S COUNCIL HELD MONTHLY MEETING

The Local Council of Women held their regular monthly meeting, which will be their last regular meeting until September, in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. A. Stevenson, occupied the chair.

Correspondence was read by Mrs. A. Mowat.

A letter from the Market Supply Department at Ottawa was read, in answer to a communication forwarded to that branch some time ago by Dr. Jessie Birnie, convenor of the Committee on Public Health, asking information on how inspection of meat was carried out. The letter from Ottawa contained an offer to put on a demonstration of meat inspection methods in Peterborough, in charge of the Department.

A request from the Peterborough Liberal Women's Association, requesting affiliation with the Local Council, was received, also one with the same request from the Female Voice Choir. Both societies were taken into affiliation.

A letter from the Provincial Council was received, advocating the formation of a League of Nations Committee, also urging the sending of a representative to the Social Service Council to be held in Toronto next week.

Closer supervision of vaudeville programmes in theatres was also suggested.

Mrs. Stevenson suggested consideration by the affiliated societies of the question of advocating a change in election day date from New Year's Day until some time early in December, with the idea of bringing in a resolution along this line some time in the fall.

Mrs. J. Mills reported on the recent tea held by the Council, which brought in net proceeds somewhere in the neighbourhood of $40.00.

ROOF BURNED OFF HOUSE ON GEORGE

Contents Were Not Damaged But Fireman Had Hands Burned by the Flames.

The fire which broke out this morning at 11.55 at the residence of 340 George street south, completely destroyed the roof. The whole roof was in flames and the dry shingles caused a dense heat that made it all the harder for the firemen who did everything in their power to save as much of the roof and the building as possible. The building was of red brick but the lower part of the house was not damaged. The roof was the only part of the dwelling that was destroyed. When the firemen arrived at the scene the fire had had a good start before the alarm was turned in. The flames were reaching high into the sky and dense smoke was gushing out through holes in the roof. Two lines of hose were laid while the firemen also used every thing else they had

The fire raged for over an hour before it was extinguished. The following fire fighting apparatus was used: 500 feet of 2½ inch hose, a 35 gallon chemical, 200 feet of chemical hose, 1 length of 1½ inch hose, two three gallon chemicals, 20 foot ladder, 12 foot roof ladder, one 3 gallon chemical, 4 tarpaulins 21 foot wall ladder, 28 foot wall ladder and a 12 foot roof ladder, 15 foot roof ladder, one four gallon chemical and four brooms. Nothing inside the house was destroyed but Mr. Verge Carr, the chief's driver, had his hands burned by the flames. The cause of the fire is unknown and the loss has not yet been estimated.

3. A petition to the said council will not avail to prevent its construction, but a petition against the work or the manner in which it has been undertaken, may be made pursuant to Section 9 of the Local Improvement Act, to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half of the value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeCarlonis have returned home from motor trip to Toronto, Hamilton, and Brantford. Mr. and Mrs. DeCarlonis brought back with them from Brantford their little daughter Aida, who is a pupil at the Brantford School for the Blind, and who received first-class honours in pianoforte examinations at the Institute this year. The young girl is also taking up the study of the violin.

Among the Peterborough people who motored down to Wallace Point yesterday for the picnic of the combined U.F.O Clubs of Cavan and South Monaghan were noticed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wearing, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Burnham and daughter Dorothy, Miss Verna Fell, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clarke and Mr. Harry Clarke.

Dr. J. A. Morgan, who has been attending the meetings of the Canadian and Ontario Medical Societies in Ottawa this week, returned this morning. Dr. N. D. Buchanan also returned home. Other local physicians who attended the meetings were Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. F. C. Neal, and Dr. A. Moir.

Mrs. J. W. Grice, of St. Thomas, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. S. Kemp, George Street, and with her brother, Mr. James Bestard, in North Monaghan.

Omission was made yesterday in the account of the wedding of Miss Erma Elliott of this city and Charles Palmer, of Toronto, which took place on Wednesday, of the names of the ushers at the ceremony. A brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Wilfred Palmer of Toronto, and the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. James Price of Peterboro, acted in this capacity. The bride's dress was of shell-pink georgette, trimmed with silver lace.

U.F.O. CLUB HELD PICNIC ON 4TH LINE

The Peterboro U. F. O. Club held a picnic at the Temperance Hall, on the 4th line of Smith Township, yesterday afternoon and evening.

A programme of sports was provided, which enabled all to participate. About 350 sat down to supper and the affair was a financial success. Farmers from far and near attended and many from the city were present. The event was looked forward to and farmers of the community declared yesterday a holiday. The backward season and agricultural problems were forgotten; old and young alike entered into the spirit of the gathering.

Tables were arranged on the lawn in front of the Temperance Hall. A fresh breeze from the lake carried with it the fragrance of the surrounding pine grove. That kindly hospitality prevailed which one only experiences at a country gathering.

The feature sporting event of the day was a baseball burlesque between the married and the single men. The crowd went wild with excitement. The married men had difficulty in finding a pitcher who could stand up for any length of time. Many stepped to the mound, only to retire shortly afterwards. Cliff. Hancock probably was the pitching ace and was the eldest performer in the game. Harry Fowler played down in the hollow as he was the only man on the grounds who could play that position and see the home plate. Ephraim Brown after trying his hand on the mound, and as back stop decided that he was adapted for first base.

The single men trounced the married men to the tune of 27 and 6. The married men attributed their loss to surplus avoirdupois.

The teams lined up as follows:

Married Men: C. Hancockp; E. Brown 1b; C. Sanderson ss; A. Edmison 2b; B. Adams c; H. Fowler lf; E. Milburn rf; V. Millerand 3b; A. Armstrong cf.

Single Men — Bell p; McGregor 2b; J. Milburn ss; Paul c; Scott c; H. Blewett cf; M. Archer rf; A. Milburn 3b; G. Tindle lf.

Children's Races.

The children's races were keenly contested and boxes of chocolates were donoted to the first and second winners of each event. Max Archer won the open 100 yard dash in a class of 15.

The younger men matched their strength in putting the shot.

The quoiting enthusiasts played until darkness intervened. Mr. C. Hancock won first prize, and Mr. Harry Fowler 2nd prize in the quoit tournament. Messrs. H. B. Cowan and J. E. Smith of the Farm and Dairy were also prominent in this event.

The ladies nailing contest provided much excitement and in an entry of 16 Mrs. Bruce Scott won first prize and Miss Etta Smith second, taking 9 strokes to drive a spike into a hardwood board, one more than the winner required.

The single men took another fall out of their married brothers by defeating them in a tug-of-war. The married women, led by Mrs. Harry Fowler, easily took this event from their single sisters, to the astonishment of all present.

Mackey's and George Street baseball teams provided a game which was billed as the main attraction of the day. It was a lively tilt, and although Mackey's used outside material, George Street trounced the bread-makers 13 to 3. Maudsley, the George Street twirler, pitched a steady game, and allowed six hits, and fanning eleven. It was his best performance this season. Bob Mackey used LeBarr, Henry and Shiner Clark on the mound. The twirler seemed to matter little, as George Street hit consistently throughout the game. Dugan, for Mackey's, on second, starred for the losers, while Ken. Miller, George Street's left fielder, was the outstanding performer in the garden.

The teams lined up as follows:

George Street—Fitzgerald, 2b; B. Miller, ss; A. Elliott, 1b; C. Miller, c; T. Shields, cf; Maudsley, p; G. Adams, rf; A. Baird, 3b; K. Miller, lf.

	R.	H.

Those in charge of the sports were Messrs. C. E. Moore, Howard Quinn, W. Garbutt, A. Armstrong, V. Milburn and T. Petrie.

The members of the executive, Messrs. E. Scott, C. T. Moore and H. Lewis, were highly gratified with the results of the picnic, the success of which was due largely to their efforts.

A radio concert was provided as part of the evening entertainment, through the kindness of the J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd. Last evening was a splendid night for radio, and the music came through loud and clear. The apparatus was installed in the vicinity of much activity and children's voices, and the rattle of dishes prevented those who wanted to listen from enjoying the concert as well as they might have.

Mr. E. Scott, president of the Peterboro U.F.O. Club, at the close of the evening performance, briefly thanked those who gave their assistance, and called upon Mr. F. G. Sandy, ex-M.P.P. for South Victoria, to address the gathering.

"Men seem to get along in the cities and towns and remain bachelors, but I would like to see the man who can farm without a wife," said Mr. Sandy. "I am pleased to see the active participation of the ladies in community life," remarked the speaker. In concluding, he congratulated the members of the executive on the success of their largely-attended picnic.

JUNIORS PLAY HERE SATURDAY

In Addition to Junior Game the Score of the Oshawa-Peterboro Will be Put on Score Board.

The stage is set for the big game at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the Lakeviews and the Crescents, two lightning fast junior teams, meet in a league game.

This will be the biggest junior game of the season, and with two young portsiders doing the hurling, the game should be a thriller from start to finish.

The Crescents surprised the fans this season when they defeated the Lakeviews, last year's champions, but they are confident of once more coming through with a win.

Whether Whitehouse can hold the heavy hitting Crescents or not is the question now on the lips of a great many fans. He is confident of a win, and with his team mates in top form, he should come through with a win.

On the other hand the Crescents say that they have beaten them twice now and tied them once, and are confident of handing the Lakeviews another trimming.

Both teams are right on edge and rearing to go, and a bumper crowd is expected to turn out and see the boys in action.

In addition to seeing the Lakeview-Crescent game, the fans will also be treated to the Peterborough-Oshawa score that will be given out each innings on the score board. This will give the fans the score just the same as if they were sitting watching the game.

THE ROTARY CARNIVAL

That the fact of the Rotary Club Carnival should not be lost sight of is evident. It will be a mid-summer festive occasion. Coming in between July 1st and the Civic Holiday. And as the general public looks for a little relaxation the Rotary Club proposed to supply the same, and in such way as will please young an dold, native or imported, Tory or Reform and even the U.F.O. So that nearly everybody will be included.

Several of the committees have had meetings and considered suggestions to make up the day's doings. As usual there were more suggestions offered than could be made use of. A suggestion is all would be fine, if the expense involved did not override what rearight, if practicable. Lots of things sonably could be allowed to cover the cost. The day has passed when an eminent and sportive citizen could turn his suit of clothes inside out and so pose as a comic production. To excite the public there is a demand that tonsorial effects shall be a trifle bizarre. Chris Graham will tell you what that means. Those who hear Chris. exclaim know that he never lost for want of a word.

The bill-of-fare, as previously outlined, is likely to be altered, and possibly for the better. That is there will be more of it. Positively, we can't have too much of a good thing, especially if all comes under one admission. There seems to be a propensity to have some sort of a race, done by the horses. Likely a trotting race. But just here something intervenes. Drivers of horses will not urge extreme speed for nothing. So there must be emoluments, and that means a gate. And it was hoped to make the afternoon entirely free. Enquiries are being made as to the race, and prospective contestants, and so on, and a definite announcement will follow.

A Carnival without music would be a dull affair, so several bands are being engaged, and these will not all speak at once, so to speak, but will spell one another so that the air will be full of cheerful sounds all afternoon and evening. Nearly every one who is not on the Board of Works of the City Council or other hazardous undertaking, agrees that next thing to music comes dancing. And why not? If you have doubts just ask Jack Seels, who will dissipate your misgivings. Seels was brought up to the air of "Turkey in the Straw." A good, lively exercise. However the programme will be discreetly arranged and there may be contests to decide on the most graceful dancers. This is one of the suggestions mentioned before, but the trouble will be to get judges. Nearly as difficult as getting umpires for a baby show. Still some men will try anything once. And once only.

At least two of the committees are a little reticent as to what they are incubating, which means, as Bob Kingan would say, hatching. Modesty is ever commendable, of course. But flagrant concealment of intentions is bad. Or even worse. Positive knavery. But after all, it takes some men a long time to make up their minds, except to accept an invitation to go fishing. Then they are spasmodic, and say yes.

The Rotary Ann's will serve High Tea, whatever that really means. Seels said he asked the home authorities, and all he got was a scornful and incredulous look. Seels was abashed, and frankly said so. Still his early education may have been neglected or overlooked. But is is so arranged that people on the ground during the afternoon, and fearful of losing their places in the grand stand by going home to eat can refresh at the tent of the Rotary Ann's, and be mighty well regaled. The Rotary Anns are the other half of Rotary, and likely the better half as well. But that point has not been entirely cleared up, although Reid Wren says he is positive about it.

There is lots more to tell about the coming Carnival, but it must not be told all at once. But this may be assured, that for a whole afternoon of fun and enjoyment any cost incurred to the seeker after diversion will be trifling. Considering how sumptuous the entertainment will be, Tom Ephgrave was describing the possibilities to a friend, and feeling around for a definition that would express the whole seance, and said it would be a multum in parvo, which would mean a big thing in a little city, and we'll let it go at that.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Fishermen Are Busy Hauling in the 'Lunge and Bass.

HASTINGS, June 20.—Monday morning opened the fishing season for bass and maskinonge in Ontario waters and several anglers took advantage of this opportunity given. Very few of the local fishermen were lucky enough to land the game fish, although those landed were of fairly good size. Abundance of pickerel and bass are being caught in the local waters, and a few mudcats are noticed now and again.

Went to Belleville.

Thirty-five soldiers left the Canadian National Depot here on Monday morning to attend the United Empire Loyalist celebration in Belleville. 21 of the company were from Hastings, the remaining number from Norwood and Havelock. The commanding officer was Major Webb, or Norwood. On arriving in Belleville they marched in a body to the camp grounds, thence to the Exhibition Grounds, where they were in the company of about three thousand other soldiers who were present for the occasion.

The soldiers returned on the seven o'clock train on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tate, Misses Ena Barry and Miss Elsie Jolly spent Sunday in Lindsay, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Staples. While on their way home in the evening, there were ran into by another car between Roseboro and Omemee. Mrs. Tate received a severe shock and Miss Barry was thrown from the back seat over into the front, and fortunately escaped with only a lame shoulder. The car was so badly damaged that it was necessary to procure another for the motorists to continue their journey home.

Mr. H. T. Lambert was unfortunate enough to have two small bones broken in his right wrist on Monday afternoon. While putting up the eavetroughs on Mr. L. E. Kelley's new building on Bridge Street, a piece of the eave trough fell against the wrist, making a very small cut, but on further examination the two bones were found to be broken.

Born in Hastings, on Thursday, June 13th, to Mr. and Mrs. S. Dainard, a daughter.

Mr. William Barrigan, of Peterboro, is spending a few days with friends in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight spent Monday in Belleville attending the United Empire Loyalist celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan and boys, Frank and Ernest, were recent visitors in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Baker, of Warkworth, are spending a few days at the home of their son, Mr. M. J. Baker.

Mr. Reg. Chapman, of Keene, spent the week-end at his home on Front Street.

Rev. M. L. Hinton was in Castleton on Wednesday calling on the Rev. Mr. Beckle who has been ill for some time.

QUART

Manhattan Island, heart of New York City, was bought from the Indians for a quart of whisky. A few thirty people may figure that the Indians got the better of the bargain.

But Manhattan Island paid over 66 million dollars national income taxes ian the quarterly-payment period that ended March 15. Three more payment dates this year. That is a tax on earnings. The value of Manhattan property runs into the billions.

Contrast with the original quart of whisky, and you realize the tremendous changes wrought by time in America.

PAVING ISSUE BEFORE BOARD

A regular meeting of the Board of Works was held last night and several citizens were heard in reference to the Water street paving construction work.

Messrs. Robt. Harstone, Dr. A. W. MacPherson and Dr. N. C. Buchanan, were heard with respect to street curves at the corners of the street intersections on Water street, where the street was being paved. They disapproved of the radii of the curves proposed, and Mr. A. Allison who was heard on the same matter, also complained of a tree having been removed, and said that the traffic was now going through his yard, adding that he would put a stop to that in the morning.

Ald. Stocker and Meyers moved that the radii of the corners be eight feet.

In amendment, it was moved by Ald. Maher and seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the radii be ten feet.

The amendment was lost and the motion carried.

At this stage of the proceedings, Ald. Maher and Jones retired.

It was moved by Ald. Stocker and seconded by Mayor Turner that notice be given of the intention of the council to construct a cement sidewalk on the west side of Park St., from Albert Street to Chamberlain, under section 97 of the Local Improvement Act.

The motion carried.

Tenders Received.

H. Hickey $427.75

T. C. Ephgrave 442.00
Henry Bros. 490.00
F. Burrett 496.50
F. Dummitt 488.00

No action was taken and evidently the Board of Works do not intend to construct a dressing room this year.

On motion of Ald. Stocker and Crowe, the chairman of the Parks Committee was authorized to buy a tent to be used temporarily at Inverlea as a dressing room.

A Rescue Boat.

Mayor J. J. Turner, supported by Ald. Phelan, moved that the matter of renewing the sidewalk around the lake on Crescent street, be left in the hands of Chairman Ald. Morrison and the Mayor.

A letter was read from the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., asking the Board of Works to oil the roadways in their property, stating that they would pay the expenses.

The request was granted.

The Board decided to construct sewers on Hazlett street, from Rogers to Ross street; on Oxford street from Hazlett to the south end of Oxford street; and on Ross street, from Hazlett to the end of Ross St., after a petition was read asking for this service, and notices will be given of the council's intention to do so.

A letter to the City Engineer from Mr. R. A. Dallyn, Provincial Sanitary Engineer, regarding the City Engineer's report, respecting giving sewer service to residents of North Monaghan; and also letters from engineers of other cities were read.

It was moved by Ald. Fife and seconded by Ald. Meyers, that a sample of the road oil be sent to Montreal to be analyzed.

A letter was read from Mr. J. W. Wearing enclosing communication from the Ontario Railway Municpal Board, saying that if a notice be published according to form 17 of the Local Improvement Act, they would as at present advised approve of Bylaw No. 2525. This is a bylaw regarding the Warren construction work.

A statement of expenditures on the Board of Works account to May 30th was read and on motion received.

Mr. E. Tucker in a communication to the Board, complained of Stock's Bread Co., Ltd., causing an obstruction on Sherbrooke street.

City Engineer Parsons stated that he was familiar with the circumstances and the matter was left in his hands.

A communication from Mr. R. E. Brand, asking for an extension of a sewer on Rogers street or Sophia street to serve 296 Rogers street.

The Board will advise Mr. Brand after receiving a report from the City Engineer, if his request can be granted.

THEATRES

"BOY OF MINE" IS PHOTODRAMATIC GEM.

One of the finest gems of the photodramatic art is on view now at the Royal Theatre. It is "Boy of Mine," a First National picture produced by J. K. McDonald and directed by William Beaudine, and we can recommend it enthusiastically in every respect.

Ben Alexander, who won our hearts with his "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam," heads the remarkably capable cast which includes Irene Rich, Henry Walthall, Rockliffe Fellowes and Dot Farley.

Booth Tarkington, the famous writer, is the author of "Boy of Mine," and has made of it one of the most human works of art that it has ever been our pleasure to meet. As you watch the fascinating story unfold on the screen, you are made to feel that this is life as it is being lived in many thousands of American homes, and you thrill with recognition.

"Boy of Mine" is one of those pictures that you cannot afford to miss.

AT THE CAPITOL

There is plenty of action and interest in the Capitol's programme for this week end. One of the fast-moving, likeable pictures of Tom Mix is the feature, there is a Stan. Laurel comedy, a burlesque on Rex Beach's "Spoilers," a Felix the Cat cartoon and the innovation which is proving popular with Capitol patrons, the "Sing 'Em Again" interlude. The majority of the audience joined last evening in the old favorite songs that appeared in turn on the screen.

Tom Mix is Lucky Bill, the hero of "A Mile-a-Minute Romeo," with his wonder-horse Tony, in a rapid-fire picture, packed with thrills and venturesome situations, filmed "out west where men are men." He is a fast and furious lover who decided to marry a particular girl and goes about the doing of it without much conversation. The expedition with which he carries out his wooing programme leaves him the final victor over the two rivals for the lady's hand and heart. The manner in which the trio decide the question involves a considerable amount of fighting. In fact, speedy, thrilling getaways and gory encounters feature the unfolding of the tale of "A Mile-a-Minute Romeo." It is when aiding a friend to elope with a beautiful girl that Bill falls in love with his friend's choice. Later he finds that this particular girl is also loved by another fellow. How each man contrives to eliminate his rival gives the director an opportunity for staging some of the most comical, thrilling and rending scenes that Tom Mix has ever starred in, through all his venturesome career. As usual, Tony occupies the centre of the stage with his master.

One of the newest situations provided in this picture is the scene where the hero, pursued by a posse, seeks shelter in a lonely prairie cabin. Surrounded and fired upon, he exercises his ingenuity and sets fire to the cabin and the dry brush outside. Under cover of the heavy smoke he makes his escape, stampeding the horses of the posse and riding to liberty.

In "The Soilers," Stan. Laurel has a good deal of scope for his genuine fun-making proclivities. A burlesque on "The Spoilers," it portrays the heroine of the book as Helen Chesty, in love with Canister, while the immortal Cherry Malotte is Cherry LaFlip, pert and saucy.

STRIKE EEWS

RETURN TO WORK.

LONDON, June 20. — The striking postmen and letter sorters all returned to work at 10 a.m. as a result of the decision of the railway mail clerks not to strike.

RETURN TO NORMAL

TORONTO, June 20. — The first indication of a return to normal conditions at the general post office was the handling of mail at the general delivery wickets. A large crowd gathered this morning and many letters sorted yesterday were handed over the counter.

Confronted with about 300 applicants for positions Postmaster W. E. Lemon stated this morning that no more men would be taken on today.

Approximately 500 men were given positions yesterday.

Striking postal employees are indignant over the report from Hamilton that all employees had returned to work. They claim that all letter cariers are on strike, and those who returned were a few railway mail clerks.

The local postal officials are inaugurating a letter delivery in the downtown business districts this morning.

WORK AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, June 20.—Every employee at the local post office was at work this morning following their strike of yesterday afternoon, the men deciding at a meeting held last night that they would return and await decisions arrived at by the postal authorities at Ottawa and the officials of the Dominion Federation of Postal Emloyees.

The decision to return to work was made at the meeting after which the night staff went to work.

This morning the clerks and letter carriers were on the job as usual.

DEPT TRAFFIC THREADING.

Driving a car through traffic may be likened to the playing of a game, and like all sports or games of skill is excellent mental stimulant and developer.

It is believed that if more drivers would look at it this way there would be better driving and fewer accidents for the simple reason that safety follows confidence.

This confidence develops from viewing one's driving as a game. The motorist loses his fear of congestion in his eagerness to demonstrate his skill.

One trial will satisfy, to paraphrase the time-honored advertising line. The next time you are driving through traffic make it a point to see how skillfully you can plan your "moves." You will be surprised, not merely at the enjoyment you can get out of it, but particularly at the amount of time you save and the marked improvement in your driving.

You will find, for instance, that instead of wandering all over the street in a nervous attempt to get past everyone else you wisely select a particular course, stick to it and invariably come out on top. There is no fanning, no striking out, no going out of bounds. You find yourself playing a clean game, and everybody and everything else playing into your hands.

It isn't necessary to be aggressive to the point of inconveniencing others. The road hog has no place in the world of sports. But, on the other hand, neither is it necessary to drive through congested sections believing that you have got to be beaten at every hand.

If you play a good game in traffic there'll be thousands to cheer you for it. And you'll be one of them yourself.

A POSITIVE HIT!

You hear it on the street---in the office---in the home---"Boy of Mine" is just what we said it was a great human story as full of real life in your own heart.

LEGON HEAD OF PETES' HITTERS WITH .424 MARK

Left Fielder Also Leads in Runs, Stolen Bases and Extra Base Hits.

HECKMAN IS SECOND

The complete averages of the Peterboro Central League team reveal Left Fielder "Red" Legon as the leader in five departments. Legon increased his batting average during the week by 24 points, and is well out in front with an average of .424. He also leads in run-getting, in the total number of hits, in extra base hits and in stolen bases.

Al. Heckman, by virtue of four hits in seven times up, increased his average by 119 points, and is now second in the list with .333, while Jimmy Hall jumped up into third place with a gain of 70 points in the last two games.

Two-base hits—Legon 4, Heckman 3, Swanston 3, Johnston 2, Harrison 2, Holyman 2.

Three-base hits—Hall 1, Collins 1.

Heckman has taken the lead in driving in runs, having supplied the punch for seven counters. The record of the rest in this department is: Harrison 6, Swanston 6, Legon 4, Johnston 4, Holyman 4, Serth 4, Hall 1, Batten 1, Collins 1, Helson 1.

Johnston made two sacrifice hits during the week, bringing his total lead in the stolen base department. He has now six successful steals to his credit.

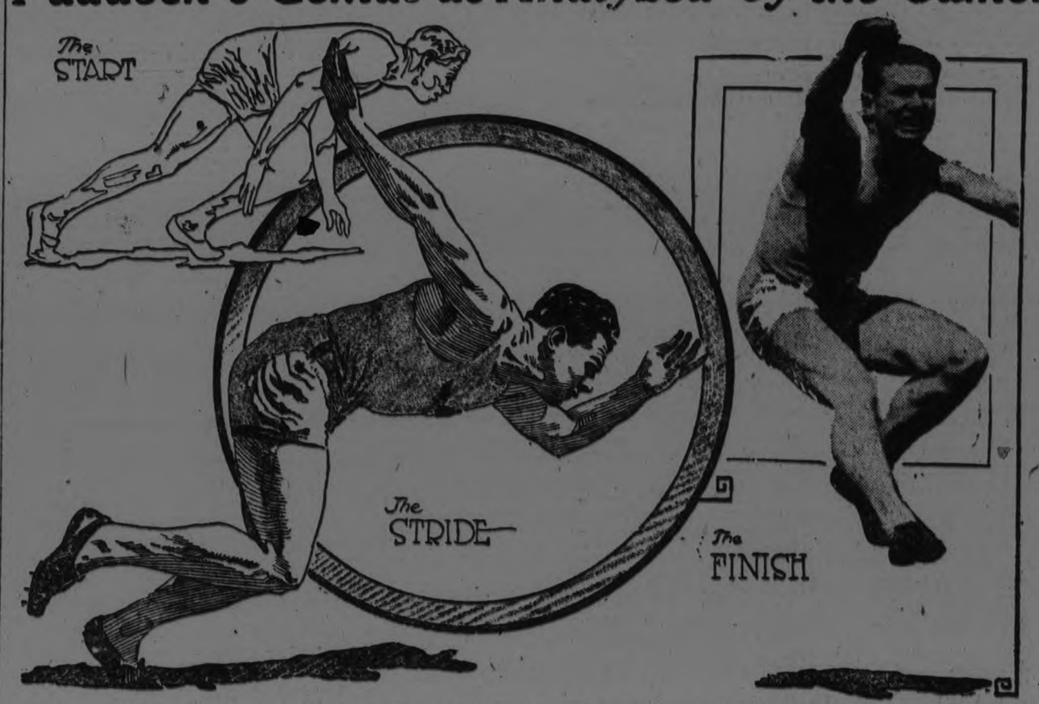
Paddock's Genius as Analyzed by the Camera



The three most important physical factors which make for success in the sprints are (1) the start, (2) the stride and (3) the finish.

No sprinter leaps away from the line faster than gifted Californian no sprinter has a longer or more perfectly timed stride, and none a finish more peculiarly his own. Little wonder, then, that he has made track history that promises to endure for years.

Paddock's tumultuous finishing style, where in he literally throws his body at the tape, is frowned upon by critics. They say it is unorthodox and a hindrance to maximum speed.

All of which may be quite true, but in Paddock's case it has seemed to work out pretty well. Maybe it it is that subtle distinguishing gesture which singles out the genius.

Incidentally, Paddock has reconsidered a previously arranged program and is now getting ready for participation in the Olympiad.

U. F. O. PICNIC GAME RESULTS

Two Games of Baseball and One Softball Game for the Ladies.

THE SCORES

Games played at the annual picnic of the combined U.F.O. clubs of Cavan and South Monaghan, which took place at Wallace's Point yesterday, included one game of soft ball by two teams of ladies. A good deal of excitement prevailed at the conclusion of this game, both sides claiming the victory, and presenting their claims with much heated argument. Bensfort ladies and those of Bailieboro composed the teams, both of whom laid claim to the score of 14-12. Harry Campbell of Bailieboro, acted as base umpire, with Harold Moncrief of Bensfort as ball umpire and the line-up was as follows:

Bensfort

Bailieboro

Edna Johnston, catcher; Loretto Barnard, pitcher; May Earle, 1st base; Connie McConnachie, 2nd base Kathleen Isbister, 3rd base; Mary Panter, short stop; Ethel Falls, centerfield; Lottie Earle, left field; Hazel Armstrong.

In the two men's games, the juniors of Bailieboro and Centerville met, with a score of 5-2 for Bailieboro. Harry Campbell of Bailieboro acted as umpire, for the following line-up:

Bailieboro

H. Dean, catcher; R. Johnston, pitcher; E. White, 1st base; H. Barnard, 2nd base; A. Dawson, 3rd base; V. Jewison, centre field; C. Lang, right field; C. Barnard, left field; D. Lang, short stop.

The second game was a senior aggregation event, between a team dubbing themselves from the Empire League of Peterboro, and a team from South Monaghan. The South Monaghanites won by a score of 6-5. The base umpire was Gene Carroll, and the ball umpire Roy Whittington, with manager Jack Irwin for the local players and captain A. Shevlin. The line-up was as follows:

South Monaghan

Peterboro

GENERALS WON FROM WESTCLOX

Score Was 5 to 1 in a Game at Riverside Park Yesterday Evening.

FIRST WESTLOX LOSS

In a Mercantile fixture at Riverside Park last night, the Canadian General Electric team won a nice game of ball from the Western Clock Manufacturers by the score of 5 to 1. The Generals scored one in the first innings and held their one run lead until the sixth inning when they added two more to it,and two more in the seventh, while they held the Baby Ben makers to one lone tally in the sixth inning. The C.G.E. were at the top of their form and showed more pep than in any other game this year. By their win from the Bankers on Tuesday night they were derricked out of the cellar position, and by last night's victory, they are now well away for the finals. The Western Clock who were leading the league with a clean sheet in their lost column fell down last night and dropped their first game. They are still leading the league but the Lockworks are keeping close to their heels with two wins and one loss. The C.G.E. have now advanced a few rungs on the ladder, having two wins and two losses. Chuck Bradley on the mound for the Generals pitched a nice game —he fanned nine in seven innings but was touched for six hits, including a triple by Hardill, and two doubles, by Hensley and Barrie. He kept his hits well scattered and pulled his team out of a good many dangerous ruts. DeGraw started for the Westclox but his arm gave out in the fourth innings and he was relieved by Hardill in the fifth, who finished the game. DeGraw pitched nice ball and held the heavy hitting Generals to one run and two hits in the four innings he pitched. Hip Hardill took his place on the mound in the fifth innings and was walloped all over the lot. The generals scored four runs and collected four hits off him, including a triple and two doubles, while he also passed two men. He had plenty of speed but this did not bother the C.G.E. any and they hit everything that he had to offer. Jack McDonough got a cheap three base hit when he walloped one out to Wolfe in centre field, but Wolfe did not bother exerting himself in going after the ball, and McDonough scratched what should have been a double into another bag. Hardill got a clean triple in the sixth inning when Brdaley tossed one to him in the right place.

Ab. Delahaye, who did the receiving for the Electricians, turned in a nice game, but sad to say, he was out of place when he was playing with the C. G. E. as he is not employed in that factory, and the rule calls that all players must be employed in the shop that they play for. The game was played under a protest on account of Delahaye playing. It seems strange to onlookers if the C.G.E. cannot pick a team out of about two thousand employees without ringing in outsiders, and it is hoped that the league will be straitened out and all outside players barred in the future.

YOUNG COPS START OUT

Latest Addition to the Bantam League Managed by Jack Deannard.

The Young Cops, managed during their organisation stage by Sergeant J. Deannard, turned out last night for their first practice, 18 strong.

They showed good form and are expected to make a dent in the Bantam scoring column this season.

The next practice will be held at King Edward Park at 5.30 on Tuesday, and any youngsters wishing to line up with the coming champs should turn out.

LOWERS HIS OWN RECORD

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 20.—(Canadian Press)—Paavo Nurmi, the Finnish runner, yesterday lowered two of his own world records—the 1,500 and the 5,000 meters. In the 1,500 meters he ran the distance in three minutes 52 3-5 seconds, clipping two-fifths of a second off the mark he established last year of 3:53. In the 5,000 metres, Nurmi's time was 14 minutes 28 3-5 seconds. His previous record was 14 minutes, 35 3-10 seconds.

CANADIAN BOWLERS LOST

LONDON, June 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A team representing Hampshire, Dorset and the Isle of Wight yesterday defeated the touring Canadian bowlers at Southampton by 33, the score being 166 to 133.

WOOLLENS-QUAKERS DIVIDED THE POINTS

With Only Ten Players the Woollens Held the Quakers to a Draw.

The Woollens and Quakers divided the points last evening in a Senior Soccer League game at Nicholls Oval before a fair attendance. The run of play favored the Woollens in the first half and had one to nothing at half time but Quakers equalized on resuming.

Both teams started the game with only ten men. The Woollens were first to be dangerous though Dundas who crossed nicely for Honour to clear. At the other end T. Williams put past when well placed. A raid by Mitchell and Wyllie was spoiled through being to anxious in front of goal. They were rewarded a few minutes afterwards. Dundas and Mitchell outwitted the defense to give Wyllie the opportunity to beat Young all the way for the opening goal. A foul given away by Roberts let Craig have a rocket drive for goal but Jack Chamber's head nullified a sure goal as he headed out of danger. Time and time again the Quaker forwards would make a raid upon Woollens' defense, which stood up to the attacks well. Twice in succession Wyllie was robbed off the ball when in below the bar, by Quaker goalkeeper. At this period of the game Terrace made up Quakers full team. Play ran from end to end without any further scoring. Half-time—Woollens 1, Quakers 0.

Half-Time.

On resuming, Mayette and Craig peppered Warde from every angle. From an accurate crass by Mayette, the Quakers equalized Craig lobbed the ball in below the bar, Warde saved, then punted back into play but Craig sent back past Woollen's goalie. The pressure was continued on the Woollen's defense, where Warde was prominent. A solo run by Gaskill ended in Young saving a hard shot. Nice combination between Williams and Craig gained a corner that compelled Warde to fist clear. Woollens received a fruitless corner at the other end. Then Mitchell tested Young with a fast right foot drive. An individual effort by the Quakers outside right ended by a fast cross on the run. The ball travelled across the field asking for a foot to touch it through. Both teams tried hard to get the winning goal near the close but they divided the points as darkness set in. Woollens 1, Quakers 1.

The teams:

Quakers—Young, goal; Willshaw and Honor, backs; Walker, Terrace and Butter, half-backs; Mayette, Moore, Craig, Wilson and Williams.

Woollens — Warde, goal; Chambers and Cridland, backs; Roberts, Jackson and Sawyers, half-backs; Gaskill, Wyllie, Mitchell and Dundas, forwards.

Referee—J. C. Russell.

CANADIAN PACKERS WIN FROM MASSEYS

C. P. C. Juniors Retain Record by Winning 6 to Nil Last Night.

The C.P.C. Juniors entertained the Masseys in a league game at King Edward Park on Thursday evening, and came out winners by 6 goals to 0. James again scored 3 goals. The Packers won the toss and with the sun at their backs went away with a rush that nearly brought disaster to the Massey defence, Cooper heading out of danger. Laughlin tried to get his forwards going, but the half-backs of the Packers were in great form. Halliday placed in the goal mouth, and from the melee which followed headed just out of reach of Saunders. From the centre kick Palley nearly equalized. Bradley sent well up the field. Halliday passed nicely to Soutar, who shot with great force. Saunders fisted out. Downer met the return and scored the second goal for the Packers. Cooper and Edgar were doing their vest to get their forwards going, yut they finished very weak. The Packers were getting the best of the game. Half-time arrived with the score standing 2 to 0 in favour of the Packers.

The Second Half.

Upon returning the Masseys played a much better game. Vinet put one straight for Bradley, whose clearance was met by Laughlin, whose shot just missed by inches. The Packers' half-backs were very prominent. Carmichael placed to Strudley and he made no mistake, beating Saunders all the way. The Packers now were in control of the game. From a corner well taken by Carmichael Strudley scored his second goal. The defence of the Masseys were kept very busy. James and Mitchell played nicely together Mitchell sent to James, who again beat Saunders with a great drive. He repeated the performance just before the call of time by scoring the best goal of the game. There was no further scoring. The Packers retained their undefeated record by 6 goals to 0.

The Teams.

C.P.C.—Bradley, Willis, Oxley, T. Montgomery, Halliday, Carmichael, Mitchell, James, Strudley, J. Downer, and F. Soutar.

Masseys — Saunders, Edgar, Cooper, Cordrouy, Ashmore, Slaughter, Goldie, Palley, Laughlin, Vinet, and Naish.

KEEP DOWN RADIUM PRICES

NEW YORK (United Press).—The official organ of the American Chemical Society has embarked on a crusade to keep down the price of radium. Belgium companies have found such rich deposits in the Congo that they can prodouce radium at a price that has driven many United States competitors out of business. A monopoly wih high prices, is feared.

FEATURE GAME OF THIS DATE

A FREAK GAME BY MR. JOHNSON.

Walter Johnson never pitched a freakier game in his life than that in which he beat Jack Chesbro on June 19, 1909. New York hit Walter safely only three times, and the Big Moose fanned 10 Yankee batters. But, interlarded in this performance were seven walks that Walter gave, one batsman whom he hit and four wild pitches that he heaved. Nicodeumus Altrick played right field for seven innings, had all of one fielding chance and spilled it. The score:

The NUT CRACKER BY JOE WILLIAMS

Now and then strange things do happen in baseball .....Maybe this is the year New York will not have its own world series.

We are not surprised that Siki knocked out Carpentier, but we are surprised that he ever was able to catch up with him.

While Ruth may be just a private in the National Guard, he's a general nuisance to American League pitchers.

Zuppke of Illinois says golf develops crabs and cussers .....And, he might have added, poor mathematicians.

The rumor that the K.K.K. is directing the policies of the Cincinnati Reds was probably started by someone who was three sheets to the wind.

Firpo has given Tex Rickard his word that he will fight in August .....It is said to be the first thing the good senor ever gave anybody.

PERHAPS IT'S JUST AS WELL THAT GIBBONS DIDN'T KNOCK OUT THE FRENCHMAN. THEN HE'D HAVE TO FIGHT DEMPSEY AGAIN.

Mike McNally of the Yankees took a punch at Lu Blue of the Tigers .....Let's see, what was the name of the gent who was going to dignify baseball at $42,500 a year?

It takes another guy's smartness to bring out your dumbness .....

Remember that the next time you're caught off second.

You never see a winning streak and a yellow streak playing a twosome on the fairways of success.

Among other things, Mr. Bartley Madden seems to have changed the complexion of the heavyweight championship,

Don't try to alibi. Rip Van Winkle admitted he went to sleep but the neighbors still loved him.

They say Cyril Walker is a slow golfer.....Well, he was certainly slow poison to the boys at Detroit.

Every bird is born free and equal ....Going around with a chip on your shoulder and a pair of brass knucks is no way to prove it.

Georges Carpentier was pinched for speeding in South Bend., Ind., the other day....The uncolth Mr. O'Goofty suggests that he was still running from Gibbons.

Uruguay has gone wild over winning the soccer championship. ....This goes to show how easy it is to go wild in Uruguay.

A critic writes that "Jack Dempsey is not the worst actor he ever saw on the screen"....And we think this is an uncalled for slam at Francis X. Bushman.

It is probably true that Johnny Dundee is on his last legs....The trouble is he things he is a centiped.

The Athletics' presence in the cellar may be explained by Mr. Mack's relentless insistence on getting to the bottom of everything.

The French have finally agreed to play with an American tennis ball in the Olympics, thereby averting another international catastrophe.

For a period of 1489 years ending in 1905, Japan had 244 earthquakes, more or less disastrous in character.

BRITAIN WINS TENNIS FINAL FROM AMERICA

Kathleen McKane Defeated Helen Wills in Straight Sets, 6-2, 6-2.

WORLD TROPHY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 20. —(Canadian Press.)—The Wightman Cup, which is to the women's tennis world what the Davis Cup is to the men's, was taken out of the possession of the United States yesterday afternoon when the British champion, Miss Kathleen McKane, defeated the American, Miss Helen Wills, of California, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. The home team having won all three of yesterday's matches in the centre court of the stadium, Miss McKane's triumph over the California girl this afternoon settled the issue.

The British players went right on winning even after the possession of the cup was determined. Mrs. Phyllis Covell, who defeated Miss Wills yesterday, proceeded to defeat Mrs. Molla Mallory, whom Miss McKane had also conquered Wednesday.

In the doubles came the solitary United States' success of the two days' play. Mrs. George Wightman, captain of the team, bold, yet cautious, champion as long ago as 1909, seemed by her very presencee to steady her youthful partner, Miss Wills, and between them they overcame the first team work and daring, smashing net game of Miss McKane and Miss Evelyn Colyer, winning the doubles, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Then followed a long drawn-out contest between the third string singles players of each team. Mrs. Geraldine Beamish, of England, and Miss Eleanor Goss, of the United States. The Briton emerged with the last victory of the day in three sets, 6-1, 8-10, 6-3.

Miss Wills accepted her two defeats gracefully. She said she "felt fine." "The only thing the matter with us," said the Californian, "was the good playing of the British ladies."

BILLIE EVANS SAYS

Someone has said that the umpire is a necessary evil, missed only when he fails to show up for the game.

No doubt the expert who so defined the umpire hod no intention of being unkind, simply sought to classify the judge of play in relation to the game.

True there are very few umpires who attract people at the gate.

Yet, lovers of baseball are far more interested in whether Walter Johnson will pitch or Babe Ruth hit a home run, than who will umpire the game.

A perfect day for the umpire means only silence. Applause is unknown to him. The merry "razz" is the college yell that he knows best. Despite this an analysis of every ball game will tend to prove that the umpire plays a most important role.

A ruling on some close play at one of the bases is often the deciding factor.

No one is more familiar with rulings that are so close that they might be given either way, than the umpire.

During a ball game there are at least 50 pitches that are either a ball or a strike by the mere matter of inches.

The umpire is always greatly interested in what happens as the result of a close decision, that is often strenuously protested.

Already this season a score of unusual situations have come up in games in which I have been one of the officials, as the result of a disputed decision. Three of the more important I readily recall.

In a certain game the pitcher retired the firts two batsmen on seven pitched balls, five of them called strikes. Nice umpire!

The third batter worked the count to three balls and two strikes. The next pitch was right over the heart of the plate, a curve ball, but the umpire believed it a few inches too low for a strike. Terrible umpire.

It was called a ball, walking the batter. Then, just to make the calling of that one pitch the all-important factor of the game, the side at bat made seven runs before being retired. That early advantage enabled the team at bat to win by a one-run margin.

In another game calling a runner safe at third, that would have retired the side, if ruled otherwise, made it possible for the team at bat to make six runs in that inning.

In another game, a similar ruling resulted in five runs crossing the plate for the side was retired.

So after all, perhaps, the umpire is more than only a necessary evil, to the success of baseball. Yes!

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

1. Is it possible for a pitcher to be shifted to some other position and then be recalled as a pitcher?—A. D.

2. If the umpire calls a balk on the pitcher, as the pitcher delivers the ball, which the batter hits for a home run, what happens?—B. C.

3. If a runner going over from second to third be retired at that base, because the shortstop obstructed him just enough to cause the out, what is the ruling?—C. C.

ANSWERS

1. A player can be used at any position provided he remains in the game.

2. The moment the umpire calls a balk, the ball becomes dead, making no play possible, and rendering void the home run that was hit.

3. The runner is entitled to advance to the base to which he was going if the fielder obstructed his way and prevented him from making that base.

QUESTIONS

1. If a fielder has the ball in his possession ready to touch a base runner and, after so doing, the ball is deliberately knocked out of his hands by the runner, what is the proper decision?—D. F.

2. If a runner on first, believing that a fly ball is not going to be caught, starts to advance, and has nearly reached third base when the fielder makes the catch, does the throwing of the ball to second base before he can get back there double him up?—M. P.

3. If, after a batted ball goes through an infielder, a base runner, in the opinion of the umpire, deliberately kicks such a hit ball, what is the proper ruling?—A. A.

ANSWERS

1. The runner should be called out for such an act.

2. In order to properly make the play, the runner should either be touched with the ball, or it should be thrown to the base he occupied when the ball was hit, and in this instance it was first.

3. The base runner should be called out for inteference.

CAMPBELLFORD WON BASEBALL GAME AT LAST

FOOD FOR FANS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20. — The Campbellford ball team registered its first win of the season, at home Wednesday, when they led Brighton to the win 7-6. The game produced some great baseball and kept the crowd interested until the last moment. It was an emphatic answer to the statement that the class of ball played in he Northumberland League is not as good as last year.

Jack Scott (he should be called "Cannon-ball"), pitched a fine game, striking out ten, although he was a little wild. Roblin, Brighton's veteran twirler, was real good also and kept the Campbellford hits well scattered Charlie Holmes made a great play in the fifth when he stabbed a terrific drive by Frise, Bill Hume's work in right field was very snappy, preventing several runners from stretching their hits. Moore, the Brighton third sacker, made a nice play on Weston's grounder and in the fifth Brown made a wonderful bid for Weston's drive to deep right. He leaped the low fence, ran on the track and touched the ball with his outstretched hand, but he couldn't hold it.

Despite his injuries "Nip" Weston pounded out a single and a double. Shillinglaw got two singles, just when they were needed. For Brighton, Moore had a home run and a single and Frise a single, a double and a home run, although the last came in the eighth and couldn't count. Solomon lost a triple the same way but Shannon made sure of his hitting it earlier in the game. McKee was good for two singles and a nice sacrifice.

Campbellford players and fans took strong objections to several of Umpire Adams' decisions and on a couple of occasions swarmed out on the field. The first was when Armour's drive down the right field foul line was called foul. It was very close but unfortunately the foul line had not been whitewashed. Again in the seventh when Halliday was struck on the hand and took first, they claimed that he stuck out his hand and was purposely hit.

Brighton had a grievance also. The score was 7-6 at the end of the seventh and they made three runs in the eighth, to take the lead 9-7. Darkness made it impossible to continue, the game was called and the score reverted to the seventh inning. Had the game been started at 5 o'clock instead of 5.50 the nine innings could have been completed, but as it was the Brighton players felt that they suffered an injustice when the game had to be called. But in spite of all the conversation, it was a good game of ball.

SCOTT'S CORNERS LOSE TO NORTH MONAGHAN

BAILIEBORO, June 20. — In a game played at Centerville on Tuesday the South Monaghan nine defeated the Scott's Corners aggregation by the score of 22 to 11. The game lasted four innings, and was featured with heavy hitting on the part of the Monaghan team, while the Scott's Corners boys also clouted the old apple in the fourth when they scored five runs. It was a ragged game of ball and both teams scored in every inning. The teams lined up as follows:

CRICKET NEWS

The Male Voice Choir and the Peterboro cricket teams met in a friendly game at the Exhibition Grounds yesterday evening, the latter team winning by two wickets and 78 runs. The Choir team batted first, Alderman Stocker and Manning putting on 19 runs for the first wickets; after that the remainder of the wickets fell for an additional 21 runs, Thorpe taking 7 wickets. Langley made a nice catch in disposing of Johnson.

The Peterboro team batted well, with Coutts as top scorer with a well played 37. The stumps were drawn with the score at 118 for 8 wickets, the light being too bad to finish the innings.

There were more spectators than usual watching the game, with quite a sprinkling of the fair sex, which goes to show that the game is increasing in popularity as the season goes on. Scores:

GOODYEAR
MADE IN CANADA
BALLOON TIRES
With or Without Change of Wheels or Rims

THE Balloon Tire greatly improves the riding comfort of your car. A bigger tire—a more flexible tire—more cushioning—rides on much lower air pressure. Eases over bumps and ruts. Saves the car—saves you.

You can get Goodyear Balloon Tire comfort with relatively small increase in the price-per-tire which you have been paying.

For some years the best efforts of Goodyear Laboratories and Engineers have been given to the development of Balloon Tires.

For years, Goodyear test cars shod with big tires and riding as on great pillows of air, have been shuttling back and forth over roads of all kinds, under actual service conditions.

Goodyear Selected Dealers will be able to equip your car with Balloon Tires.

The Right Size for Your Car

The table shows you what size Goodyear Balloon Tires can be fitted to your present wheels and rims. In the left-hand column are ordinary tire sizes; in the right-hand column the Goodyear Balloon Tire sizes by which your present tires may be replaced without change of wheel or rim.

RAILWAY RATES TALK IS GIVEN MANUFACTURERS

Old Peterboro' Boy, W. S. Campbell, Gave Instructive Address to the Local Branch.

EVERYBODY READY.

Railways Must Be Free From Political Influence, He Thinks.

W. S. Campbell, chairman of the Transportation Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association spoke to the members of the local branch in the Chamber of Commerce last night on Canadian transportation.

It is just five years, since Mr. Campbell left Peterboro, and in opening his address he said that, "I cannot find words to express the pleasure it gives me to come back to my home town. I was glad of the opportunity, not because of my ability, but out of my good feeling for my home city. Toronto is my city of adoption only.'

The speaker stated he had noticed that in smaller cities people are prone to settle down in channels, satisfied with the assurance that Toronto and Ottawa would make the laws, "Every individual must take his part to provide the punch, necessary to make a city prosper," he remarked. A great deal is heard these days about the railway problem and those who read American literature, find the question being almost daily referred to as the "railway problem," and Mr. Campbell was of the opinion that so long as American politicans keep referring to somethink known as the railway problem they will keep up a sort of agitated feeling in this country.

Mr. Campbell remarked that while there are railway difficulties in Canada, people here have what might be called a railway problem. It was pointed out that in Canada there are scientific and political rate making, the latter quite recently. "Political rate making is sectional, extending preferences and undermining what the carriers have used as a basis for future operations," said the speaker, "and as railways must lay plans many years in advance of actual op-

BILL TO AMEND COMPANIES ACT

TAKE FACE VALUE.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—A bill to amend the Companies Act was given a second reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, without debate and was then discussed in committee. Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, who had the bill in charge, stated that most of the amendments proposed were to remove anomalies which had grown up in the course of changes made in the Act from session to session.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Centre Winnipeg) at once brought up the question of watered stock and asked what protection the Act contained for the public in that regard.

Mr. Copp said that there was nothing in the amendments in the present bill dealing with that subject and Chairman Gordon ruled Mr. Woodsworth's remarks out of order.

A little later an amendment defining "private companies" was under discussion and Mr. Woodsworth asked what scrutiny the Department gave to the prospectus of such a company and whether they accepted the statements of the prospectus at their face value.

Mr. Copp replied that there was no scrutiny by the Department but that the prospectus of a company would be scrutinized by those who bought its shares.

The clause carried.

Wrangle Over Wrangell Will Be Ended by U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—It is announced in a message from Nome, Alaska, that the United States Schooner Herman put out on June 17, bound for Wrangell. Captain Louis Lane, who commands the vessel, will raise the stars and stripes over the island and reaffirm the claim of United States to the territory It is known that the Soviet government also is sending an expedition there this year. It is said that Captain Lane's instructions empower him not to leave the island without attempting to carry out his plans at any hazard.

The Herman is chartered by Loman Bros., of Nome, who contral the Alaskan reindeer industry. They have taken over the interests of Vilhjalmar Stefansson, who for three years has fought a losing fight to save Wrangell for the British Empire.

Smuts' Defeat Gives Nationalist Labor Party Majority of 29 Seats.

PLUMS DISCUSSED.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 21.—(Canadian Press, via Reuter's)—The Nationalist-Labor opposition now have a majority of 29 seats as a result of last Tuesday's general election in the Union, and the construction of the new Ministry which is to succeed the defeated Smuts Government is now the absorbing topic. General Hertzog, leader of the Nationalists, who have the largest group, undoubtedly will be the next Premier, and there is much speculation regarding the percentage of the Cabinet plums that will be offered to the Labor party, Labor having co-operated with the Nationalists to defeat the Government.

Tielman Ross, one of the Nationalist leaders, expresses the opinion that the new Premier will offer Col. Creswell, the Labor party leader, and another Labor man seats in the Cabinet. Many members of the rank and file of the Labor party, however, are strongly opposed to Labor participation in the new Government on the ground that such a course would be contrary to the party's cardinal principles. It is announced that a Labor conference will be held in Johannesburg on June 29 to decide what action the Labor party should take on the question.

TWO POSITIONS FOR A BIG MAN

Ontario Government Still in the Market For Financial Expert.

TORONTO, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—When Ontario's new director or supervisor of provincial finance takes office under Provincial Treasurer W. H. Price, K.C., at the Parliament Buildings he will also take over the duties formerly assigned to Assistant Treasurer C. A. Matthews, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued. It is officially stated that the office of Assistant Treasurer and new supervisory post which it is proposed to create will be combined into one. The Provincial Government has not by any means abandoned its intention of getting in a "big man" to assist the Provincial Treasurer in handling Ontario's finances. The Government, however, it is authoritatively stated, regards the appointment as most important in the decade, and proposes to take just as long making its selection as is necessary to get the man best qualified. According to the Premier's idea, the new incumbent not only must be a qualified banker, having knowledge of bond markets and loan flotations, but he must be able to meet the public. The appointment, it is anticipated, will be made before the next session of the Legislature.

PRICE ON LIFE OF THE FRIEND OF FRANKS BOY

Ransom of 10,000 in Advance Demanded of Millionaire—His Son Threatened.

POLICE TURN OUT.

A Flaming Cross Appeared Near Loeb and Leopold Homes.

CHICAGO, June 21. — Kidnapping threats, obviously based on the Robert Franks case, caused the police to guard the home of Irvin H. Hartman, millionaire furniture merchant, lest harm be done to Irvin Hartman, Jr., a playmate of the murdered boy Franks, and supposedly a witness of of his chum's abduction.

The police theory is that some unbalanced person got hold of the Hartman boy's name and the kidnapping idea while reading accounts of the Franks murder.

Scrawled on Rough Paper.

A letter demanding $10,000 ransom carried the threats to Hartman yesterday. It was scrawled as if by an almost illiterate person on cheap paper.

The letter called on Hartman to give up $10,000, but then specified "500 $100 bills, 1,000 $50 bills, five $100 bills and 700 $50 bills," or considerably more than $100,000. "The rest," the writer added, "in $5 and $10 bills."

The police presumption is that the author of the letter could not add.

Threatened Boy Is Hidden.

As soon as he received the letter Mr. Hartman called the police. A heavy detail of men was sent to the home, while detectives went to the place appointed by the kidnappers. Later the guard was reduced, but no one was admitted to the Hartman home and the threatened boy was kept out of sight.

Mr. Hartman declared he thought the letter "just the work of some fool." Nevertheless he took no chances.

The mysterious erection of a flaming cross near the Loeb and Leopold homes on Thursday night was investigated by the police as another consequence of the Franks murder.

Mystery in Flaming Cross.

How the cross came to be erected remains a mystery. Apparently none of the hundreds of citizens who rushed to the scene when the flames from the upright and cross arms leaped to the sky saw any one put it up.

The first to observe it were Sergt. Frank Rysell and Policeman C. E. Abbott.

The cross, which stood in a vacant lot, was fourteen feet high and eight feet wide. It had been wrapped in gasoline-saturated cotton. The arms of the device were on hinges, so that it could be folded up and carried about the streets without creating any more comment than a curtain rod or a fishing pole.

For fifteen minutes the cross blazed, at the end of which time it was extinguished by firemen. Its charred remains continued to be a curiosity for the neighbourhood until late into the night.

LIBERALS ARE STILL LEADING

Elected the Largest Number of Any of the Parties at Election Yesterday.

RESULT DOUBTFUL.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 21.—(Canadian Press).—The Liberals of British Columbia in yesterday's general election elected twenty-six members to the Legislature, the largest number of any of the parties.

While the Liberal party triumphed over its opponents, Premier Oliver, its veteran leader, went down to defeat with his three party mates in Victoria, the Conservatives in the capital electing their full ticket of four members.

From the earliest returns available the Conservatives hav eelected fourteen members. The Provincial Party, conducting its first campaign, failed to achieve its aspirations and elected but three members. Labor elected three. Two independents were returned.

The latest results of elections in British Columbia are:

Peterborough, England Sent Kindly Greetings to Peterborough, Canada

On the seventeenth day of March, 1874, in the thirty-seventh year of her reign, Her Majesty Queen Victoria granted and declared that the inhabitants of part of the Parliamentary Borough of Peterborough should be for ever thereafter one body politic and corporate in deed, fact and name, and that the said body corporate should be called The Mayor, Aldermen, Citizens and Burgesses of the City and Borough of Peterborough.

The above is the opening paragraph from an interesting book received yesterday by His Worship Mayor Turner with the compliments of the City of Peterborough, England. The book is issued in commemoration of the jubilee of the incorporation of the ancient city. Addressed to "The Right Worshipful the Mayor of Peterborough" it tells in its 124 tastefully illustrated pages the story of the rise of one of the most historic cities in the British Isles, set out in interesting form and replete in detail.

An extra copy of the book was sent by W. T. Mellows, LL.B., the town clerk, to be placed in the Public Library, and citizens who so desire may have the opportunity of there reading the history of the parent city.

Not only is the book interesting because of the association of names, but it gives an insight into the methods of government fifty years ago and down the intervening decades to the present. In it are outlined progress of education, health administration, highway building, parks and recreation grounds, and agricultural societies.

POISON GAS IS SENATE WEAPON

IMPROMPTU BOMB.

PROVIDENCE R. I. June 21.—As a result of the loosing of poisonous fumes in the state senate chamber the republican members who constitute a majority, refused to attend the senate session and were arrested on a warrant obtained by Lieut-Gov. Toupin, the democratic president of the senate. The loosing of the fumes caused the senate to take an hour's recess after being held in session continously, due to a filibuster, since Tuesday at 2:05 p.m.

Four of the republican senators were in a hospital suffering from the effects of the gas and High Sheriff Jonathan Andrews refused to force the eighteen other republicans to enter the senate chamber.

A large wad of gauze soaked in a liquid thought to contain chlorine, was found wrapped in newspapers in the curtains behind the rostrum after the fumes had spread through the chamber. The persons nearest the parcel were Mr. Toupin and other democrats, but with one exception the only senators who complained of the effects of the gas were republicans. Mr. Toupin declared that he was "in first-rate shape," and other democrats asserted that the republicans were "bluffing" as to their condition so as to absent themselves from the chamber and hold up the senate proceedings.

Governor Makes Charges

Gov. William S. Flynn declared that "an attempt has been made to poison the lieutenant-governor." His lieutenants joined with the local police in an investigation to discover who had placed impromptu "bomb."

Sheriff Andrews, in support of his refusal to compel attendance by the republicans, produced a certificate signed by Dr. Herbert E. Harris stating that the senators he had examined were unfit for duty. Mr. Toupin then obtained a warrant for their arrest and the republicans were escorted from the building under police guard. The lieutenant-governor declared a recess and a meeting of democrats was held in the governor's office to discuss legal steps to meet the sheriffs' refusal.

Senator Carried Out

When the fumes of the gas became apparent, senators and spectators became groggy. Soon Senators Sherman, Sanderson and Sharpe (reps.) and Powers (dem.) sank into coma and were carried out.

When the senate reconvened and the lieutenant-governor noticed the absence of the three republicans who were overcome by the gas, he ordered the deputy sheriffs to bring them into the senate chamber. The deputies reported that they were unable to do so. The lieutenant-governor then deputized fifteen civilians to compel the attendance of the republicans He ordered them to break down the doors of the committee room where the stricken senators were. A squad of fifteen Providence police was prepared to resist such violence.

REFINED SUGAR PRICES UPWARD

Three Jumps in a Week in Time For Preserving Season.

TORONTO, June 21.—(Canadian Press). — Refined sugar prices advanced another 10 cents per hundredweight on the Toronto wholesale market yesterday. This makes three advances of ten cents each during the week, or 30 cents. Granulated sugar is offering at $8.64, with No. 1 yellow at $8.24.

GINGER GROUP RAISES ISSUE

Tells Robert Forke It Will Not Attend Further Progressive Caucuses.

FORKE REPLIES.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—Difference between the so-called "ginger group" and the main body of progressive members in the House of Commons have reached a head. A few days ago, six members of the party wrote to Robert Forke, progressive leader, a letter in which they stated their intention not to attend any further progressive party caucuses, thus in effect declaring their severance. To this letter, Mr. Forke is preparing a reply. The reply it is expected, will be submitted to a progressive caucus.

The letter from the six members is signed by M. H. Campbell, Macken zie; Robert Gardiner, Medicine Hat; E. J. Garland, Bow River; D. M. Kennedy, Edmonton West; H. E. Spencer, Seattle River, Miss Agnes Macphail, Grey South East. Mr. Campbell is from Saskatchewan and Miss Macphail from Ontario; the other four are from Alberta.

Allegations made by the six members in their letter are denied on behalf of the main progressive party. One of the statements in their letter is that they cannot support the formation "of a political organization on the old lines involving majority rule in caucus, whip domination, responsibility for leader's statement and so forth." Another is that the majority of the progressive party last session prevented the minority from "such a fight on the floor of the house as circumstances demanded" against ten year renewal of bank charters as provided in the bill to revise the bank act.

Deny the Charges

To these statements, the reply is made that there had been no attempt a whip domination and that the Alberta members—who form the bulk of the dissentient group—have always been given the greatest possible freedom of action. They have, it is stated, had their own caucus attending the main progressive caucus subsequently. The charge in respect to last year's bank act, it is replied is entirely in accurate. The main progressive caucus was in favor of extension of the charters for one year only but there was a difference of opinion as to tactics. The Alberta members were in favor of a filibuster to force one-year extension but this was not supported by the main body which favored emphatic statement of the party's view but held that a filibuster, on the eve of prorogation, would not then have found support in the country.

Let Them Go

Although the progressive leader has not yet completed his reply, it is not thought that any attempt will be made to retain the six members within progressives parliamentary organization if they insist on their intention to remain outside. This will probably lead to an independent and probably unexpected development. Of the six, three— Messrs. Garland and Spencer and Miss Macphail—are members of the banking and commerce committee of the house, Messrs. Garland and Spencer taking a prominent part in its activities. If the six members for m a separate group in the house, they would not be entitled, such is the position taken among the main body of progressives, to have three representatives on the banking and commerce committee.

"They cannot be outside the progressive parliamentary party," it was authoritatively stated yesterday, "and at the same time appear on committees with the weight of progressive authority behind them."

The differences in the party, however, it is stated, are differences of parliamentary organization. There is no dispute about the progressive organization in the country.

Reply Sent

Robert Forke, leader of the progressive party, has replied to the six progressives who informed him that they had no intention of further attending progressive party caucuses.

"Whatever interpretation you may have placed on the attitude or action of your colleagues, it is not true that the group has diverged in any respect from the principles for which it has stood from the first."

"We trust," Mr. Forke, concludes, "that further consideration may lead you to the realization that co-operation from without the group can never be as effective for our common purposes as united action with it."

BUILDERS WILL START LOCKOUT ON JULY FIFTH

Most of Building Work Throughout England Will Be Stopped as a Result.

700 000 AFFECTED.

Dispute Settled Four Days Ago, But Ratification Was Refused.

LONDON, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—A national lock-out of 700,000 building operatives involving a stoppage of most of the building work throughout the country, has been fixed by the employers for July 5 as a result of an eleventh-hour hitch in the long continued endeavors to establish peace in this industry.

The negotiations followed by a national ballot of the operatives resulted in the formal signing of terms of settlement by the employers' negotiating committee and representatives of the men only four days ago, but a conference of the employers held in London yesterday refused to endorse the agreement and decided to break off all negotiations and declare a lockout until the strikes and disputes in Liverpool and elsewhere are ended and the national agreement observed. The reply of the operatives to this move is a hint that if the employers do not observe the terms just signed the operatives may strike without awaiting the lockout.

USE HOT WORDS PLATINUM TALK

Technical Phraseology in the Bill, But Argument in Plain English.

BILL IN HOME.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons spent an hour and a quarter yesterday afternoon discussing a measure to define the purity of platinum and then laid the question over for another day without any progress having been made. The same bill was up on Wednesday for a short time and a sharp difference of opinion arose between Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who was piloting the bill, and members of all three parties in the House. When the debate was resumed yesterday the difference of opinion, which concerned the technical phraseology of the bill, was still obtrusively in evidence. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, told Mr. Low he was "hopeless"; and a few moments later Mr. Low replied to a statement of Mr. Meighen's by pounding his desk and declaring "that is not true." Mr. Meighen's view was supported by T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Victoria, Carletin, N.B.); L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants), and others, and in the end Mr. Low asked the committee to "report progress" on the bill and the whole issue was laid over until another day.

THE WEATHER.

According to the almanac this is the longest day of the year, and the first day of Summer. From this on the days will gradually shorten. Last night was much the warmest night to date; the lowest reached was 63 deg. Rainfall last night, .12 of an inch. The annual Normal School excursion, held yesterday, which is almost invariably associated with a rainy day, was favored with good weather. Eighty degrees is the highest point reached up to the present time.—W. P.

Steer Roping Contests Banned at Wembley After Several Hurt.

PROTEST ENTERED.

LONDON, June 21. — (Canadian Press). — Canadian cowboys and riders from the United States will not rope any more wild steers in the Wembley Stadium. Exhibition authorities yesterday announced they had banned the thrilling wild west contests following an appeal from Home Minister Henderson to discontinue this portion of Tex Austin's rodeo.

The steer-roping contests of the rodeo have been held in private since several accidents occurred to both steers and riders during the first few performances. Three steers were killed and a dozen cowboys and cowgirls injured. Adventurous Britons who attempted to emulate their wild west visitors in the rodeo contests suffered broken limbs and numerous bruises, two of them being sent to the hospital.

Promoters of the rodeo have protested to the authorities against the action in banning the contests.

A LONDON MAN WAS OVERCOME BY HEAT

LONDON, Ont., June 21.—(Canadian Press).—Overcome by the heat, which registered 92 degrees in the shade, Andrew Wilson, aged 63, for many years an employee of the G. T. R. car shop, fell into Lily Pond at Queen's Park yesterday afternoon and was drowned. Coroner J. C. Wilson did not deem an inquest necessary. Mr. Wilson resided with his son, M. L. Wilson, a C.P.R. employee, at 857 Dundas Street East, and after dinner he told Mrs. Wilson he would go to the park and sit down. He had been subject to fainting spells, and evidently toppled into the water in one of them. He is survived by his widow, two sons and daughter.

COAL FROM SEA BOTTOM.

First Box of Coal Raised From New Mine—Extends Under Atlantic.

GLACE BAY, N. S., June 21. — (Canadian Press).—The first box of coal was raised at 7.15 o'clock yesterday morning from No. 1B, the Dominion Coal Company's newest and most thoroughly equipped colliery—a colliery costing nearly $3,000,000, having a normal annual capacity of about a million tons, and believed to be "good for a century." No. 1B is exclusively an undersea mine. How far under the Atlantic it will be able to extract coal depends on the development of mine engineering, especially as regards ventilation and haulage. Experts say there is plenty of coal available far beyond the present limits of mining. Officials stated that No. 1B will lessen the cost of production.

MOUNT EVEREST CLIMBERS WERE MET BY DEATH

Disaster Befell the British Expedition on Last Attempt to Reach Top.

WELL EQUIPPED.

Mallory and Ervine Were the Two Victims— Meagre Details Given.

LONDON, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—Disaster has befallen the British expedition which was endeavoring to scale Mount Everest, says the Daily Mail. Two members of the expedition, George Leigh Mallory and A. C. Ervine, were killed on the last attempt to reach the summit. The remainder of the party arrived at their base camp. All of them were well.

The Daily Mail says the Mount Everest Committee has received a telegram from Colonel E. F. Norton, leader of the expedition, dated Pharidzong, Thursday, giving the above details.

Third Expedition.

The present is the third expedition which has failed to reach the summit of Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world, 29,002 feet above the sea level. Everest is in the Himalayas, on the borders of Nepal and Tibet.

On March 27 last a party of thirteen men started out from Darjmeling, British India, for the conquest of the peak. Of the party, six men were veterans of the 1922 attempt. The other seven never before had made an effort to climb the mountain.

It was thought at the time that the expedition was better fortified than either of the two for tackling the great problem before it, as the members were of the opinion that they would be able to take advantage of many things they had learned in previous failures.

Brigadier-General C. G. Bruce was the original leader of the expedition, but in April he was forced to return to India from Tibet because of illness. He was a member of the 1922 expedition, which reached a height of 23,000 feet, or about 6,000 feet below the peak.

STRIKE PETERS OUT IN FIASCO

Situation Clearing Says Stewart, With Only a Few Branches Out.

NO NEW DEFECTIONS.

OTTAWA, June 21. — "The situation is clearing up rapidly," Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster General, stated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, in reply to questions regarding the strike of the postal workers.

"In Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Eastern Quebec, the mails are moving normally," he said. Some of the trains leaving Quebec yesterday morning were slightly undermanned, but the mail was being taken care of. In Montreal many of the men are still out but their positions were being rapidly filled. The acting postmaster general was informed that 500 men had attempted to force their way into the post office in Montreal to obtain employment.

The announcement that the West was not affected by the strike brought applause from the Progressive benches.

At Hamilton the men had returned yesterday yesterday morning and there was a condition of over-manning, but this would be adjusted shortly.

RAILWAY RATES TALK

erations we need stability in our railway policy." Continuing, Mr. Campbell stated that he did not know of a single utility which exercises a greater influence and acdevelopment of a country than does its railways.

Give Them a Free Hand

"The Board of Railway Commissioners should be supreme; the men on the board spend their whole time on the work, are highly paid and experienced," said the speaker. "Carriers should be given a free hand, under the control of the Board and free from Parliamentary influence."

"Last year 200,000 cars of grain were carried across the continent in three months. This vast tonnage moved at rates lower than the American rates and lower than the carriers thought they should receive," Mr. Campbell stated. "There was no semblance of a strike, as our railways are under Parliamentary control, but instead, the carriers put their shoulders to the wheel and enriched this country by millions."

The speaker pointed out the enormous equipment required and the great demands made of the carriers. This enormous equipment required to move the vast tonnage from the West during the congested season, remains largely idle the other nine months of the year. "This is not a healthy condition," he remarked.

"Our railways serve a vast territory and are patronised by a small scattered population. The Canadian Pacific has at present an operating ratio of about 81, while the operating ratio of the American lines in 1922 was 79.39. The reason for the difference is the density of population on the other side, resulting in density of tonnage and tonnage is what supports a railway."

It was shown that in Canada today for every loaded car moving East 100 miles, there is a movement Westbound of an empty car 60 miles.

"This is very expensive indeed," remarked the speaker, "and is one thing which is helping to keep up a high operating ratio such as we have at present."

Mr. Campbell used statistics to compare American and Canadian railway conditions. In the United States there are 460 people per mile of line, the originating tonnage of which is 3,760 tons a mile. In Canada there are 160 people a mile of railway and the originating tonnage last year was 1,340 tons a mile.

"However, we are not overbuilt," remarked the speaker. "We need immigration, the settler for the west and the mechanic for the east." Mr. Campbell stated that this is a young nation, looking forward to large increases in population and it already has the main arteries of its great carrying system in a high degree of efficiency.

Rate Control.

The speaker dealt with the rate control and pointed out the progress along this line accomplished by the Special Freight committee, who this spring laid before the Board of Railway Commissioners a classification of rates for all products.

W. A. Richardson moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, stating that he never heard a more valuable address delivered to the local Manufacturers' Association.

President James Hamilton apologized for the small attendance and made a neat reference to Mr. Campbell's position of honour in the Canadian Manufacturers' Associations.

D. H. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner, who was expected to address the meeting was not able to be present. Robert Hicks was ready to substitute, while S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, the other speaker of the evening, was not called upon.

There were about a dozen present and the President opined that it would be better to save these gentlemen for a real meeting when many would benefit.

CARRIERS HELD A MASS MEETING

TORONTO June 21 (Canadian Press). — Between five hundred and six hundred striking postal employees met at the Labour Temple this morning to await reports from the Dominion executive who announced they had resumed communication with the Government officials at Ottawa.

Annoucement was made that practically all railway mail clerks in the Toronto district had returned to work.

A few postal clerks and letter carriers are reported to have resumed duty this morning at the post office.

Mail Moving.

While postal workers met and paraded to Queen's Park this morning and remained indecisive as to whether they would return to work or not, Toronto lined up at the postal station A to get their mail, if they could. Postmaster Lemon's staff of newly hired help had worked ferociously all night, and a better system was in effect this morning, but nevertheless only the banks and big business houses could obtain their mail.

A real effort had been made to sort mail for handing out to representatives of business houses called for it, but only a comparatively small number received their mail, and then not all of it. Wickets classified according to firm names and street names had long lines waiting before them, enough applicants being admitted to keep the workers going all day. Outside the post office over a thousand were lined up at 10.30 a.m. and it will be impossible for all of these to be served to-day.

MEN RETURNING.

MONTREAL, June 21—(Canadian Press).—Thirty-seven men had returned to work this morning up to 9.15 o'clock, and thirteen returned yesterday, Postmaster Gaudet stated this morning.

The strikers met this morning to hear a reply of the Government to their telegrams of yesterday, asking whether it was true that the Government had offered the postal employees a 1924 wage scale, plus bonus of 1923. No reply had been received up to 9.30, however. It is understood that most of the new employees taken on locally are students who will not want permanent employment.

CHEMONG BRIDGE TO BE INSPECTED BY A DELEGATION

Government Will Be Invited To Send Representatives to Peterborough.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

Instead of going to Ottawa to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals in reference to the proposed Chemong Bridge, the County Council, at yesterday morning's session passed a resolution requesting Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon to bring some member or members of the Government to view the situation as it new exists, at Chemong.

Earlier in the week a communication was read in open Council from the Wentworth County Council soliciting the Council's endorsation of a resolution passed by that body, praying the Government to continue the grant of 10c per day for every inmate in a County Home for the aged and infirm, as formally granted. It was moved by Reeve Curtis of Havelock and seconded by Reeve Strickland of Lakefield that W. H. Bradburn M.P.P., be interviewed regarding the government's action in this matter.

On Tuesday last, Reeves Smithson, Curtis and Pakenham were appointed a committee to deal with the Warden's address. Chairman Smithson presented the committee's report on the Warden's address, yesterday morning, epressing his expectation for a favourable year and assuring the Warden of the support of all members. The committee reported as follows:

The Report

"Your Committee thanks the Warden for his address and assures him that the efforts he is putting forth to further the interests of the County are appreciated, and that he has the cordial support of all the members of the Counell.

"Although the Spring has been somewhat backward, we are hopeful the fine warm weather we are now enjoying will continue and that those engaged in Agriculture will receive a favorable return for their arduous labor.

Your committee also agrees with the Warden in his reference to the system by which the work of the Council is expeditiously and thoroughly carried on, through its various committee, and the reports there from will be appreciated and receive careful consideration.

Your Committee feels that the attention given by this and previous Councils to the leading roads in the County, is bringing satisfactory results and that there is a marked improvement in their condition, well justifying the expenditure made upon them, and the Committee would express its approval of the services rendered by the Road Superintendent and his staff.

Respectfully submitted
Morley Smithson, chairman.

Grants to Schools.

The question of making grants to the Havelock and Ennismore High Schools was disposed of yesterday, after much discussion.

It was moved by Reeves Curtis and Breckenbridge that Havelock High School be granted $600.00 and that Ennismore School receive a similar grant for the year 1924.

In amendment, it was moved by Deputy-Reev Anderson and Reeve R. Scott that $400.00 be granted to Havelock and $200.00 to Ennismore.

This was followed by an amendment to the amendment on the motion of Reeves Rye and Middleton, that no grants be made to either Havelock or Ennismore.

A vote was taken and the amendmen carried.

Council adjourned and went into Committee of the Whole on Finance, with Reeve Duncan Brown in the chair.

The chairman stated in his report that estimates had been pared to the lowest possible amount consistent with absolute necessity. "I am pleased to be able to say," said Reeve Brown, "that the general rate is being lowered one-quarter of a mill on the dollar."

The following is Mr. Brown's report:

To the Members of the Committee:

Gentlemen,—I herewith respectfully present to you the various rates that appear to be necessary to meet the various expenditures from a current standpoint for the current year.

Your different committees have pared the estimates to the lowest possible amount consistent with absolute necessity.

After conferring with the different departments, I am pleased to be able to lower the general rate by one-quarter of a mill on the dollar. Although there has of necessity been abnormal expenditures at the County House of Refuge, yet by careful administration of the Board and extra assistance from the Government the same rate prevails.

The current bridge building rate has, as you are aware, been authorised by the standing committee at the first session.

The county road rates are the same and I believe the County Roads Committee are acting judiciously with the present unsettled mileage.

The Provincial highway rate provides for the Govenment demand for 1922 and 1923, with interest from the time of payment of such until the rates can be collected.

Your schools and highways are requiring more money, but when you consider the policy of the Government that promises more consideration for rural schools and rural roads it must enthuse provision for the same to be made cheerfully.

Submitting the same for your approval.

Duncan Brown, Chairman.
County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, 20th June, 1924.

The chairman's report was adopted.

The Usual Grants.

The Great War Veterans' Association received the usual grant of $150, and the Peterboro Poultry Association granted $25.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind received a grant of $100.

It was recommended by the committee that a by-law be passed at this session, providing for a temporary loan at the bank to meet the claim re Provincial Highway.

The report of the Standing Committee on Finance included a grant of $200 to the Townshin of Galway, to be expended on the Galway boundary road, on condition that Victoria expend a like sum on such road and also thatr the Government be appealed to for a grant.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH PICARD

Was Connected With Clothing Firm of H. LeBrun and Company.

A death that came as a shock to the entire community occurred yesterday afternoon, when Louis J. Picard, of 320 Frederick avenue, passed away suddenly. The deceased, who was a man in the prime of life, forty-seven years of age was in apparent good health up to Tuesday afternoon of this week, when about three o'clock he suffered a stroke, from which he never recovered. A second severe seizure occurred yester day afternoon.

The late Mr. Picard was born in Peterboro, and lived here all his life. He was connected from boyhood with the clothing form of H. LeBrun and Company, managed by his father for many years, and, during the past few years, since his father's retirement from active business life, has owned and managed the establishment. He was an enthusiastic patron of sports of all kinds, being an athlete of some prominence in his younger years, and was a member, at the time of his death, of the executive of the Peterboro Baseball Association.

He was well known and highly respected throughout the entire community and the district. His genial good nature, his generous disposition, his patronage at all times of clean sport, and his kindly manners, made 'Joe' Picard a popular member of any gathering, and he will be sadly missed by a host of warm friends. He was a devoted husband and father, and leaves behind him a family of bright sons and daughters. A sad feature of the sudden taking away of the deceased is the fact that his father is in indifferent health, having suffered a seizure of a similar sort some months ago.

The late Mr. Picard is survived by his heart-broken wife, three sons: Rudolph, Cleophas and Paul, and two daughters: Phyllis and Adell, all at home. His father and mother also survive, with three brothers and three sisters: Alphonse of New York, Leo of Flint, Michigan, and Euclid of Peterboro; Sister Marie of the Community of the Sisters of St. Joseph, at the St. Joseph Convent in Saulte Ste. Marie; Mrs. George Pope of Windsor, Ont., and Mrs. Wm. Hickey, of Peterboro. A brother, Captain Romulus E. Picard, fell while engaged in fighting for the Empire in the World War, and another sister died some years ago.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, from his late residence, 320 Frederick Avenue, to St. Peter's Cathedral, with interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

AT LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

LAKEFIELD, June 20.—Mr. J. F. Lillecrap has once more brought forward the question of the bathing house for the young people of the village and also for visitors. There is plenty of water and a very fair place for bathing in Lakefield, but no dressing room. Dwellers on the river road and the owners of boat houses can easily over-ride this difficulty, but tourists and others are compelled to refrain from the joy of swimming. Last year it was almost settled that the matter be dealt with in a manner which would be creditable to a place of Lakefield's size, but at the last moment a cog slipped and the matter was dismissed.

A Special Prize.

At the closing exercises of Bishop Bethune College, Oshawa, held on Tuesday afternoon, a Lakefield girl, Miss Dorothy Langley, received many honors. She passed her matriculation examinations and also was given a special prize for having eight or more commendations, also honors in her primary singing examination. She was also the winner of the cup for the tennis championship for the year, winning the singles, and in company with Miss Betty Bunting, of Port Hope, winning the doubles. Miss Langley, who will return home within the week, is the recipient of many congratulations.

Miss Annie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson, of Mount Julian, was also commended for her good standing in her classes.

Miss Patsy Hidley, daughter of Canon Hidley, and neice of Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, was awarded her music certificate and honors in her elementary examination in theory.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Langley attended the closing exercises, and also Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, of Mount Julian.

Coat of Oil.

The streets have just received their first coat of oil for the season, and the owners of motor cars are trying to evade it as far as possible till it dries. The first coat of oil was put on the village three years ago, and for a day or two was most unpopular. Before the summer was over the housewife and the citizen in general was a genuine booster of the oiled streets.

Tourists Coming.

Cars bearing licence plates of Quebec and American States are becoming fairly numerous on the streets, announcing the opening of the tourist season. The fact is borne in on us also by the advent of the regular daily boat service and the C.P.R. bus making two round trips a day.

STORE DESTROYED IN CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 21. — Fire broke out in the rear of the grocery store of Gordon Barrie at 8.15 last night. It had been smouldering for some time, and almost completely gutted the frame structure at the rear of the store.

The alarm was given by Mr. C. Lattu, who noticed the blaze while coming across the bridge.

The firemen were soon on the job and got it under control.

The building is owned by J. A. Loucks, whose loss is covered by insurance, but Mr. Barrie's loss will be heavy with very little insurance.

STRIKE PETERS OUT

At Windsor there were still some shortage of workers. With the exception of Brantford men in all the smaller Ontario post offices were back.

In Toronto 1400 men were still out. Instructions had been issued to take on more men, while the workers who are out were given until 8 oclock on Saturday morning to return or consider themselves permanently out of the service.

To Protect Men.

That the government is prepared to protect the men who take the place of the striking postal workers, is indicated by a telegram sent by the post office department here to the office at Windsor, Ont.

The department received a telegram from London, Ont., stating that the postmaster at Windsor was complaining of letter carriers in uniform picketting the post office and causing him annoyance. The department telegraphed to him as follows:

"Senior employees remaining on duty who refuse to train new men, will be considered in the same category as strikers and treated accordingly. Police protection is being provided. Help can be obtained from other points. Wire how many men required."

PETERBOROUGH NEXT?

The success of the Belleville celebration which has brought thousands of visitors into the Bay of Quinte city this week, has put thousands of dollars into circulation there, and gives Belleville a vast amount of desirable publicity, is a rebuke to the faint-hearts who declared in connection with a suggested old boys' reunion for Peterborough that such celebrations were hopelessly behind the times.

Belleville has shown that a demonstration of this nature can be put over successfully, and the Examiner ventures the prediction that the old boys' home week planned for Lindsay in July and the Oshawa old boys' reunion in August will both prove that even in 1924 such occasions are welcomed by the community in which they are held, by residents of the surrounding district and by hundreds of former citizens who are glad to come back to the old town at a time when they will meet others like themselves, long exiled.

It is too late to do anything along this line this year, but many citizens would be glad to hear that a reunion is a possibility for next summer.

It is a long time since Peterborough has had a real celebration, and conditions are ripe for an event on even bigger lines than have distinguished similar demonstrations elsewhere.

Peterborough should do it on a big scale, and can if the community spirit of the city is utilized.

ROTARY AND BUSINESS.

One of the outstanding features of the Rotary convention in Toronto was the amount of time devoted to business ethics, the subject being discussed by Rotarians from different sections of the globe.

The cumulative effect of the emphasis placed upon the necessity of decent honesty in business cannot fail to be felt in every community from which the Rotarian delegates came.

The development of the Rotarian principle that men in business should not conduct that business on the basis of getting the last possible cent out of it, but should be satisfied to sell goods for what they are worth, allowing for an honest profit, will mean much to the business world.

All business men cannot be Rotarians, but all business men can follow the Rotarian business ethics—and, indeed, will have to do so if the idea gets abroad, as it will, that a business man who is a Rotarian believes in honest service at a reasonable profit.

Thus the two Rotarian slogans, "He Profits Most Who Serves the Best" and "Service Above Self," are being justified in their application to business.

Men from all over the world, representative of scores of different business and professional connections, meeting to discuss how business can be most fairly conducted, rather than most profitably conducted, furnish a new spectacle and a welcome one in this material age.

A WISE DECISION.

The local postal employees are to be commended upon their decision to return to their positions regardless of what other postal workers elsewhere have done or may do.

Public opinion was not behind the strike, and there was never a possibility of the walk-out being successful.

It was started at a most inauspicious time from a strategic standpoint inasmuch as there are thousands of unemployed who welcomed the opportunity to secure a berth in the postal service.

So far as the letter carriers were concerned, their positions could be filled many times over, and newcomers would quickly learn the routine of the job.

Training postal clerks would, of course, be a different proposition, but not an impossible one, and the public was in a mood to put up with the inconvenience while the necessary experience was being gained by a new force of clerks.

The Government's decision to treat the strikers as permanently out of the service was an important factor in the situation, because it emphasized the fact that there was to be a real fight—and not merely a panic-striken rush to meet the demands of the strikers once it was realized that the postal employees had left their posts.

The local employees have acted wisely in returning to their work—and their example might profitably be followed by strikers in other centres.

ANOTHER RAINBOW.

The Examiner said yesterday that Canada was getting into her stride, and that optimism should be the keynote among Canadians generally in view of the many signs that the slowing down of business will soon be at an end.

The latest rainbow of optimism is furnished from across the line in the announcement that shipments of iron ore down the Great Lakes bound for the steel mills eventually continued on a big scale during May. The total for the month was nearly 6,600,000 tons, almost as much as in May last year.

In fact, from the opening of Great Lakes navigation this spring up to the first of June iron ore shipments were over half a million tons ahead of the corresponding period of 1923.

All this plainly means that the iron and steel leaders expect the slackening of business to be over soon.

Ore is not mined and shipped on a large scale unless buyers are reasonably sure of orders that will enable them to get their money out of the ore they have bought without waiting any length of time.

Producers do not buy materials in large lots if they think a long stretch of dull business is ahead.

Steel leaders, with few exceptions, say they see no reason for current dull times, and they expect early recovery.

Conditions here are much the same as in the United States, and there is a cheerful ring to the announcement that the iron and steel industry is looking for business on a large scale.

The Rotary convention in Toronto is over, but its effects will be felt in many communities in a better spirit of citizenship and in renewed efforts.

LITERACY AND EDUCATION.

In various more or less serious British publications there has recently been some discussion on the relation of free and universal education to citizenship, says Barron's. Are the children who pass through our public schools more law-abiding, better citizens, than they would have been with a less certain system of education? Probably we are right in assuming that the illiterate would not be the better citizen. But are we not attaching too much importance to mere literacy? Are we not assuming rather too much in calling it education? Great Britain comes to the matter with an open mind. Free education was introduced in England in 1871 to replace a highly unsatisfactory system of parish schools. It has been in operation for more than half a century, and it would be a logical mistake to blame certain evidences of lawlessness on the more general capacity to read and write. The labor difficulties, and especially what may be called the communist or insurgent strikes, which have become a feature in English life, are perhaps partly due to the ability to read the wrong things.

It is not generally appreciated that there has been free education in Scotland for something like three hundred years. It was democratic education, for the children of the land-owner, of his tenant farmers and of their plowmen and shepherds all went to the same school. The consequence was a peasantry which was literate but industrious. The ability to read and write, and even to read the Latin classics for recreation, was never incompatible with the humblest employment. Robert Burns is sometimes patronizingly spoken of as a peasant, but he could read Horace in the original with pleasure and hold the plow on his own small farm holding. Literacy, the mere ability to read and write, with nothing else, not even the Shorter Catechism, seems to develop an inferior breed which thinks that it has somehow become too good for honest work. We know the kind, for our cities are full of it.

It is true that England has made matters worse by subsidizing idleness through unemployment doles. It is also true that industrialism, communism and overpopulation in communities like Glasgow have destroyed much of the fine quality of the real education Scots received, something that made them the best stock to breed to or from that America ever imported. Our young gangsters in the cities are literates, to a man. Chicago shows that a university education is no disqualification for crime. We must have literacy, but the business of the country certainly feels that we are confusing it with education, and that we are not getting the education.

THE PREFERENCE DEBATE.

The British Parliament will indulge in a full-dress debate running through two days, beginning tomorrow, on the proposed inter-Imperial preferences suggested by th eImperial Conference last autumn. It is obvious from the prominence given the discus? sion and the quite unusual length of time allotted to it that the British Parliament has no notion of treating the subject with negligence, no matter what the final decision may be. If there is to be a funeral, it will be a first-class funeral.

When we remember that the question before the British House is the granting of preferences to the Overseas Empire—not directly the winning or keeping of any preferences for the home exporters—it becomes plain that this respectful consideration of the question is a compliment to the outlying sections of the Empire. It is because we are supposed to be perturbed that Great Britain takes the matter seriously.

Of course, the truth is that we in Canada are not very much perturbed. It is largely an Australasian, a West Indian and, to some degree, an African question. This being true, we should, perhaps, be a little reticent in Canada about expressing opinions, pro or con. But as Canada inaugurated the policy of preferences and forced them upon the attention of the Empire, we may still have the right to say what we meant by them and to what extent we think they should be further pressed.

* * * *

The first principle—from a Canadian point of view—is that each section of the Empire must be entirely self-governing and self-satisfying in deciding what sort of preferences it is to grant, how far they are to go, and—indeed—whether there are to be any at all or not. There must be no attempt at an agreement which will bind any part of the Empire to grant preferences, for the sake of Imperial unity or any other Empire cause, which that part of the Empire believes to be injurious to its home industry or trade.

If a majority of the present British Parliament, fresh from the people, think that the preferences—or any of them—proposed at the Imperial Conference would work an injury to Great Britain, it is not only their right but their duty to reject them. Nor should there be any resentment overseas at this action. It is directly in line with the basic principle of Imperial preferences.

That principle is that ours is a manufacturing and trading Empire, with different sections in different parts of the world working under far different conditions; and that any policy which bears heavily upon any section of that scattered Empire or stunts its legitimate development, is a positive peril to Imperial unity because it inevitably leads the damaged community to wonder whether British connection pays. It may be that the British Isles are less at liberty to consider questions of this sort because they depend for their wealth and prestige so much upon the Empire as a whole; but the very fact that they are not so free as we are to talk of "cutting the painter" should increase our tolerance toward any reluctance on their part to accept policies which might be profitable to us.

We cannot demand that Great Britain shall give us preferences to her hurt, unless we are ready to give her preferences to our hurt. And that is precisely what we are not ready to do. We in Canada at this moment are indeed, re-considering the whole question of British preferences—the policy we inaugurated—because it looks as if they were seriously damaging some two or three of our local industries. —Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ontario folk call Toronto "Hog Town" sometimes, but they are always a little proud of the way the Queen City arises to the occasion when such events as the Rotary convention are to the fore.

Fishing is reported good along the Kawartha chain. That means a return trip by many of the visitors who are getting their complement these days.

Mr. Murdock used picturesque language when talking to the postal strikers, but he left no doubt as to what he meant. And it was ust that kind of a message that was needed.

A THOUGHT

HOME SOIL.

So this is where I used to live!
I wander down the village street
And byways that for many years
Have missed the echo of my feet.

Now, cold, gray pavings hide the paths
That once were carpeted with pine,
And grinding trolleys have replaced
That quaint, old-fashioned stage coach line.

Where is the fountain at the square
Where faithful beasts of burden drank?
Where is the old frame city hall
That served for court and jail and bank?

Where is the little green-roofed house,
The tiny home where I was born?
Where are the gay red hollyhocks
That edged our waving field of corn?

Familiar scenes that are no more,
For village is to city grown.
Ah, never foreign soil as strange
As home soil once so dearly known.

—Beatrice Ashton Vandegrift.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 21.—Trading in cattle at the Union Stock Yards this week flattened out perceptibly except in the exporters and the choicest of the butchers' cattle. Receipts were not heavy, being less than 6,000 for the four days, but there was a marked apathy among the packers in their purchases and this made the market dull. Two firms were buying for export this week and they were encouraged by higher cables from the Old Country. This class of cattle made easily steady prices and in general were a little higher than a week ago. The total taken for overseas was over 1,200 head and for a real top quality bunch $8.75 a cwt. was paid.

The average for good quality steers, however, was not better than $8 a cwt. and heifers about $7.50. At the tail end of the week odds and ends of steers and heifers were bought from $7 to $7.50, but these will be yarded till next week. The weather has been favourbale to holding back stall fed cattle, but commission men expect next week to see the finish of them this season. Exporters will be in the market for all that come forward and the business now built up is expected to take care of about 100,000 Canadian cattle a year.

The retail beef trade is not good and this has accounted for the inactivity of packers. The only active demand has been for the high class butchers from 900 to 1,100 lbs. each. For the choice of these the price has been around $8 a cwt. and shows no weakness. For others with less quality prices have ruled easier and the average would show a drop of 25 cents a cwt. Good butchers brought about $7.25 and good mediums up to $6.75. Mediums were not much better than $6 and common killers were $5.50 and down to $5.

Grass cows have started to come in and the prices have been cut. A few choice stable ones made $6 and a little over, but the bulk of good cows have sold close to $5. Medium cows are down around $4 and common cows are only good for $3 or a little higher. Bulls have had a fairly good market on lighter offerings. Some choice bulls sold at $6 this week. Export bulls were steady from $4.50 to $5.25 and the few bologna bulls mostly sold around $3.50.

Stockers and feeders have been exceptionally quiet. Farmers are not taking the usual supply, although the grass is said to be good and several loads have had to be nursed along by the specialists and have lost money although prices are very little easier. This springer trade is also not any too good and a load of good Holsteins did not average much better than $80 each. Commission men are not enthused over next week's cattle prospects and are hoping for any better prices. Any large run off the grass will probably lower quotations still further.

The calf market has held quite steady. Good calves are bringing 9½ to 10 cents, and a fancy calf is selling a cent a pound higher. For the bulk of good mediums the price has not gone above 8¾ cents and poor mediums are 6 to 7 cents. Real common calves are selling at 4½ to 5 cents.

Lambs have dropped about a dollar a cwt. for the week and finished 70-lb. lambs are now only good for 16 cents. Light thin lambs are only bringing 11 to 12 cents. Yearlings are steady form 11 to 12 cents, but sheep are easier, especially the heavy kind, which are not wanted much above 3 cents. Nice handyweights are selling around 6 cents.

Hogs have had a fairly firm week with sales in general at $7.75 f.o.b. and $8.25 a cwt. fed and watered. These are the quotes over the week-end and with light deliveries in future steady market is looked for.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—Markets generally continue strong. There is still a fair volume of eggs going into storage but the movement is much lighter than it has been. According to a British market letter dated June 6th the London market is steady but trade is quiet. Imported new-laid descriptions are slightly dearer and in short supply.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 21—(Canadian Press).—The tone of the cash oats was steady yesterday. The flour market was without new feature. A fair business continues in mill feed, and the market for rolled oats was firm. There is a steady trade in baled hay. A fair trade is passing in eggs. Prices for potatoes were well maintained. Prices for butter were down 7-8 cent to 1c per pound.

The undertone to the cheese market is still easy.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, June 21—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday. Sterling demand 4.3938, cables 4.3963.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat averaged lower in prices yesterday, but was rallying at the last. Word of liberal export buying at Winnipeg helped to offset a sharp decline at Liverpool and the breaking of the hot wave in the south-west. Wheat closing quotations here were unsettled at ¼c net lower, to 5-8c advance, July $1.14 5-8 to $1.14 3-4 and September $1.16 3-8 to $1.16½, with corn ¼c off to 1½c gain; oats a shade to ¼c up, and provisions showing 2c to 5 at 7c drop.

With lower temperatures and rains in the south-west and with Liverpool quotations down, the wheat market here underwent a material setback early, then rallied to a little above Thursday's finish, and later fluctuated nervously within the previous range. Much of the demand on the declines came from new buyers, who apparently acted on opinions that the bearish reaction had gone far enough. On the other hand, crop reports from the spring wheat territory were favorable and the harvest of the winter crop was making progress in Kansas as well as in Oklahoma and Texas.

Estimates were current that 1,000,000 bushels of wheat for shipment to Europe had been purchased at Winnipeg. There also was considerable replacement of speculative lines here which had been sold out at recent higher figures. Reports, however, that a big combination of elevator interests had been offered, was an unsettling influence as the day came to an end.

Signs of expansion of shipping demand here for corn brought about higher prices for July and September deliveries, but better weather conditions eased December. The East was said to be after oats.

Commission house selling weakened provisions, lard in particular.

There are upwards of 100,000 people in Canada actively engaged in converting the products of the forest into wealth in some form or other and with the families they represent this means that more than half a million people in the Dominion are dependent on the forest for their living.

The value of the manufactured pulp and paper products alone is Lumber, lath and shingles produced $250,000,000 per year. The pulp and paper companies employ 33,000 men in the mills and pay them each year $40,000,000 in wages. The valug of lumber, lath, and shingles produced in Canada in one year is $150,000,000. If the question had been put to you, would you have figured much more than a quarter of this? When you reckon that the lumber industry proper has an invested capital of $250,000000 employing 55,000 men and paying them $60,000,000 wages, here you have a forest business that reaches the stupendous distribution in Canada of $500,000,000 a year. The security for this annual income is neither mines nor wheat fields nor fisheries, but the only one of the family of resources that is inflammable, viz., the forest.

PORT HOPE'S BIG DAY JULY 1ST

Horse Races, Baseball, Vaudeville Acts, Fireworks.

THREE BRASS BANDS

There is always a big day at Port Hope on July 1st, and this year looks like the biggest ever.

A big field of horses is promised for the races as the purses ($1,200.00) are very attractive.

Three bands have been engaged to supply lots of music, together with a number of vaudeville acts, a league baseball game and a grand display of fireworks at the evening performance.

NEWS FROM KEENE AND THE DISTRICT

KEENE, June 21.—A very pretty wedding took place in Keene Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, when Miss Eleanor McFarlane, only daughter of Mrs. Donald McFarlane of Keene was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert O. Hunter of Port Stanley, Rev. John Archibald, officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Herbert, to the strains of Mendelshons wedding march, played by Miss Brsyce of Keene.

The bride was becomingly attired in her traveling costume of navy poiret twill, over-blouse of white canton crepe, trimmed with Venetian poiret lace. She wore a large black hat and corsage boquet of ophelia roses and lily of the valley. Mr. John McFarlane, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman and Miss Lila Hall as bridesmaid and was attired in peach colored organdie, and wore a corsage boquet of sunset roses.

During the signing of the register, Miss Bryce sang "Oh Fair, O Sweet and Holy," accompanied by Miss Laura McFarlane of Peterboro. The wedding party motored to the home of the bride's mother, where they partook of a dainty buffet luncheon.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, among which was a beautiful silver tea service, a gift of the members ot the Keene Winter School of which she was a member.

At Indian River.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker on Wednesday afternoon at Indian River a quiet but pretty wedding was somenized when their daughter, Rosana Selina Jean, became the bride of Mr. Stanley L. Judge, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Judge of Toronto, Rev. Archibald performing the ceremony.

The bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Stanley Pigins. The bride was becomingly attired in ivory satin with trimmings of seed pearls, wearng the customary veil caught up with orange blossoms, her only ornament being a rope of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Miss Gladys Tucker, who was bridesmaid was dressed in powder blue canton crepe and carried pink carnations.

The little flower girl, Majorie Pigins, niece of the groom, looked very sweet in pink silk and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Mr. Walter Judge, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Durinug the signing of the register Miss Kathleen Judge sweet sang "Because."

Following the ceremony the guests assembled in the dining room and partook of a dainty luncheon. Later in the afternoon the happy couple left for Toronto and other points amid showers of confetti. The bride traveled in a frock of brown flat crepe, with trimmings of sand, with hat and wrap to match. In the near future they will reside at 72 Coleman avenue, East Toronto.

BAYREUTH HOTELS WANT RITZ PRICES

BAYREUTH, Germany, June 21.—(United Press).—The famous Wagnerian Theatre, closed during and since the war, will be opened for a special series of Wagnerian performances on July 22.

The house is already sold out, chiefly for American and British guests, anxious to hear again Parsival and other famous Wagnerian works.

Bayreuth hotel men saw an opportunity to reap a harvest which has been lacking since the war.

He told them in the words of one syllable that they could scarcely expect to ask Ritz prices for village inns.

Moreover he threatened to cable to America that no Americans ought to attend the Wagnerian operas if the hold-up went through.

This sufficed to bring the gold diggers to terms, and they have now agreed to moderate charges for their accommodations.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—(Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday, 165 cattle and calves and 450 hogs.

The better grades of butcher steers were a fair outlet on the cattle market yesterday. Medium variety animals continued generally weak, with butcher cows fully 50 cents lower than last week. Demand for stockers and feeders remain dull.

There was no change in prices on the hog market, with thick smooths ranging from $6.90 to $7, and select bacons from $7.50 to $7.70.

The sheep and lamb market was not established, due to lack of receipts.

FOR 15 YEARS WAS TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA

There is no other remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters that can possibly give such relief to all sufferers from eczema, salt rheum and all other diseases of the blood for the reason that this old and well tried remedy goes right to the seat of the trouble and completely and permanently drives these diseases out of the system by cleansing the blood and making it pure and rich.

Mr. F. W. H. Schultz, Pembroke, Ont., writes: "Having been troubled with eczema for fifteen years, during which time I tried everything I could think of, including doctors, but without getting anything to do me much good I finally decided to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and I was certainly surprised to find that two weeks after I had started to take it I was relieved of my trouble. That was nine months ago, and I have not had a sign of it since. I surely wish to thank you for this wonderful medicine and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from the same trouble as I had."

FASHION DECREES A NEW WAISTLINE

The Straight Beltless Dress Has Departed Again for Other Parts.

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of United Press)

NEW YORK, June 21—(United). 'It's an ill wind that blows no one good'
At least this is so understood(
But when Fashion Winds blow
Changing short skirts to low
There are words we would say if we could!

But consider the poor fashion writer
When skirts grow a little bit tighter
She hops to her keys
Like a monk on trapeze
Changing styles pay her fees
The poor blighter!

The straight, beltless sheath dress which blew in early this year has blown out again, for fashions are as changeable as the winds. The newest gowns that are shown in the smart shops all show some sort of fullness below the knees and many of them show some semblance of a low waistline. The tube-like, sheath gown proved to be unbecoming to most figures. Instead of concealing curves, it tended to reveal them. In other words, women have proven to themselves that they need waistlines, which brings us to the question of "what is a waistline?"

One would naturally infer that a waist-line is the equator line between the underarms and the hips, but, alas, this is not the case! A waist-line may be placed at the hips, at the bending point of the body, at the underarms or at the knees. It is Dame Fashion who settles the location of the waist-line, not the anatomist.

Return To Waist Line.

We began this season with no waist-line whatsoever, with unbroken, straight lines from neck to hem and having found this sausage-like silhouette unsatisfactory, we return to the waist-line that is placed at the hip. The new waist-line may be just a seam which suggests the joining point of blouse and skirt, a huge flat bow placed low on one hip, or a narrow string belt.

Combined with a low waist-line we have fullness introduced into the skirt which takes us away from the strictly tube silhouette. Skirt fullness is achieved by means of circular side panels, posed over a slender foundation, a full tunic front effect, inverted pleat which are left open from the knees to hem and other decorative means.

The Parisian silhouette of the moment is tight-fitting lines to a point below the knees, wih a flaring hemline. Following this mode, three-quarter length coats are introduced, replacing full-length ones. These are worn over frocks which have hem-fullness, the fullness jutting out beneath the three-quarter length coat. Some of the more dressy frocks and three-piece suits have coats of five-length, that is, the coats extend within four or five inches from the bottom of the frock. Even evening wraps in Paris seldom extend the full length of the frock this season.

Fashion Changes.

Vying with the vivid toned evening frocks which have previously been described in fashion articles, comes the chiffon frock of pale tan or flesh shade. Several of the musical comedy shows on Broadway are featuring these flesh-toned frocks with remarkable success. Lady Diana Manners started the vogue by wearing his lovely pinkish-tan shade in "The Miracle" and it was extremely picturesques with her blond coloring. The leading speciality dancer in "Lollipop" dances in tan tulle which verges on a smoke shade. For the blond and light brown-haired person this color will be found extremely flattering.

The batteau neckline which is popular for evening wear is being cut much lower in back than in front. Sometimes the chiffon frock is cut extremely high in front and dips half way to the normal waist-line in the rear.

Sweaters of Tuxedo and slip-on variety are being worn only by young girls in their teens this season the older women preferring sports attire of more fastidious lines. Home-spun suits, made on mannish lines are worn with the hip-length cotton blouse, are popular with tht matrons. Gingham ties in plaid or checked designs are worn with the mannish turn-down collars which accompany the cotton sports blouse. Scarfs of homespun are worn beneath three-quarter length topcoats in muffler effect.

The Middy blouse has probably passed beyond recall, but all of the new slip-on blouses reflect the once-popular middy style.

Simpler footgear comes into vogue as summer advances. Plain pumps and slippers with buckle trims are replacing the many-strapped affairs of previous seasons.

White cotton chamoisette gloves with eyelet embroidery and colored stitchery will be worn with the summery frock in preference to the white silk glove. These have petal cuffs, ruffled cuffs and plain gauntlet cuffs and are conspicious by their embroidery or trim.

NEWS TRENT RIVER AND THE DISTRICT

TRENT RIVER, June 20.—Messrs. Huffman and Allien, of Cleveland, guests at the Cook Cottage, had a lucky day on the river while trolling with Mr. James Cook in his motor launch, bringing home with them four lunge, six pickerel and one bass. One of the pickerel weighed 10 lbs.

Mr. Leo Breen, of Havelock, has purchased two lots east of Rev. J. E. Glover's cottage. Mr. Breen has also bought a motor boat with auto top.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sedgwick, of the Sedgwick House, went to Campbellford Wednesday.

The Sunday School Township convention was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. P. G. Hills, of Cleveland, Ohio, guest at Cedar Isle, landed an 18 lb. lunge on Wednesday while trolling up the river. Another guest at the same resort landed an 8 lb. pickerel.

Mrs. Jefkins, of Toronto, is guest at Cedar Isle.

Mr. Charles Adams, of Toronto, guest at the Sedgwick House, caught a 11 lb. lunge here.

CUMMINS WILL LEAVE MEXICO CITY TO-NIGHT.

MEXICO CITY, June 20. — (United Press).—Owing to a mass of detail in connection with transferring the British archives to the American Embassy, N. Cunard Cummins, British Charge Des Archives, has been granted another day in this country. He will leave to-night on the seven o'clock train for Laredo, where he will arrive at 7.50 a.m. Sunday.

The Mexican Foreign Office says it is untrue that the order expelling the Charge Des Archives, who became personal non grata with the Obregon administration, was withdrawn. The Mexican version of the affair is that Cummins was given time to leave of his own volition, which he is now doing under orders from his Government.

A Quick Change With "Semi-trimmed"

THE MEANING OF "SEMI-TRIMMING."

Note the advantages of the famous "Semi-trimmed" feature of Staunton Wallpapers. The selvage, instead of having to be trimmed by the old, inaccurate, lengthy methods of straightedge, scissors, or knife, is knocked off by simply rapping the ends of the roll on floor or table.

WHY are you going this summer to the little cottage in the woods? For a change.

Good reason, too—and since a change is so beneficial, why not come back to a change.

Before you go, select your new wallpaper for every room in your town home, so that the paperhangers can commence work without delay as soon as you leave. Return to an atmosphere of brightness, freshness and good taste to the enjoyment of yourself, your family and your friends.

The summer cottage, too, can be made far more attractive with new wallpaper that will reflect the healthful charm of Nature in her happiest mood.

Do it with "Semi-trimmed."

Staunton Semi-trimmed Wallpaper provides a better, quicker and less expensive way of doing the work. Your dealer will show you an ample choice of suitable patterns for every purpose in the newest styles.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, tells Wanda that Paul is coming home before the reading of the will, which, as she expects to be Collinge's sole heiress, somewhat mystifies her. Paul arrives unexpectedly and Wanda hates him at once, because he shows plainly that he will not be ruled by her. The will is read—and Wanda learns that she has been disinterited on account of a quarrel she had had with the dead man, and that Paul is the heir. Later that night Paul, going back to the inn where he is staying, hears Wanda speaking at an upstairs window in her bedroom to Clare Garnet, her one friend. She is speaking of Paul and the reading of the will. "I was silly to lose my temper," she says, "but it was such a shock. Of course, the best thing would be to marry him."

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

VIII—"I HATE HIM!"

Mrs. Garnet found Wanda sitting on the side of her bed with red eyes and tremulous lips.

"What does he want me for?" she demanded querulously, when she heard Paul's message. "Why should I come at his beck and call, anyway? I'm not going down."

Mrs. Garnet sighed.

"Is this being tactful, as you promised me you would?" she said reproachfully. "If you want to stay at Grey Chumley——"

Wanda laughed mirthlessly.

"If I want to stay I must hold a candle to the devil, you mean," she interrupted. "Oh, all right; I'll go."

"I should bathe your eyes first," Mrs. Garnet ventured; but Wanda would give no further concession. She went downstairs in her old defiant way, and into the library.

* * *

Paul had finished his tea and was looking at a newspaper; he turned round casually when she entered.

"Mrs. Garnet said you wanted to speak to me," Wanda began.

Paul smiled. "Oh, there was no immediate hurry," he said easily. "I was only wondering what plans you intend to make for yourself."

The color faded in her cheeks.

"Plans?" she faltered. "You mean—oh, you mean about leaving here?"

"Yes."

She came a step nearer to him.

"Why can't I stay? It's a big house, and there will be heaps of room for both of us. I shan't be a worry to you. You need never see me, and I—I love the house."

He laughed as if her appeal amused him.

"Do you? I should not have thought you had it in you to love anything so unresponsive as mere bricks and stone," he said unkindly. "However, that is beside the point. I'm sorry, but it's not possible for you to remain here much longer; certainly not after Mrs. Garnet leaves——"

She broke in eagerly:

"Clare will stay as long as I want her."

He looked at her with cynical eyes.

"As long as you want her? I was rather under the impression that I am master here."

A pained flush dyed her face, and she bit her lip hard to keep back the angry words that rose.

"You are determined not to be friends with me," she said in a low voice.

Paul shrugged his shoulders.

"If the situation had been reversed, and you had inherited my father's wealth, I wonder if you would still have been anxious to be friends with me?" he questioned.

There was a little silence, then she asked with an effort to speak calmly:

"Then how long may I remain?"

"Until you can make some plans for your future. I do not wish to be unkind or unjust. I shall, of course, allow you something. I shall not shirk my responsibilities." His voice was quite friendly, and yet so impartial that it roused her to passionate anger.

"What sort of an allowance do you think you could manage on?" he asked interestedly. "There will be heavy duties, of course, and there are lots of improvements I should like to make about the house and grounds. It will all cost money, so I must go carefully for the first year or two."

Wanda's eyes flashed.

* * * * *

"Your father often told me that his income was nearly forty thousand pounds a year," she protested.

"Which is not any too much for the upkeep of this house, I assure you," Paul said imperturbably. "Besides, there may be other expenses later on which I shall have to meet."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that, of course, I shall get married."

"Oh! She drew a deep breath. "Are you engaged?"

"No."

Wanda smiled suddenly. She had not realized until now, when she was so near to losing it, how deeply she loved Grey Chumley. The mere thought of leaving it made her feel sick, but with the assurance that Paul was not engaged to be married, her courage seemed to return.

She remembered her lightly spoken words to Mrs. Garnet.

"If the only way I can keep the house is by marrying Paul, then I suppose I shall have to marry him."

With sudden impulse she took a step towarsd him and held out her hand.

"Well, we can be friends, can't we?"

Paul looked at her and laughed.

"You are very kind." He just touched her fingers and let them go.

He did not believe in her; he had no sympathy with her; and as she turned to leave him he said casually:

"Then you will make arrangements as quickly as possible?"

She stood still, but did not look round.

"Of course! I am only too anxious not to be a troulbe to you."

"You will not be any trouble to me," Paul answered perfunctorily.

* * * * *

But Wanda's eyes were furious as she crossed the hall in search of Mrs. Garnet; she shut the door with an angry slam, and broke out:

"I hate him! All he cares about

"I hate him! All he cares about is how soon he can get rid of me. Oh, I was a fool, a fool to quarrel with his father."

There was a little gleam in Clare Garnet's eyes, but she said nothing, and Wanda went on:

"He says he is willing to make me an allowance! About two hundred a year, I suppose—after all I have been used to! What does he suppose I can do on two hundred a year?"

* * * * *

Mrs. Garnet smoothed a crease in her black frock.

"My dear Wanda, you blow first hot and then cold," she protested. "Half and hour ago you had made up your mind to marry him. What has happened to make you change your mind?"

"I don't want to marry him. He's nothing but a bully, but he makes a mistake if he things he can bully me. He makes a mistake if he thinks he can turn me out of the house at a moment's notice. Marry him! If it wasn't for Grey Chumley I wouldn't look at him."

Mrs. Garnet smiled as she selected a cigarette from her case and carefully lit it.

"I should think he would be rather a nice sort of person to marry," she said, in her soft voice.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

GRANDADDY FROG GOES SHOPPING

"Where are the boys?" he asked, looking around

Tingalingaling! went the door in Misters Bags 'store as old Granddaddy Frog hopped in.

"Pickles and porcupines!" cried the little fairy storekeeper. "Wherever have you been keeping yourself, Granddaddy? I haven't seen you for a coon's age."

Granddaddy shivered. "Please don't say that word, Mister Bags. I have scratched it out of my frog dictionary. Would you believe it, Ringtail Coon comes and sits at my front door every night, waiting for a chance to gobble me up. If I weren't as old and wise as I am, I would have made a dinner for him long ago. Heigh ho! How's everybody?"

"We're pretty well, thank you, sir," said Nancy and Nick. They liked the old frog gentleman and always did all they could to help him with his shopping.

"That's fine, simply fine," said Granddaddy, taking off his glases and wiping them and putting them on again. "How would you like to help me pick a birthday present for my three grandsons?"

"We'd love to!" said Nancy.

"Well, how would some nice overshoes do?' 'asked Nick. "We've got a lovely lot of nice black shiny ones."

"Overshoes!" boomed Granddaddy in a pleasant voice. "Well, I never thought of that. I guess that would be pretty nice. Their mama certainly would be glad, too, Im sure, for they must track a lot of mud into the house. Are they real nice and shiny?"

"Here they are," said Nick, opening up some boxes and laying three pairs of frog overshoes out on the counter.

"I'll take them," said Granddaddy reaching for his pocketbook. "Wrap 'em up and I'll take 'em along. It's a good thing I know how to walk on three legs."

When the rubbers were wrapped up in a nice neat package, the old frog gentleman hopped away to the place in the mud beside the pond where his grandchildren and their mother lived in a lily-pad house.

In went Granddaddy, as proud as Punch.

"Where are the boys?' 'he asked, looking around. "I havent seen them since the day they were born. That was just one month ago today. This is their birthday and I've brought them each a present."

"Why, Granddaddy!" exclaimed Mrs. Frog. "How absent-minded you are getting! They're out swimming. They never come into the house at all."

"Why not?" demanded the old gentleman frog. "Why don't they ever come into the house, I'd like to know? And why am I getting absent-minded?"

"Because they haven't any legs yet and can't walk,' 'said Mrs. Frog. "They're still little pollywogs and have to stay in the water."

Suddenly Granddaddy thought of his birthday present. Overshoes and no feet to wear them! He blushed all over, so he did.

"Excuse me, I forgot something at the store,' 'he said hastily. "I'll be right back." And before Mrs. Frog could get her breath, he was gone.

He burst into Misters Bags' store and made everybody jump.

"These overshoes are not the right size a tall,' he declared. "You'll have to take 'em all back—and please give me three bags of candy instead."

DAD'S DEN

Of course father wanted a room of his own so he told Mom about it and then she fixed up a place where he'd be quite alone and the family all called it his den.

A desk and a lamp and a fine leather chair was the usual way to begin it. But now, in a week, you should see what is there; what a fine lot of trash there is in it.

The table is covered with marbles and tops and the bookcase is filled up with toys. A kite, from a string on the chandelier drops and the place is a hangout for boys.

For a day it was nice, but it's not any more. To a leather chair sonny's tied Rover. A lot of dad's books are spread out on the floor where the youngster's been looking them over.

Ah, yes, 'tis a den; just a rest room for men and 'twas meant to make father feel glad. But the truth of the matter, mid clutter and clatter, it seems they all use it but dad.

HIGH PEAKS TO BE SCALED

NO MORE WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS Since She Used MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Miss Bertha Charrette, Regina, Sask., writes: "I have had a lot of trouble lately, with what I thought was heart trouble, and after my unusual exertion I always felt sick.

My doctor advised a complete rest and change, but this I was unable to take.

I became interested in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so started taking them. I have now taken three boxes and am so much improved I can go about my daily work without feeling any after ill effects, and have not had any weak or dizzy spells for some time. Your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever taken, and I will gladly recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to any woman who is weak and run down."

FABLES ON HEALTH

WATER FOR THE BABY.

Water, water, everywhere—but how much for the baby?

Mr. Mann of Anytown was sorely perplexed about this as well as many other problems that were really none of his busines. Mrs. Mann continuously reminded him of this. But try to give advice to a proud papa—!

Few people realize the essential part water plays in life. A considerable portion of a baby's body is water and a mother's milk contains 87 per cent. water. To non-water drinkers these statistics should be a lesson that nature demands a liberal water supply.

During the first few days of a baby's life about half an ounce of water should be given about three times a day, but this need not be continued if the baby nurses regularly. Only boiled, and cooled, water should be given, and a small spoon may be used in administering it. Great care should be taken to give no more.

After the 6th mon the child can again be given water and in hot summer months it has been found well to give the child liberal amounts (boiled, of course) between nursings.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

PETERBORO MAN RECEIVES WATCH

Mr. Thomas McKee Accepts New Position in Ottawa.

KINGSTON, June 21.—At a meet inug on Frontenac School this afternoon a very pleasing ceremony was performed when Mr. Thomas McKee, the retiring principal of the School was presented with a suitably engraved and very handsome silver wrist watch by Mr. W. J. C. Allen, secretary of the Board of Education on behalf of the teaching staff and Home and School Club. Principal McKee has been connected with the Frontenac School for the past three years coming to this city from Fenelon Falls, where he was engaged in a similar appointment for two years. He is now leaving to accept an appointment under the Ottawa Board of Education as assistant principal in a continuation school in Higher English and arts. During his stay in this city Mr. McKee has won the highest esteem of all with whom he came in contact, the esteem in which he is held by those with he has been closely connected being evidenced by te presentation this afternoon. He expects to leave the city early n July in order to spend the holidays at Peterboro, his home town, and will take up his new duties in Ottawa early in September, and will take with him the best wishes of a very large circle of friends in this city.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Four tablespoons stewed dried apritomato soup, ½ cup beet green salad with 1 tablespoon diet dressing, 1 broiled filet mignon, asparagus salad (6 stalks) on ½ head lettuce with 1 tablespoon boiled salad dressing, 2 tablsponns strawberry ice, 2 macaroons, 2 tablespoons croutons, 1 gluton roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Remember, there's a difference between "ice" and "ice cream." Of course, you are getting a little forbidden sugar in the ice but no fat.

The average "filet mignon" weighs about 2½ or 3 ounces. The usual collar of bacon or salt pork must be dispensed with for the reducing diet.

Pack the beet greens in small custard cups or any sort of convenient molds and turn out on a bed of cress to serve. Since the reducing diet must be meagre in "good things" it should be made as attractive to the eye as possible.

Four tablespoons stewed dried apricots, 1 cup gluten grits with a sliced banana, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup cream, 4 tablespoons asparagus omelet, 1 nut roll, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup clear tomato soup, ½ cup beet green salad with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 cup cream of mushroom soup, 1 broiled filet mignon, 3 new potatoes in cream sauce, asparagus salad (6 stalks) on ½ head lettuce with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons strawberry ice folded into 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 4 macaroons 4 tablspoons chocolate bread pudding with 1 tablespoon hard sauce, 2 tablespoons croutons 4 toasted bread sticks, 2 graham muffins, 2 tablespoons raspberry preserves, 2 hard rolls, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint white milk.

The Pacific coast has 4,000,000 radio fans, estimates Col. J. F. Dillon, radio supervisor for that district. California alone, he says, has more than 500,000 sets, and with three to a set figuring conservatively, he points to 1,500,000 listeners in that State alone.

Lepers Enjoy Radio.

Station KDKA, Pittsburg, reports it penetrates even to the leper colony on the island of Molokai, Hawaii. Two radio receivers have been installed in the colony, and the first time they were put into use, KFKX, Hastings, Neb., was heard repeating KDKA's program.

Germans Bootlegging.

Germany has her hands full with another kind of bootlegging—in radio. Since there is a tax on the use of receiving sets, the Government has had trouble seeking out amateurs who build their own sets and keep it secret.

Some experienced radio operators can receive two or even three wireless messages at the same time.

Arrangement and beauty of a receiving set should be secondary to its efficiency.

Brazil has granted permission for the construction of four new broadcasting stations there.

It is estimated some 30,000,000 vacuum tubes are in use in this country.

A single conversation over the telephone is said to occupy only one-sixth of the line wires—plenty of room for wired radio!

Wanted to Civilize "Savages."

Radio may be used to civilize the African native, reports Trade Commissioner Richard A. May of Alexandria, Egypt, to the Department of Commerce of U. S. A.

A former Kenya colony official is dickering for three or four broadcasting stations and a loud speaker in every African village, whereby instructions in agriculture, besides music, news and other matter, will be given the natives direct. Messengers are now conveying this information.

Radio in Germany.

About 160 firms are manufacturing radio apparatus in Germany, reports Kurt Hildeshelmer, clerk to the American commercial attache in Zerlin. Two broadcasting stations, one in Berlin and the other in Leipzig, are operating. Others are planned for Hamburg, Munich, Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Nurenberg, Breslau and Koenigberg.

Ice Patrol for Ships.

Canadian Chain.

The transcontinental radio chain across Canada will be completed with the erection of broadcasting stations in Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary. The chain will be operated by the Canadian National Railways.

Ships Start Own Broadcasting.

Ocean liners are adopting the idea of broadcasting concerts and other programs to its passengers.

The French line announces this innovation on the Paris and the France, to start some time in May.

The plan is to broadcast the concerts given in the first-class concert halls to the second and third-class passengers. A microphone and transmitter are to send out the music from the first-class concerts, and receivers will pick it up and send it out through loud speakers for the benefit of the other passengers.

More in Orient.

The Orient is going to get two more wireless broadcasting stations, with the erection of these soon in Sumatra, by the Netherland Indies Government. There is only one high powered station there at present.

FARM NEWS

GOVERNMENT IS INVESTIGATING LOAN PROBLEMS

Agricultural Development Board May Loan Up to 65 Per Cent on Farms.

EXPERT APPRAISAL

TORONTO, June 21 (Canadian Press).—Thorough investigation into the soundness of its farm loan policy, which, in two years, has required $5,760,000 from the public funds, is being investigated by the Ontario Government, and to this end valuators have been commissioned to expertly appraise farm properties, professedly worth $13,300,000, upon which the provincial advances have been made.

The Government is influenced to such a course by the decline in farm values owing to recent depression, this condition dictating that there should be the fullest knowledge of the risks carried if the administration of the loan policy are to avoid losses to the public during the next few years.

Under the terms of the legislation governing it, the agricultural development board of the province may loan up to 65 per cent. of a farms valuation. Such a margin is higher than that upon which any private loan company operates, and may well, in the event of a decline in property value, bring the soundness of the loan into jeopardy, as in the case of interest accruing for two years or so, and making the total amount owing greater than the value of the farm.

FEED MARKETS ARE AS USUAL

Seasonable Depressions and Expansions Only Are Reported This Month.

LITTLE CHANGES.

Millers report a lessened Canadian demand for flour mill by-products which is seasonable, and prices have dropped accordingly. This applies particularly to shorts, which is never in as great a demand as bran during the pasture months. The feeding of the spring crop of young pigs has maintained the demand for middlings and feed flour. Very little accumulation of stocks at the mills is reported owing to exportations, principally to markets of the Eastern States. Other feed concentrates are suffering from this seasonable slump also, and the demand by farmers for feed grain of various kinds is naturally small at this time of the year.

Montreal prices for car lots or mixed car lots of mill feeds, cash ex-track, are reported to be: bran, $23 per ton; shorts, $24; middlings, $30; and feed flour, $37. Toronto prices are reported the same as Montreal, except that in each car there must be a certain percentage of flour and the prices quoted are for delivery to Ontario points.

Gluten feed f.o.b. Cardinal, Ontario Corbyville, Ontario, distillers' dried grain from corn is quoted at $35 to $37.50 per ton, and distillers' dried grain from rye at $25 per ton.

The hay and straw market has changed little during the past month, the export demand having fallen off, and the domestic demand being small as compared to the surplus supplies of hay available for sale. The trouble with marketing this surplus of hay, which is available in all the Eastern Provinces, is that the quality is not suitable to the critical and limited market which has naturally developed owing to the increased use of motor-driven vehicles in the urban centres. Those who still horses in the cities of Canada and the United States want well-cured timothy hay with which to feed them. The market for mixed and clover hay is limited to the requirements of the stockyards in such urban centres, and this demand is naturally not large. The selling prices at Toronto and Montreal per ton on track in car lots for baled hay and straw are reported as follows: At Toronto, good No. 2 timothy, $14.50 to $15; No. 3 timothy, $10 to $13; mixed hay, $10 to $12; wheat or oat straw, $9.50 to $10. At Montreal, No. 2 timothy, $16; No. 3 timothy, $14 to $15; mixed hay, nominal, with little demand; wheat or oat straw, $10. It will be noted that wheat or oat straw is bringing almost as high prices as mixed hay in these markets.

GARDENING MADE EASY.

The Old Hand Worked Garden is Going Out of Fashion.

The hand-worked garden is going out of fashion. It is all right for the town man, but for the land-owning farmer who has tools and teams it is out of date. Why spade when a plow is near at hand! Why use a garden rake when a more efficient cultivating horse-drawn tool is available.

The difficulty of the past has been that the farm garden is small. It is or should be made over, to be longer and narrower, so that horse-drawn tools may be easily used. This applies to the plowing, harrowing and also to the cultivating.

Garden crops can be planted in rows and cultivated in rows even if certain crops run only part way of the row. Even if one end of the garden is put to peas, potatoes, or sweet corn, it is possible to connect wnother crop right to the row. Often two rows can join to a single row; as, for instance, two rows of beets or spinach, or carrots to one row of corn. Each gardener can work out his own individual problem and plant his garden accordingly.

CHICKENS IN DANGER OF ARRESTED GROWTH IN THE HOT WEATHER

Poultry Raisers Should Not Consider Their Labors Ended With the Close of the Hatching Season.

SUMMER SUCCESS.

Bird is Either Made or Marred During This Period—How to Proceed.

MANY poultry raisers consider their labors practically over after the hatching is done and the chicks have been given a good start on the road to maturity. In a sense, this viewpoint is well taken, but more often than not it is a very much mistaken idea. There really is no rest for poultrymen—the successful poultrymen. Every day is a day of labor. There must be no slacking up on the reins—no pulling back in the harness. While there is not the necessity for close attention to details and careful handling of the growing young stock as with the small chicks, nevertheless there is always their comfort and welfare that needs consideration and keeps the poultryman on the job at all times.

It can properly be said that the bird is either made or marred during the summer growing period. By giving the growing chicks the proper care, keeping them growing constantly and quickly every day in the week, right along until maturity, will spell success. On the other hand, negligent, indifferent handling at this time will, more often than not, turn the flock into a bunch of culls, fit for anything but creditable breeders or profitable layers.

Prepare for Hot Weather.

It should be the aim of all poultry raisers therefore to keep the chicks coming right along with steady development, with no setback or standstill at any period of their growth. Failing to supply the chicks' wants or giving proper consideration to them during the hot enervating days of summer, is indeed very likely to bring about the bad results we desire to avoid. Lice multiply rapidly in hot weather; disease is easily bred at this time, and the chicks go off their feed so readily, that it behooves the conscientious poultryman to be on the alert lest he be caught napping.

As the same conditions do not prevail in the different poultry yards, no hard and fast rules can be laid down that will apply to each alike. The varying conditions under which the chicks are raised calls for somewhat different management in many of the cases. So no specific rules can be given. Each individual poultryman must study the conditions under which he must work and his stock must be raised, and make his plans accordingly. However, we can generalize to such extent in these suggestions that considerable benefit will accrue to all.

The question of proper feeding of the growing stock should be given due consideration. So much depends upon the proper rations. And it may be said without any exaggeration that just as much depends upon the feeder as the feed itself. The kinds of feeds to provide will depend upon local conditions, as will the price of the different grains and the kinds available. I have always derived the very best of results by staying with the old reliable corn, wheat and oats, for the hard grains. Good, sound, heavy oats only are selected and fed. If such cannot be obtained it is best to abstain from giving oats at all, for the light oats is mostly hull and has very little food value. As I breed a white chicken I feed yellow corn only until the chicks are three or four months old, and then switch over to white corn. Yellow corn is very beneficial at this time as it aids in establishing the leg color, but if continued longer will also affect the color of the plumage, producing a yellowish or creamy tint. Therefore I substitute white corn for the yellow during the latter part of the growing period, which enables me to get snow-white quills and plumage—absolutely free from the slightest tinge of yellow.

Feed for Growth.

A suitable mash is indispensable in securing proper growth in the maturing chicks. Without it it is doubtful if we could get the bone and frame. Whether to use the dry or moist method of mash feeding is optional with the feeder, for each method has its advocates. And perhaps each produces equally good results. Personally, I prefer a blending of both. I like to keep a dry mash before them at all times, yet I too like to give them a moist mash once a day. It is my opinion that a moist mash has an edge on the strictly dry mash feeding method, in that it gives a little additional growth and hastens maturity to a certain extent. So I have always adhered to the moist mash feeding at noon, and I have always been enabled to get the big, stocky, big boned birds, and also early maturity. There are some, however, who are partial to a strict dry mash feeding, and advocate it strongly. It has its good points, and has one decided advantage: it is a labor saver—a factor to contend with in large flocks. A good mash ration, either wet or dry, consists of the following parts by weight: one part corn meal, one part bran, one part middlings, two parts ground oats, and about ten per cent. beef scraps or ground bone. If buttermilk or skim milk is available to mix the moist mash, so much the better, for either is a valuable food. As long as the chicks relish the ration continue to feed as much as they want. Should they get off their feed for any reason and refuse to partake of as much mash as they really should, vary the ration occasionally or keep it from them a day or two to get their appetites back on edge. We should try to keep them eager for food at all times.

I am a strong advocate of big rations for the growing birds. Some are prone to stunt the rations to a certain extent, for fear the chicks will get too fat. I never entertain this fear with the growing chicks. It is my fixed opinion that a growing bird cannot be overfed no matter how much we give them, so long as they consume all the food thrown to them. Growing, maturing chickens are voracious eaters and their appetites must be appeased by all means if we wish to transform them into big, lusty, profitable layers, breeders and show birds. To stint the ration will not be putting money in the pockets of the poultry breeder. Not by any means. It will just serve to work the other way around, playing both ends against the middle, defeat the very object we are desirous of obtaining. Range raised, growing stock will never get too fat no matter how much food they consume, rest assured of that.

Advantages of Range.

Whenever possible it is advisable to have liberal range for the growing flock, a range covered with grass, alfalfa or clover. When such a range is in close proximity to a corn field the advantage is greater still for the chicks can then also be given the run of the corn field. The corn will furnish both shade and animal food, both of which are essential to the growing chicks in summer. And the chicks benefit the corn in turn by fertilizing the soil. An orchard is another ideal place for the chicks to range. Berry patches, such as raspberries, blackberries, etc., which are tied up out of the chicks' reach, also afford good foraging ground. The chief requisites, however, in summer for the growing birds is a range that will afford green stuff and shade. The chicks will then take care of themselves nicely.

One should be rather observing with the growing flock, to note the condition of the individuals—to see that everything is well and right. In every flock there are certain individuals which do not do so well as the rest for some reason. In such cases we should strive to locate the cause of it and rectify the condition. Often it is due to crowding, preventing the weaker or less robust chicks from getting the proper amount of food. Often too, where young and old chicks are together in one flock, the younger and weaker chicks will be picked on and harrassed, driven from pillar to post, which will mature a nice bunch of stinted, poorly developed birds. Stock of different ages and sizes should not be permitted to run together and fed together. Keep the younger or later hatched ones by themselves, and by all means do not run them on the same ground as the older chicks were raised on, for the ground will have become contaminated by the droppings of the earlier broods and play havoc with the later hatches. The sexes also should be separated as the chicks attain size, for both the cockerels and pullets will do better when such is don .

OLD-FANGLED AND POOR

The Open-minded Farmer Will Tackle a New Idea.

Bark-bound brains and manacled minds are worse enemies of farm profits than middlemen, high freights, Wall Street, or bad weather. The open-minded farmer who isn't afraid to tackle a new idea gets on measurably well. The experiment stations, the agricultural colleges, and the bulletins of the Department of Agriculture are generally right and sound. The man whose mind is so completely in captivity that it can't venture out after a new thought gets no benefit from their findings. A man who is too timid to adopt a new method until it becomes a habit in his community keeps himself scared out of possible profits.

MILLBROOK REEVE HAS PROPOSITION TO HELP SETTLE EQUALIZATION

There Will Never Be Peace in the Counties' Council Until the Question is Disposed Of.

NEED REVALUATION.

Councillors Decided That 15 Per Cent Increase Would Be Excessive—the Record in Figures.

(By ALEX. McGREGOR.)

Reeve Wood of Millbrook says that there will never be peace in the Counties' Council until the yearly dispute over the equalization question is finally disposed of. His suggestion as to the best settlemt is to force the issue squarely and making the cost matter of secondary consideration, use the machinery which has been provided for such purposes and have a revaluation made of the urban and rural properties in the Counties of Durham and Northumberland. Such action has not been taken since 1904.

In the past 20 years the assessed value of the towns and villages has increased while that of the farm property has practically remained stationary. At the same time will the equalized assessment of the townships here raised over the assessed value that of the towns and villages is less by a greater proportion. The farmers claim, too, that their land is assessed at more nearly its actual value than is the urban properties. Alnwick is the only township in the counties in which the equalization is less than the assessment.

Opposition From Cavan.

Deputy-Reeve Robison of Cavan is serving his first year in Counties' Council, although previous to settling in this community about eight years ago, he had had municipal experience in the Sudbury district. He has made a study of the assessment problem and was elected to his present position by the voters of Cavan largely on account of his attitude on the equalization problem.

Mr. Robison's Figures.

Deputy-Reeve Robison went to the Counties' Council knowing exactly what was expected of him, knew exactly what he wanted to do, and when the opportunity came, he made the most of it. He was probably the only member of the equalization committee who was armed with a full set of figures, showing the actual conditions. He moved that the equalization of the towns and villages be increased by 15 per cent., not of the advance in their assessment for a given number of years, but that the increase be based on their total assessed value of last year. His contention was that the percentage of their equalization less than assessment was computed on the total. The motion was voted down, the majority of the committee being of the opinion that such an increase would be excessive.

Assessment and Equalisation.

The assessment and equalization of every municipality in the two counties is as follows

Townships.

The towns and villages are assessed at $11,133,730, and equalized at $6,059,433, 45 per cent., and are equalized at 54½ per cent. of their assessed value.

Deputy-Reeve Robison's figures are taken from the records of 1923 after the Counties' Council had boosted the equalization of the towns and villages by 16 per cent. of the increase in their assessment from 1912 to 1921. With the schedule before them the farmers claim that they have a grievance.

A Little of Everything

The early advertising efforts of all nations appear to commence with a hmmorous stage, says a writer in the Canadian Digest, just as the young salesman on the road thinks that the telling of a good story gets the business.

In time the traveller finds that his good-humored competitor who talks service profits to the dealer gets the orders.

Likewise the advertiser who depends upon humour finds that the competitor who uses practical salesmanship in print gets the business. Of course, humour has its proper place in business; it may be compared to the oil in your motor car, it makes for smoothness in operation but it cannot replace the petrol.

French—Inscription (or epitaph) on a tin of imported sardines: "The oil is guarantee. The fish she is very small."

Russia—"Eggs are cheap to-day."

Wembley — "May I hold your Palm-Olive?"

"Not on your Life-Buoy!"

Canadian—"Parlez-vous francais?"

"Oui Chevrolet coupe."

English—Recently a bus ran into a London jeweller's shop window. Ten minutes later the jeweller put a card in the window, reading:

"We do not sell omnibuses; the one you see in the window is NOT for sale."

The Hub, U.S.A.—'Sale on Furs."

"Big drop on Eggs."

South America—Alongside a huge restaurant was a little Chinese chop suey "joint." The big place put out a gigantic electric sign, "We never close"; the Chinaman hung out a card, "Me wakee too."

Aberdeen—"To let, a good shop in the Jewish section."

Boston, Mass. — "Keep off the grass. If you want to roam, join the Navy."

Japan—"My vinegar is as sour as the spleen of the most diabolical mother-in-law.'

WARM WEATHER AT LAKEFIELD

WEEDS GROW, TOO

LAKEFIELD, June 21.—The warm, showery weather has accomplished a great deal in bringing on the crops, both field and garden. Fall wheat is progressing rapidly, and the spring crops are doing well despite the late seeding. The rains have kept the pastures luxuriant, and the cattle are in good shape.

Two or three times each week there are shipments of calves and lambs from the local stock yards.

Prospects for strawberries are splendid and a very large crop is expected.

Whatever else proves a good crop this season, the weeds are going strong. The garden seeds come up so slowly that many were in despair, but the weed crop is excellent. In a few weeks the children of the public and high schools are going to be free from the restrictions of school life. Could they not aid in a campaign against weeds? The roadsides last year were covered with many weeds which seeded themselves and promise this season to menace crops and gardens.

Fifteen Tons of Milk Go to Cheese Factory In Day From Producers

ORLAND, June 21.—On Monday of this week Cedar Creek Cheese Factory took in 29,750 pounds of milk, just lacking a few pounds of 15 tons.

This enormous amount of milk was produced by 75 patrons, and required the services of four men to convert it into 29 cheese of an average weight of 95 pounds each.

Mr. Horace Way owns and operates the factory, assisted by his son Lisle, who gets his muscle at this work to fit him for his position on the Orland Baseball Team. Mr. R. O. Morrow, of Hilton, is the president and salesman, and Mrs. M. R. Thorne of the same place performs the arduous duties of secretary. There is a butter manufacturing plant in connection with this factory, but on account of the large amount of work in connection Mr. Way is not making butter this year.

CAVAN BARLEY IS PERFORMING

Field Where Barley Grew Last Fall Shows Signs of Producing More.

WHEAT SHOOTING.

CAVAN, June 21.—The fall wheat is commencing to shoot.

Mr. Wm. Pudsy sowed fall wheat on a field where barley was grown last summer. He now notices that barley has sprung up among his wheat and it is headed out. It is something unusual for barley to remain on the ground all winter and not be winter killed.

Mr. S. S. Staples shipped a carload of stock, cows, calves, etc., on Tuesday.

He will harvest the beans and then sow fall wheat on the field.

WE KEEP NO BOARDERS

Out of a Flock of 87 Hens 33 Never Laid an Egg.

We culled 33 hens from a flock of 120. The day we attended the demonstration we got 47 eggs. After culling out 33 hens we still got 47 eggs from the 87 hens.

Many don't believe in this new-fangled culling that our country agent advocates. We wanted to be sure, so we gave those 33 hens a chance. We kept feeding them heavily for egg production, but with all we could do those 33 hens laid no eggs. They were 33 boarders. The rest of the flock kept on laying just as heavily as before. The theory is all right. It has worked out all right every time we tried it since. —W. E. Parver, Ohio.

SQUARE NECKLINE.

The square neckline is very quaint and effective on the picture frock with the close bodice and bouffant skirt.

NEW EFFEOTS.

Berthas and modifications of them, such as epaulets, shoulder ruffles and bib effects, are prominent in the newest dresses for little girls.

PIN TUCKS.

Pin tucks are used as trimming for flannel and serge frocks. They are more practical than pleats and they give much the same effect.

CROP REPORTS IN ALL PARTS

Seeding Completed in All the Provinces and Conditions Are Good.

POTATOES SCARCE.

Maritime Provinces.—Seeding is about completed in the Maritime Provinces, and the demand for clover and grass seeds is about over for the season. Prices have remained steady. A few belated sales of fertilizers are reported in some districts where farmers grow certified potatoes. A close competition to avoid the storing of fertilizers until next season has resulted in general price cutting. In the dairy sections farmers are taking advantage of the recent decline in the price of flour mill by-products to buy bran, shorts and middlings. The feed concentrates market is rather poor. The hay and straw market is reported by correspondents to be dull.

Quebec.—As in the Maritime Provinces, the seeding is about over in the eastern part of the province. The correspondents of these districts reported that, being short of money, and even discouraged by the wet weather, several farmers have cleaned and sown the left-overs of their last year's crop. Owing to the slight advance of the hay and straw market during the past two weeks, the farmers of the southern and western parts of the province, being through with the general seeding, have had opportunity to dispose of their hay and straw. Contrary to the prospects of the excellent start of the meadows as mentioned in our last review, it is reported that the farmers established on low and undrained lands will have only a fair crop of hay unless ideal weather continues. The feed market is rather slow in Quebec, the farmers buying only in small and broken lots, and they seem to prefer mill by-products.

Ontario.—The seeding is said to be completed throughout Ontario, the principal seed on the market now being seed corn. However, it is reported that, although the seed is poor, it is very hard to get. Some farmers of the eastern part of Ontario complain of the scarcity of seed potatoes in their districts. The feed market is reported to be better in Ontario than in the province of Quebec. Owing to the decline in the price of the mill by-products, some farmers of the dairy sections are making provision to carry them over until the harvest season. There is a large supply of hay yet in the province of Ontario, while the hay and straw market continues to be dull.

BLOW YOUR OWN HORN

Every Accomplishment Should Be Made Known.

A farm co-operative that doesn't advertise should not complain if it loses membership and business. Every accomplishment should be made known, not only to all the members but also to all who ought to be members.

We have in mind a co-op elevato that got stuck with a carload of twine because the members didn't learn, until too late, that their elevator was handling twine.

One country farm bureau that has really accomplished wonders suffered a 40 per cent. loss in membership because the officers never advertised their achievements.

Too strong advertising during the organization and promising period, and not enough the rest of the time, is a weak point in farm organization management.

In the United States there are three hundred million hens producing fourteen billion eggs a year.

TENANT FARMER SEARCHING FOR GREENER FIELD

Farming Land on Shares and Living Gypsy Life on Trail.

BAD SYSTEM.

Sometimes Tenants Prosper, But More Often They Are Shoeless.

By ELMER ROESSNER.

HOUSTON, June 21.—An old-fashioned wagon bounces along a Texas road. In the wagon is the father, mother and a host of children. The mother is barefooted; so are the children. Piled in the wagon is bedding, chairs, a plough a crate of chickens, a few cooking utensils, and a trunk.

Behind trail five or six dogs.

It is the family of a tenant farmer of Texas in scarch of greener fields.

* * *

Bush is different from many of the tenant farmers, neighbors say. He diversifies his crops. He fertilizes the ground. But he has the gypsy longings of his brothers.

He is working a farm near Crosby near the Gulf of Mexico. He hasn't been on the place a year.

"I'll do good if I break even this year," he says.

Half for Rent.

Government statistics show that there are 436,033 farms in Texas. Of this number, 232,309 were farmed by tenants. That's more than 53 per cent.

There are probably 5,000,000 tenant farmers and their families in the south.

Estimates differ, but it is probable that one-third of the tenants each year quit their farms and seek better ones.

At the end of the crop season many roads are passable only at reduced speed, so thick are the wagons of tenants.

Crops are usually raised on "halves." The owner supplies the seed and the land. The tenant supplies the work and worry. /Each gets half of the crop.

Bad System.

Sometimes tenants prosper. They are able to buy new clothes for the family, shoes for the wife, and to allow the ever-following herd of dogs to increase.

Then comes one late storm, one vicious attack of the pink boll weevil and privation and want.

Economists declare that the tenant farming system is bad. Tenants seldom fertilize. They seldom improve the property with buildings and better equipment.

"It's not the farmers, it's the system of absentee ownership." H. H. Schute, Department of Agriculture representative here, declares.

* * *

A tired mother and a tired father watch over their visible possessions, not worth a few hundred dollars. Their greater possession is their children, the love of the outdoors and hope of greener fields.

Better Seed—Better Pay

The Higher Grade of Seed Yields More Bushels Per Acre.

I often wondered why Dick Gormley of my vicinity paid $3.50 per bushel for certified seed wheat when he was compelled to sell his harvest through the local elevator along with his neighbors, who planted the ordinary grade. Recently I learned the reason.

In the autumn of 1922, Gormley planted 30 acres of wheat, and the seed cost him $110.12, including freight and hauling. His neighbor, on a farm of the same soil texture, planted 48 acres at a seed cost of $104.

Gormley threshed 622 bushels of fine, plump grain, while his neighbor got 495 bushels, or an average of about 10 bushels per acre. Before it could be marketed, the cleaning mill was used, and 35 bushels of filth, undersized grain, and weed seed removed. Each sold at the price of $2.10 per bushel, and Gormley received $1,200, after saving seed for the following year. His neighbor marketed his entire output for $966

"But the main idea was that my neighbor was cultivating forty-eight acres, and getting returns from only twenty-four, which would not have been the case had he used good seed at planting time," Gormley told me.

"The extra labor on those extra twenty-four acres could have been directed toward some other farm enterprise, at a noticeable saving on fertilizer and time. There is another saving in cleaning and handling the grain, as clean seed for planting means a clean harvest. I notice, also, that grass, following the reaping of certified seed, is free from troublesome weeds, cheat and cockle, which was not formerly the case when ordinary wheat was used.

"The seed costs more, but goes farther, and the extra investment will yield good dividends."—F. R. Cozzens Ohio.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS.

INDIAN RIVER, June 21.—Crops are looking well. A shower would improve them.

Mr. Albert Juby is in Belleville spending a holiday.

The Indian River Farmers' Club are holding a picnic on July 1 on the third line of Otonabee, opposite J. D. O'Leay's. The Club has got a car of shorts and were quickly taken away at $1.25 per cwt.

Mr. John Smith has his residence much improved.

WHEAT CLIMBED HIGHER DURING MONTH OF JUNE

Winnipeg Grain Exchange Showed Increase Every Day But Two or Three.

SURPLUS ABSORBED.

It is Believed That Prices Will Be Carried Still Higher.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—With two or three exceptions, the daily closing wheat prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange have been higher during the first twenty days of June than on the previous day, and a decidedly bullish tendency has been evidenced. July wheat during this period has shown a tremendous bulge of about 17 cents with October, the new crop future, following closely behind. The undertone throughout has been decidedly strong, and the only reactions that have taken place were brought about by heavy profit-taking by "longs," who were content to get out, believing that the advance had been too rapid and that the market was due for a partial reaction. However, the undertone continues strong, and it is the general opinion of the trade, both here and on the American markets, that the day of low prices has gone, not to return for some years at least.

Good Buying.

During this month there has been an excellent class of buying in evidence almost daily, exporters, shippers, millers, "shorts" and commission houses all being quite active at times. At the same time advices from seaboard would appear to indicate that the export sales have not been very heavy, possibly averaging about half a million bushels daily, but mostly Manitobas.

But just what brought about this entire change in market sentiment is somewhat difficult to define, but the manner in which the foreign market has absorbed the big Canadian surplus, together with heavy quantities from other exporting countries, indicates a consumption much larger than was anticipated. European crop news is also somewhat unfavorable, and indications are that the yields will be greatly reduced which must result in larger exportations than during the present season. Coupled with this situation, the United States Government issued a crop report showing a decreased yield in that country of about ninety-three million bushels as compared with last year, or about one hundred and eighty-eight million less than the five-year period.

The Liverpool market, while dragging to some extent, continues to respond to the strength on this side, and is gradually working higher. Local opinion, even at the present levels, continues quite bullish, and it is believed that on all minor recessions, broad, active buyings will develop which will carry prices still higher.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Military Funeral For Corporal Charles Cowain Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20.—The military funeral of the late Corporal Charles Cowain on Thursday afternoon was largely attended. The procession was headed by the Northumberland Regiment Band, followed by the firing party, bearers and mourners. There were about thirty-five men of C Company with the following officers:—Major Bygott, Major Webb (Norwood), Capt. Hyland, Capt. Kelly, Lieut. Montgomery and Lieut. Ellis. The following men of the Company acted as pallbearers:—C.Q.M.S. Johnston, Sergt. C. Oulton, Sergt. S. Lambert, Sergt. Wattering, Sergt. Winstanley and Serg F. Davis.

As the cemetery in which he was buried was several miles out of Campbellford, the band and part of the Company marched to the outskirts of the town then returned, while the firing party went in cars. The last post was sounded at the grave by Private Carmi Runions, then the firing of the guns. Rev. W. Elliott of the Methodist Church, conducted the service at the home on Mill Street, and at the grave, assisted by Rev. G. C. Clarke, of the Anglican Church.

The beautiful flowers were sent by the following friends and societies:—Wreaths from I.O.D.E. and Department of Railways and Canals, and War Memorial Association from Trent River; Pillow, friends from Trent River; Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. P. Shapter, Seymour Women's Institute; Cross, Miss Bessie Diamond; Sheaf, Mr. R. Greenley and Mrs. Payne. Those attending the funeral from a distance were:—Joseph Cowain and daughter of Toronto; Mrs. D. C. Mathews and son of Colborne and Mr. Richard Cowain, of Peterboro.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widowed mother, one brother (Joseph, of Toronto, and three sisters—Mrs. Stirling, of Depeyster, N.Y.; Mrs. Coveney, of Seymour; and Miss Susan at home.

The family have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement.

Musical Festival.

The officers of the Salvation Army are making great preparations for the coming of the Belleville Band on Saturday and Sunday.

On Saturday night there will be a musical festival in their hall at eight o'clock, and a special service of music by the Band and singing on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Both Sunday services will be held in the Regent Theatre. These will be largely attended, as the Belleville Army Band have been heard here before and the people were delighted with their music.

Football Matches.

Christ Church, Campbellford, team will play Quaker Oats team, Peterboro, at Peterboro, on Saturday afternoon, June 21. This will be the first round for the Gordon Cup. The following from Campbellford have been selected to play:—F. Gay, goal; C. Smith and E. Armstrong, backs; Durran, Parrish and Cleverley half backs; F. Osborne, Hawkrigg, Blackwood, Druce and Moore forwards.

On June 28th another game will be played in Campbellford between the home team and the Canadian Woollens team, of Peterboro. This will be the first round for the Peake Cup.

Mr. Fred Coyle, who is working in Toronto, is moving his family, who live on Queen Street, to the city, and will sell his household furniture on Saturday, June 21.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Best, of Kingston, are spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, Hastings Road.

Mrs. A. H. Gledhill, of East Wilton, Maine, U.S., is spending a few weeks at the home of her son, Mr. M. O. H. Gledhill, Canrobert Street.

Miss Cherrie Turner, Queen Street, left Friday noon for Toronto and Parry Sound to spend several weeks. She will spend a few days with Marion Haugh in Toronto, and there will visit her sister, Miss Nelly Turner, of the Public School staff in Parry Sound. Later, they will attend the summer school for a week at the Elgin house, Muskoka, before returning to Campbellford.

The First Form in the in the High School finish their summer examinations on Friday noon. They have been busy at them all week. Those taking a certain percentage will not have to try the Departmental Examinations.

U. S. NATIONAL PARK PLAN SPREADS ABROAD

WASHINGTON, June 21. — (United Press).—The popularity of American national parks has attracted wide attention abroad and in many foreign countries active effort is now being made to preserve regions of especial scenic or historic interest for the national enjoyment.

"One of the most interesting phases of our park work," said Stephen T. Mather, director of the National Park Service, "is to watch the development of the national park idea in foreign countries.

"Sweden already has ten national parks, Switzerland has one, France one, the Argentine Republic one, Italy has two and another in process of formation, and there are also national parks in Australia and New Zealand.

"Reports from Japan describe efforts to organize a national park system there, to consist eventually of eight parks. The Republic of Poland has sought our service information about national park policy and administration in connection with a proposed park in the Carpathian mountains. Recently there was created a national park in Denmark to commemorate the heroic stand of the Danish army in the Battle of Dybbel. Land for this prak was purchased by funds raised through popular subscription."

BEAVER ADVANCED.

Best Price at Closing Day of Auction Was $32.50 For a Skin.

MONTREAL, June 21—(Canadian Press).—Canadian beaver came into its own yesterday afternoon at the last day of the fur auction sales here. The 9,673 beaver pelts sold averaged from 7½ to 10 per cent. higher prices than at the last February sales, the best single price being $32.50. Otter skins touched a high level of $40.

LABOR M.P.'S TO RACE PIGEONS.

LONDON, June 21.—Four Labor members of Parliament have obtained permission to organize a pigeon flight from the House of Commons yard on July 26. A challenge cup will be given to be held by the winners for a year. The destination of the flight will be fixed in turn at various centres of the four constituencies these members represent.

The earliest experiments in weather forecasting with the aid of telegraphic reports were those of the Smithsonian Institution in 1849.

THE POPE KNOWS CANADA

Henri Gagnon Struck in Audience With Knowledge His Holiness Showed.

QUEBEC, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—Henri Gagnon, managing director of Le Soleil, and one of the directors of the Canadian Press, returned yesterday on board the C.P.S. Minnedosa from a two months' trip abroad.

On May 23 Mr. Gagnon had the privilege of a private audience with His Holiness the Pope. "I was struck with the knowledge of Canadian affairs of His Holiness," stated Mr. Gagnon. "And I must tell you that he certainly thinks that Quebec's Catholics are very good ones."

It was the first visit to Rome of Mr. Gagnon since he had been knighted by the Pope. While in the eternal city he had the opportunity, as a director of the Canadian Press, of attending a banquet tendered to Premier Mussolini by over 1,000 Fascisti. "There were one hundred and fifty newspaper men at the affair, and when it was learned that I was a Canadian Press director, I was given a cordial welcome," Mr. Gagnon said.

NO TRACE OF THREE MEN LOST IN FOG

ST. JOHN'S N.F., June 20 (Canadian Press). — No trace has as yet been found of the three men who went adrift yesterday from the Metagama in the fog shortly after a collision with the Italian steamer Clara Camus.

The American coastguard cutter Tampa and other craft are still searching for the missing men.

The Metagama lies at the entrance to the dry dock, her bow being fastened to the deck pier, while she has an anchor out astern.

The ship's pumps gained on the water last night, with the result that she is afloat in shallow water over the mud flats.

JAN. C. SMUTS PARTY WILL RESIGN MONDAY

JOHANNESBURG, June 21. — (United Press). — General Jan C. Smuts, whose party was defeated in the South African elections, will resign Monday, and it is understood that his opponent, Hertzog, will be asked to form a government.

"Gotham" was first applied to an old town in Nottinghamshire, England.

CHURCH HONORS MRS. SINGLETON

Departing Member of St. John's Presented With a Bible.

FRIENDLY BIBLE CLASS.

St. John's Parish Hall was the scene of a particularly happy social gathering on Wednesday night when Miss A. Halliday entertained the members and friends of her class. During the evening Dr. Elagrave, after voicing his pleasure in seeing so many present and alluding to the importance of that branch of the church work and of our privilege in having such a capable and gifted teacher, asked Miss Halliday to accept from her Class, as a slight token of their affection and appreciation, a gold cross and chain. Miss Halliday very kindly thanked the class for their appreciation and thoughtfullness.

Mrs. Vollans then read the following address to Mrs. Singleton, who is leaving shortly to reside at Ottawa:

To Mrs. Singleton:

Dear Friend,—

Having learned of your intended departure from this city, we have gathered heer this evening to bid you "God Speed" and to express in a very feeble manner the loss we shall feel when you have gone.

We have found you a true and loving friend, happy, cheerful and always ready to help in anyway the interest of the Class and its members. We hope you will be happy and successful in your new home and duties. Trusting that the new friends your sunny disposition is sure to make will not crowd out all thoughts of those you are leaving tonight.

As a material expression of our love and goodwill we ask you to accept this Bible as a keepsake, knowing that a diligent perusal of its pages will sustain you in any difficulty you may encounter in this life.

Trusting that we shall meet daily at the "Throne of Grace" and have a joyful reunion in the Heavenly Kingdom.

We are, your loving friends and fellow-members of the Friendly Bible Class—President, Mrs. Pitchford; Vice-President, Mrs. G. F. Collis; Secretary, Mrs. J. Vollans; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Miller.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games, cards and dancing. After a bountiful lunch Miss Wilson gave a humorous reading which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Bugg and Mrs. Singleton enlivened the evening with their singing and Messrs. Stephenson and Goodwin rendered a couple of solos in good style. Miss Bacon, Mrs. Stephenson and Miss Styles, and Mr. H. McFarlane gave valuable service at the piano.

Mrs. S. Winterbottom of Browntown was the winner of the quilt donated as a prize.

After a hearty vote to thanks to their esteemed hostess, Miss Halliday, the company dispersed after singing "God be with you till we meet again", "Auld Lang Syne" and the "National Anthem."

SECRETARY THOMAS WANTS ADVISERS

LONDON June 20 (Canadian Press). — Colonial Secretary J. H. Thomas has announced his intention of surrounding himself with experienced advisors with a view to developing the Empire. He will shortly tell the House of Commons that he has formed a committee "of all parties creeds and classes" to assist him their special mission being Africa. He plans to send a commission to East Africa to help solve the problems there.

BRITISH PROTEST AGAINST THE NEW EXCHANGE BASIS

They Claim That the Expert's Plan Jeopardized by American Scheme.

LONDON, June 21.—(United Press). — Responsible financial quarters here believe the establishment of Germany's proposed note-issuing bank on a gold-exchange basis would be sufficient, in itself, to wreck the entire experts' reparations plan.

Ever since the Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve Bank put forward the suggestion that such an establishment should be effected, there has been a recurring surge of protest in British press, political, and financial circles. The idea has been regarded as an American attempt to substitute New York for London as the financial hub of the world, or an effort of the dollar to oust the pound as the premier medium of international transactions.

On Patriotic Grounds.

Newspaper writers and politicians have tinged their comment with sentimental and patriotic arguments. In their exuberance, they have even gone so far as to declare unequivocally that New York's Wall street does not possess sufficient knowledge, experience or facilities to dethrone London's city. The more sober-minded, unsentimental comment of the bankers themselves qualifies this charge greatly, but agrees basically with that of the other critics.

A tour of authoritative banking houses and expert financial quarters reveals that there is a sound, determined opposition here to the American suggestion as regards the proposed German bank. Establishment on a gold basis, they say, is absolutely right, in that it means foundation with a gold reserve to fall back on. But establishment on a gold-exchange basis, they add, is a horse entirely of another color, a development which would mean substituting actual gold shipments for currency bills of exchange. The great extent to which sterling bills of exchange are used makes this an extremely vital point for the British.

U. S. Has the Gold.

Financiers in London state that, under such a rearrangement a nation would have to make up adverse trade balances by gold shipments. And since the United States holds the bulk of the world's gold reserves, other powers which found themselves short of sufficient actual gold to make up their trade-balance deficiencies, would have to turn to the United States for gold. As a result, it is contended, the dollar's value would continue to mount and the return of other moneys to parity would become increasingly difficult.

These quarters discourage, rather than favor, a more general distribution presently of the gold held by the United States. They prefer letting the American banks become surfeitted with it to a point when Americans will begin buying more foreign securities than they have in the past. They believe this will prove one of the ways of reducing the American gold supply in a manner that will not bring a detrimental and sudden aftermath for the currencies of other countries.

Any development which indicates the United States itself will be called upon to use more of its own gold, is heartily welcomed here. Thus, when the soldiers' bonus bill was passed, London bankers chuckled, believing it must mean a domestic drain on America's gold, however gradual. They believe the bonus will necessitate that eventually the United States Government will have to obtain from domestic sources the money needed to meet the payments, probably by the issue of further Federal Reserve notes backed by gold.

What Inflation Means.

All such issues please Britain's financiers, obviously, in the belief that inflation is thus developed and accelerated. They define inflation as an increase in the units of purchasing medium without a corresponding increase in the volume of purchasable goods. For instance, they observe, given a market requiring 2,000 pairs of shoes within a particular period of time, the price of these shoes is bound to rise if bank-notes become more plentiful while, at the same time, there is not a proportionate increase in the demand for and consequent supply of shoes.

Leading authorities on finance here do not conceal the opinion that inflation in the United States is a thing to be desired for the improvement of the pound sterling and other currencies other than the dollar. That is one of the reasons they prefer to let gold accumulate in America and to await hopefully its greatest possible use by the Americans themselves. And at the same time the city wishes to avoid aiding or abetting any project outside the United States which might lead to an increased foreign demand for America's gold.

The crux of British opposition to the American Advisory Council recommendation rests in this policy of pound self-preservation and defense. Correlative thereto, is a feeling that a Germany equipped with a gold-exchage note-issuing bank would be in a position financially superior to that of other countries, excepting the United States.

YOUNG TORONTO LADY SWALLOWED TAPE WORM

TORONTO, June 21 (Canadian Press). — According to a story in a local paper a Toronto young woman, whose name is not given, recently swallowed a male tape worm sent to her through the mails by flesh-reducing specialists in the United States.

The tape worm was in a capsule.

The "patient" discovered what she had done when another capsule, received in the same letter, was examined.

She had received the "prescription" on sending $25.00 in answer to an advertisement in a United States magazine.

The young lady is recovering.

TWENTY-FIVE OLYMPICS SET SAIL THIS MORNING

MONTREA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Twenty-five athletes who will represent in track and field events in the Olympic Games at Paris next month, sailed from Montreal this morning on board the Montclaire for Liverpool, from where they will proceed to France.

Members of the track team are at present in the Old Country.

The men were accompanied by P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Olympic Committee, and Coach Captain Cornelius.

Dr. A. B. Lamb, chairman of the Quebec branch of the A. A. U. of C., will sail on the Regina on Saturday, and will join the athletes in Paris.

Two eggs recently found in South Dakota and believed to be millions of years old have been placed in a museum.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, June 21. — A meeting of the temperance forces for the East Durham constituency was held in the Town Hall here for organization purposes in view of the plebiscite which may possibly be taken this fall.

The president of the Durham County Association, Mr. Rowe, occupied the chair for the opening preliminaries, and the following officers wert elected:

President, F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope.

Secretary, Rev. R. T. Richards, Cavanville.

Treasurer, Mr. B. Oliver, Port Hope.

Vice-presidents, H. Fulford, Port Hope; H. Lawson, Hope; William Lee, Manvers; T. W. McIndoo, Cavan; G. E. Burnham, Millbrook.

It was decided to have each vice-president appoint a chairman for the polling sub-division which he represents, these men to become members of the county executive.

Messrs. Rowe of Newcastle and Knox of Orono addressed the gathering on the present outlook regarding the temperance situation, and a general discussion followed, among those taking part being Rev. S. T. Tucker, Rev. J. Wilks, Rev. R. T. Richards, and Messrs. Fulford and Skitch of Port Hope.

Further action was postponed until the complete executive can be called together, when a definite plan for the coming campaign will be prepared. This will be entered upon with vigour and enthusiasm as soon as the date for the proposed plebiscite is announced by the Government.

A CYCLOPS BABY WAS BORN TO RUSSIAN WOMAN

BERLIN, June 21. — (United Press).—The physiological institute of the University of Twer (Russia), has among its collection of medical rareties a "Cyclops baby" preserved in alcohol.

However, had it not been for the negligence of a terror-stricken midwife, this creature could now be walking as a living cyclop among the Russian peasants, so Professor Woskresenski, leader of the institute declares.

According to Wokresenski, the baby was born sound. The superstitious midwife however, seeing the child had only one eye in the middle of its brow ran away and the new born died.

AMAMITE THREW BOMB THAT TOOK THREE LIVES

CANTON, China, June 21. United Press. — An Amamite, who killed three Frenchmen and wounded ten others by hurling into the Victoria Hotel a bomb intended for Governor General Merlin of French Indo-China, was sought in vain by the Cantonese police yesterday and today.

The bomb was thrown into the dining room during an official dinner about ten o'clock Thursday night. The Governor-General was uninjured. The assassin jumped into the river and escaped.

ENRICH YOUR BLOOD WITH THIS NEWER FORM OF IRON

For many years physicians and chemists experimented to produce a newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood, because they realized that the old metallic irons often blackened the teeth and upset the stomach. Their examinations proved that three people out of every four were deficient in iron content in the blood and that thousands were weak, sick, nervous, ailing and run-down, and suffering from all sorts of alarming symptoms, when as a matter of fact their trouble was all due to iron starvation of the blood. At last they discovered this newer form of iron, like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples in highly concentrated form. It quickly helps put strength into your muscles and color into your cheeks. Get your doctor to take your red blood count today, then take this newer form of iron known as Nuxated Iron for a few weeks and watch your red blood corpuscles increase; see how much purer and richer your blood becomes; how much stronger and better you feel; what difference it makes in your nerves. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. Your money will be refunded if you do not obtain satisfactory results. In tablet form only. At all druggists.

M. Herriot will proceed to Brussels Monday to discuss his week-end conversations with Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Hymans of Belgium, he will be accompanied by the secretarys and interpreter only on his visit to England.

ROTARY ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

TORONTO, June 20.— Everett W. Hill, of Oklahoma City, Okla, was to-day elected President of Rotary International at the convention here. The place of next year's convention will be decided to-morrow, and the first, second and third vice-presidents of the organization also chosen.

The amicable relations between Canaad and the United States were stressed by Hon. Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, who spoke at the Rotary convention here to-day.

"Only a few miles from where you sit there is an International boundary line—one of the longest in the world. For more than a hundred years no soldier has ever patrolled it."

He also said that if Rotarians could become the instrument of effecting complete co-ordination between city and country, farmers and business, it would be a mighty accomplishment for good. He thought they might do this, and pointed out thier watchword, 'Co-operation.'

C.N.C. CAR INSPECTOR WAS CRUSHED TO DEATH

SARNIA, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—William Dagg, 60 a veteran, Canadian National Railway car inspector was crushed to death, in local Railway yards at noon to-day, when he accidentally stepped between two cars during switching operations, no one witnessed fatality. Coroner Dr. Bradley has ordered an inquest.

RIFLE DISCHARGED AND YOUNG BOY WAS KILLED

BRAMPTON, June 21. — John Bolton Hansford, aged 17, was found dying in his father's garage, from a bullet wound from a .22 calibre rifle which he was handling. He died without recovering consciousness.

The coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

TOKIO, June 21.—Express trains on the principal lines of the imperial government railways have been equipped with libraries for passengers. In view of the large number of foreigners using these lines, the libraries will include English books.

GERMANS LOOK FOR THE AMERICAN CASH

BERLIN, June 21. — (United Press).—German banking houses are looking forward to a considerable demand for German investments for American capital after the reparations problem is settled.

In this connection it became known today that the great reparations expert, State Secretary Carl Bergmann, will become on July 1 a partner in the old Frankfurt banking house of Lazard Speyer-Ellissen, which has close associations with the New York house of Speyer & Co.

Bergmann, well known in America, was long connected with the Deutsche Bank, but since 1919 he has been one of the main supports of the various cabinets in connection with reparations and financial negotiations in Versailles, Brussels, Spaa, London, Cannes, Genoa and Paris.

Finch Woman Doctored Fourteen Years for Stomach Trouble; PHOSPHO-COD Gave Complete Relief in Fourteen Days, She Says

Mrs. Andrew Ross living near Finch says: "I have suffered and doctored for over fourteen years with stomach trouble and have taken medicines of all kinds, but without results, only while I was taking them. While I was visiting in Ottawa in April, three of the family where I visited were taking PHOSPHO-COD, and as they claimed to be receiving such good results from it I got a bottle and started on it. In two days I was surprised to find that I was eating and sleeping better."

"The Tenth Day I Ate Sourcrout."

"Ten days after I started to use PHOSPHO-COD we had sourcrout and it looked so good I ate quite a mess and expected to pay the penalty with a bad case of indigestion, but I went to bed and slept all night and never had a pain. From that day to this I have eaten what I wanted at my meals and don't even have any gas or bloating."

"Before Had To Live on Liquid Foods."

"Before I started to use PHOSPHO-COD I could not eat any solid food without having severe burning, smarting pains in the pit of my stomach, I was bloated all the time with gas. I couldn't get a good night's rest at no time because the belching, smothering and heartburn would wake me up from the soundest sleep and I was weak, run down and nervous, and, in fact, life was most unpleasant."

"Changed From One Of The Most Miserable To One Of The Most Happy Women."

"Since using PHOSPHO-COD I have changed from one of the most miserable to one of the most happy women. After doctoring and trying every thing that I heard of for nearly fourteen years, your PHOSPHO-COD is the only thing that has ever helped me. Think of it. Do I recommend it? Let people ask me personally if they have any doubt about it."

A New Marvel Medicine.

No achievement in the history of all the proprietary medicines parallels the record of PHOSPHO-COD, the New Marvel Medicine. Never before has the success been so rapid, so definite, so sweeping.

PHOSPHO-COD is for sale in Peterborough by Bond's Drug Store; Campbellford, Fred. Wood; Warsaw, A. F. Choate; Norwood, K. G. Thompson; Marmora, J. P. Martin; Millbrook, Henry A. MR. G. N. GORDON ON THE STRIKE

Reviews Efforts Made to Deal With the Postal Workers.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., who got in from Ottawa this morning said the postal strike was one of the mistakes made chiefly through political partisanship of certain Toronto and Montreal executive officers.

According to Mr. Gordon, the Civil Service Commission, which was appointed by the Borden Government, is the body which fixes, and revises salaries and classifies employees.

The Government asked the officials of the Postal Workers' Unions to let the matter stand until all salaries of civil servants were revised, and then the whole question relating to the postal service could be dealt with to see if the Postal Workers were fairly treated. Instead of that, certain executive members of the Union, declares Mr. Gordon, stirred up a fair share of the trouble, came to Ottawa and threatened strike unless an immediate settlement was made of all their demands.

Mr. Gordon further said that the executive officers of the Postal Workers' Union refused to consent to allow matters to stand as they were, even with the bonus being continued, until the final settlement of the last of the Civil Service employees adjustment, which the Commission is working on at the present time, with the result that everyone who tried to deal with them lost patience at their arbitrary conduct and their refusal to negotiate.

The result would be, intimated Mr. Gordon, that a discussion would be invited, to see if there could not be an understanding which would be satisfactory to all parties, and Mr. Gordon said that the conduct of Mr. Meighen and Sir Henry Drayton, in declaring that the Civil Service Commission was the body authorized to fix salaries and grade the different classifications, indicated the Official Opposition stood behind the Government in recognizing the Civil Service Commission as the body authorized to decide the matter.

Mr. Gordon said he had several times discussed with the Minister of Labor and the Acting Postmaster-General, terms of settlement of this trouble while it was threatening and pending and he felt that every effort that could be reasonably made, was offered to the Postal Employees' Officials. The Government felt, as many do, that workers had a perfect right to organize for the purpose of bettering their condition of employment and of obtaining reasonable and fair wages, and the fact that the Union officials were met and conferred with, indicated that the Government is willing to recognize the Unions.

The final adjustment of the matter, Mr. Gordon said, he hoped would be satisfactory to the men, and that they would feel that they been treated, not only justly, but generously.

The pension scale arranged is far more favorable than it has ever been before, and if the Parliamentary committee on making the recommendations, carries out what it is expected they will do, then a person in the Civil Service, after twenty years' service, will be obtaining practically his whole salary, by way of pension.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT GEORGE STREET

Flower Service in Morning and Masonic Service at Night.

Both services to-morrow will be of unusual interest in George Street Church. In the morning, the annual Flower Service of the Sunday schools will be held. Members of the schools will assemble at 10.30 in the school room and march into the church bringing their floral offerings with them. Special choruses by the school will feature the service, and Mr. Reg Cuffe will give a short address.

In the evening, the service will be Masonic in character, the centre seats being reserved for the members of Corinthian, Peterboro and Royal Arthur Lodges, who will attend in a body. Mr. Young will preach.

The choir will feature the service of song throughout the day. Soloists for the day are Dorothy Allan Park, Mrs. J. H. Renwick, Charles Thorpe, A. V. Lillow and Jock Renwick. At the evening service, the Scottish Rite Male Quartette, consisting of Messrs Park, Mortlet, Carlyle and Brown, will sing.

All are invited to join in worship at these services, and those who attend are requested to assist the ushers by coming as early as may be convenient.

OPERA AMERICANIZES HER

Municipal opera in St. Louis has Americanized Violet Wilson, 19-year-old London girl. After a year and a half in this country, she has obtained a place in the chorus of St. Louis Opera Company. Now, she declares, she is in America to say.

PARK ST. CHURCH WELCOME PASTOR

Official Reception to Rev. Norman R. McLeod on Taking New Charge.

Last evening, in Park Street Baptist church, an official reception from the congregation and brother ministers of the city was tendered the new pastor, Rev. Norman R. McLeod, formerly of Shenstone Memorial Church, Brantford. Ministers present, all of whom extended addresses of welcome to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod and their family, included Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D. of Murray street Baptist church, Rev. W. R. Edgar of Gilmour Memorial church Rev. Jas. Gordon of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon of Knox church and Rev Jas. D. Richardson of St. James' Methodist church.

Rev. Mr. McLeod acknowledged the speeches of welcome in a few appropriate words, after which the assembly adjourned to the basement of the church, where refreshments were served by the ladies and an enjoyable programme given. Those taking part were Messrs. W. H. Moore and M. Dunkley, in a vocal duett, W. Townsend and Walter Townsend, in a piano and saxaphone duett, Walter Townsend in an instrumental selection, and a male quartette of vocal music by Messrs. W. H. Moore, M. Dunkley, B. Robinson, and A. Thompson.

CENTRAL SCHOOL HELD THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Central School held yesterday afternoon in Victoria Park, was a great success. There was an attendance of over seven hundred people including parents, teachers and children. Each pupil was given an ice-cream cone by the Central Home and School Association, and had the privilege of buying more, if they so desired. Other bountiful refreshments were supplied by the mothers, and judging by the quantity consumed, no one went away hungry.

The afternoon's entertainment included an excellent programme of sports, in charge of the teachers, consisting of various races and a short baseball game between the Prince of Wales and Central school teams, won by the latter. The winners in the different events were presented with ribbon badges.

Visitors who were heartily welcomed were Mr. R. F. Downey, former principal of the school, and Mrs Downey. A great spirit of co-operation was noticeable among all those assisting, and the teachers, students parents and the Home and School Association are to be congratulated on the success of the picnic.

AT KNOX TO-MORROW.

The church school will meet at 9.45 a.m. At 11 a.m., the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed. Our morning thoughts will dwell upon the measurement of Love—if Love can be measured! Can it? And how?

In the evening the service will be of special interest to the young people. We shall ask a spring time question: "Are you in Love?"

Have you seen "Nature's second sun?" The great Disraeli said "We are all born for love.....It is the principle of existence, and its only end."

Moore: "But there's nothing half so sweet in life, as love's young dream." Are you dreaming.

Longfellow: "O, there is nothing holier in this life of ours, than the first consciousness of love,—the first fluttering of its silken wings."

But "Love has a tide!" declares Helen Hunt, and another confesses in grief:

"I cannot love as I have loved,
And yet I know not why;
It is the one great woe of life
To feel all feeling die."
Are you missing the tide?

At 8 p.m. Mr. Peaker will give an organ recital at which he will be assisted by Dorothy Allan Park. Mr. Peaker will make brief but interesting and informing comment on the organ music rendered.

FILIPINO STRIKE IS STILL RAGING

Five New Plantations on the Island of Hawaii Went Out on Strike To-day.

HONOLULU, June 1. The strike of the Filipino plantation workers spread to five new plantations on the Island of Hawaii to-day, scores of laborers throwing down their tools. They are demanding that their present wages be doubled.

Three thousand laborers are on strike on the island of Oahu, most of them having been idle since the month of April, when the strike was called on the Island of Hawaii.

About 26,000 are idle.

Pablo Manlapit, Filipino labor leader, who organized the strike, has predicted that the walkout will be 100 per cent. effective among the Filipino and that many Japanese will join the strikers.

The men now get one dollar per day, and want two dollars. The sugar plantations are the most severely affected by the strike.

EXTEND POWERS OF INSPECTOR

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press).—An extension of the powers of the proposed inspector general of banks was proposed by J. T. Shaw, Independent, Calgary West, in the Commons' banking and commerce committee yesterday. It is that the inspector general if he found the capital of a bank to be impaired, should have the power to assess the shareholders to restore the capital.

"At first blush," said Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, "the proposal appears to have some merit." However, owing to the late date reached in the session, he thought it better to leave it over to see what the experience of the inspector general might suggest.

It was decided to accept notice of Mr. Shaw's amendment, but in the meantime the government proposals on bank inspection are to be reported to the house.

NORMAL SCHOOL HELD THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC

The sixteenth annual outing of the Peterboro Normal School was held yesterday, and contrary to general expectations, those attending the affair arrived home without the usual springing. The rain which is a well-known accompaniment to Normal School outings did not materialize yesterday, although the sky threatened to overflow several times. This is the third or fourth time within the memory of Normal School adherents when a consistently dry day greeted their annual festivity.

The party, about two hundred and fifty strong, went by way of the steamer 'Stoney Lake' to Burleigh Falls, where a stop of about an hour was made, returning home at half-past seven o'clock last evening.

CHEMONG I.O.F. SOCIAL EVENING BIG SUCCESS

A large number of members and friends spent a enjoyable evening at the home of Camp. and Bros. Chandler's on Thursday evening. The ladies played the gentlemen baseball the later winning by two runs. A Fish Pond being arranged by Camp. Chandler, which caused lots of fun and amusement for both children and adults who fished freely and received big catches. After the amusements dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and a very enjoyablee evening was brought to a close by the Chief Ranger, Bro. J. Cooper, thanking Camp and Bro. Chandler for their kindness in using their home.

WAR VETERAN LADIES HELD SOCIAL EVENING

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. held a social evening last night, in honor of a member, Mrs. B. Singleton, who leaves shortly to reside in Ottawa. The gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Dainton, 625 Aylmer street, and proved to be a very jolly affair. During the evening, a presentation from the Auxiliary of a silver mesh bag was made to Mrs. Singleton, with an address read by the president, Mrs. R. J. Devey. The committee in charge of arrangements for the evening was composed of Mrs. R. Bugg, Mrs. H. Johnson and Mrs. A. Clark.

"BOY OF MINE" TOO GOOD TO MISS.

Many photoplays of merit have been screened in Peterborough, but it is doubtful if a more wholesome and entertaining production than Booth Tarkington's "Boy of Mine" has been seen locally in many months. Its appeal is universal—a vital story of the modern home—it should be seen by everyone; and we take this method of calling your attention to the fact that it will be screened to-night for the last time at the Royal.

HOME WAS BURNED AT CAMPBELLFORD

Overheated Pipes Said to Have Been the Cause —Personals.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20.—Mrs. George Barnum, Front Street, received word that the house owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Reid, of Belleville, was burned to the ground on Wednesday morning about nine o'clock.

Mrs. Reid, who was Miss Tina Arnold, and who lived in Campbellford for years, was upstairs doing some work, and when she came down the house was on fire and full of smoke.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that the pipes of the range caught fire.

The house was completely destroyed but some of the contents were saved. Mr. and Mrs. Reid lived near the cemetery, and have a dairy. Mrs. Reid was alone, her husband having gone to the city with milk. Mrs. Reid is a sister of Mrs. Barnum, and also of Mrs. George Webber.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barnum, Front Street, announce the engagement of their second daughter, Carrie M., to Mr. Cecil McLean, formerly of Lindsay, but now cheesemaker at Burnbrae. The wedding will take place the latter part of June.

General News.

Born.—In Campbellford, on Wednesday, June 18, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazer, Alma Street, a son.

Mrs. Fred Lang, Queen Street, had the misfortune to burn her left arm badly on Wednesday afternoon. She had been doing up some fruit and was wiping off the bottles after they were filled, and as she lifted one the bottom fell out and the hot fruit went over her arm. She, with Mrs. Alex. Hall, a neighbor, attended to it under the doctor's direction, but she is suffering a lot from the pain, as it is burned from the elbow to the hand.

Mrs. Jean Weatherson, of Warkworth, is visiting at the Scott home, near Meyersburg.

Mr. Jack Free has accepted a position in the power-house at Healey Falls, and began duty the first of the week.

Mrs. George W. Lucy and young son, Garry Street, left on Tuesday for North Bay to spend a month with her mother and brother.

Miss King, of Lindsay, is spending a few days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hore, Grand Road, and also friends at Trent Bridge.

Mrs. David Simpson and family, of Brighton, motored to Campbellford, and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davidson, Mill Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carnalian, of Toronto, who have been visiting in Belleville, motored to Campbellford on Thursday and will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weston, Rear Street, and will renew old acquaintances in town.

DISTRIBUTION BILL.

Ontario is Only Stumbling Block in the Dominion, It Is Said.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press)—Ontario is still the chief stumbling block to completion of the re-distribution bill. Quebec is now said to have been agreed upon, including the Island of Montreal which is to have thirteen members. The western provinces are pretty well settled, and no serious difficulty is anticipated in the maritime provinces. In Ontario, however, the schedules are said to be in an "embryonic" state. It is still expected to bring in a bill at the present session; but it is possible that differences in Ontario may make that impossible.

GROWING with the Dominion, promoting and encouraging every permanent, progressive pursuit in industry, agriculture and commerce, The Royal Bank of Canada has expanded from a modest bank with assets of $739,000 in 1869 to its outstanding position of today with $500,000,000 in resources.

PRESENT SCHOOL GRANT TOO SMALL

To Operate Under Old Regulations For One Year Longer.

TORONTO, June 21.—(Canadian Press). — The announcement of a year's postponement of the inauguration of the Provincial Government's proposed new system of distribution of special rural school grants was issued from the Department of Education at Parliament Buildings yesterday. Instead of abolishing the old regulations governing the disbursements of this fund for the coming school year, the Department now proposes to operate under them one year longer. The legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature sanctioned a change from the system that has been in vogue in Ontario for some years under at least three Ministers of Education. Premier Ferguson's complaint against the existing system was that it was too rigid, inasmuch as apportionments of the fund were made on a hard and fast schedule, according to teachers' salaries, classification and general up-to-dateness of schools. Its effect, he said, was in some cases to give a larger share of special grants to schools where were well able to finance without it, and to deprive grants to other schools that really needed Government assistance to meet running expenses.

FIRE DESTROYED HAMILTON STORES

Three Stores on King Street Went Up in Flames Late Last Night.

HAMILTON, June 21 (Canadian Press). — Fire which broke out with astonishing suddenness last night, destroyed three stores on the south side of King Street, between James and Hughson Strets, in the block in which are located the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Commerce, and the Hydro system's offices.

Some water damage was caused the stocks of J. D. Climie, shoes, G. L. Ballantine, beauty shop, W. C. McLelland, clothing, while severe water damage was suffered by the Frances Shoe Company and the Goderich Rubber Company.

Including the bond firm of E. J. Hammond & Company, the records of the firm damaged, estimated at about $250,000, of which about 150,000 is to buildings.

KILLED IN MOTOR CRASH.

Member of Quebec Assembly Victim of Sudden Death Near Montreal.

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 21.—L. Nestor A. Ricard, member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, was killed at Lanoraie, half-way between Montreal and Three Rivers, on Thursday night, in an automobile accident.

Word of the accident reached here yesterday morning, but no details were obtainable, except that the car stopped suddenly. Mr. Ricard was member for St. Maurice and resided at Shawinigan Falls.

Mr. Ricard was first elected to the Quebec legislative assembly at a by-election in 1920 and was re-elected at the provincial election.

A recent census shows that the horse, instead of becoming a museum curiosity, has increased greatly in numbers.

TOURISTS COME EARLY.

Hastings Visited by Party That Did 400 Miles Overnight.

HASTINGS, June 21.—A party of five American tourists arrived in Hastings from Rittman, Ohio, on Friday, and have taken the cottage on the island built last year by Mr. W. P. Plant. Rittman is about forty-five miles south of Cleveland, and the tourists made the trip of about four hundred and seventy-five miles in record time, leaving Rittman about three o'clock on Thursday morning, and arriving in Hastings at eleven o'clock Friday morning. The members of the party are: Dr. C. C. Gregg, Messrs. J. H. Fisher, Russell Bender, Joel Fisher, and Ruebin Fisher.

The cottage has been named by the present occupants, and is now "Never-Inn." A motor launch has been shipped to Mr. Fisher from Peterboro, as has also a large skiff. The party expect to remain about three weeks, and at the end of that time another one is expected.

LOVED—ELOPED—DIED.

Husband Once Charged With Kidnapping is Held For Jury.

MONTREAL, June 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Stating that she had been injured by a blow in the abdomen, Mrs. Leon Castelli, 22, bride of only a few months ago, died in the Royal Victoria Hospital yesterday. Her husband, Leone Castellie, 28, is being held as a witness for the coroner's inquest to-day.

The girl's parents who came here from New York, said their daughter had fallen in love with Castelli in New York and had eloped with him to this city. Action against Castelli for kidnapping had failed.

MONTREAL, June 21.—(Canadian Press.)—"That is a very good start in the profession sir," Mr. Justice Wilson assured Champlain Rosen, when the latter explained to the court and jury in the Hochelaga Bank car murder case yesterday how he had obtained passes for Mike Valentino and Frank Gambino, to enter Bordeaux jail and visit Niegro and Serafini there, using false names on the passes, and leaving Chief Judge Decarie under the false impression that he was a lawyer, apparently associated with Lyon W. Jacobs' office.

ORDER PEPALL DEPORTED.

Reason Given by United States is Entry Without Inspection.

WASHINGTON, June 21.— (By (Canadian Press).—Andrew J. Pepall was ordered deported to Canada yesterday because he entered the United States without inspection. Acting Commissioner of Immigration W. W. Sibray announced Pepall will be taken to Buffalo and turned over to the Canadian authorities for return to Toronto.

AMEND CUSTOMS ACT

OTTAWA, June 21 — (Canadian Press).—Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of customs, proposes to bring down an amendment to the customs act providing that in estimating damages by breakage upon brittle goods, such as crockery and glass allowance shall only be made for the loss in excess of fifteen per cent of the whole quantity damaged.

CRUSHED BETWEEN CARS.

SARNIA, Ont., June 21.—(Canadian Press).—William Dagg, aged 60, a veteran employee of the Canadian National Railways, was killed in the Front Street yards yesterday at noon his body being caught between two cars which were being shunted, and almost cut in two. Dagg was engaged in painting serial numbers on the cars, and it is presumed that he was crossing the track when he was caught between the bumpers as the cars met. No one saw accident. An inquest will be held. He leaves a wife and two sons.

Canadian Motorists know from experience there is no finer tire than Silvertown—for years they willingly paid a higher price in order to get it. Now that it is Canadian made it costs no more than other cords.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

CHURCH.

Only a fifth of our rural population attends church, is the national government's claim. There are 101,000 rural churches scattered over the country. But this is not too many, as some conclude when they examine attendance figures. The main trouble is that so many farmers are of a different religious belief than the nearby church.

Radio is the farmer's church. And it will be increasingly so.

AGED.

Uncle Sam is paying pensions to over 500,000 war veterans or their dependents. One pensioner is being supported by every 210 Americans.

The day will come when the pension roll will run into the millions. Old age pensions are just a matter of time. Incapcitated veterans of peacetime service to the nation, both in public and private life, will eventually be rewarded the same as battle-scarred veterans.

The certainty of a pension in old age would, some claim, induce many people to work less hard in their active years. But it would also end a lot of dishonesty, especially petty cheating—outgrowth of fear that old age will be penniless.

REMARKABLE.

Phenomenal memory of Naum Litowsky, a Lithuanian, amazes eastern professors. Told the date of your birth, he can immediately give the day of the week your birthday occurs in any year, past or present. Call off fifteen long numbers and he echoes you by reciting them backwards. These are typical of many remarkable feats.

How does he do it? By associating numbers with colors, he says. Higher scientists call this "confusion of the senses." There are people who see certain colors when various musical notes are played. The eccentricities of the human brain are the greatest mystery in this life.

DIAMONDS.

South African diamond mines are working again after being almost entirely shut down for several years.

This means that the world is steadily recovering from the business deppressio caused by the war. When people begin to sport diamonds, they have money to spare.

Diamonds headquarters in Kimberley reports that the revival of the diamond industry is chiefly due to demand for the cheaper or medium-grade stones. Indicating prosperity at the base.

FOOTBALL.

Is college football becoming too commercialized? One university's profits from this sport last year were about $40,000. College heads are wondering if football isn't shaping as a business rather than an athletic game.

Professionalism in the box-office is as much a menace as professionalism among players. Sport for sport's sake is endangered when the sport becomes a medium for tapping the public pocketbook.

LEGACY.

A laundry wagon driver inherits $50,000 in Trenton, N.J. He announces he'll keep on working. Which excites amazement, but shouldn't.

The $50,000 at 4 per cent interest would bring the driver $2000 a year. He couldn't do much with that, prices so high. Time was when $50,000 was a whale of a fortune, and the house of the owner was pointed out with the buggy whip to visitors being driven around town. Those days are gone. Even a millionaire doesn't excite much interest now, they're so numerous.

LIMELIGHT.

The wages of sin are publicity, says Dean Lee of New York University's school of journalism.

"Pitiless publicity" unquestionably punishes the guilty—especially those who are powerful enough to keep out of the clutches of the law. But a scolding isn't as effective as strap-oil in the case of a bad boy. More jail sentences are needed.

The Chinese alone get full value from "pitiless publicity." They make convicted profiteers and other social crooks parade in front of their homes and places of business, ringing a bell and carrying a banner advertising their crimes.

FRENCH.

One important development in Europe is that the French are taxing themselves more heavily. Recently tax receipts totalled a fifth more than a year ago.

The English for several years have been foaming about the low tax rate in France—lower per capita than in England, by far. That was because France was mortgaging the future, expecting to get more our of Germany than now appears possible.

LESS.

Industrial profits are shrinking, a financial "expert" claims. He's been studying the financial reports of about 100 leading corporations, finds profits from 7 to 43 per cent lower than a year ago.

Not necessarily. Bookkeepers and tax-dodging experts work wonders with many a financial statement. They are wizards at concealing profits. With exceptions, the expression "financial statement" doesn't mean what it used to—not by a long shot.

H. B. Cowan Jr. (Farm and Dairy, May 29, 1924.)

If you are a young man short of funds but with a big desire to see something of the world there is much to be said in favour of a trip to England on a cattle ship. True there is plenty of work and fairly long hours on the way over, but the work is no harder, nor the hours longer, than most farm lads put in every day all summer. The return trip is made in luxury, inasmuch as you have nothing to do but to enjoy your meals and the scenery. Last summer I made the trip, being away in all six weeks, and look back to it now as one of the finest experience of my life. That the trip agreed with me is indicated by the fact that I gained 12 lbs. while away. If conditions permitted I would enjoy going over again.

Two chums of mine and I first thought of visiting England in this way two years ago. At that time our parents offered objections on the ground that we were too young, that the class of men we would be thrown in contact with on board ship was likely to be most undesirable and that the work would be unpleasant and probably too strenuous for us. The result was that we reluctantly gave up the idea for that time. A boy friend of mine later took the trip. He didn't enjoy it as much as I did mine but reported that he would not have missed it for a good deal. Last year, when I again asked if I could not follow his example, the objections to my going were withdrawn and I was left free to set out and see the world. At first I hoped that some of my chums would be able to go with me. None were free to do so however, and I decided, therefore, to start out by myself. The trip lasted in all six weeks. Our vessel left Montreal on July 27th, reaching Manchester on August 6th. The next few weeks were spent in England, mainly in the vicinity of London seeing the sights. Liverpool was left on August 24th on the return trip, Montreal being reached on September end.

So many young fellows have asked for an account of my experiences it would seem that many are interested in the prospect of taking such a trip. The following account of what befell me, therefore, may be of interest.

Free Passage Provided

Firms that export cattle to Great Britain are given the privilege, by steamship companies, of sending men in charge of the stock over free. On the way over they have to take care of the livestock. They are granted permission to stay whatever time they desire in Great Britain and are returned free. No wages are given, as the export companies find plenty of men who are anxious to get to England and who, therefore, are willing to work their way. My application for passage was made through Mr. W. J. Lamb of Peterboro', representing the H. P. Kennedy Company, of Toronto. Through him I found what I would be expected to take with me and was told when and where to report in Montreal.

I went from Peterboro' to Montreal with Mr. Lamb. We reached there Thursday morning where I put up at the same hotel with him. I was told to report on board the ship Manchester Hero, at dock nine, at seven-thirty in the morning. Ships at that time meant nothing to me. It was not until we were well out to sea that I heard that she was called the hoodoo ship of the North Atlantic fleet. A few months before, 65 head of cattle had been washed overboard and had it not happened at night several lives probably would have been lost. She had been reported missing five times, at one time having drifted around rudderless for two weeks.

Thursday I went to the stock yards to watch the animals being tagged preparatory to being shipped. This consisted of driving the animals into narrow runways where they were tagged by having a metal tag clipped into the ear. It seemed rather cruel, but is probably the best method. It was here I first met and became acquainted with the other future cattlemen who were to take the trip with me. In our party there was the foreman, who made a business of cattle shipping. There was also a young fellow from Toronto, named Brown, who had just graduated from the University, winning a scholarship. This scholarship paid his expenses for a year on the continent to study architecture. He figured that by travelling on a cattle ship he could save his fare over in a steamer and so be able to stay longer on the continent. There was also a small Irishman. He was a second-year medical student from McGill, who was going home to visit his family before school started again. Everybody called him "Pat". While going down on Thursday to get my passport I made the acquaintance of two more. The first was a young English chap, who unfortunately was born the second son in a wealthy family and so was left out in the cold of Canada on the receiving end of a remittance cheque. His main reason for going home was to have the figures of the cheque increased. He has a friend to keep him company and spend his money, who, although a rather good sort, took too much for granted. The only remaining one in our party was a rather elderly Englishman who was returning to England on account of illness in his family there and found it his cheapest means of travel. Thus, there were seven of us, including the foreman.

Passports Necessary.

Before leaving home I was told that I would have to go to Ottawa to get my passport. Later I found that I could get one in Montreal. It was necessary for me to have two snaps taken of myself. For these I was directed to go to an address on St. Laurent Street, where I found I could get two snaps for fifty cents. These were finished while I waited. Our party all had to get passports so we went down from the stock yards together. They are made out at the Immigration Building down near the docks. Every conceivable question was asked us. Much to our amusement we found that none of us knew the color of our own eyes. Robbie aroused some interest when he pulled out an old passport, which showed that he had been around the world twice.

We were all on hand Friday morning to watch the cattle loaded. The boat was supposed to sail at 7.30, but did not pull out until 11 o'clock.

During the interval we moved our bags into the bunk room and picked our bunks. Our blankets were served out by the steward. Three thin blankets were allowed us, while straw ticks and pillows were piled in one corner of our cabin. At first we were satisfied to sleep with one blanket under us and two blankets over us, but when the weather was cold and our clothes were damp, we usually slept with all our clothes on and put two ticks over us beside the blankets.

Clothes To Take.

The question of the best clothes to wear is important. I had not given it much attention. Before leaving home I simply threw an old pair of khaki trousers and an old khaki shirt into a bag, added a heavy pair of bootss a few pair of cotton socks, two sleeveles, basket-ball jerseys and a light sleeveless woollen sweater. These with light summer underwear made up my working clothes, with an old spring coat when it was wet. It was not long after we had sailed before I wished I had brought more. In the ten days crossing there were as many changes in temperature as you would experience in ten years in Canada. It was warm in the St. Lawrence River and Gulf, zero weather in the Strait of Belle Isle, with a strong cold wind blowing. It was cold around the north of Newfoundland, where we saw 52 icebergs and then became gradually warmer until we were off the coast of Ireland. Here we ran into fog and rough weather. Every time a wave hit the boat we got the spray as it came over the side and it sometimes seemed to be poured from a bucket. On these occasions we found that salt water [illegible] think a heavy pea jacket, heavy t[illegible] water proof boots, and some l[illegible] sweaters should be taken by anyone thinking of making this trip. Also be sure and take your own towels.

Cattle on Board.

The cattle were 100 Herefords and 92 Polled Angus, just off the western range and never man-handled before. They had to be driven down a narrow gang-plank and into the sheds erected for them. There were sheds erected on deck for them, with backs and sides, but no fronts, the cattle facing in. Baled hay was loaded and bags of grain, while a large reservoir held water down in the hold. The cattle were supposed to be tied by the longshoremen, but as the ship could not wait for them to finish we were left with about 90 of the animals loose in a long pen, with a short rope around their necks, put there when they were tagged, and their heads all facing in on the deck. We spent a strenuous afternoon tieing a few of them up. Various ways and means of doing so were suggested—the best proving to be the use of a steel hook which would fit into the neck band. Even this was not altogether successful and we turned in for our first meal with some very sore hands, and many animals still untied.

At supper the first night out from Montreal we had a really good meal. Alas, it wasn't to last. The foreman told us that if we tipped the steward and cook we would get good meals. We forgot about this until evening of the next day, when we started to take up a collection. In the middle of it the cook walked in and asked how much we were going to tip him and when. You don't mind tipping a person of your own free will, but when they ask you for it, it takes on the appearance of highway robbery and we singly and collectively refused to tip him at all. Afterwards we regretted this decision as the cook had an advantage over us in the fact that he handed out the food. He knew the strength of his position and did not hesitate to take advantage of it.

We were rationed as to our meals. We were given a can of butter, a can of sugar, two of condensed milk, a big tin of marmalade and a jar of pickles with a label certifying that they were sealed in 1904. We also had two loaves of bread each day and our grub from the cook, which consisted of oatmeal porridge every third day, with potatoes and steak. For dinner we had steak and potatoes alone and for supper we had potatoes and steak with tea. This was alternated occasionally with tripe, and potatoes which is another name for the cow's second stomach. It wasn't very popular with us at dinner. We had, also, curry and rice for supper. We "got by," our meals through the fact that Robbie, the unfortunate second son, had some very good tea and by the discovery that excellent sandwiches could be made from bread and 1904 pickles or marmalade. The dinnig-room, of course, was our bunk-room at night. We divided our party into shifts of two to take charge of cleaning up the room and washing the dishes and table. Judging by its appearance when we took charge. I can safely say that that room was the cleanest after we had overhauled it that it had been in a long time.

Many people, if you are contemplating such a trip, will advance, as a chief objection that you will spend most of your time on the ship cleaning the stalls. That is one of the few things that a cattleman doesn't have to do. As the trip is made in eight to ten days, the stalls are not cleaned until the ship docks, when longshoremen come aboard and do it.

As for our work, it was not hard, but to a city-bred crew the cattle were unruly. We were up at four a.m. and had a cup of coffee without milk or sugar, as we saved them for our regular meals. Then we had to water the stock. We were divided into two shifts wit about 100 cattle each and the foreman with a roving commission. There was a large barrel among each 40 head, with another barrel down below deck where we had to care for 45 head. To water them we had to carry the pails to them. It proved very surprising the quantity of water one animal could drink, even in the middle of the ocean. Hay came next and then we had a slight kick to put in, because, to feed 200 head hay, they had three forks on board. Two of those were two-pronged affairs and about as useful as a pike pole to us. We were through generally by twenty-five minutes to six. As a rule we climbed back into bed, boots and all, as it was fairly cold at that hour. This was especially the case as we went through the Strait of Belle Isle. It was here we passed the icebergs, and skirted the shore of Labrador. At 7.20 we had breakfast. Afterwards, while the two mess boys for the day cleaned up, the rest climbed into bed until 9.30. Then we had to sweep the hay out of the alleyways and feed grain, a pail and a half per head. Do our best the cattle did not get all the feed intended for them. The wind had a habit of swirling it around and around you as you worked until you felt as if you had half of it down your back.

Only small quantities of feed could be kept on deck. The rest was in the hold. Every second day, therefore, the hatches would be taken off, a pulley rigged up and we turned ourselves into winches. Three worked in the hold. Of these one pulled the bales and bags out from the sides of the ship to the pulley hook and hooked it on. The other two had the job of pulling it twenty feet up to the deck. In a stuffy hold this was no mean job.

On deck, one man had the job of leaning over the hold and hooking the load with a hook. He had to take care that the pitch of the boat did not send him down into the hold. When they were hooked and loaded on deck he unhooked them from the pulley and rolled them to the other two, who immediately rolled them over the hatch and piled them, pulling tarpaulin over them to protect them from the spray. By the time we had spent two hours at this work we didn't stop to figure whether it was tripe day or steak. We went to it, though the tripe never became popular and only the gravy was used. The only difference between Sunday and the rest of the days was that Sunday we had plum duff for pudding. The days we did not haul feed we were through about fifteen minutes to eleven and we explored the ship and enjoyed the ocean. Dinner was ready at 11.20 and when over we again took to our beds. Sometimes, when we were nearing Ireland and the weather was getting waarmer, we took our quilts out on the hatches and slept in the sun.

At 2.30 p.m. we started work again. We watered and fed hay and then made the interesting discovery that the few cattle below deck could drink almost as much as all the rest of the animals we had to handle. This was because they were in the hot dry air below decks next the engine room, while the others were in the moist air above. Supper was ready at five and about six we went out and swept the alleyways, about a fifteen or twenty-minute job.

Time For Recreation.

Our recreation was taken in the evening. Imagine a small, triangular-shaped cabin in the bow of the ship with two small lights blinking, a double tier of bunks built along the sides and a table in the centre. A seat was built along the side of the bunks which we were supposed to use at dinner also. The result was that at one end of the table you were pressed up against it, while at the other end you had to use the full length of your arms to reach the table. After all work was over you would find the cattlemen in for the evening. Some would be sprawled in their bunks with their pipes lit for the evening. Sometimes a game of bridge would be in progress at the table. This game never became popular because the seats were so awkwardly arranged. Generally it was just "talk".

Every subject in the world was discussed. All the others had seen service in the army. The Toronto man had been with the Canadians in Russia; Pat had been a lieutenant with the Munster Fusilliers; Robbie in the flying force, the elderly Englishman had been a mechanic with the air force, and Robbie's chum had been in the Canadian Cavalry. Often the veterinary, sent over by the government, would pay us a visit. He, also, had seen service. There was very little of the world that had not been seen by at least one present. We heard of college life in England; Robbie confessing to being a graduate of Cheltenham College. Then college life in Canada, then army life, and life in general and the world at large, while the veterinary and Pat, the med., used to find subjects of interest to themselves in the medical world. Usually, as mentioned before, nine o'clock tea was served and it was the most enjoyed of all the meals.

Stock Well Cared For.

As to the bruising of the cattle there was very little—on the ship practically none. The captain was paid a percentage per head for every animal landed in England in good condition. He, therefore, would not allow any. There was only one case where the foreman struck one of the animals with the prong of a fork on the hip, which became all swollen. The captain and the veterinary noticed it and made it very unpleasant for him. The animal got special attention on the part of the doctor and was all right when landed.

The company will give you as much time to remain in England as you want, up to four or five months. This enables you to see all you want of England, and the Continent if you like—and your money holds out.

Our boat passed through Liverpool and up the ship canal to Manchester. When we landed, as we had to wait till morning to pass customs, we started up town to a cafe where we could order what we wanted. We walked into the first one and walked out. Inside there was a sign reading: "Special Today—Curry and Rice, or Tripe." We looked for a better one. After passing the Customs we split up. I headed for London, the elderly Englishman for his home, Pat for Ireland, and the others went down to visit Robbie and his old family home.

Cheap Living.

To illustrate the cheapness of living in England, I will give some prices. Return tickets to London, $10.00. Your meals never exceed 75 cents to $1.00 a day and a room at the Y.M.C.A. in London, 60 cents. Thus your daily expenses need never be more than a dollar and a half, except what you spend on sight-seeing. As there are all kinds of things to see, that can be kept small. If you desire to go to the Continent, you can get a return ticket from London to Paris for about $7.00. Living is cheaper in France. You could so join some of the arranged tours which are cheap, and have everything arranged for you.

Sights Worth Seeing.

Anyone can enjoy a week or two, or two months for that matter, around London. There are things to see of great interest to all. Everyone should see Westminster Abbey. You could spend an indefinite time in it alone. Also the Parliament Buildings opposite. A visit to Buckingham Palace and St. James' Place, the home of the Prince of Wales will take another day. This includes seeing the changing of the guards at the palace, and a trip through the Royal Stables. Another trip will take you to London Bridge and the Tower of London. I spent a day in the Tower and at that I hurried through it. You see the room where the young princes were murdered, the spot where the young princes were murdered, the spot where Lady Jane Grey was executed, and innumerable other things of interest. A Sunday morning before church, in Hyde Park, watching the orders on Rotten Row, and an afternoon in Kew Gardens was a very pleasant day. Then there are the art galleries and museums and old collections to be seen. One of the most enjoyable days I spent included a half day trip down into the Surrey Hills. We went for miles through the English countryside. The farms, all small, had a checker-board appearance with their small, square fields, of variously colored crops. English tea was served in a rose garden back of a small English public house in a tiny village of cobble-stone streets and quaint little houses. The return trip was made by a main road where we passed many of the old English homes.

The Return Trip.

On my return trip there were only four cattlemen—Robbie and his chum reporting a successful trip—yours truly, and an osteopathic doctor from Toronto who had been over to England to take a post-graduate course and found a cattle ship the cheapest way to travel. As already stated, on the return trip you have nothing to do and as the meals were better we didn't object, especially as we had one of the officer's cabins as a club room. The most violent exercise we took was at the dinner table and outside of that we just read, talked and slept—mainly slept. The ship landed at Quebec on its return and we had an evening to explore the city before coming on to Montreal, where our party broke up.

To anyone seriously contemplating such a trip I would like to warn them to be prepared for anything. Although there were many things I objected to, it is probable that there are worst and and worse conditions than the oness under which I travelled. A friend of mine who undertook the trip under less favorable conditions, summed it up by saying, "I wouldn't have missed the trip for a thousand dollars, and I wouldn't go again for another thousand." All I have to say is, you will have to rough it but you should enjoy it also. In any case I look back to it as one of the best experiences of my life.

NEW CALOMEL WORTH MILLIONS

Your liver is poisoning the whole system, causing a tired feeling in the morning, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the liver, and that is calomel! Because so many people object to the ordinary calomel, it is now put up in a new form, called Tanol Calomel Tablets, which act with a gentle movement of the bowels and no salts or seidlitz powders are needed to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.s tf

BOY ACCIDENTLY SHOT HIMSELF LATE YESTERDAY

BRAMPTON, June 21—(Canadian Press).—John Bolton Hansford, son of William Hansford, of East Caledon, 17 years of age, accidentally shot himself in the forehead yesterday while taking a loaded 22 calibre rifle from a nail in a garage for the purpose of shooting ground hogs, and died a few hours later. He was found by the members of his family, who missed him. He remained unconscious till he died. Dr. J. T. Thomas, of Caledon, and Dr. A. F. Reynar, of Palgrave, coroner, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

MAXWELL

The Good Maxwell Leads in Value by a Wide Margin

More of the highest grade steels are used than in many cars selling for three and four times the Maxwell price.

When you take your ride you will note an ease of handling, a ready acceleration, a certainty of control and a thorough-going dependability that makes it a particularly safe and desirable car for general family use.

And when you put the car to a thorough test be prepared to judge it by the standards you associate with a much higher price. Even then the good Maxwell will lead by a wide margin.

VICTIMS OF ANAEMIA

NEED NEW, RICH BLOOD TO RESTORE HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

It is an unfortunate fact that nine women out of every ten are victims of bloodlessness in one form or another. The girl in her teens, the wife and mother, the matron of middle age—all know its miseries. To be anaemic means that you are breathless after slight exertion. You feel worn out and depressed. You turn against food and often cannot digest what you do eat. Sleep does not refresh you and when you get up you feel exhausted and unfit for the day's duties. If neglected anaemia may lead to consumption.

You should act promptly. Make good the fault in your blood by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the most reliable blood enricher ever discovered. These pills purify bad blood, strengthen weak blood, and they make good blood, and as the condition of your blood improves you will regain proper strength, and enjoy life fully as every girl and woman should do. The case of Mrs. Mary Trainor, Perth, Ont., shows the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. She says: "I had not been feeling well for some time and had been gradually growing weaker. I found it very hard to do my housework; I had severe headaches and was very pale. I took doctor's medicine for some time but they did me no good. I was growing weaker and used to faint and take dizzy spells. In this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after a time found that they were helping me. I continued their use until I found the troubles that afflicted me had gone, and I am once more enjoying good health and strength."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PETERBORO ROTARIANS IN TORONTO

The Toronto papers have devoted considerable and well deserved space to the big Rotary Convention in that city. But a few paragraphs about the Peterboro attendance, and things in general may not be unacceptable. Forty-seven members from Peterboro Rotary were in attendance a very good percentage of the membership. Business engagements and other tangible reasons interfered with there being a one hundred percent attendance, the thing striven for.

The real boon to the Peterboro men, and ladies accompanying, was the tented village put up on a nice part of the grounds, by Turners, and which housed all who attended. The enterprise carried out in the regular Turneresque way, thoroughly complete and comfortable. George Benton looked after the convenience and comfort of those so housed and everything was in order. Down town all hotels were crowded beyond expansion. Fully ten thousand visitors thronged into the city. Probably the finest looking lot of excursionists that Toronto has housed for many years. Coming from all parts of the earth and from twenty-seven separate countries.

Toronto, to its infinite credit, has hung up a new standard for other Convention meeting places to attempt to rival. None will eclipse the demonstration. The local Executive had done everything that careful thought and preparation could suggest and carry out. Especially striking and agreeable to the visiting thousands was the fine setting of the Exhibition grounds and buildings, such as thousands had never seen before. Lavish was the praise and commendation from all. Such a display and such surroundings proved to be wholly unexpected and most gratifying. Nearly all men who spoke at meetings and about two hundred indulged in such agreeable exercise, praised the Toronto hospitality, the gracious preparations, the cordial reception and vowed they'd never forget it. None of the previous fourteen conventions had been so well and charmingly surrounded. So if fame and renown follow fine doings, then Toronto has written for itself a mighty fine advertisement and one that it will take many years to efface. But Torono deserves all the good things that Rotarians may say about the city.

The pageant, on evening of the opening day was a revelation. As brilliant and inspiring as uexpected. Nearly fifteen thousand people thronged the stands and stood about on the sward. The daily papers have described the features already, so we may pass over details. But the Grand Assembly, of Wednesday night was a peach and a throng. Dancing, well yes. The main gathering hall for the Convention, the Transportation building, was cleared out and a dancing floor marked off and chalked, waxed and gotten ready. Approaching in size and extent about half the ground space of one of our city blocks, 350 by 75 feet. The interior one galaxy of dazzling lights and profusion of banners, flags and colored lanterns. Seats were provided for six thousand persons, outside the space for dancing. Three of the city orchestras had been massed for the occasion. Twenty-seven first violins and trimmings to match. Eight voluble trombones flashed in brilliant light as the players propelled the slides in and out. Big bass horns and giant fiddles all contributed.

It was generally agreed that about the best that Toronto could do in the way of feminine costuming was on exhibition. And the ladies of the visiting Rotarians were most worthy and brillant competitors. When in action, the floor was a mass of swaying, whirling and billowing color and shade, and brilliant flashes from jewels and adornments. Six hundred couples took to the floor at one time. To be renewed in ten minutes by another six hundred. All with decorum and courtesy. As one onlooker remarked, it was the most skillfully conducted mob he had ever looked upon. But then he was cynic, and suggestions were made to take him outside and irrigate him at the nearest hydrant. The men of the visiting Rotarians were not in evening clothes but nattily and cheerfully garbed. Men on such occasions are merely useful and not expected to be ornamental. And lived up to the tradition.

Entrance to the Assembly Hall was by registered badge and name. As eight thousand seven hundred Rotarians were on the registered list, and as many came accompanied by ladies, and as each resident Rotarian was entitled to bring two ladies as guests, some idea may be gained of the throng. Invitation were wholly at a premium. Even the homliest Rotarian was esteemed above his ornamental fellow-man.

Among the ladies from Peterboro, who attended the festivity were observed: Mrs. Gordon Matthews, Mrs. Fred Roy, Mrs. Claude Rogers, Mrs. A. McNair, Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. Reg. Turner, Mrs. Reid Wren, Mrs. V. R. Wren, Mrs. Homer Meyers, Mrs. John Seels, Mrs. George Macdonald, Mrs. Chris. Graham, Mrs. Manson Comstock, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mrs. B. L. Barnes, Miss McElderry,, Miss McIntosh, Mrs. Robt. Abbott, Mrs. W. R. Widdess.

The facial resemblance among all Rotarians from the Anglo-Saxon and English speaking countries was remarkable. Looking over the the sea of faces there was nothing noticeable to indicate that all were not of one big family. Differences in speech, if any, were confined to intonaton and the rapidity of utterance. At the get-together meeting, in the King Edward hotel, Wednesday afternoon, to discuss "Better Business Relations," the session was remarkable for the number of short, pithy addresses, the extraordinary amount of real, genuine horse-sense thrown out in the discussion, the machine-gun fire of question and answer and the hearty applause with which statements were received. There was warm approval when delegate from the Rotary Club of New Zealand stood up to bestow greetings from that distant land on the gathering. He was a big man with a big bass voice, a rolling English accent and a cheerful personality. Said he was going to speak for ten minutes. Probably the most expensive speech that had ever been deliverd at Rotary. H had come ten thousand miles just to do that chore and meet his fellow Rotarians. Each of his ten minutes had cost one thousand miles of travel. His brief talk was a heartening one and thoroughly enjoyed.

Wholly and pleasantly unusual, was the fact that among the lists of names of men who had come anywhere from ten thousand to two hundred miles to attend the Convention was not one with a military title accompanying. Rotary is essentially a harbinger of peace and good-will, and perhaps men of military proclivities find themselves out of place in Rotary membership. All titles, degrees, affixes and prefixes were absent. All were just good, general purpose citizens of their countries, but behind all was the backbone and standard of service for the good of their peoples and countries. If a man was a knight, or a lord, or a one used to bossing his fellows no one was apprised. His name was plainly printed, and his deeds in the Rotary field spoke for him and his values. So all who attended were able to see and hear men who have given most notable and accomplished service in and for the ideals of Rotary, and such access was most welcome.

Men who will travel four, five and eight thousand miles for the sake of an ideal are apt to be pretty good men, and in their environment, mightly good citizens. Among all the manner of intercourse showed a great heartiness, a ring of honest sincerity and a real endeavor to do good things were permitted. Each a leader in the business world, the social activities of his home town or city, his plain endeavor to do good and to steer his fellow-man along good and beneficient paths. Earnestness and hopefulness marked every utterance publicly made.

Every well behaved city or town desires to be known abroad. If it have natural features that commend to attention, well and good. If it be the home of men renowned in civil or political life, then such men act as guide posts or finger marks on the page of posterity. And we seek publicity, as something to be esteemed, and often craved for. Is Peterboro known abroad, may be asked. Let us see.

All Rotarians, wearing the official badge of registration are considered of the elect, that is Rotarianly acceptable. The badge is a guerdon of respectability. And the custom is to address one another with cheerful words of welcome and to enquire from what part of the blessed universe the Rotarian comes, spreaking with a nice, engaging looking lady, of middle age, and whose escort was meanwhile on the floor, she was asked from what State of the Union she hailed. Replied from Dallas, Texas. Admitted she was a long way from home, but glad of it, at the present. Enquired where the person speaking to her belonged, and was told, Peterboro, of Ontario. "Oh, yes, I know," the lady answered, "that's where they make all the canoes."

Another lady, asked of her home town and State said she was of Rhode Island, smallest state in the Union. Not very big but very concentrated. Again she was told that the enquirer was from Peterboro, and then came the getting-to-be familiar answer, "Oh, yes, we've a nice Peterboro canoe. Had it for several years.' Boy, page Claude Rogers and Bill Richardson. It will be observed that the first lady said not that "they made canoes", but all the canoes, a distinction with a wide difference. A stout Rotarian brother also identified Peterboro as the one and only canoe building city, and added his regrets that factory had been burned, but was informed that the burning was at Lakefield and not at Peterboro. Then he expressed satisfaction when told of other makers of nice canoes in this city. So much for the value, in publicity, of a name-plate.

And from the point of view of publicity ,which all communities desire and value is there any suggestion. That the knowledge of Peterboro abroad, as instanced, is in regard to something which we make and send out, of personal convenience and utility to not such a large number, while the larger and bigger thing that we do and make are overlooked. Not even one person spoke of having heard of the Hunter street bridge. About which we have heard, locally, good and plenty.

If it may be permitted to introduce in these notes a matter, ofen of theological controversy, "is there an answer to prayer?" the following may be interjected into any future discussion.

Wednesday morning there was a wedding at the Salvation Army Temple, here. The happy couple insisted on being spliced by one of the Army staff from Toronto, and being an old and valued friend of the families interested, came along in his Ford car the afternoon before, and finished up the duty with pleasure and elegance and precision. With sage advice thrown in as is ever proper and salutory.

In the car came two or three friends of the to-be-bride. On the way to Toronto seven punctures resulted. Any man but one of the accredited staff would have lost patience. Even a Rotarian might have expressd violent convictions. But on the way back to Toronto on Wednesday morning and afternoon, five more punctures intervened. One tire had three incisions or bursts. The Army man removed the tire, laid it on the ground, and before getting to work made a short prayer that he might never be called on to mend that despicable tire again, removing his hat while administering the invocation. Just as he started in on the job the emergency man came along, took in the situation and said, "Brother, hadn't you better have a new inner tube to use right now," producing a tube from his kit.

"Thank the Lord, said the Army man, that is truly an answer to prayer. "Yes, likely" said the puzzled emergency man, "but you must'nt expect the Lord to pay for the tube. Two dollars, please."

BRITISH COLUMBIA AGAINST THE BEER

The Cities and Larger Towns Declared Against it Yesterday

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 21.—(Canadian Press).— The cities and most of the larger towns in British Columbia declared yesterday against sale of beer by glass under government control. Returns on the plebiscite in nearly all rural constituencies were far from complete early to-day and attitude of electors in country districts on question will not be known until late to-day.

ABOUT FATHER

The trials of poor mother run rampant all day and the kidlets, it seems, are to blame. With mud-covered sandals they'll come in from play and the answer is always the same.

Some imprints from shoes travel all through the place from the kitchen way up to the front. It's always the youngsters whom mother can trace as the one who are pulliug this stunt.

They'll scuff through the parlor and mess up the floor and they'll scrape off their feet on a chair. Mom cleans up the house; then she cleans it some more, but the footprints will always be there.

At the end of the day, with the kids still at play, they are called to the suppertime meal. They come with a romp, leaving mud as they stomp, and you know how their mother must feel.

Then Daddy comes home and his wife makes it clear that her rule o'er the kidlets is waning. He listens quite patiently; lends her an ear, but he can't see just why she's complaining.

"Why, listen here, Mother," Dad finally will say, "I 'member when I was a kid. And it seems that the stunts of the youngsters today are the very same things that I did.

WILL NOT STRIKE.

Dinner on the Dot

THE Findlay Electric takes all of the guess-work out of cooking. You know that your pastry, cakes and roasts must be a success; you can time your meals to the minute—so many pounds, so many degrees, and just so many minutes. The Findlay has the biggest oven heating elements on the market; it gives you always a surplus of heat and, all the time, the mercury thermometer is telling you what is going on inside the oven.

The Findlay is the speed range. All of its cooking units are bigger, stronger and faster. The current is turned off just that much sooner. And they do half of their cooking with their stored heat. Because the circles of wire that comprise each element can be turned off separately, no heat is passed up the sides of the pot and wasted. The Findlay is the economy range.

The Findlay is wholly different in appearance as well. Of Armco Iron construction, it is finished inside and out in indestructible grey enamel. It is the cleanest thing in all the world. And years and years from now it will be just as clean. Time cannot mar its beauty. Use cannot affect its endurance. It is as easy to keep clean as a bath-tub or wash-basin.

And every part of the Findlay, every screw, nut and wire is guaranteed in writing by us.

Leafs Win at Millbrook - Ruth Digs Up a $50 Fine For Fighting

MILLBROOK WAS NERVOUS UNDER LEAFS' ATTACK

Unsteadiness in the Field and Reversal of Form Lost the Game.

LEAFS HIT HARD.

Russell and Gilmour Good For Millbrook, But Beaten 22 to 0.

"Chuck" Bradley and his pitching partner, Earl Donnelly, divided a no-run, no-hit victory at Millbrook last evening when the Maple Leafs defeated the homesters by 22 to 0. The Millbrook infielders were plainly nervous in the face of hard hitting by the Leafs and played far below the form displayed here last Monday when they held East City Classics to a 7 to 7 tie in eight innings. Russell, on the mound, was also unsteady, four of his five passes being sandwiched in with the visitors' hits, when charities would do the most damage. The unsteadiness of the team also affected their batting, and Donnelly, who twirled the last three

Given little more experience in the juvenile series, the Millbrook youngsters will be a hard team to beat. Russell and Gilmour, his receiving mate, make a nice team, and a few more games will see a big improvement in the infield. The outfield includes Larmer, who was one of the winners of the Thanksgiving Day road race here last year, and he shows a lot of speed on the bases.

SWINGING BUNT HARDEST PLAY SAYS J. DUGAN

Greatest Skill is Needed to Handle Bunt Down Third Base Line.

TAKE A CHANCE.

Experience and Instinct Help Third Baseman to Field Them.

By JOE DUGAN,
Third Baseman, New York Yanks.

The old baseball saying, "you either do or you don't," aptly applies to third-base play.

When the hot ones come straight at you, or to the right or left, you have no time to judge the bound or the speed of the ball. In making a play on such a ball you just put your hands where you think it will come and trust to luck, in the hope that you will either come up clean with the ball or knock it down.

Experience alone perfects the third baseman in such a play, instinct will guide your hands to the proper place.

In my opinion the most difficult play a third baseman has to make is handling a swinging bunt down the third base line. Instinct also guides the infielder in making such a play. I will illustrate.

Dugan's Most Difficult Play.

We will assume that Harry Heilmann, champion batsman of the American League, is up. Heilmann hits a ball viciously down the third base line. This forces a third baseman to play deep as a matter of self preservation.

Heilmann takes a hard swing at the ball and tops it. The result is a slow rolling bounder toward third base. Playing deep makes this a most difficult ball to handle.

The moment I see the ball has been topped I rush in at full speed and make a sweeping downward motion with my right hand as I near the ball.

If I am lucky I come up with the ball, which is the first stage in successfully making the play. In order to have a chance to get your man at first it is also necessary to throw to that base without straightening up. This is a difficult thing to do accurately.

Another difficult play to make is created by batters of the Cobb type with a runner on second and one or none out. It deals with the bluff bunt.

The batter flashes the hit and run sign, the runner on second starting for third with the pitch. If the third baseman dashes in to play a bunt, the batsman merely bluffs and the runner steals third practically unmolested, as it is impossible to get back to the bag in time to take a throw from the catcher.

On the other hand, if you start to cover third when you see the runner stealing, the batter lays down a bunt and beats it easily, while the other runner advances to third.

I try to stop the play in this manner: With a batter up prone to pull the play, I move in closer to the plate and well over toward the bag. I stand stock still until the batter either bunts or bluffs the bunt and make my play accordingly.

Good Fielding Pitcher Helps.

Another confusing play comes up on a bunted ball with first and second occupied and no one out. The batter invariably bunts down the third base line. On such plays the pitcher and third baseman always have a previous understanding who will take the bunt.

With a good fielding pitcher who is fast of foot, I always cover third and let him make the play either to third or first, according to the chances.

With a slow, poor fielding pitcher, I always take the bunt and make one man sure. If the ball is bunted hard, it is often possible to force the runner at second and sometimes start a double play.

The most difficult batters for me to play are left-handed hitters, speed merchants, who hit hard down the third base line and in addition are clever bunters.

I have in mind plays like Cobb, Frisch, Sisler and Tobin.

STRIBLING ISN'T A KNOCKEROUT BUT HE HAS THE MAKING OF REAL HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

By JOE WILLIAMS.

Where will the next heavyweight champion come from, and why?

Is one of the numerous youthful light heavyweights who are now infesting the works destined to burst forth in a state of mascular maturity adequate to the demands of the office?

Or will Mr. Dempsey's successor come up from the black grottoes of obscurity as has been true of so many champions in the past?

Of all the professional fighting men the heavyweights stand alone in swift and spectacular development. Few of them ever progress from one physical stage to another. Most of them are heavyweights in build and poundage when they first attract notice, and most of them attract notice immediately or not at all.

This was especially true of Corbett, Jeffries and Dempsey.

Fitzsimmons fought as a middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight. Fitz, however, did not progress by degrees from one division to another. He was a physical freak and fought as naturally against middleweights as against heavyweights.

Considering Mr. Stribling.

Carpentier is the game's outstanding example of a gradual physical advancement. The flossy French miner was a remarkable fighter as a bantamweight, scaling in at 116 pounds, and as he took on weight and age he moved to the heavier levels of the sport until finally he was trading wallops with the giants.

The American ring has never had so many skilled light heavyweights as exist today, and most of them are youngsters who are fast taking on weight.

Of this group, which includes Stribling of Georgia, Slattery of Buffalo, Berlenbach of New York and Stone of Philadelphia, the southerner is foremost in the limelight.

Stribling has done remarkably well as a light heavyweight and it is reasonable to presume that he will be a formidable heavyweight if he improves as he goes along.

Within another year or two the Georgian will have attained his full growth and strength. By then he should be as big and powerful as Dempsey is today. Whether he will be the fighter the present champion is is something else.

All you can say for him now is that he has the potentialities. He is fast, reasonably clever, likes to fight and is nobody's dumbbell under fire. We doubt, however, that he will ever be a terrific hitter of the Dempsey type, or of the Berlenbach type, to keep the comparison in his own circle.

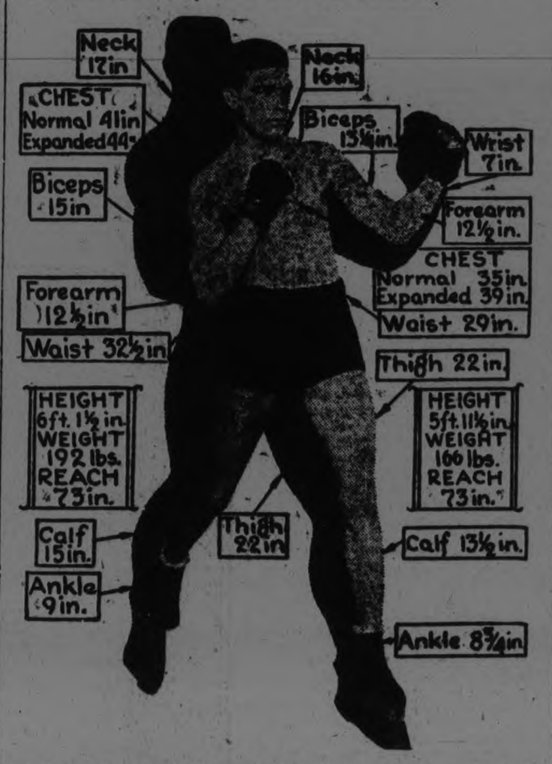
May Develop Kayo Later.

Stribling is essentially a speed artist and it is hard to tie up great speed with devastating hitting. The youngster has the knack of timing his punches and getting his body behind the swing, but there is always a suggestion of restraint in his attack, as if he realized the necessity of hurrying the blow and starting another.

This is not a grave fault, of course, but it is the distinguishing mark between the ordinary puncher and the knockerout. Later on Stribling may change his tactics and develop a real kick.

Benny Leonard, in his early days, was much the same type of puncher that Stribling is now. As he matured in the ring Leonard altered his style until he developed a perfect hitting technique, as well as a "funeral note," which is gymnasium latin for kayo.

YOUNG STRIBLING AS HE IS TODAY, AND AS HE WILL BE AS A FULL-GROWN HEAVYWEIGHT, DEPICTED IN SHADED BACKGROUND.



BISONS BEAT JERSEY CITY

Skeeters Scared Buffalo in the Ninth, Making Two Runs.

SYRACUSE CLIMBS.

JERSEY CITY, June 1. — Buffalo defeated Jersey City in the opening game of their series by a score of 7 to 6.

Liberal hitting against Pitcher Lucey in the early rounds coupled with a couple of fielding breaks by Shortstop Neher, gave the Bisons a six run lead. Jersey City made a spirited rally in the ninth, when two free trips and a pair of singles resulted in two runs. The score:

Buffalo .. ..033000100—7 10 0
Jersey City .. ..300010002—6 11 3

Proffitt and McAvoy, Vanderbach, Lucey, Hanson and Konnick.

SYRACUSE WON TWO.

READING, June 21. — By winning two games yesterday from Reading, Syracuse climbed to sixth place, while the Keys dropped into the vacated seventh hole. The Stars took the first 4 to 1, and the second 4 to 3. The scores:

1st game:
Syracuse .. ..000010102—4 4 3
Reading .. ..010000000—1 7 2

Freeman and Mitze; Harper and Lynn.

2nd game:
Syracuse .. ..0022000—4 8 0
Reading .. ..0000030—3 5 1

Reinhart, Frankhouse and McKee; Tuerre, Smallwood and Haley.

BALTIMORE AN ORGY.

BALTIMORE, June 21. — Baltimore overwhelmed Rochester in a wild battling orgy in opening game of the series, 13 to 8, yesterday. The visitors used four pitchers and the locals two. Sheedy, Jacobson, Conlan and Head made homers. Conlan's circuit drive came with the bases full. The score:

Rochester.. .. ..001000520— 8 7 1
Baltimore .. ..51006100x—13 13 2

Beall, Steggarda, Peterson, Terhune and Lake, Head; Groves, Tomlin and McCarty.

GOLF PLAYERS HAVE ARRIVED

British Open Championships Attract 277 Amateurs and Professionals.

HOYLAKE, England, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—Most of the 277 amateur and professional golfers entered in the British open championship, which will be played here next week, are already on the ground doing daily practice stunts with woods, irons and putters. They are finding the Hoylake course, which is always a tough and difficult one, harder and longer than ever before.

Five holes of the championship course have been lengthened during the past few weeks in preparation for next week's competition and the course now has a length of 6,640 yards. The qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday over the Royal Liverpool Club course, the championship course here and the links at Formby, several miles away. Each competitor will play 18 holes over each course. Eighty players having the lowest scores for 36 qualifying holes, plus all those who may tie for eightieth place, will be permitted to take part in the championship test of 72 holes over the Royal Liverpool course on Thursday and Friday.

HONOR WINNER BALLOON RACE

De Muyter Given a Royal Reception at Brussels on Arrival With Cup.

WON THIRD TIME.

BRUSSELS, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—Lieutenant Ernest De Muyter, who by winning the international balloon contest for the third consecutive time gained permanent possession for Belgium of the Gordon Bennett Cup, was showered with flowers on his arrival here yesterday from Edinburg, Scotland. De Muyter, flying the balloon Belgica, landed about noon Tuesday at Saint Abb's Head, near Edinburgh, having been in the air some 44 hours and covered a distance of about 500 miles from the starting point of the race.

Although there was a driving rain a crowd of about 50,000 turned out to await the arrival of De Muyter. He was welcomed by Prince Leopold and then, in the midst of a cheering procession, was taken to the City Hall on the shoulders of admirers.

Burgomaster Max appeared with him on the balcony, and the basket of the Belgica, filled with flowers, was presented in behalf of Belgium's sport societies.

KINGSTON TOOK A SECOND GAME

Nosed Out Belleville By a Score of Two to One in Good Game Yesterday.

PITCHERS' DUEL.

KINGSTON, June 21.—(Special).—Kingston took the second straight from Belleville here yesterday, winning 2-1 in the best game on the local field this season. Gallagher won out over Oulette in a pitching duel. For the first three innings no Belleville man reached first, and they collected only six scattered hits throughout. Neither pitcher issued a walk. Timely clouting by Teeple, Batstone and Cherry in the last half of the first grabbed Kingston's two. In the eighth Meagher's single, Alec Weir's sacrifice and Vernon Weir's single scored Belleville's only run.

Not an error was marked up against either team, and some fine plays were recorded. In the second, with Purvis on third, Gallagher laid down a bunt. Peeney Mills relayed it to first and took the return in time to tag Purvis as he came in.

There was a large crowd out for the game, and they sure received their money's worth in baseball.

Gallagher hars seldom been seen in better form. He knocked down three hot drives to other infielders, in addition to his own two assists, and pitched wonderful baseball throughout.

Oulette also hurled well but could not stand off the Kingston batters all through. Score:

TRENT VALLEY VISITORS SEE INDIANS LOSE

Big Crowd of Spectators at Trent Valley Lodge For Event.

SCORE WAS 8 TO 6.

HASTINGS, June 21. — Trent Valley lodge, tourist resort on Rice Lake, was the scene of very merry activities on Wednesday evening. A main feature of the evening was a baseball game played by the Buffalo tourist boys and the Rice Lake, Alderville Indian boys.

A big crowd of spectators, visiting tourists, neighbors and friends were on hand to witness the game which was a class of ball which should carry the teams a long way in balldom when they have finished their schedule. Eisbien pitched masterly ball for the Yankees and Morrison for the Alderville team, was a close follower. Davis, as catcher for the Yankees, made some very nice catches and Tobico, wearing the mask for Rice Lake, worked well with Morrison. The score ended 8-6 in favor of Buffalo.

The star event of the game was a one-handed catch by one of the Alderville lads. While running with back to the diamond, as the ball passed over head, he thrust out his right hand, catching the ball with the tips of his fingers, making the third out and retiring the side with three Buffalo runners stranded on the sacks.

The line-up: Buffalo: Dr. Eisbien p; J. Davis c and 1b; J. Adams b; A. Hofheins 3b; A. Hanning ss; H. Young rf; F. Smith lf; G. Wilson cf; G. Salsbury.

Manager for Buffalo, E. J. Meyer.

Alderville: Pitcher A. Morrison; catcher Tobico; 1b E. Smoke; 2b F. Gray; 3b P. Crowe; ss L. Smoke; rf M. Smoke; lf E. Blaker; cf W. Smoke.

Manager A. Morrison.

Umpire, Richard Block; base umpire Gus Haas.

Buffalo, runs 8; hits 6; errors 2.
Alderville, runs 6; hits 4, errors 4.

During the course of the evening's festivities the Alderville brass band, which was in attendance furnished several selections.

Ice cream and candy were available for those desiring refreshments.

GROVE SCOOL CLOSING DREW LARGE CROWDS

Lakefield Was Thronged With Vistiors For the Occasion From Far and Near.

OLD BOYS ATTEND.

LAKEFIELD, June 21. — A large number of people including parents of the boys and friends of the school attended the closing exercises of The Grove School which were held on Thursday evening. The ideal weather which prevailed added not a little to the enjoyment of the occasion, as the beautiful grounds of the school were thronged with guests strolling about, enjoying the view of the lake and country.

Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie were assisted in receiving the guests by their daughters, Mrs. A. O. Lamp man, and Misses Mary and Florence Mackenzie, and their son, Mr. Kenneth A. Mackenzie. The chapel bell brought the scattered groups together for evensong, which was held in the beautiful little edifice, erected during the autumn term. The service was conducted by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, and the lesson read by George R. Pedlar, a pupil of the school. Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., of St. John's, Peterboro, preached the sermon, takng his text from the Acts of the Apostles, Chapter ii:24: "For he was a good man full of the Holy Ghost and of fai' ," referring to St. Barnabas, whose festival was celebrated on June 11th. St. Barnabas was a native of the Island of Cyprus, being a Grecian Jew, and was very active in working for the early church, collecting funds for its maintenance, and also an ardent missionary, being associated with St. Paul in his missionary journeys.

Measured in terms of service St. Barnabas was a great man as well as a good man. The speaker exhorted his hearers to live so that the world will be the better for our being in it. All good comes from God and it is our part t make the best use of His great gifts.

The chapel service, which is probably the last till school re-opens in September, was a beautiful preface to the clo.ing exercises of the school year. The chapel has echoed and re-echoed during the term to the well known hymns sung by the clear boy voices, and many boyish prayers have ascended to the throne of God, and the ending of the term which means the joy of the long vacation ahead, brings also the note of sadness, especially for those who are not returning in September.

Prizes Distributed.

After the service the boys and the guests adjourned to the drawing room for the prize giving. Rev. A. W. Mackenzie addressed the company briefly touching on the outstanding features of the year's work, expressing his appreciation of the large number of parents who attended, as the co-operation of parents is a great assistance to the schoolmaster. Referring to the assertion, so often made, that this is a decadent age, he assured his hearers that boys and girls were really very much the same as boys and girls used to be, though perhaps a little more advanced in their ideas.

Mr. Mackenzie welcomed the old boys present who had returned to grace the festive occasion. The group included three cadets of R.M.C., viz., V. C. Hamilton, who won the sword of honor this year, Cadet Archibald and Cadet Jack E. Langley, who has successfully passed his exams.

The chapel, which was dedicated on a stormy night in January, by an old friend of the speaker, R. J. Moore of Toronto, has been a great asset to the whole school in a spiritual sense, and the short morning and evening prayers said there daily, have been of inestimable value. A service was held before Easter when the people of the village were invited and a great many young men. The sermon on thsi occasion was preached by Rev. Walter Cox, Rector of the parish.

Next year it is hoped that the new wing will be an accomplished fact, as greater accommodation is required.

TEMPERANCE RALLY HELD ON TUESDAY

Speakers Will be Sir George Foster and Hon. E. C. Drury.

The local committee which is making arrangements for the big temperance rally to be held in St. Paul's church, next Tuesday evening, reports that the indications are that there will be a large attendance, and great interest. Temperance sentiment in Peterboro has always been strong and from the interest being shown it would seem that it is even stronger to-day than before. The main speakers will be Sir George E. Foster and ex-Premier E. C. Drury, who will speak at the evening meeting. In the afternoon a meeting for women will be held in the Murray street Baptist church, at which Mrs. R. G. Smythe, President of the Ontario Women's Prohibition Committee, wil be the main speaker. This meeting will be in charge of Rev. John Bailey of Toronto, who is connected with the Central Prohibition Committee. One of the features of both meetings will be solos by A. E. Greenlaw, the noted colored baritone singer of Detroit.

Word received from out of town points indicate that a considerable number of people are likely to be present from all over the county, and even from greater distances. Many farmers are desirous of hearing both speakers and it is reported that automobile parties are being organized at outlying points. Owing to the postal strike word has not yet yet been received as to the trains the speakers will arrive on, but it is intended that deputations will meet them at the train, and look after them while in the city.

The provincial council was in session yesterday morning. On Monday Vice Admiral Sir Frederick L. Field, Commander of the British special service squadron and his officers, will be the guests of the league at luncheon.

THEATRES

FILM PROVES WOMAN'S RIGHT ON JURY.

The courtroom is crowded; the hundreds of spectators are tense with suppressed excitement. The judge sternly watches for any outbreak of emotion. But everything is so quiet that the dropping of a pin would be audible in every section of the immense room.

The prisoner, a mere girl hugging a baby in her arms, sits beside her mother, tremblingly waiting for the verdict that undoubtedly will spell doom, for she is charged with murder. There is a single ray of hope for her — on the jury is a woman. Perhaps she will understand.

This is the dramatic atmosphere in which Harry O. Hoyt directed "The Woman on the Jury," a First National picture, which is to be the feature Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre. But the courtroom episode is but one of the many powerful sequences which have been provided by the author, Bernard K. Burns, whose play ran for more than a year on Broadway.

Nearly all the celebrities of Hollywood appear in "The Woman on the Jury," which stars Sylvia Breamer.

Harry O. Hoyt, who directed the new film, is quoted as saying, "Let's give the public a real, all-star cast."

First National replied with:

Mary Carr, the sensation of "Over the Hills," has a strong part.

And, continuing to engage celebrities until the first camera began to click, First National's roster for "The Woman on the Jury" finally read: Bessie Love, Henry B. Walthall, Roy Stewart, Jean Hersholt, Ford Sterling, Arthur Lubin, Stanton Heck and Leo White, each at some time or another having "star" added to their respective names.

Mary O'Hara adapted "The Woman on the Jury" from Mary Newcomb's stage success.

AT THE ROYAL

THRILLS AND LAUGHS IN THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER

If you want to see a picture with real thrills, adventure, humor, atmosphere and a corking love-story, drop in at the Royal Theatre when they're playing "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" Monday next. It's the screen version of Edward Eggleston's widely-read novel and it's a faithful depiction of the Hoosier country during the period before the Civil War.

Then, Indiana was harrassed by bandits. No one knew who the guilty were but every one looked at his neighbor with suspicion. The Flat Creek District was not better than the rest of the country and perhaps a little bit worse.

To this section comes Ralph Hartsook, the new schoolmaster. He is warned that his pupils will probably throw him out but he's willing to take the chance and stay. He rounds up the gang of bandits who are worrying the district—although the mob almost lynches him before he succeeds in doing it and falls in love with Hannah Thompson, the orphan girl, who, according to the custom of the time, has been 'bound out' as a servant.

Henry Hull, that charming young man who has lately made a name for himself on both the screen and the speaking stage, plays the schoolmaster. Mr. Hull kisses as forcefully as he fights. What more need be said to establish him as the perpect hero? Jane Thomas is excellent as the "bound-out" girl. Nat Pendleton, the world's champion amateur heavyweight wrestler, has the part of Bud Means and after seeing him fight, we don't wonder that his title isn't challenged. The rest of the supporting cast is made up of well-known character actors of the Griffith school who give humorous and sympathetic interpretations of the Hoosiers.

FIGHTING BALL PLAYERS FINED AND SUSPENDED

RUTH PAYS $50.

CHICAGO, June 21. — With the announcement that the players involved in the riotous New York-Detroit game at Detroit last Friday had been fined as well as suspended, President Ben Johnson of the American League last night declared that fighting and boisterous conduct could have no part in the playing of an American League game and that if there are to be any more finished battles "they must be staged in a vacant lot, far removed from the ball parks."

The Babe Fined.

Babe Ruth, world's champion home run hitter, while escaping suspension was fined $50 for what President Johnson characterized as his "frenzied effort to participate in the trouble." Bob Meusel, Yankee outfielder, was fined $100 in addition to a ten day suspension. Bert Cole, the Detroit pitcher, was fined $50 and suspended for ten days.

The game, breaking up in a free-for-all fight, in which players, police and spectators participated, was forfeited 9 to 0 to the Yankees, when the police were unable to clear the field.

HASTINGS JUNIORS MADE ANOTHER WIN

Played Campbellford in Lacrosse Fixture and Made 13 to 5 Score.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 21. — The Hastings lacrosse juniors contin ued their climb for group honors by defeating the local juniors here this afternoon by a score of 13 to 5.

The game was an O.A.L.A. fixture and was witnessed by the largest crowd of the season including a contingent of ardent rooters from Hastings and a sprinkling of Havelock fans.

Play was up and down most of the first period with the local kids having much the better of it; only the good work of Scriver in the Hastings net preventing them from scoring several counters.

After Harry Ingram's unsuccessful shot, Clapper relieved and passed to Jakie Way, who raced in uncheck ed to score the only goal of the period.

After some nice passing and a close in shot. Whether Hastings had been playing under wraps, or the local youngsters had shot their bolt remains a mystery, but Hastings opened up an offensive that netted them four goals in seven minutes, and were leading 5 to 2 at the half way mark.

The Hastings kids kept up their smart offensive and registered five more, while Campbellford were only able to score one. Hastings were working the odd man repeatedly; their centre field players had a big margin on the locals. The period ended 10 to 3 for Hastings.

Hastings never let up for a minute and they scored three more goals before the Campbellford home started to work in capable fashion; they scored two and would have had more but for the big stick of Aubrey Clapper. He intercepted passes and picked the ball out of a melee in a manner disheartening to the home talent. He and Brother Bruce were the stars for Hastings. Way and Gould were also good, while Scriver in goal saved his team time after time.

McArthur was cool and steady all the way for Campbellford. Bush and Ayrhart played nice lacrosse and worked hard.

The win gives Hastings a fine chance for the district honors. They are all big and fast and the majority of them are clever stick handlers.

The game was exceptionally clean, only one penalty being handed out to B. Clapper, and that was for an accidental slash.

SARANAC TO GIVE POWER BOATS A CUP

NEW YORK, June 21.—(Canadian Press).—Mickey Walker will defend his world's welterweight title against Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and Dave Shade, will meet the winner, the New York state Athletic Commission announced yesterday.

Details have not been settled, but Chairman George E. Brower of the Commission, said the three principals had agreed to place arrangements for the two bouts in the hands of the commission. At least one of the battles will be fought in New York State, and efforts will be made to stage both during the outdoor season Mr. Brower said.

Walker's acceptance of terms which will eventually lead to a bout with Shade, has removed the disapproval of the State Athletic Commission which had banned the welterweight champion until he agreed to defend his title against Shade.

KIWANIS CLUB HAD A PICNIC

Keys of New Swimming Pool Turned Over to Health Association.

One of the most successful luncheons in the long record of successful Kiwanis Club events was held last evening in Jackson Park, to celebrate the official opening and presentation to the Peterboro Health Association of the swimming pool just completed at the Park, and the swings installed and presented by the Club. A party of about one hundred local members, with twenty members of the Lindsay Club and their wives, who motored down for the occasion, were, present and took part in the excellent programme provided. A soft ball game at the Armouries was played at half-past four o'clock, concluding with the very satisfactory and amicable score of 3-3, and was followed by an excellent pic-nic luncheon at Jackson Park, where the keys of the swimming pool and the swings were formally turned over to the Peterboro Health Association by Mayor J. J. Turner, a member of the society.

The president, Jack Marshall, had charge of the proceedings, and welcomed the visitors in a short opening address.

An acknowledgement of the gifts was made by the vice-president of the Peterboro Health Asociation, Rev. P. Costello, who made a very happy little speech commending the work of the club and their community spirit as manifested in the various works at the Park for the camp for children of the city. The vice president's remarks were seconded in a short address by Dr. G. S. Cameron. President Bert McLean of Lindsay also spoke briefly. Other members of the Health Association present were Dr. F. C. Neal, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer and Mrs. A. W. Turner.

The party then adjourned to Victoria Park, at the suggestion of Mayor Turner to listen to the exceptionally fine programme put on there last evening by the combined musicians of the Rangers Band, the Symphony Orchestra, the Male Voice Choir and the Caledonian Pipe Band. The Kiwanians were most enthusiastic over the splendid music provided later, some of the members motored to Chemong Park.

A new member welcomed to the club at yesterday's festivities was Rev. James Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints' Anglican church.

The swimming-pool at the Park, just completed by the Kiwanians, under supervision of Kiwanian Hamish MacIntosh, is splendidly constructed of concrete and lumber. It is one hundred feet long, fifty feet wide, with a uniform depth of about twenty-six inches, and a capacity for entire change of water every three hours.

YALE WON RACE.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 21 (Canadian Press). — Yale won the four-mile Varsity eight-oared race yesterday afternoon, defeating Harvard by three lengths.

UNEXPESTED RETURNS.

A cetrain statesman recently became a parent. On announcing the news the doctor exclaimed gleefully: "I congratulate you, sir, you are the father of triplets." The politician was astonished. "No, no, no," he replied with more than Parlimentary eloquence, "there must be some mistake in the return. I demand a recount."—Tit-Bits.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., June 21. —(United Press).—A long cherished plan of the power boat owners of the Saranac chain for a gold challenge cup race for the speed boat championship of the Adirondacks is on the verge of becoming a reality.

Plans call for the holding of the race each year on the water of Upper or oLwer Saranac Lakes, Lake Placid and Upper St. Regis Lake, each of the resorts to have the race in turn.

The trophy planned will be one of the most valuable offered for power boat races. Some of the fastest speed boats in the world are owned by wealthy Adirondack campers. Most of the boats are of the type that may be moved easily from lake to lake on large motor trucks.

The race is being promoted by the Saranac Lake Boat and Waterways Club. This year's race will be at Lower Saranac Lake, at a date not yet decided upon.

"BOY OF MINE" TO LEAVE ROYAL TO-NIGHT.

Booth Tarkington's name on a book or film is a guarantee of its excellence as entertainment, and "Boy of Mine" is no exception to the rule. This production has created a very favorable impression locally among lovers of the better photoplays. It is worth while, and patrons should take advantage of the last screening to-night. It's too good to pass by.

A WORLD ENTERTAINER.

Naftzger, the celebrated soloist, who is coming to Murray Street Baptist Church on Monday, June 30, has twice toured round the world, and sung to capacity audiences in every leading British metropolis. His coming is made possible because he is passing through Peterboro on his way to Pittsburgh, and constitutes a musical treat seldom available to Peterboro music-lovers. He is a great artist—his visit an outstanding event.

THE RED LETTER BIBLE A VOLUME OF UNIQUE VALUE.

During our really wonderful distribution of the Big Print Red Letter Bible we have come in personal contact with hundreds of our readers. This is one feature that has been especially pleasant to us, since we have come to know that they are among the most refined and intelligent classes of this community. That we have also been able to render them a genuine service, and enable them to secure what is probably the best edition of the Bible for family use, is likewise a matter of congratulation to ourselves. We have only one regret—that we shall probably be unable to renew our contract for an additional quantity. Unless we are much mistaken the number on hand will barely satisfy the coupons yet to be presented. The number that demand the volume seem to be increasing, and we desire to honor all coupons—but there may be some disappointed holders who have not heeded our repeated warnings.—The Examiner.

Most Urgent Wants

There's a world of interest in the Want Ads. They reflect the urgent desires of various businesses, households and individuals.

The Wants tell what is most needed. If the cook has left, if a worker is needed in the office or factory, if an article of value is lost or found, if there is urgent necessity to sell a piece of property, secure tenants, roomers or boarders—all such conditions are expressed and met in the Want Columns.

The Wants are close to the heart interests of hte people. It is interesting to watch them carefully.

MOUNT EVEREST CLAIMS 2 LIVES

Two Gallant Men Lose Their Lives in Attempt to Scale the Only Unconquered Mountain.

LONDON, June 21. — (United Press).—Mount Everest, the world's highest and only unconquered mountain peak, has claimed the loves of two gallant British Climbers George Light Mallory and W. C. Irvin.

Their bodies lie in the grip of the eternal fearful snows of Everest, only a mile and a half from the summit; a height never before attained by man. The rest of the party returned to a base camp safely and Colonel Norton, another of the explorers telegraphed meagre details of the tragedy.

Serious doubts were expressed today that man will ever succeed in climbing to the roof of the world. World wide tributes to the courage of Mallory and Irvin were pouring in to-day. That they had faced the perils of Everest's step slopes knowing full well of the danger was attested to by Mallory's last message; "The third time we walked up East Rongbuck Glacier will be the last, for better or worse. We expected no mercy from Everest."

They received none and the unconquerable peak enfolded them in its restless swirling snows, presumably about a fortnight ago.

It is understood here that the bodies could not be received Mallory was particularly distinguished as a mountaineer and it was he who in the 1922 expedition established a record of 26,800 feet without the use of Oxyden. He also took part in reconsaisance work the previous year.

Irwin was an oxford student, only 22 years old, who had obtained leave from school to joint the expedition. He was not noted for physique, but for his cheerful modesty and powers of endurance. The entire empire, mourns the loss of these gallant men whose only thought was to place the flag of Britain atop of the world's highest peak.

TORONTO STRIKERS ARE STILL STRONG

Only Signs of Weakness Are Return of Railway Clerks and 19 Others.

TORONTO, Ont., June 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Return of the railway mail clerks and of nineteen other strikers to work and the refusal of the strikers' mass meeting to permit the postal clerks to hold a separate meeting, were the only signs of weakness in the ranks of the local post office strikers this morning. At the general post office, the postal authorities state that 750 men are at work, while hundreds of applicants for letters appeared on the scene early this morning.

RECRUIT NEW MEN.

OTTAWA, June 21. — (Canadian Press.)—Postmasters at Toronto, Montreal, Kitchener and Windsor were instructed in a telegram from the Acting Postmaster-General to-day to proceed to recruit new men to replace those who did not report for duty at 8 o'clock standard time this morning. The telegram stated that employees who did not return to duty this morning are "definitely out of the service." Postmasters at points affected were asked in the telegram to give preference in employing new men to those who have passed their Civil Service examinations and to returned soldiers.

COUNTY COUNCIL REJECTS OFFERS FROM LAKEFIELD

Overtures of Reeve Strickland Again Rejected After Lengthy Debate.

SESSION ENDED.

No Progress Toward Bringing Villages Into Good Roads System.

The County Legislators prorogued this morning, following a drawn out discussion on the advisability of the villages of the county entering the County Roads Systems.

On Friday afternoon the council went into committee on county roads with Reeve H. B. Rye in the chair.

The following recommendation was embodied in the committee's report:

"That the County Roads committee proceed as they have been doing and if the villages desire to come in to the county road system on the usual terms this council will then consider the same at any time, with 50 per cent. of the government subsidies refunded to the villages; that the county solicitor draw up a by-law embodying the granting of 50 per cent. of the government subsidy, and the annual levies back to the villages."

On Friday evening, everything appeared bright and rosy for the villages; but another day was coming. It arrived on Saturday morning. New difficulties arose and finally after the value of discussion had been exhausted Warden Coughlin at 12 a.m. found that he had a motion, an amendment and an amendment to the amendment before him.

The amendment to the amendment—that no action should be taken in reference to the entry of the villages into the system, was sponsored by Reeve Robert Scott of Chandos and seconded by Deputy Reeve Lillico of North Monaghan. The amendment to the amendment was put first and it carried.

Although this resolution of the council didn't satisfy all, all the members felt relieved when this question had been disposed of.

"Carried," said the Warden. "And if another man mentions 'villages' at this session I'll call a cop!"

At the Friday afternoon session, J. C. Strickland, Lakefield's chief magistrate, drew the council's attention to the fact that if Lakefield entered the system and their main road was designated a county road as a result, the Lakefield bridge now in the course of construction, the county would received 40 per cent. of the cost of the construction of the bridge from the government. "The county will receive $11,000 it would not otherwise receive," remarked Reeve Strickland, "and it's good business for the county."

Lakefield's representative also wanted the county to pave the village Broadway bridge and Smith St. at a cost of $1,000. The resolution of the committee however abandoned the paving scheme.

Reeve Strickland urged with stern persistency the advantages the county would receive by adopting the scheme he had fathered. The members of the council all thought that it was good business for the council to find a method of obtaining 40 per cent. of the cost of the Lakefield bridge construction from the government but as a body the council balked on the paving condition.

According to the recommendation of the committee on county roads, the villages would get back the full annual levy for roads and 50 per cent. of the government grant be refunded. Reeve R. Scott of Chandos remarked that the back townships had better go into the system with such terms available.

Under this system the villages would have to spend their money under the supervision of the county road superintendent. Lakefield also having spent considerable money on roads this year did not want the rate struck for county road purposes in Lakefield until 1925. This was another obstacle in the path of the Council in adopting the report of the Standing Committee on County Roads.

Reeve Pakenham stated that Norwood was in the same position.

Reeve Curtis of Havelock said "that it did not matter to Havelock whether the rate was struck this year or next ;the villages are going into the system so that the county can take advantage of the Government grant on the Lakefield bridge. If the rate is struck this year, we can spend the money next year."

"Lakefield should have been in the system long ago," said Reeve Curtis. "and we would have the benefit of the Government grant on the bridge now."

Warden Coughlin brought up the matter of the claim of T. Sullivan of Douro for road allowance. "This matter has been hanging fire for four or five years, and I think it should be settled right now," said the Warden.

Several members of the Council pointed out that a committee had been appointed to deal with this claim, and the Warden had to drop the matter.

Reeve Pakenham, of Norwood, urged that the Belmont Street bridge of Norwood be assumed as a county bridge. This was brought up before the resolution deferring action on the village road question was passed, and it was suggested that this bridge would become a county road bridge when Norwood adopted the system. However Reeve Pakenham was playing safe and pressed his motion, which was seconded by Reeve Scott of Asphodel, and carried. If Norwood hasn't the benefit of the road system, it has the bridge assumed by the county.

Warden Coughlin advocated the assumption of McCoy's Bridge in Douro, stating that he had asked little for Douro.

A resolution followed, supported by Reeves Strickland and Anderson, that the county assume McCoy's Bridge as a county bridge, which carried.

Reeve Hawthorne reminded the Council of Douglas' Bridge in Dummer, and a recommendation that this bridge should be built not later than 1925 was included in the report of the committee on county property.

Deputy-Reeve Anderson stated that the Registry Office was in need of repairs, and a recommendation to that effect was included in the report of the committee on county property.

The chairmen of the standing committees read their reports, which were adopted as read, with the exception of the additions stated, and the abandonment of the village road proposition.

F. Mahood, caretaker of the Court House, was granted two weeks' holidays, provided he secured a suitable substitute at his expense.

The report of Thursday afternoon's session of the County Council, in reference to the appeal of School Section 16 to allow the matter in dispute between School Sections 16 and 10 in the Township of Otonabee, to go to arbitration, should have read: 'Messrs. Smithson and Anderson stated that they had not acted arbitrarily throughout the proceedings," instead of "Messrs. Smithson and Anderson stated that they had acted arbitrarily throughout the proceedings," as it appeared.

POTATOES PLENTIFUL

Buying Was Not Brisk at $2.25 a Bag—Other Prices.

There were plenty of potatoes on sale this morning at the farmers' market, but the buying wasn't very brisk. The finish of seeding operations and the consequent freeing of surplus supplies was given as the reason for the appearance in quantity of the great favorite of Canadian dinner tables. The general price was $2.25 a bag, with some vendors asking $2.50. Small, panting, hot piglets were $6.50 a pair. Six weeks old, they came in assorted shades of pink and reddish brown.

The fish-man had silver speckled trout at 20 cents a pound. There were local-grown strawberries at 30 cents a box, tomatoes at 20 cents a pound, both appreciable reductions of recent prices, and asparagus at 2 bunches for a quarter. One of the downstair curb men had oranges and bananas in his cart, the former at 35 cents a dozen, the latter at 30 and 40 cents.

Big bunches of cream and pale-brown iris, with gypsophila, were 30 and 40 cents a bunch. Peonies could be purchased upstairs for a nickel each.

In the basket section, there was plenty of butter and eggs. Butter sold from 28 to 35 cents a pound, and eggs from 26 to 30 cents a dozen. Fowl was almost uniformly priced at 25 cent a pound.

PREMIERS HELD CONFERENCE IN FRIENDLY NOTE

Herriot and MacDonald Arranged Allied Conference on Dawes Report.

GENERAL AGREEMENT

Decide to Visit Geneva Together—France May Submit to League.

LONDON, June 23. — British Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald and M. Herrot ,the French Premier, have agreed providing there is no objection from the other Allies, that an Allied conference shall be held in London not later than mid-July for the purpose of definitely settling the procedure to be adopted for putting the Dawes report into execution.

What is possibly of still greater import is that the two Premiers will visit Geneva together at the opening of the Assembly of the League of Nations in September, next.

With the same measure of informality and directness that has characterized most of the doings of England's first Labor Government the first conference in England between the British and French Premiers since the fall of the Briand Government brought M. Poincare into power, with his well-known dislike for such personal encounters, has been held at Chequers Court. At the conclusion of this conference the following communication was issued from the Foreign Office:

"A meeting between the British and French Prime Ministers was held at Chequers Saturday and Sunday. Friendly and informal discussions took place on several questions which arose out of the Dawes report and measures to be taken in order to put it into execution. No definite conclusions could, of course, be arrived at pending consultations with the Italian and Belgian Governments.

General Agreement

"The conversations revealed a general agreement between the French and British points of view and on the part of the two Prime Ministers, a common determination to meet the difficulties which beset their countries, and indeed the whole world, by continuous co-operation. It was agreed that, subject to the convenience of the other Allies, a conference should be held in London not later than the middle of July, for the purpose of definitely settling the procedure to be adopted.

The two Prime Ministers agreed to pay a brief visit to Geneva together at the opening of the Assembly of the League of Nations in September next."

GOVERNMENT PARTY IN MALTA REVIVED

Thought Down and Out, the Ministerial Party Successfully Carries On.

MALTA, June 23. — (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The new parliament of Malta met on Saturday when the ministerial or political union party, thought to have been reduced to ten members at the recent elections, successfully carried on again: the opposition, numbering twenty-two. The reason for this, however, is that the Labor party of seven members recently passed a resolution declaring that they would support any party carrying out their programme. This the Ministerial party are now doing. The government's opening address shows a union embodying most of the programmes of the labor and constitutional parties, including the use of the Maltese language in the lower courts, which before the elections the Government strenuously opposed.

CHURCH UNION WILL COME UP IN THE HOUSE

Tomorrow Opens What Should be the Final Act in Regard to the Bill.

CHANGES MOOTED

No Name Found Yet for the New Party of Six Ex-Progressives.

OTTAWA, June 23. — The Church Union Bill is scheduled to enter this week upon what may be—but what may not be—its last stage in the House of Commons. The bill comes up on Tuesday, according to arrangements, in the committee stage, and is to be given right of way by agreement with the government. If this measure follows the usual course of legislation it will proceed through committee and then be moved for third reading. The sponsors of the bill however have given notice of amendments to remove the provision referring the bill to the courts; and this may lead to its being referred back to the Private Bills Committee to have this amendment made.

Another amendment, of which notice has been given, fixes the date for the coming into effect of the bill on June 10, 1925.

Searching a Name.

Interest in the party tactics in the House during the rest of the session has received a fillip by the addition of six of the Progressive memmbers in notifying Robert Forke, the Progressive leader, that they will not in future attend caucus. There has already been some speculation as to what the new group will be called, and how they will allign themselves in the House. It has been suggested that they should be known as the Progressive Left or Independent Progressives; but no definite announcement has been made upon the matter. The House has not yet taken action upon the report of the privileges and elections committee on the charges against Hon. James Murdock. Consideration of this question has been delayed by the illness of E. Guss Porter, Conservative, West Hastings, who made the charges. The date for the debate has now been fixed, however, for Wednesday next. In the meantime, Mr. Murdock is absent from his seat in the House though he still carries on the functions of Minister of Labour.

Banking questions still continue to occupy much time in Parliament. A deputation of the Home Bank depositors is to appear before the Banking and Commerce Committee of the House of Commons on Wednesday, and it has been intimated that the deputation may reach 200 in number. On the day previous, it is stated, G. T. Clarkson, one of the liquidators of the Home Bank, will appear be-

GRAIN INCREASED AT HEAD OF LAKE

Two Million Bushels More Wheat in Store Than Last Week.

FOR WILLIAM June 23 (Canadian Press). — Stocks of all grains at the head of the Lakes increased last week by almost three million bushels, increases being recorded in all grains with the exception of barley.

There are almost two million bushels more wheat in store than a week ago, and oats are up nearly one million bushels.

Receipts of all grains totalled 8,148,833 bushels, and shipments, 5,176,796 bushels.

For some weeks receipts and shipments have almost balanced, but this is the first time since navigation opened that such an increase has been registered.

Wheat in store is now over sixteen and a quarter million bushels and oats are over five million bushels.

BEER BY GLASS IS THROWN OUT

According to Indications in B. C. Elections—Women Defeated.

LIBERALS RETURNED

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 23. — (Canadian Press.) —After one of the closest elections in British Columbia history, with three major parties contesting every seat and labor after 18, the Liberal government is returned to power, although to maintain its position in the House it will require the co-operation of one or two Independent Liberals. The returns so far received show twenty Liberals safely elected, sixteen Conservatives, two Independents, three Labor men and three Provincials returned. There are a number of seats in which total returns are not yet in. A big absentee vote also must be counted 21 days hence, and results of some constituents may be changed.

The Liberal party officials claim to have rounded up and taken to the polls more absentee voters than any other party. Yesterday they were expressing hope that among 400 absentee votes in Victoria, alone ,there may be enough to assure Mrs. Ralph Smith's election in Vancouver.

Women Defeated.

A feature of the election was the defeat of every woman candidate, even popular Mrs. Ralph Smith, who last time headed the poll with the largest plurality a single candidate ever had in Vancouver.

Definite results on the beer plebiscite will not likely be known until late to-day as the returns from rural constituencies are very incomplete, but it is generally conceded that the sale of "beer by the glass," under government supervision, has been rejected by the majority of British Columbia electors.

SMALL RIVER STEAMER STRANDED ON SAND BAR

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Small river excursion steamer, stranded Saturday three miles above Cataract in the Niagara river, was released yesterday by tugs, none the worse. It was the steamer Grace Dormer, which with a pleasure barge, was taking a crowd of 330 excursionists around Grand Island. On Saturday afternoon she grounded on a sand bar. There was no panic on board, although the mist of the cataract could be seen from the docks. A couple of launches put out from Lasalle on the United States' shore and the passengers were removed in batches of twenty.

PARTY PLEDGE NO SECESSION SAYS HERTZOG

Prospective Premier of South Africa Gives Assurance of Loyalty.

SEEKS HARMONY

Has Nothing to Say About Plums for the Labor Party.

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, June 23.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—When interviewed yesterday with reference to the statement of Tileman Roos, labor leader in the Transvaal, that the labor group would probably be offered two portfolios in the new government which will succeed the defeated Smuts ministry, General Hertzog the nationalist leader replied that Roos was free to say what he liked but he (Hertzog) was not.

General Hertzog, the prospective premier declared that the nationalists expected labor support and admitted frankly that the nationalists could not carry on a new administration without that support. He added that the verdict of the people at the polls last Tuesday implied that the people agreed with the labor-nationalist pact and expected its continuation after the elections and that the two parties should stand by one another and assist each other to govern the country in a manner conductive to harmony and prosperity. There was nothing to prevent the two parties from coming to a mutual understanding as to the line of policy which should be followed during their period of co-operation in the government of the country. He expected the ministry would be organized with in the next few days.

No Seccession

When asked whether he would repeat his assurance that the nationalists would stand by their pledge to make no effort to change South Africa's constitutional relationship with Britain as laid down in the Act of Union, General Hertzog replied: "The nationalists are, without exception, determined to stand by their pledge given to labor. I say positively that the nationalists do not look upon secession as a matter of practical politics and are not likely to do so until the rest of the people and especially the mass of British in favor of it."

CANADA FIRST TO HER HELP

Says Belgium's Foreign Minister in Welcoming Canadian Journalists.

CEMENT FRIENDSHIP

BRUSSELS, June 23.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—A welcome was extended to the touring Canadian journalists here on Saturday by Foreign Minister Hymans, who in addressing the visitors, recalled that Canada was the first of the Dominions to come to the assistance of Belgium in 1914. Since then, he said, the relations of the two countries had continued to grow more intimate. The two governments were at present engaged in studying the question of a trade treaty.

The Canadians placed a wreath on the grave of the unknown soldier, visited the chamber of deputies and the senate, the museum and the place where Nurse Cavell was shot. After a reception at the town hall the members of the party were received by the King to whom they were introduced by the British Ambassador.

At Antwerp

ANTWERP, June 23.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The Burgomaster of the city yesterday welcomed at an official reception the visiting Canadian journalists, members of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, at the City Hall.

IMPERIALISM IS SEEN IN ACTION OF LABOR PARTY

Grave Blow to Work Accomplished at Imperial Conference in London.

SAYS HAL O'FLAHERTY

New Party Feels Bound to Develop Its Own Empire Policy.

LONDON, Eng., June 23.—The decision of the House of Commons not to extend preferential rates to products shipped to the Mother Country from other parts of the British Empire has wrecked beyond repair much of the work done by the Imperial Economic Conference last year. All the hopes so confidently expressed when the various Dominion Premiers met in London that a new era in Imperial development and economic co-operation was dawning disappeared when the House of Commons voted against the conference proposals.

In many minds this action of the Mother Country arouses grave questions. Is it the first step in a slow disintegrating movement? Will such dominions as Australia and New Zealand look elsewhere for the trade preferences denied them by the motherland? Will political action follow this economical rebuff? These are among the questions asked, but in all quarters here it is hoped that the dominions will await action on other measures designed to mitigate the refusal of preference to their products.

New Plans Put Forward.

Now that the differences of opinion between the free traders and the protectionists have been cleared away, several schemes for empire co-operation have been put forward. These include vast plans for emigration, for railway development in the dominions, for wireless communications and other capital works designed to benefit both the dominions and the Mother Country, which will supply the financial backing.

Another effect of the controversy over Imperial preference has been to produce in the Labor-Socialist party a new attitude toward Imperialism. In the past the Socialists have been the bitterest opponents of Imperialism, but a few months of practical experience in office have produced a new attitude.

Committee Being Formed.

The Labor Cabinet feels forced to produce an empire policy of its own, aimed at the utilization of the resources of the empire for the benefit of all its members. The Labor-Socialist party is now organizing a committee to work out its Imperial policy with Leslie Haden Guest as chairman.

With this new spirit the Labor party sees many opportunities of opening up Empire co-operation hitherto closed by the party's inexperience and lack of appreciation of the Empire's possibilities. Thus far no reports have been received from Australia and New Zealand regarding the re-action in those countries to the rejection of preferential rates on their products. Some bitterness undoubtedly exists, but with brighter prospects of action along other lines the feeling may be allayed.

RAIN DESTROYS CROPS ON OISE

French District Stricken by Terrific Storms—Corn Beaten Flat.

MANY KILLED

PARIS, June 23 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — Crops are suffering considerably as a result of the recent torrential rains which have beaten the corn flat and fruit trees have been damaged by hail.

Throughout the Department of Oise the crops have been ruined.

In Eur-et-Loir Department, two agricultural labourers were killed by lightning while working in a field, and an army captain, when driving a motor car, was so blinded by the flashes of lightning that he drove his car against a telegraph pole and was killed.

At Sarlat the roofs of a theatre and the law courts were blown off, and many buildings were damaged, several families being left without shelter.

At Clermont-Ferrand a woman was killed in her home by lightning.

GERMANY SEES TURNING POINT

Hopes That Parley Between Premiers May Bring New Era in Europe.

SOME PROBLEMS

BERLIN, June 23. — Germany's immediate future depends upon the success of the Anglo-French pact, in the opinion of George Bernhard, the editor of Vossische Zeitung, who joins with other editors in designating the conference between Ramsey MacDonald, the British Prime Minister, and Edouard Herriott, the French Premier, as marking the turning point in European post-war politics.

While official quarters obviously are deeply concerned over the outcome of the weak-end parley between the Premiers, the Government of Chancellor Marx is far from assuming that the road to an international and economic reconciliation has been cleared of some of its most menacing obstacles, and fully conscious that much has yet to be accomplished in the direction of creating an auspicious atmosphere for a complete and happy consummation of the Dawes report.

Some of the most essential preliminaries connected with giving the provisions of the proposals of the experts the necessary legislative formulas have sufficiently advanced to warrant the prediction that the Marx Cabinet will be able to present laws for the consideration of the Reichstag in mid-July.

These will chiefly concern the measures needed to legalize the Germanization of the federal railways into a bonded trust; a bill for funding the new Bank of Emission, and the Government's largely amplified programme of tax and customs revenues measures.

The advance of the negotiations concerning the industrial debentures is said to be making less satisfactory progress, as French private interests are aiming to have these obligations levied on specific individual industrial possessions, instead of permitting Germany to secure the issue of industrial obligations through the imposition of a huge blanket mortgage.

Industrialist circles are sternly opposing the alleged French plan of segregating debentures in a manner which would eventually permit their holders to foreclose on optional plants, thus ensuring them the pick of the choicest holdings.

One of the toughest problems awaiting official German action concerns the questions of future military control by the allies, which has been the subject of a formal note by the Council of Ambassadors, and to which the Marx Government will be required to make a final answer before the end of June. The Cabinet will confer on this issue to-day but the official reply is not expected to go forward to Paris before the end of the week. Meanwhile denial is given in official quarters that there are serious dissensions between General Von Seeckt, commander of the Reichswehr, and the Cabinet on the question of yielding to further Entente surveillance to the extent indicated in the note of the ambassadors.

MATTEOTTI WAS SLAIN BY THUG PAID FOR DEED

Agent of Fascisti Party Breaks Down and Confesses Killing Deputy.

KILLED IN CAR

Prominent Fascists Implicated—Ordered the Slaying and Paid Thugs.

ROME, June 23 (Unitel Press).—An agent of the Fascisti Party named Dumini has broken down and made a complete confession of the kidnapping and killing of Deputy Matteotti, it has been learned.

At first the defiant Dumini wilted when undeniable evidence was placed against him and exposed the entire plot.

The confession positively implicated Cesare Rossi, former Director of Publicity for the Department of the Interior; Filipo Fllipelli, editor of the Corriere de Italiano; and Marinell, administrative Secretary of the Fascisti Party.

All are Fasiists, and according to Dumini, ordered the killing and paid the assassins.

He admitted he himself and four others did the actual slaying.

The body has not been found.

Dragged Into Car.

He said Matteotti was dragged into the motor car they had hired and was killed a few minutes after getting into the car.

The slayers then drove to the woods surrounding Lake Vico, where the body was tossed out of the car and abandoned.

The slayers hurried back to Rome, where Dumini says he rushed into the office of the Corriero Italiano, and told Filipelli that the murder had been carried out.

Filipelli said it was imperative that the body be hidden, and ordered Signor Galassi and a staff man on the Corriere Italiano, and Signor Volpi, one of the slayers, to drive to the spot and hide the body.

Dumini was rather vague as to what had happened to the body of the slain deputy, but hinted that it had been burned in order to hide the evidence of the slaying.

Dumini was one of the first men arrested in connection with the plot.

After several days, the prosecutor searched his room and found pieces of blood-soaked cloth and a bloody dagger. These were taken as positive evidence that Matteotti was slain, and since that time the prosecutor has almost continually grilled the Filippi agent.

It was rumoured here that Cesare Rossi, former Publicity Director for the Ministry of the Interior, had been captured near Bari.

Police have been on the lookout for him ever since the murder.

He fled from Rome shortly after the alarm was sounded.

Most of the Italian ports have been guarded to prevent his escape from the country.

ARMAMENT INCREASE HAS GONE TOO FAR

Germany Must Pay and Halt Her Alleged Illegal Increase of Armaments.

LONDON, June 23. — (United Press.)— Germany must pay and must halt her alleged illegal increase of armaments. This is a dominant note of the editorials in the morning papers here on the Herriot-MacDonald conference at Chequers.

The Daily Express gibes at the League of Nations, suggesting that perhaps the attention of Premiers MacDonald and Herriot may give some strength and prestige to that "august but weak pulsed organization."

The Morning Post scoffs at the idea of general disarmament.

The Journal claims, on the contrary, that settlement of Europe can come only from an Anglo-French Alliance, supplemented by the former allies. Such an arrangement, it is claimed, would ensure peace, because "Germany would fear such an agreement and what she fears she respects."

BRITISH STEAMER BEEN SUNK IN BAY OF BENGAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 23.— (Canadian Press.)— British steamer Clan MacMillan has been sunk in the Bay of Bengal and the crew of the vessel is missing, according to advices received by Marine Department of Chamber of Commerce. No particulars were given.

The Clan MacMillan is a twin screw vessel, 1,109 net tons, equipped with wireless and her port of registry is Glasgow. R. N. Ervine, and Co. are last registered owners.

MALLORY TELLS OF HIS DEFEAT AT MT. EVEREST

PORTERS RESCUED.

Four Men Trapped on Glacier-Side Saved by Britons' Pluck.

Lieut.-Col. E. F. Norton, leader of the 1924 British expedition to Mount Everest, two members of whose party were killed a few days ago, relays the following story of the trip as told by Mallory, one of the victims.

In connection with our defeat in our second attack on Mount Everest the story told by Mr. Mallory is particularly interesting. He says:

"That particular slope of the corridor where the avalanche occurred in 1922 is not dangerous every day and was in perfectly good condition when Norton, O'Del and myself set forth to reach Changla on May 20. Nevertheless, warnings of bad weather already received convinced us that we must establish at the outset a way independent of this slope in case of heavy snow.

"Away to the right, separated from the corridor by a series of ice cliffs, we saw the long slopes used for the ascent by the first expedition. Would it be possible to use this crevasse if we came up to the right to take us back to the head of the corridor? Clearly on the lower lip, if we could work along, we should be protected from an avalanche from above.

Make 200-Foot Climb.

"At length the steep slope brought us to the crevasse. On the lower lip which we wanted to follow impinged hereabouts a line of ice cliffs. It was necessary to climb up a steep wall to the foot of Little Chimney. The snow in the bed of this chimney gave no foothold and steps could not be cut in its sides, so inconveniently narrow it was.

"Before we emerged and found ourselves on the big crevasse proper, with the lip fortunately accessible, we had climbed 200 feet as steep and difficult as one could wish to find on any big mountain.

"On the following day, the 21st, Somerville, Irvin and Hazard set forth to escort a lot of loads to camp No. 4. It was snowing slightly when they started and the day grew worse. The ice chimney, they rightly decided, was too narrow for the majority of the loads. Somerville and Irvin established themselves at the top, while Hazard directed operations from below, and all twelve loads were hauled up. Tremendous efforts must have been required of those two who hauled and the two or three porters who

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

RECEIVER CAN BE TRANSMITTER

It's What Interferes With Clear Reception.

There are several receivers in use to-day that are transmitting at the same time.

The result is that they are sources of troublesome interference to neighboring radio fans.

Improper manipulation of the dials causes whistles and squeals which break into reception of broadcast programs by other listeners. This squealing comes especially from the single circuit receiver, although there are other circuits, like the three-tuned circuit that causes trouble.

To keep the set from radiating, the dials should be adusted to the point just below that at which a whistle is heard. That keeps the detector tube at the oscillation point and yet just below the point at which it radiates.

JUMPER DRESSES

The sweater and skirt costume popular for so many seasons is giving way this year to a jumper dress in one material such as kasha, rep or jersey.

FRINGED SCARF

SCARF STLYES

There are many variations of the scarf this season but one of the most interesting is buttoned across the bateau neckline of a kasha coat.

PARASOLS

Embroidered parasols are new this season. One of the most gorgeous ones is of black velvet lined with shell pink satin embroidered in rose shades.

Big Bargains in USED CARS

We have still some good bargains left.

Star Touring, 1923 model, privately owned; has original tires and license.

Overland light four and some earlier models.

Two Chevrolet Tourings.

Ford Tourings, 1923 models, 1922 models and some earlier ones.

Two Ford ton trucks complete, both dandies.

Time payments if you have not all the cash.

WOMEN SUFFER TO BE BEAUTIFUL

NEW YORK, June 23.—A new and surprising chapter has just been added to the old story of "what women will endure to be beautiful."

Stout dowagers, society beauties who want to keep their slender silhouettes, overnight grand opera prima donnas and Follies girls whose figures are their fortunes, are flocking to a certain private house in a fashionable district here.

Complete Examination.

Before a patient is accepted, she undergoes a complete physical examination, including blood tests, heart and lung tests and chemical analysis, precisely in a modern hospital. Only when her physical condition proves all right is she permitted to go on.

First, she is stretched out on the "electric chair," which is really an electric couch.

The whole surface of this couch is made of a series of separately insulated metal plates, so that the current can be used only for the parts of the body which want reducing.

The patient, lying on these plates, has other metal plates laid on the top of her body, or placed around her arms or legs. Then a lot of sand-bags, in some cases weighing in the aggregate as much as 150 pounds, are carefully laid over the part of the body to be treated.

The current, which is first run through transformers and other elaborate standardized electrical devices that absolutely preclude the possibility of accident, is turned on.

Immediately the muscles and the whole tissue of the part of the body to be reduced begin to jerk and vibrate and "exercise." This continues for a period of twenty minutes.

The Rolling Machine.

The next stage is the electrical hot cabinet, a big box, in which the patient is placed with only her head sticking out of the top.

There's a row of them, and when the boxes are all occupied it looks like the interior of an old-fashioned prison in China, except that the "prisoners" t seem to be enjoying it instead of suffering.

After the hot box, with subsequen rubbings in of cream and strenuous massage, the woman is taken into the "steel roller" room, and there the most serious and final part of the treatment takes place.

Heavy flexible steel rollers are fastened around her middle like a belt or girdle, and up and down they go over the hips, or whatever part of the body is to be reduced, over and over again, loosening and breaking up the tiny cells of the fatty tissue.

In one room there are a dozen or more of these huge machines in a line, and when they are all filled with women, with the rollers working up and down, it makes a "stage set" that excels in weirdness any mystery melodrama ever produced.

TORONTO GIRL FELL DOWN STAIRS SUNDAY

TORONTO, June 23 (Canadian Press). — Florence Scott, injured on Sunday morning when she fell down stairs in her home, 37 Walton Street, died last night in St. Michael's Hospital.

At the time of the accident she was not thought to be seriously hurt.

Later in the day she became unconscious, and was taken to the hospital.

PAFF THOUGHT LANDLORD WAS A SANTA CLAUS

Neighbors Always Said He Was Too Easy—Actually Paid His Rent.

THEN HE TURNED

A Story in Which the Worm Squirms and Uses a Baseball Bat.

CHICAGO, June 23.— Concerning the manner in which Roman Fortnackel broke his plate—the upper one—with B. Paffionicz, lately of apartment 3-B at 77—something Archer avenue — well we really ought to have a jury.

Never in all the years Mr. Fortnackel has spent on the southwest side has any one dared to say a word against the character of B. Paffionicz. Mr. Paffionicbz was too easy—that's what he was. If the landlord asked him for the rent, he paid it—that's what he did . . . No argument . . . No nothing . . . Just paid the rent—45 smacks—right on the nose the first of every month. The neighbors protested that he was setting a dangerous precedent. But it must be said, even though it pains —Mr. Paffionicz was a bit dumb.

He thought a precedent was something chosen by the polls. And Mr. Paffionicz is a Lithuanian.

Mr. Paffionicz dealt in antiques—rags and old iron—and he did quite a lucrative business selling extinct magazines to dentists' offices. He worked fourteen hours a day juggling scrapiron and often cleared as high as $125 a month. So he felt no strain in paying his rent promptly. Easy come—easy go.

He Should Be a Sap.

His wife used to protest about his unbusiness-like conduct. Nobody else paid rent without an argument. Why should, now, he be such a sap? She asked him that. He should now get into trouble being easy like that—watch and see. The landlord would know his advantages. If he didn't have brains like that he wouldn't be a landlord.

But Mr. Paffionicz had never seen the landlord. He enjoyed a unique distinction in his neighborhood, but it was deserved. He mailed a money order before anybody could come around to collect. So he wasn't alarmed at his wife's forebodings. A landlord was a mythical character—like Santa Claus, with a reverse English—who never really bothered anybody.

But at 8 o'clock this morning Mr. Paffionicz learned that gratitude is like wall-paper—very hard to get out of a landlord. Into his apartment, as he was gazing upon his modest breakfast of tripe and fried potatoes, came Mrs. Roman Fortnackel to discuss a matter of some importance.

"Your rent," said Mrs. Fortnackel. "It's raised $3 a month."

"Why?" demanded Mr. Paffionicz dazedly.

"We got trouble," said Mrs. Fortnackel. "Nothing but trouble. My heart is all busted account we got to do this. But Roman he got arrested for bootlegging and then he lost some money in a business deal with a man who had dollar bills in a cigar box and now he needs some new false teeth. Honest it's just one thing after another, an' I don't know which way to turn."

"My Move," Says Paffionicz.

"I do," said Mr. Paffionicz. "I move—see. An' you should try an' get more good families to live in this dump." He rose dramatically and looked up a moving company and a renting agent in the telephone book.

It will long be a legend in Archer avenue—how Mr. Paffionicz, outraged by his landlord's false teeth, dragged his chattels to the street. A figure of righteous wrath, he stood by as husky movers tossed gilt chairs, red rugs and the phonograph into a capacious van. He was still indignant when the last of the equipment was moved into the new flat he had rented by phone.

"Fifty-six dollars," said the boss mover, lisping just a little.

"Fifty-six," repeated Mr. Paffionicz. "You told me it would be around $20."

"Fifty-six," said the mover. "Just to cover my loss—see * * * I now own the building you just moved out of. My name is Fortnackel."

Judge Joseph Burke will decide in the Englewood court to-day whether Mr. Fortnackel's upper teeth fell out after the manner of his lower plate or were knocked out by a baseball bat as alleged.

POSTMEN'S STRIKE PRACTICALLY OVER

The Matter is Now Closed as Far as the Government is Concerned.

OTTAWA, June 23 (Canadian Press).—The Prime Minister's Office last night reiterated its statement made on Saturday that the Government could make no further offers to the striking postal workers, and that the matter was now officially closed as far as the Government was concerned.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, was out of town yesterday, and it was impossible to find out whether any further negotiations had been carried out between the Department and the leaders of the striking postal workers.

The postal workers' strike committee at Labour Temple this mornig announced that th following telegram had been sent to the Montreal Strike Committee:

"Please accept offer of railway engineers to man no more trains carrying mail. Send our representative to see their representative to express approval. (Signed) Jackson, Redditt, Browning, and Brown."

BODY OF LEO NORMAND HAS BEEN RECOVERED

ARNPRIOR, June 23.—(Canadian Press).—The body of Leo Normand who was accidentally drowned here on June 8th has been recovered. Peculiar actions of a gull who kept circling around an unrecognizable object in the Lake led a grenier to investigate. With help of two other men they succeeded in bringing the body to shore. The funeral was held on Friday morning to Sand Point Cemetery.

NOT NEGOTIATING

Washington and Paris Not Talking of Recognition of Russia.

PARIS, June 23 (Canadian Press).—In denying reports that Paris is negotiating with Washington over recognition of the Russian Soviet, Government officials declared yesterday that the delivery by the French Government to Secretary of State Hughes of a copy of Premier Herriot's declaration concerning resumption of relations with Moscow was "an act of courtesy."

It was explained at the Foreign Office that Ambassador Jusserand gave Secretary Hughes a copy of the passage of the French ministerial declaration regarding Russia, simply because the United States is interested in the Russian situation.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS

At the Regent.

The programme at the Regent for this week is as follows:

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday: "The Town that Forgot God."

Thursday, Friday and Saturday — Herbert Rawlinson in "Stolen Secrets" will be the feature picture. There will also be given another episode of the serial "Speed," and the usual comedy attraction every evening.

The picture, "The Town that Forgot God," has been shown throughout the province, the usual price of admission being 75 cents. Capt. Hyland has decided to give his patrons an opportunity to see this masterpiece at reduced rates, and for the first three nights of the week the price of admission will be 15 and 10 cents.

GENEVA, June 23 (Canadian Press).—Following an announcement by Dr. Giuseppe Motta, Switzerland's representative in the League of Nations, that Switzerland had no objection, Russia is expected shortly to delegate an official observer at Geneva. The Moscow Government has been cool to the Berne Government since the assassination of the Russian envoy to the Lausanne Conference.

The Russian Government has been showing the keenest interest in what collaboration (if any) the United States and Germany are giving the League. A secretariat has been keeping Moscow fully informed. It is believed here that Russia's future attitude toward the League depends considerably on the outcome of the Anglo-Russian negotiations in London.

J. H. Thomas ,British Secretary for the Colonies, told the International Labor Conference that Russia was in desperate need of foreign capital; that the time had come when she must abandon her voluntary isolation and endeavor to lessen, instead of exaggerating, the differences between her form of government and that of other nations.

Mr. Thomas expressed the conviction that by force of events the League of Nations and the International Labor Bureau would in the near future become universal.

Reports received in Geneva indicate that many countries, especially Scandinavia, are making efforts to induce Germany to seek membership in th League.

Masonic Service.

Tweed Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 239, attended divine service in the Methodist Church yesterday. Over one hundred members and a number of visiting brethren from outside lodges walked to church.

Rev. Bro. Robinson Clare assisted Rev. Bro. Wight in the service.

Mr. Wight spoke from Cor. 3, 10 and 16: "According to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise masterbuilder, I have laid the foundation and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth," and "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you." He told how the foundation of this order had been well laid in the far distant past and that it was builded for fraternity, good citizenship, and in the fear of God. He admonished the brethren to build their lives on a sure foundation; to be true to their friends and to their ideals.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use if Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family, for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

PREMIERS HELD

The courtly formality of old-time diplomacy was noticeably absent from the meeting. The French party arrived at Chequers Court late on Saturday evening in the midst of a tropical thunderstorm. They were met at the entrance to the house by the British Prime Minister wearing a golf suit. Dinner was waiting and without delaying to change clothes, the party sat down immediately.

The meal ended, they adjourned to the library, where the conversations began forthwith and did not end until 1.30 a.m. They were resumed after breakfast yesterday and were continued until lunch time at 2..30. So that, clearly the two statesmen had strenuously thrashed out all sides of the difficult problems confronting them.

Friendly Meeting

After lunch the party came out on the terrace and posed for photographers, and Mr. MacDonald made a brief address of welcome to a dozen French reporters whom he had invited to come from an adjacent village, where they had awaited patiently throughout the night hoping to glean some information on the proceedings of the conference.

Mr. MacDonald led the party through the beauty spots of the grounds until it was time for M. Herriot and his compatriots to leave for London. At the golf links of the estate Mr. MacDonald said jokingly to M. Herriot:

"Here we can play a match—France versus England."

Again, when the French Premier expressed regret at not having time for a longer walk, Mr. MacDonald said: "M. Herriot, you must come back again."

At the parting, the two Premiers appeared very pleased, and although no word was spoken publicly by any member of the party bearing on the conference, good augurys were drawn by the spectators by the evident friendliness of the meeting.

Arriving at London, M. Herriot was met by the French Ambassador. He visited the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster and placed a wreath on the cenotaph. He was given a warm welcome by the people and remained in London overnight, proceeding to Brussels this morning.

As it had been thought that no communique would be issued, the fact, that Mr. MacDonald had seen his way to make such a satisfactory statement to the public is interpreted here as proving that he has received ample assurnaces from M. Herriot, and that, provided the French Premier is able to secure support in the Chamber for his policy, the main difficulties will soon be removed from the path of the reparations problem.

Much significance lie in the decision of the two Premiers to go to Geneva together. As viewed here, one of the points separating British and French policies, was that Mr. MacDonald desired that security for France after she evacuates the Ruhr should be provided through the League of Nations, while the French view was that such League security would not suffice and France must have more a direct form of security.

May Admit Germany

If the Foreign Office communique means that Premier Herriot is becoming converted to the idea of admitting Germany to the League and accepting that form of security, it is felt that much has been accomplished But events must wait on the attitude of the French Chamber, were M. Herriot is less certain of support than Premier MacDonald is in the British Parliament.

The view expressed in French official quarters in London last night was that M. Herriot was extremely pleased with his personal negotiations with the British Prime Minister and is very optimistic regarding the future, It was added that the two Premiers attained a complete personal understanding, without either side conceding any vital point.

Great importance is attached to the agreed continuity of the negotiations It is understood that the general conference will be held July 16, and as soon as the British Parliament rises in August, Mr. MacDonald and M. Herriot hope again to visit Chequers for a further conversation.

MALLORY TELLS

helped." Two hours and a half were thus spent.

"Having seen Hazard up to the foot of the final slope, Somerville and Irvin returned. According to plan, the porters (Tibetans) were to rest the next day at camp No. 4 before going on with Bruce and O'Dell to establish camp No. 5. This operation had to be conducted with oxygen. Irvin was now wanted in camp to prepare apparatus for the next day. In such thick weather Somerville judged that Irvin must have a companion on the descent.

Walk No Longer Easy.

"An illustration of the mountaineering difficulties in reaching camp No. 4 is the story of the party conducted by Bruce and O'Dell. On the 23rd, a day later than they were due to go up, fresh snow had greatly altered the easy walk up the stones of the glacier. Instead of a brief hour up to the foot of the slopes nearly three hours were required. On the slopes themselves the snow was found to be in a most disagreeable state.

"Hazard's party was coming down the ice chimney as Bruce and O'Dell, having left the porters lower down, were approaching the crevasse. They did not reach the crevasse, deeming the snow dangerous. Hazard apparently was deaf to their shouting and for an hour or so the two parties were never in touch.

"The two stories we heard in camp No. 3 that evening, with the news that not all of Hazard's party had descended, mingled, as we lay in our tent, with the sound of the ever-increasing snowfall, produced the nearest thing to gloom I remember during the expedition. As night came on the snow had a moister and stickier quality. Was this really the monsoon? Then four men were caught in Changla for the first snow of the monsoon; one of them reported frostbitten.

Moon Appears; Snow Stops.

"It was this circumstance that compelled rescue the next day and no later. I woke up in the early part of the night for a coughing fit. The tent was brighter, and Norton murmured: 'The moon.' Sure enough, looking behind me I made out through the canvas the bright, unclouded moon. The snow had stopped. It was not the monsoon this time.

"We drove ourselves, somehow or other, over the fresh snow of the glacier basin, and up, up, slowly and wearily.

"We started at 8 a.m., and at 1.30 p.m. we were at the foot of a steep place below the ice chimney. Every ledge and step was filled with snow, but there remained a thin descending line of rope fixed by Somerville's party to help the porters.

"On two dangerous sections above the crevasse Norton and Somerville in turn went ahead on the long rope, while the remaining two secured them.

"While Somerville was leading up and across the final slope the four porters above were held in conversation. As there was no time to lose, we wanted to know whether all were ready to move. One asked: 'Up or down?' Norton's reply seemed to surprise no less than delight them, so little had they realized the situation or appreciated the threat of more bad weather.

Rope Not Long Enough.

"It was 4.30 p.m. and we were already in the cold shadow when Somerville reached the shelf, or rather reached within a few feet of it, for the rope on which we held him was just too short for the purpose. The quickest way, we had decided, was to make a handrail and send down the men one at a time to where Norton and I were posted. But now the proposed handrail did not reach far enough and the men had to move two or three steps before they could reach it.

"Watching with some anxiety, Norton and I suddenly saw two of the four men sliding down the steep snow slope. By some miracle they stopped some fifteen feet below. Clinging in their precarious situation with fingers dug into the snow —neither had an ice axe—they were duly instructed not to stir for their lives. The others were passed along the rope; Somerville stuck his ice axe into the snow and passed the rope around it and in a few minutes we saw him seize the porters.

Hands Nipped By Frost.

"The two were passed along the rope. t had been our great good fortune to find that the front-bitten members of the party of porters had suffered not in his feet, but in his hands. We did not have to use our one man carrier, brought up by Norton. He could go down on his own feet. He was a very sick man, nevertheless. The ice chimney was no place for one hardly able to bear hold on a fixed rope, and in our race with the oncoming darkness he necessarily suffered, but it was well for him, as for us, that the race was ours.

"As I headed the party trudging a little grimly across the glacier basin in the last light of day I simply made out a party approaching. It was Noel and O'Dell with two or three porters bearing hot soup in thermos flasks."

OBITUARY

JOHN WALSH.

HASTINGS,, June 23. — The death occurred on Sunday morning at four o'clock, at his residence in Hastings, of John Walsh, in his 91st year. The deceased, who was an old and respected resident of the village, is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Annie Elmhirst, three sons, Richard of Hastings, John of Otonabee, and David at home, and four daughters, Sister Mary Fidelis of the Sisters of St. Joseph, in Port Arthur, Mrs. P. Lee, of Belleville, Mrs. Lowes, of Ithaca, N.Y., and Miss Mary, nurse-in-training in Atlantic City.

The funeral will take place at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning from the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel to the Roman Catholic cemetery, Hastings.

JAMES McCORMACK.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Mr. James McCormack died in Chicago on June 16th, 1924, at the age of 92 years. Death was due to pneumonia which he contracted two weeks before the end.

Mr. McCormack was born in Tipperary, Ireland, and at an early age moved to Percy Township, Province of Ontario, Canada, at which place he lived until about 30 years ago, when he retired, and since that time had made his home with his Chicago children.

He was married to Mary Petty, who lived near Warkworth, Ontario, and whom he survived a number of years.

Deceased is survived by five daughters and one son: Mrs. Franklin Hardinge, Mrs. H. H. Hardinge, Mrs. Geo. English and James L. McCormack, all of Chicago; Mrs. Alex. Henderson of Detroit, and Mrs. Frederick Bradd of Oshawa, Ont.

Interment was at Central Memorial Cemetery, Chicago, on Wednesday, June 18th.

STUFFED TOMATOES

Tomatoes stuffed with finely shredded cabbage are an excellent salad since they contain sufficient vitamine food for the whole day.

SALAD DRESSING

When you are short on mayonnaise dressing add a little whipped cream and it will go much further.

FOR TOMATOES

If you peel tomatoes by dipping them in boiling hot water, be careful always to chill them again before combining with the other salad ingredients. Nothing is less appetizing than a salad that is not crisp and cool.

PRESERVING EGGS

If you put down your own eggs, be sure to see that they are always entirely covered with the preservative.

MOTOR CAMPS.

Ontario cities are falling behind the procession insofar as the provision of motor camps for the benefit of automobile tourists are concerned.

In this Province we are far from having reached the stage of progress in this respect that has been attained in the United States—and it may be that we are not getting our full share of motor traffic as a result.

News despatches last week announced that in Detroit a camp ground with all modern facilities, including dressing-rooms, shower-baths, community kitchens and dining-rooms, is to be provided at a purely nominal charge, and that in Pittsburg one of the finest municipal grounds on the Continent will be provided.

The motor tourist is a development of the great popularity of automobiling, and each year there are many more people who take to the highways as a pleasant method of spending the summer months.

These motorists want to camp, and naturally their route will be planned to enable them to take advantage of the best accommodation.

The municipalities which recognize this fact and prepare for it are laying the foundation for a profitable traffic that will leave much money in circulation and have a topic effect upon business conditions generally.

When large cities like Pittsburg and Detroit succumb to the tourist habit and provide splendid camps it must be admitted that there are prospects of excellent dividends out of the enterprise.

THE PROGRESSIVE SPLIT.

The split in the Progressive Party is one of the most interesting developments for some time in the political situation, although the defection of the group of five Alberta members and Miss Agnes McPhaill of Ontario will not seriously weaken the forces led by Robert Forke.

The ginger group, as the disserters have been dubbed, announce that they are free to co-operate with any party in the House for the furtherance of their ends.

They object to the present organization of the Progressive Party because they feel that it tends to perpetuate the old party system.

Just what they mean by that complaint has not been made clear, and Mr. Forke, the Progressive Leader, informs them in his reply that "this objection seems to us to be caused rather by suspicion and personal sensibilities than by anything fundamental."

However, the half dozen constitute a separate group and add another to the collection of units in the House.

Thus we have Liberals, Conservatives, Progressives, Labour and the new Ginger group, five different sections of the House, each, even the Labour group of only two members, with its own leader.

There seems no doubt that unless the country sickens of the group system and puts an end to it by a sweep to one of the old parties at the next election, the number of groups in Parliament will continue to increase as differences of opinion develop and factions leave their own particular party to form an independent section of their own.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERTS.

The community concert by the Symphony Orchestra, Male Voice Choir, Rangers Band and the Pipe Band in Victoria Park the other night was a revelation of the progress Peterborough is making along musical lines and a feather in the cap of the City Council in securing these organizations for concert purposes.

The plan followed this year would undoubtedly be made a permanent one, for variety has been added to the programmes and the increased attendance so far has testified to the popularity of the course.

Incidentally, the appearance of such organizations as the Male Voice Choir and the Symphony Orchestra in Victoria Park has been good business for them, as their work has been brought before hundreds of people who had never heard them before and who have been delighted by the music provided by the two bodies.

The benefit of such an introduction will be felt later on because the organizations have now come into their rightful sphere as community organizations and should be able to count on more generous support from the general public.

The Symphony Orchestra finished its series of concerts for the summer last evening, it being necessary, owing to the absence on holidays of many members during the summer months, to complete the series in June.

However, it is hoped that before the summer has completely gone that it may be possible to bring the four organizations together again for another massed concert.

A REFORESTATION PLAN.

The statement of Agricultural Representative R. M. Tupper that County Councils in Ontario can make a big cut in the tax rate seventy-five years hence by a little trouble and expense now, is worthy of some attention by the members of the Peterborough County Council.

Mr. Tupper's plan is simple—merely reforestation on a small scale, but on a systematic basis.

There are thousands of acres in most of the counties in the Province—and Peterborough is not an exception—that should be in trees.

The representative of the Department of Agriculture suggests that County Councils should buy up this waste land at the rate of some 200 acres a year, pointing out that it could be secured for at least $8 an acre, and this outlay, with a small sum for fencing and perhaps later on the wages of a caretaker, would be all that would be necessary.

In this waste land, of no use to anybody at present, would be converted ifinto a valuable asset.

The Ontario Government would reforest a 200-acre section each year without charge to the county.

Mr. Tupper figures that an acre of good pine will yield at least 40,000 board feet at 60 years. At this rate 100 acres, which he proposes to cut and reforest each year, after this scheme had been in operation 60 years would yield four million feet annually.

Even at present prices that cut would be worth $20 on the tree, or $80,000 for the hundred acres.

The bush, after 60 years, barring earthquakes, would last forever, and from 100 to 200 acres would be ready for harvest each year, which area would be immediately replanted and ready for the axe again as the last of the first cuttings had been made.

The trouble with this scheme, as the Examiner sees it, is that it is too progressive for the average municipal council.

Municipal legislators are too much involved with the problems of the day to do much planning for the future, and a proposition that would require sixty years to return any dividends is not likely to appeal to the none-too-vivid imagination of councils.

However, the plan sounds feasible and is well worth looking into for the [illegible] of the next generation, to say nothing of the [illegible]mediate benefits that would result.

AN OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK.

Forecast by the United States Department of Agriculture places the American wheat crop at 100,000,000 bushels under the yield of 1923. This, on the basis of last year's American consumption and exportable surplus, means that this year the United States will not have more than 50,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, says the Ottawa Journal.

This means a great deal for Canada. Already it has meant that Canadian wheat is bringing ten cents a bushel more than some few weeks ago; and competent observers are predicting a certainty of dollar wheat for the entire Canadian crop this coming autumn.

Crop prospects, too, are bright. Thus far the season has been fairly favorable, the acreage is practically as good as last year, and costs of farmer overhead have, if anything, declined. Last year, when prices were at a low level, the West took in $350,000,000. This year, with a good crop, and with a much higher price, a much greater amount will be garnered.

The benefit will be for the entire country. There will be more haulage for our railways; more purchasing power for the farmers; a greater volume of domestic trade for business houses generally; and, consequently, more employment for everybody.

Under the circumstances, it is not surprising that a new spirit of optimism is being reported from the West. Even Progressive M.P.'s, who take a solemn joy in wailing and lamentations, are losing some of their pessimism.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

The report of the Ontario Board of Parole for the year ending October 31 last has just been issued. It is an exceptionally interesting document, and, on the whole, encouraging, though the number of failures appears to be higher than could be desired. As to this it is explained that "a somewhat stricter discipline and higher standard combined with a lower average type of persons has had something to do" with it. Even so, it cannot be considered unsatisfactory that 80 per cent. of those released on parole kept to the terms of the regulations, and that of the recidivists in the Provincial institutions who have served prison terms, less than 10 per cent. had ever been paroled by the Ontario board. Of 823 male cases interviewed and investigated, 215 prisoners were paroled; of 164 women prisoners interviewed, 55 were paroled. This means that of the total number of prisoners whose cases were investigated less than one-third were paroled, which is evidence of cautious methods of procedure.

The statistics relating to the failures show that, of the men paroled, 20 disappeared, while there were 21 failures in other ways; of the women, six disappeared and there were 13 "other failures." The percentage of failure among the women, therefore, is greater relatively than among the men. This is accounted for by the fact that the majority of women prisoners are subnormal and immoral, paroles being granted in many cases "with a good deal of hesitation." There are some notable exceptions, however, and the "percentage of real success under very difficult conditions is very gratifying." The case of one woman, who had married unhappily, is recorded, who, after parole, found it impossible to get along and asked to be taken back into the reformatory "because she feared that she would get into trouble if she remained outside under the conditions of her home." All the inmates, men and women, are personally interviewed before a decision is reached.

One of the defects of the system, which it is suggested might be remedied by comparatively simple means, is the difficulty of getting track of parole violators. It is thought that by keeping a photograph and finger-print records of each of the paroled persons the board would be greatly assisted in this respect, and the knowledge that these records were on file would have the effect of dissuading those paroled from any attempt to escape from supervision. The Ontario parole system has received the endorsation of the Canadian Bar Association, which also recommended its adoption by other Provinces. "It is not at all implied that twisted hemlock has been made into first-class walnut," the report explains. "It is not claimed that any archangels or apostles have been produced nor would anyone be justified in guaranteeing permanent reformation, and yet on the other hand the illustrative examples at the end of this report will indicate how effective and valuable have been the results of parole in a very large number of cases."—Hamilton Spectator.

A THOUGHT

THE DAY THAT IS

Say! What's the use of talkin "bout the days that used to be?
They're dead an' gone an' can't be lived
again by you or me;
But here's a live one—here's to-day,
all spic an' span an' new——
Let's see if we can't fill it full of things that's good to do!

Let's keep it clean in thought an' word
an' deed, the while we work
At some of them hard jobs we've long allowed ourselves to shirk;
An' while we dig an' delve away, to keep us in the swing,
Let's all join in some sunny song an'
help each other sing!

I ain't no blame' Caruso, an' as far I can hear,
In all the bunch there ain't one voice
that's halfway true nor clear;
But, if we sing our loudest an' we're meanin' ev'ry word,
The sound 'll be the cheeriest thing a feller ever heard!

So, grab your pick and shovel, or your hammer or your pen,
An' we'll put in the derndest day of hustle known to men;
For what's the use of talkin' 'bout the days that's out of biz,
When here's a chance to put some dents in this big day that is!

BEECH HILTON.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

DIRT.

One thing we'll never conquer is dirt. Dusting, clothes washing, body bathing, machinery cleaning, floor sweeping, street scraping—all these are by-products of civilization and will last as long as civilization.

The very existence of dirt and dust makes it certain that man will always have to work. The soap industry furnishes figures illustrating how dirt keeps us hustling. Americans this year will make 2500 million cakes of soap. Our lazy ancestors invented perfumes so they wouldn't have to use so much soap.

BIBLE.

The Bible continues to be the world's best seller. Over seven million copies were distributed in 1923 by the American Bible Society. This was a gain of two-and-a-half million copies over the year before, and reflects the stimulation of interest in religion.

It is so popular that the largest hotel in New York has to order a new supply for its guest rooms every four months to replace stolen ones.

ROADS.

Better roads and more of them are constantly being made available to the motor tourist. Fourteen thousand miles of highway, built with Federal aid (Uncle Sam's financial help), are now under construction, to cost 262 million dollars.

More than twice that much has been appropriated since the Federal aid road act became law in 1916.

It'd be wiser to build for lastingness rather than mileage. A considerable part of our roads wear out so fast, it's like pouring public money down the sewer.

CHILDBIRTH.

More women have died in childbirth than men killed in all the wars. The international conference on this subject, to be held in London early in July, is especially important to Americans, for our maternal mortality rate is higher than in any other of the twenty leading nations.

Nearly 19,000 American mothers will die in childbirth this year. Thousands could be saved by proper medical attention. The death toll is expected to decrease steadily as a result of the Sheppard-Towner legislation by which Uncle Sam furnishes money for visiting nurses, maternity centres and clinics.

JEWS.

Egypt drove out the Jews because they were too rich and powerful, claims Carter, who opened King Tut's tomb. This doesn't tally with the old story that the Israelites were delivered from bondage against the wishes of the king.

Carter says archaeologists believe that the Exodus was a forced expulsion, as if the Egyptians feared the Jews would soon own the country.

Regardless of the Exodus, it's true that persecution of the Jews through the centuries has been largely animated by jealousy—inability to compete with them.

COMING.

The foundation of five years of the greatest prosperity America has ever seen is now being laid, says C. W. Barron, the Wall Street financial expert.

He gives several reasons, but overlooks the most important one: A nation is like an individual. During the war we exerted ourselves tremendously. Then, tired out, we loafed until we recuperated. That business depression. Now we're gradually getting back to top-speed period of rest was what we called work. Hard times are simply periods of national resting and recuperation.

CONSOLATION.

Each week the railroads are moving more and more freight. This means that times are going to get better. When freight movement is big, business men are betting on the good business ahead and are getting goods ready for expected customers.

Latest reports show the railroads moving 91 cars of freight for every 77 cars in the corresponding week of 1921 and 1922. Throw away the blue spectacles.

EMERALDS.

Leonard Rosenthal sells more pearls, diamonds, and other precious stones than any other man in the world. He handles 300 million dollars worth of gems a year.

He passes the tip that emeralds are a good buy for investment purposes, because he believes that the emerald will eclipse the diamond and pearl as the fashionable stone in the next few years. Before buying, ponder whether Rosenthal is clairvoyant or merely desirous of stimulating the market for emeralds.

A vest-pocket electric fan has been invented.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, June 23.—(Canadian Press.)— Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday: Sterling, demand 4.3950; sterling, cables 4.3975.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 23. — (Canadian Press.) — Harvesting under way southwest with favorable conditions, had much to do on Saturday toward giving a set back to wheat values. No apparent influence on prices resulted from talk about proposed plans for combining big elevator interests and farm co-operative bodies. Wheat closing quotations were unsettled, 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 cents net lower, July 1.13 to 1.13 1-8 and September, 1.14 3-4 to 1.14 7-8, with corn 3-8 to 1 5-8 and 1 3-4 down, oats 55-8 to 1 1-6, a 1-4 off, and provisions at 2c. to 10c. decline.

Favorable weather and crop reports from the winter wheat territory southwest were supplemented by auspicious advances regarding spring wheat in the northwest. Gossip was also current that foreigners were re-selling and there was noticeable absence of the aggressive buying which of late has been so effective in lifting the market. Although a little advance in price followed the opening, weakness then developed and throughout the remainder of the day the market showed little power to rally especially an unofficial estimate was out raising the probable production in Kansas about 7,400,000 bushels.

Week-end unloading on the part of the numerous holders who were reluctant to leave risks open until Monday kept the wheat market under pressure during the last hour in particular. It was said, however, that most of the selling came from owners who were in a position to realize profits.

Reports that were more optimistic about the outlook for the new corn crops led to a sharp decline in the price of December delivery of corn. July delivery though, held relatively firm. Oats prospects were regarded as generally bearish.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Trade in cash grain was slow on Saturday without new feature. There was no change in the flour situation. The tone of the mill feed market was firm and trade in rolled oats was quiet. A very firm feeling prevails in the egg market. Total receipts from May 1 to date were 137,490 cases as against 209,195 for the same period of 1923. Trade in butter has slowed up. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 8,691 packages less than in the same period of 1923. There was a better feeling in cheese. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 2,142 boxes in excess of a year ago for the same period.

of the series dealing with the establishment of the Bank of Montreal at representative points in Canada and elsewhere

IN VANCOUVER AND VICTORIA

THE completion in 1886 of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a project that had received the moral and financial support of the Bank of Montreal, cast a bright ray of promise across the then somewhat troubled economic life of Canada.

Canada at last was spanned by rail from coast to coast, opening up for profitable development the fertile territory lying between.

The Bank of Montreal signalized the completion of the line by establishing a Branch at Vancouver and later at Victoria, thus completing its transcontinental chain of Branches and bringing to the Pacific Coast banking facilities essential to the successful development of the great economic potentialities there.

Of its 567 Branches, 53 are situated in the Province of British Columbia.

French and Belgians Are Active in Searching for Militarists.

DUESSELDORF, Germany, June 23.—(Canadian Press).—Widespread raids have been made in the French and Belgian occupied zones during the last few days by the military authorities in search of evidence of Nationalist or militarist movements.

The French authorities have searched two hundred and fifty houses, arrested forty persons, and seized numerous documents. The Belgians have made more than one hundred raids and taken a few persons into custody.

FABLES ON HEALTH

"When will it start to eat?"

Mr. Mann would continuously ask the doctor, after the first Mann baby was born.

"You just leave that up to the mother," the doctor would say.

For at least six months the mothers' breast is a baby's best meal.

No attempt should be made to wean it until at least the seventh or eighth month. If this happens to fall in the summer season it should not then be attempted. A mother is still capable of supplying baby's wants.

The best way to teli a baby is getting enough milk is to weight the child before and after nursing "for 48 hours and report the difference to the physician.

When weaning is begun at about the eighth month, pasteurized or boiled milk is generally substituted and one feeding a day of beef broth starts the menu. After that there may be soup of finely chopped or mashed vegetables, such as carrots or spinach.

Toward the end of the first year, the baby should be getting about a quart of milk a day, together with a portion of vegetable soup and fruit juices; crusts of bread can be given to chew upon, but there should be no meat or eggs until the second year.

A MANUFACTURER who employs Long Distance in his sales, claims that the phenomenal success of a recent "Selling by Telephone" campaign was due in no small measure to the fact that the dealers were advised in advance.

He mailed each retailer a card somewhat similar to the one printed below. Three days later he called them on a Station-to-Station basis. He was able in some cases to take advantage of the lower rates that apply from 8.30 to midnight by telephoning in the evening.

The dealers were prepared and much time was saved as in many instances they had all the needed information ready. The result was that the campaign proved in, not only from the standpoint of goods sold, but the low cost per sale.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, June 21 (Special). — A jury with Dr. Ferris as coroner, empanelled to inquire into the death of the late Philip Jeffery Romeno, met on Monday afternoon at Tait's undertaking rooms and, after viewing the body, adjourned to meet again on June 25.

The fatal accident occurred on Monday morning, just west of the William Street crossing, whereby Mr. Philip Jeffery Romeno, second son of Mr. A. Jeffery Romeno was instantly killed. Since his marriage to Miss Alice Lavigne, Mr. Romeno had resided in Port Hope, where his home was on Smith Street. He was employed by the C.N.R. on the signalling section, and was working that morning at Cobourg. The eastbound track was undergoing repairs, and the special troop train which left Port Hope at 8.30 en route to Belleville came in on the westbound track. Mr. Romeno, no doubt, heard the train coming, and not being accustomed to trains at that hour on the westbound track, would naturally think it was on the eastbound track. He stepped right in front of the engine and was killed instantly. The sad fatality has occasioned very deep sorrow among citizens generally.

Affable and courteous to every one, Mr. Romeno had many warm friends among our citizens, who feel keen regret because he has been called away in his early manhood. He was twenty-nine years of age. The sincere sympathy of the town goes out to his young widow and his father. Mr. Anthony Jeffery Romeno, his brother Charles, and his sisters, Mrs. Rodani, of Toronto, and Miss Mary Romeno, at home.

The funeral was held this morning at nine o'clock at Port Hope, and was largely attended. Interment took place there. Quite a number of Cobourg citizens went up for the funeral.

BAND CONCERT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The Four Musical Organizations of This City Were Out in Full Force.

The massed concert, in which the Caledonian Pipe Band, the Peterborough Symphony Orchestra, the Peterborough Male Voice Choir and the Peterborough Rangers Band took part, on Friday evening, in Victoria Park, proved to be one of the most enjoyable musical evenings of the season. The big crowd present packed the small park with an appreciative audience, that returned hearty applause to the efforts of the various musicians. Enthusiastic encores were the order of the evening, with generous response. The four organizations were out in full force, and gave a programme of delightful and varied vocal and instrumental music that could hardly be surpassed. The occasion was a memorable one, bringing together as it did the four big musical organizations of the city, and giving the citizens an opportunity of hearing on one occasion the very best of choral and instrumental music that the city can offer. The stirring music of the pipes opened the programme, followed by a session of orchestral music and an interval of choral singing, and closing with the band selections.

The programme was introduced by Mayor J. J. Turner, who acted as chairman, and announced the different organizations in turn, speaking of the attainments reached by the several groups in the musical line, and of the honor they conferred on the city by their splendid efforts. The programme was as follows:

Caledonian Pipe Band, directed by Pipe-Major John A. Smith—Opening march, "Invercauld," "Highland Laddie," "Dornoch Links," "Farewell to the Tay" and "Farewell to Gibralter."

The Peterborough Symphony Orchestra, under direction of R. Gliddon—Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," selections from "Robin Hood" and the "Coronation March."

The Peterborough Male Voice Choir sang three selections, directed by M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O.—The glee, "Hail, Smiling Morn"; the quartette, "Po' Little Lamb," with Messrs. Jones, Crowe, Gibbons and Skitch; and "My Rose," with solo by H. M. Niven, and band accompaniment.

The Peterborough Rangers Band, under direction of Bandmaster W. H. Peryer—March, "On the Quarter Deck"; selections from "The Bohemian Girl," and a novelty selection, "Melodious Mix-Up."

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

Local Man Gives His Free Advice and Practical Experience.

Justin Walker is a Peterboro man who works within a block of George Street and owns a home in the west end of the city. He was married last year to the sweetest girl in—well, the sweetest he knew—and now they live in their own home. They started out right, too, by buying the house before their wedding day, and when they came back from their honeymoon it was all ready for their arrival.

As Mr. Walker told The Examiner the why and the how of purchasing his home, he had a masterful, prosperous air, realising that it was the foundation of his fortune. To talk with him would make the average tenant wonder why he paid rent and vegetable bills and lived in a cramped apartment or in a house within the city's busy area, when he might, like Mr. Walker, be right out there in the open, making the same sort of a start in a rent-free, income-earning home.

Didn't he have any troubles in acquiring the home of which he is so proud? Lots of them, and he says that's why he is so proud of his achievement. For instance, to save money in decorating, he cleaned the old paper off the walls, and that, being very far removed from his business, he was not very successful. The paperhanger was coming on Monday, and on Friday not much impression had been made on the tenacious wallpaper. Calling on a friend, who was husky if not expert in such work, Mr. Walker dug and scraped and pulled at the several layers of paper all day without much result. On Saturday morning, tired of carrying water and applying it slowly with a brush, the two young attached a garden hose and sprayed the walls liberally. Near midnight they surveyed with satisfaction their completed work, and swept out the water that covered the floors.

On Monday, when the paperhanger arrived, his experienced and critical eye saw water-soaked rooms with pitted and broken plaster and a thick growth of hanging particles of wallpaper that kept a man busy a day before the walls were in condition to paper.

Of this Justin Walker was not aware until after he was comfortably settled in the spic-and-span house; but even after hearing of the poor esteem in which his work was held by professionals, he was not dismayed and writes down the experience as part of the fun of fitting up his own home.

Now, he has broken into another field—gardening—and believes he will be successful. He says good-bye to his pet chickens every morning when he leaves for business after saying "hello" to a fresh egg every morning at breakfast.

Justin Walker was overseas, and had the idea that wherever he hung up his hat was home. Now he knows the difference. "I defy any man," he says, "to find the same sort of thrill in any other way that he gets from walking around his own place and knowing that he owns it and everything on it."

This is a true story, but his name is not Justin Walker.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL.

A recital by a number of the junior pianoforte pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade was given in the hall of the J. M. Greene store on Friday evening, with a large attendance. Five vocal pupils, who made their first public appearance in junior work also, were on the programme, and sang delightfully. The work of all the pupils was marked by very careful training. They did full justice to the painstaking tuition of Mrs. Greenslade, and played in a manner that won them much applause from an appreciative audience. Those taking part in instrumental work were: Margaret Curtis, Bob Maybee, Margaret Lacheur, Norman Bulmer, Julia Delaronis, Mamie Lawless, Bobby Ross, Ruby Jackson, Dorothy Finnie, Ted Wayte, Polly Parks, Irene Heard, Ashton Fife, Doris Ackford, Jack Cuffe, Mildred Hetherington and Margaret Gollop, all of whom played solos. Duetts were given by Leah and Norma Dunsford and Betty and Nancy Hopwood.

Vocal pupils taking part in the programme were: Misses Lillian Farthing, Jean Hamilton, Edna Buckham, Annie Burns and Dorothy Hayes.

PRESENTATION TO MR. CHAS. POULSON

Mr. Charles Poulson was presented with a mantle clock last Thursday, the eve of his marriage, by the employees of the Gilgour Bakery Company. The presentation was made by William J. Nesbitt and the following address was read by Miss Madeline Wheeler:

"Dear Charlie,—We, as fellow-workers, feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass without showing our appreciation of your good fellowship amongst us. We therefore ask to kindly accept this clock hoping one and all that it may strike the hours of many years of happy and prosperous wedlock to you and Mrs. Poulson.

"Signed—W. J. Nesbitt, S. Revoy, E. Holden, E. Renny, C. Buck, W. Ryland."

Mr. Poulson in responding expressed his appreciation for the gift and assured his fellow-employees that the pleasant association spoken of had been enjoyed by no one more than himself.

A JAPANESE CHILD IN SNOWY NAGAOKA.

By Etsu Inagaki Sugimoto.

Japan is often called by foreign people a land of sunshine and cherry-blossoms. This is because tourists generally visit only the eastern and southern parts of the country, where the climate is mild all the year round. On the northwest coast the winters are long, snow often covering the ground from December to March or April.

In Echigo Province, where was my home, winter usually began with a heavy snow, which came down fast and steady until only the tops of the roofs of our houses peeped above it. Then the coolies in their straw coats and big woven hats appeared and with broad wooden shovels cut tunnels through from one side of the street to the other. The snow was not removed from the middle of the street all winter. It lay in a long pile, often towering above the housetops, and we children used to climb up and run along the top. We played many games there, sometimes pretending we were knights, rescuing a snow-bound village. Other times were brigands, stealing upon it for an attack.

Another exciting time for us came during the preparation for winter, which extended over a period of several weeks. Each day, as we went back and forth to school, we wasted a great deal of time in stopping to watch familiar objects change their appearance as they were dressed in their winter clothing. The statues and small shrines on the streets, and the big carved lions at the temple steps, were covered with wrappings of straw. Even the outside walls of the temples and large houses were protected by sheets of matting, fastened on with strips of bamboo or immense nettings made of straw rope. Our own garden had the stone lantern and all the trees and bushes hidden under grotesque tents of straw.

Most large houses had thatched roofs with wide eaves, but the shops on the streets had shingled roofs weighted with rows of stones to prevent avalanches of snow. Above all the sidewalks a permanent roof extended, which the winter protection of upright boards turned into long halls, where we could walk all over town in the stormiest weather, entirely protected from wind and snow. These halls were lighted by windows of oiled paper. They were dim, but not dark, for light shines through snow pretty well, and even at the street corners, where we crossed through the snow tunnels, it was light enough for us to read good-sized characters. Many a time, coming home from school, I have read my lessons in the tunnel, pretending I was one of the ancient sages who studied by snow-light.

Something More!

After meals you want something more—a bit of sweet with a change of flavor. WRIGLEY'S is that "something more" and it's more than that! It is a great aid to your good health, as medical authorities say.

This is from a recent book on health:

"Many physicians now recommend gum chewing .... for a better and more complete change of the starches into dextrin."

FOUND BODY IN SWAMP

Wealthy New York Publisher Had Been Missing Ten Days.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., June 23.—(Canadian Press).—The body of Clarence D. Sheldon, 84, wealthy New York publisher, was found yesterday in a swamp about five miles from his summer home at Verbank. Sheldon disappeared about ten days ago. The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the swamp for several days.

The discovery of more than $200, and a watch in Sheldon's coat and west, which were found about twenty feet from the body, caused county officials to discard theories of foul play. Coroner John A. Card, who investigated the case, asserted last night that death had been accidental.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, tells Wanda that Paul is coming home before the reading of the will, which, as she expects to be Collinge's sole heiress, somewhat mystifies her. Paul arrives unexpectedly, and when the will is read Wanda learns that she has been disinherited, on account of a quarrel she has had with the dead man, and that Paul is the heir. After the funeral, Paul sends for Wanda and tells her that she must make plans for her departure, and that he will make her an allowance. She is furious and determines that she will never leave Grey Chumley, for it is the one thing for which she has real affection.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

IX—WANDA DETERMINED.

Once Wanda had made up her mind to a thing, she was difficult to thwart, and she had made up her mind that, by fair means or foul, she would stay at Grey Chumley.

She was clever enough to see that Paul was a man to be led, but not driven, so after the first day or two of rebellion she managed to curb her passionate resentment and dislike of him, and grow amenable.

"I was sure she would see the folly of her ways," Mrs. Garnet told Paul one morning as she walked through the garden with him. "Wanda is headstrong and spoiled, shockingly spoiled, but she is no fool, and she understands now that you are a man of iron will."

Paul laughed.

"I don't know about that," he said lightly, "but I've never yet been governed by a woman, and I'm not going to begin now. Wanda has never been disciplined; she reminds me of the colts I've had to break in out in the wilds. They're a tough proposition to start with, but once they realize you're master, you can do anything with them."

Mrs. Garnet glanced up at him with a shade of suspicion in her eyes. Was he really optimistic enough to believe that he could master Wanda? Apparently he had not guessed that her softened mood was only put on. She looked forward to this duel and battle of wits with interest.

Wanda joined them at that moment; she was carrying a large bunch of roses which she had just picked, and she held them up with a disarming smile for Paul's inspection.

"Aren't they beauties?" she said. "Don't you love them?"

Paul obediently bent his head and sniffed at their fragrance.

"Very fine," he said in a non-committal tone. "But you're picking too many. They live no time at all in the house, and I like to see them on the bushes."

The color mounted to Wanda's cheeks, and her lips moved to make angry retort; then she checked herself and answered quietly:

"I'm sorry. I'll be more careful in future." But there was an angry gleam in the eyes she averted from him, and she added with a hard little laugh: "I can't always remember that I am no longer mistress here."

Paul looked at her with an amused smile.

"Were you ever mistress here?" he asked interestedly.

Mrs. Garnet hurriedly interposed in her gentle, soothing voice:

"Wanda means that she was allowed to pick what flowers she liked, and that she was virtulaly mistress."

Paul made no comment, and they all walked back to the house silently.

In the hall Wanda put her roses down on an oak table, and turned away. "I don't want them," she said when Mrs. Garnet called her attention to them. "You can do what you like with them, they are not mine."

She spoke with just the right intonation of sadness and resignation, but she was neither sad nor resigned; she was angry and furious as she went upstairs and out of sight.

Paul looked after her and laughed.

"A spoiled child," he said easily. "I've often seen a kid refuse to eat his dinner because he has been reprimanded."

Mrs. Garnet sighed. "Shall I put the roses in water," she asked.

Paul glanced at them indifferently. "Do as you like with them," he said, and went into the library.

He had been home nearly a week now, and so far Wanda had apparently made no plans for her departure.

She annoyed and worried him, even while he felt rather sorry for her.

After all, it was rough on the girl to have to leave the comfort and luxury of such a home; he knew that, in her position, he should have been just as rebellious and unhappy. And yet he was prepared to treat her fairly; he had arranged with Lindsay to make her an allowance of eight hundred a year, and he considered the sum a generous one.

"After all, she has no real claim on me," he told himself. "And the guv'nor would have chucked her out without a halfpenny if she had seriously annoyed him."

But the knowledge was not much consolation. Wanda was really an unpleasant load on his mind. He felt that, until she was settled and he was free of her, he could not begin fully to enjoy his inheritance, or start on the improvements which he had planned to the house.

He wondered if it would not be as well to send for her and tell her that as she was so long making plans for her future, he had made some for her; he had risen to his feet to ring the bell, when he heard flying steps down the stairs and across the hall, and a moment later his door burst open and Wanda came in.

She was very flushed and her eyes blazed; she looked like a handsome fury as she rushed across the room to where he stood.

"I've been insulted. Mrs. King has insulted me abominably!" she broke out.

Paul raised his brows.

"Mrs. King?" he queried. For the moment he had forgotten who Mrs. King was.

Wanda made an impatient movement.

"She's the housekeeper. I always hated her. I always meant to get rid of her when I was mistress here, and now she's gone directly against my express orders. When Clare came I said she was to have the pink room "My mother's room," Paul interjected quietly.

"Yes, your mother's room," she agreed. "It hadn't been used for years, and it's the best room in the house. I call it absurd, keeping rooms shut up for moths to ruin! So I had it opened and cleaned for Clare, and now —now she's moved all Clare's things out to a room on the other side of the house, and when I asked how she dared do such a thing she said she was acting under your orders!"

Paul tried to speak, but she gave him no opportunity; she went on furiously:

"I told her that my orders had been for Mrs. Garnet to have the pink room, and she smiled at me—such an insolent smile, I could have killed her for it, and she said that she was no longer taking instructions from me. I was furious, of course, and ordered her out of the room, and she refused to go. So will you please speak to her—will you send her away at once?"

Paul's handsome eyes rested calmly on her agitated face.

"Do you mean, will I tell Mrs. King that she is to leave my employ?" he asked quietly.

"Yes. I always hated her. She's an impertinent woman."

Paul shook his head.

"I am sorry, but I cannot do such a thing. Mrs. King is an honest, trustworthy servant, and she suits me. I wish her to stay."

Her eyes blazed.

"You are going to allow her to insult me?"

"It was not an insult to say that she no longer took her orders from you."

Next Issue—Paul's Order.

SNOW FELL OVER ALBERTA SUNDAY

Rain Has Now Been Falling Every Day For a Week in Calgary.

CALGARY, June 23. — (Canadian Press.) — Snow fell at some points in western and central Alberta over the week end, while rain was general practically all over the province, according to long distance telephone and railway reports here last night. Snow, however, did not cause any damage to crops. Rain has now been falling practically every day for a week in Calgary and over the greater part of the province, with the result that the crops are in excellent condition, farmers are jubilant and already making predictions of yields which may shatter those of last year.

Foot hills of Rocky Mountains, from Cochrane to Lake Louise, were clothed in a thin mantle of white on Saturday following general snow over the territory early in the morning.

"TOO YOUNG AT 30"

London Evening News.

If ever there was an age when youthful geniuses ought to flourish, surely it is this one. But where are they? asks Norman Ackland. Certainly not in politics, for nearly all the prominent personalities in the various groups scattered over Europe are well over 50.

And if they are not visible in politics, it is not because they are devoted to the arts. If we ask for a good novel by an English writer, it is probable that we shall be offered one by Wells (who is 58), Conrad (66), Galsworthy (57), or Arnold Bennett (56).

The three most popular British dramatists are Barrie (who is 64), Henry Arthur Jones (72), and William Archer (67). The best known English poets are Hardy (83), and Kipling (58).

None of Ireland's front-rank novelists, dramatists, poets, or painters, can claim to be youthful. Shaw is 67, Yeats 58, Lavery 67, and Orpen 45; James Stephens and Padria: Collum are fast approaching middle age.

The leading French writers are distinctly elderly. Anatole France is 80, Rene Bazin and Henri Bordeaux, the leaders of the anti-Socialist movement in literature,are 71 and 54 respectively; Romain Rolland is 58.

The Belgians, Macterlinck and Giraud, are 61 and 63; Vicente Blasco Ibanez, the greatest Spanish novelist, is 57.

There are, however, two notable exceptions, Karl Capek, just over 30, has gained fame by his two great creations, "The Insect Play," and "R. U. R." His strange philosophy may be due to the fact that he is steeped in the atmosphere of ancient Prague, with its alchemists and necromancers, and yet is a worshipper of Dostoievski.

Eugene O'Neill, author of "Anna Christie," was born in New York of Irish parentage thirty-two years ago. The son of an actor, he had been a seaman, a gold-miner, a clerk, a packer, and an actor ere he was 24.

SPENDING

Government displays the genius of desperation in figuring out new ways to spend income tax money. Uncle Sam's "dairy statisticians" proudly announce that their extensive investigations disclose there are 3,000,000 coffee cows in the United States and 750,000 tea cows. By which, they mean it takes the entire yield of milk and cream from that many cows, for our coffee and tea.

What good does this sort of information do any one? It is typical of the activities of thousands who are on the payrolls of Uncle Sam, and mails are cluttered with their findings. You can safely bet that some of them will take a census of file this year.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

HAY FEVER AND SNUFF

"Please, suh, can you tell me where I may find a stoah?"

MISTAH' POSSUM looked in his snuff box, and what do you think?"

There wasn't one single pinch of snuff left. Not one.

Mistah 'Possum was a southern gentleman and was just travelling around to see the world a bit. As he said, all the birds came north in the spring, so why shouldn't he.

He had taken up his quarters in the button-ball tree and kept bachelor hall.

"Please, suh, can you tell me where I may find a stoah?" he called to Daddy Cracknuts over in the maple tree, just as Daddy was going out to buy a morning paper.

"Sure!" called Daddy. "I'm just going there now. Come right along and I'll show you, neighbor."

So Mistah 'Possum swung himself down.

Daddy was curious about his neighbor, but he was too polite to ask questions. However, Mistah 'Possum, like most southern people, was quite talkative and friendly, and soon Daddy knew all about him.

"Some time you must come south," said the 'possum gentleman. "And I shall show you all sorts of things. The persimmon trees ah wonderful. The oleandahs and magnolias smell mahvellous."

"How about nuts?" asked Daddy, who didn't care so much about nice smells as about nice eats.

"Shuahly! Shuahly!" said Mistah 'Possum. "Peanuts and pecans! And buttah nuts, too! You'd nevah stahve!"

"All right, sir. I'd like to go south some day on a vacation," said Daddy. "Ma and I may go next year. That is if she doesn't get hay fever."

"Hay fever! What's that?" asked Mistah 'Possum curiously.

"It's something that makes you sneeze all the time," answered Daddy.

"Oh, I see! Something like snuff." said Mistah 'Possum.

"Like what?"

"Like snuff. That's what I wish to buy at the stoah. I find that my snuff-box is empty."

"Well, I declare!" said Daddy to himself—not out loud. Paying money for something to make you sneeze when it's as easy as rolling off a log to catch a cold for nothing!

At that minute they reached Mister Bags' store and went in.

"Mister Bags, this is Mister 'Possum," introduced Daddy. "And this is Nancy and this is Nick—his helpers."

Mistah 'Possum bowed elegantly and said he was charmed.

And then he said he would like to buy a quarter's worth of stuff.

"I'm sorry, but we're out just now," said Mister Bags. The fact was he was always out, for nobody around there used snuff at all. But he wasn't going to say so.

"Well, well! I'm sorry," said Mistah 'Possum. "But I— achoo — achoo! Why, that's strange! I never sneezed before without taking a pinch of snuff."

"Perhaps it's hay fever," suggested Mister Bags.

"Oh do you suppose so!" exclaimed Mistah 'Possum. "Isn't that nice! It's fah cheaper than buying snuff and just as pleasant, isn't it. Achoo! Achoo! I think I'll stay north for a while, suhs. It will save me money."

INTRODUCING MR. HERMES

(By H. I. PHILIPS)

Meet Mr. Hermes, of Praxiteles You know Hermes, don't you? No? Well, you should by all means. He is coming on a tour. Very big man in his home country. Comes from Greece. Praxiteles is not his native city, however, as many think. The Germes in this case is a statue. Praxiteles is the name of the sculptor. Europe, having sent every other kind of a visitor, is now to send statues. Which is not so bad. Statues can't knock the country.

* * *

Everybody should read up about this here Hermes. He was a pretty big gun in his day, handsome as a collar model, an all-around athlete like Conacher, and a personage of great influence as well as Grade A trained nurse.

* * *

Hermes was the message bearer of the gods. He also travelled under the name of Mercury and was known by the police as Joe Hermes, alia Webster Mercury. He is the patron saint of the Canadian National Telegraph Company.

* * *

In ancient Greece Hermes was the god of Commerce, Athletics and In vention. He had a lot of authority. He controlled organized baseball, big business and new devices and was a sort of Thomas Edison and Henry Ford rolled into one.

* * *

In the Hermes of Praxiteles he is shown carrying the infant Dionysus, alias Bacchus, god of wine. (If the statue is brought as proposed the child will be removed and a statue of the infant put in Hermes' arm).

* * *

Dionysus was the sun of Jupiter and Semele. Jupiter was the god of rain and snow. Semele was the goddess of umbrellas and galoshes. They were a very unopular cult. They spoiled too many ball games.

* * *

They gave Dionysus to Hermes to bring up. Meeting Hermes, who was a very unsophisticated young man, in front of an Athens department store they asked him to hold the baby for a moment. Hermes fell for the trick and was still holding Dionysus at last reports.

* * *

Still Dionysus was no bad bargain. Being god of wine, there was a big advantage in having him with you. Hermes, although very fleet of foot, never had to run to a saloon in his life. When he craved a glass of wine he would mention the fact to his adopted son who would borrow a silk hat, make three passes with his hand and produce the pre-war stuff, labels and everything.

* * *

In the Hermes of Praxiteles tthe righ arm is missing. Enough of the shoulder is left to indicate Hermes was holding something aloft in that hand, and that the infant Dionysus, held in his left arm, was reaching out for it. There is much mystery as to what this right hand held. An umbrella, a bunch of grapes, a Hubbard squash, a full house, a picture of Charlie Chaplin or a green balloon have been suggested.

It probably held the silk hat with which Kellar—beg pardon—Dionysus did the wine trick.

* * *

The famous work shows him leaning against a tree or sumpin' as he holds the Home Brew Kid. His winged feet are missing as is his "caduceus," which indicates he was not delivering messages that day, but had a day off and was airing the baby in the park. This "caduceus" is an essential part of a messenger's equipment even today. No messenger boy can go any place without it. It is Greek for wrong address.

* * *

Well, anyway, the plan is to bring Mr. Hermes here from Greece this year and exhibit him to raise funds for Greece.

After a few weeks' travel on the railroads he will look like a statue of Humpty Dumpty after the fall.

* * *

Canadian freight handlers never did a statue any good yet. The chances are that before the Hermes of Praxiteles reaches Winnipeg the infant Dionysus will have been knocked out of his arm and taken home by a freight handler and used as a Ford radiator ornament.

PRE-WAR CROPS IN RUSSIA

Russian farmers are gradually getting back toward pre-war crops. Very gradually, however. Final figures show last year's wheat crop over there was 245 million bushels, compared with the record of 973 million bushels in 1913.

The three-fourths drop in production gives an inkling of the malnutrition and starvation that have stalked the land of the ex-czars. An empty stomach, rather than governmental changes, apprently explains Russian conditions of the last few years.

Total grain crops in 1923 were a bit smaller than the year before, but a fourth larger than in 1921. The 1924 outlook is better.

AHEAD OF THE TIMES

Rev. Clausen enters his six-year-old son in the class of 1941 of an eastern university. He was afraid, if he waited longer, the enrollment list would be overflowed.

Getting quite common, to book a youth several years ahead for college entrance. The colleges are swamped with customers. Higher education is increasingly within reach of more and more of the population. That means, the level of average prosperity is rising.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

LOSE WEIGHT.

Three large unsweetened stewed prunes, 1 spinach and mushroom timbale, 2 lamb chops, 1 small baked potato, 4 tablespoons new peas, 1 medium sized tomato sliced on bed of watercress, 2 tablespoons lemon jelly, 1 tablespoon "diet whipped cream," 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 whole wheat roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

If your calorie allowance is less than 1200 deny yourself the lemon jelly and "whipped cream." This will reduce your calories about 140. Of these four are protein calories and the rest carbohydrate.

No bread is planned for the dinner menu, as a small potato is served. The chops are broiled and seasoned with salt and pepper. Garnish with slices of orange and squeeze the juice over the chop. You'll like it and it won't add to your calories or weight.

Skimmed milk is higher in protein content, lower in fat and higher in carbohydrate than buttermilk but the total calories average about the same. However, skimmed milk is rich in minerals, whereas buttermilk is lacking in them.

GAIN WEIGHT.

3RD ATTEMPT TO MAKE DAWN TO DUSK FLIGHT

MITCHELL FIELD, New York, June 23.—(United Press.)—Lieut. Russell Maughan took off at 4 a.m. to-day in his third attempt to fly from New York to San Francisco between dawn and dusk.

The first rosy streaks of a warm, clear June day were just reddening the east when the army flyer shouted "contact." There was a roar from the exhaust of his big Curtis pursuit plane and the pilot was off on his third attempt.

Maughan's schedule calls for stops at Dayton, St. Joseph, Mo., Cheyenne and Saldura, Utah, for fuel and water.

The distance from Mitchell Field to Griesey Field, San Francisco, is 2,670 miles and to make the flight in the 19 hours and 19 minutes of daylight the aviator must average about 165 miles an hour.

ST. PAUL'S EXPRESSED IN NUMERALS.

Some one interested in statistics has complied the following facts about St. Paul's in London: Twice around the railings of the cathedral is a mile. The extreme length is not at its extreme point, and the towesr are 74 yards high. Fifty workmne are constantly employed in the cathedral, and the monuments keep six men always busy. The floor is swept three times a week and washed once a month, and the whole building is cleaned once a year. There are eight fire stoves always burning, consuming a ton of coal a day. There are 3,000 chairs in the cathedral, and 200 surplices in the wardrobe, 60 of which are used every Sunday. The half mile of iron rails in the churchyard, with the seven ornamental gates, weigh 200 tons. Twenty-six thousand people can stand under the INDIA'S MAIN STREET.

India's "Main Street" is the name which has been applied to the 1,500-mile highway extending from Khyber Pass to Calcutta. Although it has been paralleled by railroads, the road is still much frequented, and along its length is to be seen the most cosmopolitan collection of people to be found anywhere. Bullock carts, burden-bearing goats, donkeys and jacks, as well as camels and an occasional automobile, are to be seen along the route, and all kinds and classes of mankind, most of them in the picturesque garbs of the East. It passes over the watershed between the Indus and the Ganges at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

Happy thrift

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You ca. depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

MASONS ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

Church Was Beautifully Decorated For Flower Sunday—Address by Rev. W. H. Young.

The Masonic service at George Street Methodist Church last night drew a large congregation. Members of the Peterboro, Corinthian and Royal Arthur Masonic Lodges, comprising about 160, attended in a body, occupying the centre seats in the church.

Yesterday was flower Sunday at George Street Church, and a portion of the children's floral offerings which decorated the spacious altar in the morning were arranged on a Masonic design above the pulpit, at the evening service.

"The message of flowers" and "The spirit of charity" were characteristics of the beautiful morning service. The flowers, it was announced would be distributed among the sick, and as a result of the children's contribution of Nature's bright creations, the flowers will perform a helpful ministry, cheering many a sad heart and brightening many a sick room.

Rev. Harold Young brought a stirring message to his hearers, in the evening, his subject being "The Pathway to Success in Life," and choosing as his text, II. Timothy, chapt. ii., 15. The service was Masonic in character and special musical renditions, in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, added to its impressiveness.

Rev. Young heartily welcomed the Masons, observing that he hoped the present happy relationship between George Street Methodist Church and the Masonic Order would long remain. In concluding, the pastor called upon Mr. Henry Rush, whom he termed the dean of Masonry in this city, to read the Scripture lesson, Ecclesiastes, chapter 12.

"Absolute integrity of character, expressing itself in faithfulness to the common tasks of life provides the pathway a man must walk to attain success in life," declared Mr. Young. "Faithfulness in the common duties of life and integrity of character were the features of the life of Abraham Lincoln. The uncounted acts of kindness and love, which have flowed out through that inspiring example of noble womanhood, Florence Nightingale, are the results of a whole-hearted endeavor to faithfully fulfil the duties of life." The speaker pointed out that Our Saviour observed this ideal even to Gethsemane and Calvary.

This is but an ideal, Mr. Young stated, and two steps must be taken to realize this standard. The first of these is the step of knowledge, knowledge of ourselves. Man's enemy is sometimes himself and to obtain the true power of success in life, we must know the power, goodness and evil, within ourselves, remarked the speaker. To understand the reality of our strength and to feel the messages in our souls we must have knowledge of God, as a first step to understanding the real meaning of living, it was stated.

"Continual persevering effort," declared the speaker, "is the second step a man must take to realize this ideal. We need consecrated effort in every atmosphere of life to bring into being our visions of this standard."

Addressing the Masons present, Mr. Young said: "W have upon our hearts as Masons obligations and no true Mason can remain satisfied with conditions as they are, in social and industrial life. We have a long succession of virtues set before us, and the full duty of your heart and of my heart can only rise up by bringing those virtues into our soul, through relentless effort."

The service was enriched by the sacred intensity of the musical renditions. The anthem, "Lord of Heaven," by Roffi, was sung by the choir, Mrs. J. H. Renwick and Mr. Charles Thorpe taking the solo parts.

Mrs. Dorothy Allen Park sang "Voice of the Wilderness," by Scott, and the Scottish Rite Male Quartette, comprising Messrs. Park, Morphet, Carlyle and Brown, gave a beautiful rendition of "Lead Kindly Light," by Dudley Buck.

A CHILD'S CURIOSITY.

Once the school had been reached by the Mann child a lot of watching and trouble passed from Mrs. Mann to the school teacher.

But when evening came, Mr. Mann found that he had upon his hands a veritable question box, and more than once Mr. Mann regretted that he had so small a fund of general knowledge at his command. He found himself finding out a good many things that he had never bothered before, and it came to be as much of a game for him as for the child.

The growing child is tremendously eager for information about this strange and mysterious world into which he has been born. Everything presents a staggering question. Why is this and why is that?

And in trying to find out, the child shows himself wiser than the man. The grown-up may wonder, but all too rarely goes to the trouble to find out. He dislikes to ask questions for fear of being considered uneducated or stupid. The child is likely to follow him in such ways—particularly if the parent is evasive, or seeks to stifle the young and growing imagination.

Too often the grown-up is not even curious. He becomes so engrossed in matters pertaining to himself and his work that he shuts his eyes to thousands of interesting things about him.

Curiosity is an indication of interest in life and things; a symptom in children that is healthy and fine.

Don't refuse to answer their questions! Keep their interest aroused, and help in their education.

FORTY-FOUR MEN ARE PLACED HERE

Work Scarce, the Local Labor Bureau Reports.

Forty-four men were placed in positions last week through the local branch of the Ontario Employment Bureau. Of these, Mr. Hugh Robertson stated, there were no mechanics, and practically all the work was for outside the city.

Outside positions are scarcer this year, Mr. Robertson remarked, particularly for mechanics. "We are being asked for unskilled labor for small outside jobs," said Mr. Robertson. The demand for farm laborers is slackening, but will brighten up when the haying commences, as Mr. Farmer doesn't ask for a man unless he has plenty of work for him.

Last week 35 new applications were received by Mr. Robertson.

"There is nothing staple in the employment situation," opined Mr. Robertson, manager of the local bureau, "but the harvest is to come yet, and many changes might take place between now and the winter."

LIEUT. LOWELL SMITH ILL WITH DYSENTERY

CALCUTTA, June 23 (United Press). — Lieut. Lowell Smith, commanding America's world fliers, is ill with dysentery, and this is delaying the round-the-world flight.

The airmen are at Rangoon, when they hope to fly to-morrow if Smith is sufficiently recovered.

They will land at Nawabagani, 16 miles from the city.

TRADE IN.

The auto dealer rends his beard, his eyes are wet, his thoughts are weird. He has new cars upon his floor, resplendent buses in his store. They stand there, glittering like stars, the latest thing in motor cars; they're built to save the precious gas, and they have windshields made of glass; the sills are formed of priceless steel, and there's a brake on every wheel. The auto dealer views his boats and sounds some sad discordant notes. "If I could sell my cars for mon," he sighs, "my business would be fun. But every prospect, every jake, has some old junk that I must take. I have to take in ancient carts that broke our rude forefathers' hearts, old chugmobiles of fierce design, that crossed the plains in '49. The man who buys a modern suit can't trade in rags not worth a hoot; the gent who buys a kelly dear can't trade in lids of yesteryear; the guy who buys cigars to-day can't trade in cabbage leaves or hay. In other revenues of trade men know the merchants must be paid in guilders, kopecks, marks or francs or coin accepted by the banks, but when man comes to buy a bus he makes a most unseemly fuss if I won't take the same as cash, his worn out van that's gone to smash. And this is why I sometimes tear my shirt, my whiskers and my hair."—Walt Mason in Daily News.

IRELAND HAS DEFICIT

The Irish Free State reports a deficit of about 43 million dollars for 12 months. That much was spent more than was received in taxes and other revenues. Ireland couldn't be expected at the start to be able to guess accurately how much money would be needed. A few years of experience will be necessary.:

Prosperity and surplus will inevitably come, for the winning of self-government will curb emigration, by which Ireland for generations was drained of her most valuable natural resource—people.

FOURTEEN INJURED IN TROLLEY WRECK

Street Car Jumped Track and Crashed Into Tree—Car Caught on Fire.

DETROIT, June 23 (Canadian Press). — Children playing in the street are believed to have caused the derailment and subsequent crash against a tree of a crowded northbound Fourteenth Street car at midnight on Saturday, on Hastings Street, between Ferry and Palmer Avenue, in which 15 passengers were injured.

The motorman of the car, August Barcus, in his statement, reported that directly before the car left the tracks, one of the wheels struck a small stone or brick.

O cials believe it was left there through the carelessness of children playing in the neighbourhood.

The car was going at a moderate speed, when it jumped the track and crashed into the tree.

Passengers were thrown from their seats and from the straps to which many were clinging, and several women were trampled upon in the rush for the exits.

Ambulances were summoned from all the hospitals, and the fire apparatus answered an emergency call.

Fourteen of the injured were taken to the Receiving Hospital, five to Grace Hospital, and two to Harper Hospital.

Injuries suffered by the passengers were largely body bruises and cuts from flying glass.

All except Victoria Drayton, 29 years old, and Robert Leads, 36 years old, were discharged as soon as their wounds were dressed.

Miss Drayton, whose back was injured, remained at Grace Hospital.

Leads, who was unconscious when he was taken to Grace Hospital, was sufficiently recovered on Sunday to be discharged.

NEED OF WIRELESS FOR FLYING

"From the standpoint of commercial aviation, radio is the one means by which air navigation may be conducted with peculiar safety," says Major General James G. Harbord in June "Aero Digest."

"For," he continues, "by means of radio aircraft may communicate with surface sations, with other aircraft and also receive the necessary information to take advantage of weather conditions and keep constantly in close touch with the world below.

"Communication is the essence of modern strategy and tactics. The airplane equipped with radio furnishes the quickest and most reliable means of communication known to modern warfare.

"Without radio, military and naval aircraft are nerveless instruments and their co-ordinating duties would be seriously hampered were it not for the remarkable aid which radio gives under all conditions."

RUM-RUNNERS

Liquor ships have congregated so thickly in the vicinity of New York that they are a menace to navigation. So complains veteran Captain Schmidt. He says that on his last trip out he barely missed running down two hoock schooners.

Liquor is plentiful at most places along our coasts. In some eastern cities, its' even sold in most of the grocery stores. The interior of the country is drier. How long will it continue so if rapid development of airplanes continues? The flying machine will be the real prohibition problem.

KNICKERSUIT

The two-piece knicker suit of English worsted in tan, russet or brown is conspicuous at country clubs and winter resorts.

TABLE FERNS

The reason most table ferns do not live and prosper is because they are put in too shallow a dish or because ample drainage is not provided by covering the bottom with a layer of broken crockery.

Booksellers' Convention.

Annual Meetig Held in Toronto— Offcers Elected For the Year.

TORONTO, June 23 (Canadian Press). — The most successful and the most largely attended convention in the history of the Canadian Booksellers' and Stationers' Association was brought to a close with Friday's session, when officers for the ensuing year were elected as follow:

Hon. president, Dr. George H. Locke, Toronto.

Past president, A. T. Chapman, Montreal.

President, A. H. Jarvis, Ottawa.

Vice-presidents, William Tyrrell, Toronto, F. E. Osborne, Calgary, Wendell Holmes, London.

Secretary-treasurer, F. I. Weaver, Toronto.

Executive: C. H. Nelles, Guelph; Clinton F. Brown, Montreal; Fred Cloke, Hamilton; Lisgar Lang, Winnipeg; E. J. Vickery, Yarmouth, N.S.; W. H. Bone, Victoria, B.C.

The scope of the association was considerably enlarged a year ago by opening the associate membership to the publishers, manufacturing stationers, wholesalers, and travellers, and the result has been the enthusiastic participation of these elements of the trade with the retailers in the convention and the promulgation of ambitious plans on national lines for the betterment of mutual interests, including a campaign to develop greater interest in reading and the importance of books in the cultural development of Canada. In this connection appreciation was expressed of the work of the Canadian Authors' Association in their active promotion of Canadian Book Week, which has become a national event of important significance and growing influence each November.

An especially strong bid for the 1925 convention was made by Calgary, presented by Alderman Fred Osborne with the idea of holding it during the annual stampede in July.

There were also invitations from Vancouver, London, Ottawa, and Toronto.

"Pa, what's an addict?"

"Er—a person who buys a magazine just to read the ads!"

"No, I cannot marry you," she murmured "but I will be a sister to you."

"Nothing doing," cried the advertising man, "I will accept no substitute!"

TRIPLE LINK HAD A BIG EXCURSION

Interesting List of Sports Provided Included a Soft Ball Game.

The annual excursion of the I.O. O.F. Triple Link Club was held on Saturday afternoon to Wallace's Point. The weather man was on his best behaviour, and a large programme of sporting events was run off.

The Colonial girls' softball team uplayed a picked team of men, and handed them an 8 to 4 trimming.

The race-winners were:

Girls, 6 years and under — 1, Jessie Scholey; 2, Margaret Wise; 3, Hilda Freeman.

Boys, 6 years and under — 1, Hubert Vallery; 2, Jim Slotter; 3, Gordon Saunders.

Girls, 6 to 10 years — 1, Florence Lemmings; 2, Irene Slotter; 3, Madelene Shadgett.

Boys, 6 to 10 years — 1, Halley Mowry; 2, W. Abbott; 3, Fred Ford.

Stout men's race — 1, J. Wise; 2, J. Vallery.

Stout ladies' race — 1 Mrs. Merritt; 2, Mrs. Reid; 3, Mrs. Vallery.

Pipe and needle race — 1, Mr. and Mrs. Fair; 22, Mr. and Mrs. Slotter.

Tug-of-war, won by Peterborough Lodge—G. Hillier, L. Lancashirt, F. Merritt, A. Dick, J. Vallery, W. Fair, J. Price, and G. Low. Defeating Otonabee Lodge — J. Lush, W. H. Morton, WagHotston, R. Murduff, J. Wise, H. Follis, A. Lester, and F. Wise.

Girls, 16 years and under—1, Anne Maloney; 2, Pearl Thomas; 3, Florence Lemmings.

Boys, 16 years and under—1, E. Mowry; 2, W. Merritt; 3, R. Adair.

Married ladies' race—1, Mrs. Wm. Fair; 2, Mrs. Scholey; 3, Mrs. Merritt.

Married men's race—1, Wm. Abbott; 2, A. R. McWilliams.

Community singing was led by Mr. Alex. Dick, while Folis' 3-piece orchestra dispensed music for dancing on the boat, which returned at 9 p.m. All present voted the excursion one of the most enjoyable ever held.

The committee in charge was: G. Hillier, F. Wise, R. Martin, J. Lancashire, A. McWilliams, J. Lush, W. Fair, C. Mowry, and H. Robinson.

GETTING THE MOST FROM TIRES.

While the four tires on a car rarely wear evenly, it is advisable to change them around from time to time. In this way they are caused to wear out thoroughly before being sent to the discard.

TO KEEP SPRINGS FROM BREAKING.

Use rebound clips.
Tighten spring clips.
Load the car properly.
Replace all broken parts.
Clean frequently to prevent rust.
Drive carefully, especially on rough roads.

Rubber studs fitted between the door and its pillars will prevent rattling automobile doors.

LIGHTING AFFECTS FOR HOME

Activities in a living-room vary from those quiet occasions when a restive mood is desired to those when a joyous company is gathered. Surely the same lighting effect is not desirfor these two extremes. To provide only the monotonous lighting which is the result of simple ceiling fixtures and generally inadequate equipment, is to limit the possibilities of lighting and to insure dissatisfaction. It should be the aim in designing the wiring and in selecting the fixtures to obtain a variety of lighting effects, in order that lighting may do its share toward providing the proper environment for various moods and occasions. In fact, after a home is decorated and furnished, lighting is the only element having sufficient mobility to provide extensive variety in the appearance of the interior.

The function of the ceiling fixture in the living-room is to provide general lighting. The fixture should be inconspicuous and hung close to the ceiling so that it will be out of the field of vision. A bright, glaring spot, viewed continuously, is extremely uncomfortable. To relieve this discomfort the fixture should be equipped with dense diffusing shades of such shape that the light sources are concealed. In a large living-room sometimes two ceiling fixtures are necessary. There are occasions when general lighting is desired, but to sit for hours each evening under a flood of light cannot be enjoyable. Such lighting does not supply the pleasure of subdued and localized light so desirable for reading and resting. Therefore ceiling fixtures should be limited to providing general lighting and portable lamps should be available for the quiet hours in the living-room.

Must Shade Wall Lights.

Owing to their position, wall brackets are a source of discomfort if they are not heavily shaded. If they are depended upon for general lighting, they are often bright enough to be annoying. Generally, wall brackets and small portable lamps or candlesticks should be considered as vitalized ornaments. A decorative lighting unit which is intended to be only ornamental has as much right to exist as any piece of bric-a-brac or pottery. Dense diffusing glass, parchment, and textiles are satisfactory materials for shading these lights and low wattage lamps should be used in them.

Portable lamps represent the most mobile system of lighting available for the living-room. With an adequate supply of portable lamps the householder will be able to obtain a range of lighting effects and the various occupants of the room will be able to find comfortable places for reading or for other activities. In fact, portables may supply all the lighting requirements in a living-room, but considerable care should be exercised in selecting them for various purposes. The pedestal should be of the correct height, and the shade should be of proper width and depth so that the spread of light may be correct for its intended purpose. These things may be determined before purchasing a portable by experimenting in the store.

If the ceiling fixture is eliminated, other means should be provided for obtaining a flood of light when desired. This general lighting can be effectively produced by portable lamps which are equipped with an inverted reflector and an open-top shade. This reflector will throw the light to the ceiling and a lighting effect similar to the one produced by an indirect ceiling fixture will be obtained. These reflectors may be installed on either a floor lamp or a table lamp. The portable should, however, be of such a height that one is not able to look down into the reflector.

Use of Floor Lamps.

In an average-sized living-room one floor lamp, about six feet high, equipped with a reflector and an open-top shade, will provide plenty of light for general illumination. This lamp may also have a second circuit to provide localized light like an ordinary portable. The downward light will give illumination for reading or for lighting the keyboard of the piano. Near another chair or a davenport, a bright lamp or, if endtables are used, a table lamp will provide light for another's activities. Various other floor and table lamp may be used, depending upon the kind and arrangement of furniture. Portable lamps provide light where and when one wishes it. If there is a fireplace in the room, two little candlesticks, equipped with small lamps and dense shades on the mantel will add a bit of interesting ornamentation to the room. A charming restful, inviting, atmosphere is created in a room in which the lighting is accomplished by appropriate portable lamps, but to insure against dinginess some of the shades of portables should have open-tops in order that some light may escape upwards to be diffused about the room.

The Dining-Room.

Variety of occasions is found in the living-room, but the dining-room is used almost exclusively for the purpose indicated by its name. Symmetry is the dominant note in the setting, the dining table being usually in the center of the room. Therefore, the lighting problem may be solved in a straightforward manner. The lighting effect should be quiet and restful. In this room the subtle attraction and the innate cheerfulness upon the family circle. The dining-room affords one of the most fascinating problems of lighting in the hous.e

When a party gathers around a dining-room table the members should be interested in each other and in the food before them.

COPPER BUSINESS THANKS RADIO.

The copper industry in the United States offers its thanks to radio. On the basis of an estimated total of 2,500,000 receiving sets in the country, radio apparatus has consumed 5,000,000 pounds of copper, says a report by the Copper and Brass Research Association, New York.

In five years, the report adds, we may expect as many radio sets as there are automobiles today—about 15,000,000. Raising the use of copper in the next five years to about 5,000,000 pounds annually. What a boon is radio!

The Girl in "Iron Pajamas" Defies the "Ghost" of Spanish Gold

Down at the Bottom of the Sea She'll Try to Recover the Treasure of King Philip's "Invincible" Armada

Miss Margaret Naylor in the Diving Suit She Used During the War.

Miss Naylor and the Iron "Pajamas" in Which She Will Descend to the Sunken Treasure Ship, Guarded for Centuries by the Wraith of Its Betrayed Commander

LONDON.

A BEAUTIFUL, twenty-year-old girl is about to attempt a task that has brought failure, disaster and death to scores of men.

Clad in a pair of iron "pajamas" she is going to the bottom of the ocean to wrest from it a vast treasure that has been hidden there for three-and-a-half centuries.

These iron "pajamas," it is expected, will protect her from the manifold dangers of the most terrifying sea floor in the universe.

BUT—

Will they protect her from the wrath of the ghost of the old Spanish admiral, who, according to tradition, has guarded this treasure through the centuries—guarded it so faithfully that death usually comes to anyone foolhardy enough to cross his path?

Margaret Naylor, "a bonnie, bonnie lassie," as Harry Lauder would sing, is now at Tobermory, Scotland, with her iron "pajamas," concluding the preliminary arrangements for her daring undertaking.

Off the bleak, rocky coast of Tobermory, with the Orkney Islands frowning dangerously close on the north, there rests at the bottom of the ocean, in the mud and silt, the Spanish treasure ship, Almirante de Forencia. When Spain was great, she was the pride of their navy—the flagship of the "invincible" armada. Now she is a mass of mud-coated wood, hardened like Sheffield steel by the waters of ages, but still holding fast the Spanish doubloons, the pieces-of-eight and the reales, to say nothing of a royal diadem and gold and silver plate, the whole valued at more than $10,000,000 in American money, entrusted to her in the days of her glory. And near her is the wraith of her commander, who lost his life through treachery, faithful to his trust even in death.

It was toward the end of 1588 that Philip of Spain sent his great "conquering" armada into the English Channel. Only a few days later the "invincible" fleet was scattered like chaff.

The Almirante de Forencia was not only the flag-ship of the fleet but the treasure storehouse. Spain's wealth was then the scandal of the world, her navy the best paid. In the strong-boxes of the treasure ship was the pay of the fleet, which amounted to 65,000 ducats, or $150,000, a day.

In the commotion following the attack, the Almirante de Forencia managed to slip away, up through the end of the channel and into the North Sea. Then she turned west, through the forbidding eddies between the north coast of Scotland and the Orkney Islands. A terrific storm came and the treasure ship sought safety in the shelter of Tobermory Bay.

When the winds died down she found herself surrounded by the small boats of the wild inhabitants of the lawless district of the Island of Mull. These Scots were on far from friendly terms with the English, and extended a cordial welcome to the Spaniards. They came aboard the treasure ship in large numbers, saw some of her riches and imagined the rest, and from that moment on, the fate of the proud Spanish galleon was doomed.

The Maclean, redoubtable chieftain of the Scottish clan bearing his name, conceived the plan, and tradition relates that the crime was actually committed by one Smollett, an ancester of Tobias Smollett, celebrated author. One evening Smollett went aboard the warship, set a fire train to her powder room, and then stole silently ashore. There was a terrific explosion, and the pride of the Spanish armada, with her admiral and 400 men, many of them cruelly maimed, went to the bottom.

And that's the story of the loss of the Almirante de Forencia. "Full ten fathoms deep she lies" to-day just as she has lain these three centuries and more. Time after time attempts have been made to salvage her, or to at least recover some of her treasure. But misfortune attended each attempt. Navigators know exactly where she lies. Divers have gone down and brought up pieces-of-eight and odd gold cups and small guns. But they also brought up blanched skins and shaky nerves and never has the same diver gone down twice.

In addition to the money and plate carried by the treasure ship, it is generally believed that she also has in her strong room the diamond-studded royal diadem with which Philip of Spain intended he should be crowned king of the conquered English in London. So generally is this believed that, immediately following the wreck, efforts were started to recover the treasure, particularly the diadem. No less than five crowned heads participated in these attempts—Elizabeth, James I, Charles I, Charles II and James II. But all met with failure.

The galleon sank in waters claimed by the Earls of Argyll. Charles II beheaded two of these Earls following disputes as to the ownership of the wreck. James II, needing money on one occasion, offered to "sell" his interest in it to a succeeding Earl for an enormous sum of money, reserving for himself the diadem and a percentage of all else. The Earl of Argyll knew if he did not accept, he would lose his head. He fled to Holland and his estates were confiscated. But he cast his lot with the Prince of Orange, returned with him, assisted in driving James off the throne, got back his title and estates and was made a duke.

Ever since then the Dukes of Argyll have been recognized as the owners of the treasure at the bottom of "their" ocean. It was from the present Duke that Margaret Naylor acquired the "lease" to the old galleon. She personally possesses all the rights, but will, of course, share all profits with the Duke.

Miss Naylor is the daughter of a Scottish vicar, petite, blond and very feminine, despite her unusual calling. During the war she was connected with the British Navy Department, and had not been in it very long when she became interested in deep-sea diving. She did some remarkable work on some of the sunken war-ships, and became recognized as the leading diver of Europe, male or female.

In 1922 she attempted to recover the treasure of the Spanish galleon in an ordinary deep-sea diving suit. But she found that it was unable to withstand the terrific pressure of the water and the swift swirling currents. She brought up some of the gold coin, plate and guns, which were later sold for $4,000. Despite this comparatively rich haul, she announced that she would give up her efforts.

A few months ago she became interested in the iron "pajamas" diving suit, the invention of a German. It can withstand any pressure, and, although so clumsy in appearance, it is amazingly practical. It is really an iron case. Tubes to the surface furnish air, and wires carry signals. The suit is so heavy that she cannot walk in it, but she will be moved from one spot to another by an iron crane on the "mother" ship. The pressure of the water will enable her to move her arms and wires controlling the "fingers" will permit her to pick up tiny articles.

All earthly obstacles that have stood in the way of recovering the treasure of the sunken Spanish galleon seem to have been overcome. But there is still to be reckoned with the ghost of the old admiral, who for three and a half centuries has stood guard over his ship, pistol in hand, ready to avenge the treachery that sent him down to the bottom of the sea.

CAMPBELLFORD WINS ANOTHER

Doubled the Score on Hastings in League Game—Jinx Has Been Chased.

(By a Staff Reporter).

HASTINGS, June 23. — Manager Davidson's baseball men have struck their winning stride of last year, again adding another to their list of victories when they defeated the Hastings nine on the latter's home grounds by a score of 14-7. The Campbellford boys had a run of hard luck at the opening of the season, due chiefly to the lack of an experienced pitcher, but now the Jinx appears to have been chased away, and the Campbellford fans believe that if their team fails to finish at the top in the first division, they still have a chance before the season closes to bring home the Clarke cup.

Scott, the left-hand twirler for Campbellford, the man to whom the fans pinned their hopes, was out of the game for some time with a sore hand, but is back again. He is given credit for the win over Brighton on Wednesday of last week and in the game Saturday at Hastings his work was of the winning variety. As a pitcher, fielder or batter he ranked high, his record for the day being 10 strike outs, giving only one pass to first, two hits, one of them a double that drove in two runs, two put-outs and five assists. With a performance like that in the box any team should be able to win games, and Scott's team-mates gave him good support throughout the contest. The game opened auspiciously for the visitors, who scored two runs in the first inning, and Scott, when Hastings' time came, fanned the first three men who faced him.

Every man on the Campbellford team added to his batting average, the honors going to holmes, who in six times up, made a single, a double and a triple. He made the circuit on the hit, as the Hastings fielder made a high throw to third to catch him after the runner was safe at that corner. Shillinglaw, who held down first in the absence of Weston, who has not yet recovered from his injury received in the game with Roseneath, accepted all of his nine chances and has a two-base hit to his credit.

Hastings got its first runs in the third when Howard got to second on a low throw from third, stole third, and scored on a single by Walsh. The latter was sent home when Collins and Herrington hit safely.

In the sixth inning Scriver, the Hastings catcher, got a single and stole second. He made a dash for third, and in a long slide sprained his ankle, and had to be taken home in a car. Lambert went behind the bat for the remainder of the game, Clark, who was on the waiting list, taking Lambert's place on right.

Campbellford made a snappy double play in the fourth when Holmes made a neat stop of Walsh's grounder, getting it to first ahead of the runner, Shillington relaying the ball to Armour, who touched out Stevenson, who attempted to run in from second on the play.

Manager Wellman has built up a good team of the remnant that was left him of the nine of last year, when Hastings was always regarded as a factor in the race.

Play Replay Game.

The game between Brighton and Campbellford which was played on the latter's ground last week, ended in the seventh innings, on account of the darkness, the score being 7-6. In their half of the eighth Brighton made three runs which did not count. Commenting on the game the Brighton Ensign says:

The Campbellford team was not satisfied with the umpiring and played under protest after the sixth inning. Brighton was not satisfied with the time the game was started, for they feel that the extra innings might have meant victory. The game certainly should be replayed, started at the proper time and handled by neutral umpires. The players of both teams are good sportsmen and realize that the other team has reason to be dissatisfied. A replay is the logical solution.

The Campbellford management and players are disposed to accept this offer in the sportsmanlike spirit in which it is given. Roy Bell-secretary of the team, has been instructed to write the Brighton manager offering to replay the game here some Saturday afternoon to be agreed upon later, Brighton to pay their own expenses and the same umpires to officiate.

DAWSON CITY PASSES BILL FOR LIGHT WINE

DAWSON CITY, June 23 (Canadian Press). — An amendment to the liquor law which would permit the sale of beer and light wines in licensed premises was passed by the Council here last Saturday, but Gold Commissioner George P. Mackenzie refused to assent to the amendment.

He explained that he had referred the measure to the Governor-General in Council, who had advised him that the Bill was unwise in view of the negotiations being conducted with the United States authorities to permit the shipment of liquors consigned to the Yukon Government through Alaskan territory.

One Hundred and Thirty Khaki Uniformed Men Go Through Their Daily Drill.

Exhibition Park has assumed a military aspect. The shouting of commands, the cavaliers on their horses, on the walk, and on the double, drilling, and the flapping of the many tents, presented a military spectacle worth seeing at the park this morning.

Sunday service was conducted yesterday morning by the Rev. N. R. McLeod, of Park street Baptist Church, the Salvation Army band supplying the music. After the service there was the march past, a military feature of yesterday's program.

To-night, as soon as darkness will permit, moving pictures will be shown in the open, and the Salvation Army Band will provide a concert.

At 6.30 p.m. this evening a bare-back wrestling contest will be staged. This event will provide more enjoyment for the onlookers than the particants.

After the wrestling contest, the Pontypool squadron will play a game of baseball with the officers, the winners playing off with C Squadron to-morrow at 7 p.m. for the championship.

CHINESE HONOUR EDWIN G. HAWLEY

British Warship Cockshafe Succeeded by Threatening to Bombard the City of Wanhsien.

PEKING, June 23. — (Canadian Press.) —The commander of the British Warship Cockshafe, by threatening to bombard the city of Wanhsien, compelled the Chinese authorities to honor Edwin G. Hawley, an American killed by Junkmen and to execute by shooting in public two officials of the Junkmen's Guild.

Officials of Wanhsien have promised to see that foreigners are not molested hereafter.

Hawley, whose home was formerly in New Jersey, had been in China for fifteen years, employed by a British firm. His company was engaged in river transport of wood and oil by steamers and the Junkmen resented the intrusion of machinery into their leisurely life and livelihood so they put Hawley to death on the beach. The commander of the gunboat Cockshafe trained his guns on the city and required the highest Chinese military authority to walk in humility in the American funeral cortege, after which two of the leaders of the Junkmen's Guild were escorted to the spot where Hawley was killed and shot to death while the populace looked on. United States' Consul Clarence J. Spiker, reoprted that the inhabitants and Chinese military authorities at Wanhsien appeared to be thoroughly awed by this example of summary western justice and had given assurance the offence would not be repeated.

CHICAGO STORM TAKES 4 LIVES

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Property Was Damaged.

CHICAGO, June 23 (Canadian Press). — One of the worst summer storms in years swept almost the entire upper Mississippi River Valley late yesterday, taking at least four lives and doing hundreds of thousands of dollars property damage.

Possibly the mose serious menace to Chicago followed the storm in the threatened pollution of the drinking water supply.

The storm reversed the Calumet River, and caused the sewage to be poured into Lake Michigan.

South-western Minnesota seemed to bear the brunt of the storm in that State. One man was killed near Tracy, near which hundreds of farms were hard hit.

The storm caught a foursome at the Olympia Fields Country Club, killing the caddy and injuring another caddy and three players.

A city fireman was killed by lightning, and a janitor, attempting to close a window, fell eleven floors to his death.

Thousands of persons thronging the parks and benches in anticipation of a temperature of above 90 degrees as predicted by the Weather Bureau, were caught in the storm.

Panic ensued when a circus tent collapsed in South Chicago and caught a thousand persons, mostly children, under the wet canvas.

FORESTERS' PARADE HELD IN PORT HOPE

The members of the Ancient Order of Foresters of Peterboro, nearly three hundred strong, took part yesterday in the annual district church parade of District Number Five, when between six and seven hundred members of the Order including lodges from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Campbellford, Trenton, Toronto and Hamilton, gathered in Port Hope in one of the largest church parades ever held in this district. A special train conveyed the members to Port Hope, while several groups journeyed down by motor. The Methodist church in Port Hope, with a seating capacity of fifteen hundred people, was filled to capacity for the occasion, with several hundred turned away. Thos. Hendry had charge of local arrangements for the occasion.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PLAYED LAST EVENING

The Peterboro Symphony Orchestra appeared for the last time this season in the public evening concerts last night at Victoria Park, when a good crowd was in attendance for the fourth of the series which the orchestra has given this season. The programme was varied and interesting, including several special request numbers. Mr. R. Gliddon, the director, played a cornet solo, "Dream of Paradise," with an encore, "Love's Old Sweet Song".

ALLIED CONFERENCE TO BE HELD ON JULY 16

LONDON, June 23.—(Canadian Press).—Prime Minister MacDonald told the House of Commons in reply to questioners this afternoon that his conference with Premier Herriot of France, was preminary to an inter-allied conference to meet in London, probably July 16th. Communique issued last night covered ground of conversation said the Premier, but he added: "It is highly desirable that America should be represented at inter-allied conference of July 16th. We are not at moment in communication but communication to that effect will be made to American government at once."

NEW OFFICER TO LOCATE IN CITY

Successor to Provincial Officer R. F. Davis.

Provincial Constable Norman F. Maker, who comes here from Belleville, remarked that he noticed Peterboro very quiet in the matter of crime as compared with the Belleville district.

Constable Maker, although he took office here on June 1, was absent ten days attending the June session at Belleville. Five serious criminal offences, one punishable with death, were on the Belleville docket.

After looking over the territory, Constable Maker wishes to warn the public against speeding on Chemong Road. "I have received several complaints from Chemong Park residents in reference to bathers undressing in the open. Yesterday I warned several offenders in this regard, and hereafter arrests will be made if this practice is continued," said Constable Maker.

Constable Maker is a returned soldier, enlisting in the Devonshire Regiment of the Imperial Army in August, 1914, remaining in France until the spring of 1919.

Constable Maker succeeds Constable Davis, who has been transferred.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"WOMAN ON JURY" IS STRONG DRAMA

A poignant protraiture of a woman's soul is on view to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre, where First National's "The Woman on the Jury," which was directed by Harry O. Hoyt from Bernard K. Burns' famous play, is the feature. The cast, headed by Sylvia Breamer, includes Frank Mayo, Bessie Love, Lew Cody, Mary Carr, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Henry B. Walthall, Roy Stewart, Jean Hersholt, Ford Sterling, Arthur Lubin, Arthur Stuart Hull, Fred Warren, J. Edward Davis and Leo White.

George Wayne (Lew Cody) gloried in his reputation as a "cheater of women." One of his first victims was Betty Brown, who innocently believed his promises of marriage until he dissolved her dream by handing her a revolver when she threatened to end her life if he left her.

Several years later little Grace Pierce, whose creed was to "play the game on the level," also fell into the clutches of the fascinating Wayne. The latter, finally tiring of her, used the same method of breaking off their relations. But this time there was a different ending to the story, and Grace found herself on trial for her life.

Then came the testing period, and the souls of the two women were bared to the world before justice triumphed. The one, happily married, sacrificed her all that the other might be saved.

It is seldom that a picture has possessed such a gripping and thrilling plot, and it is not surprising that "The Woman on the Jury" is being acclaimed one of the greatest photoplays ever filmed.

FAMILIAR ROLE IN HAMILTON'S NEXT

Lloyd Hamilton will be seen in the Educational-Hamilton comedy "Good Morning" at the Capitol Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday in a characterization in which he is at his best—that of a bashful, self-conscious boy who is always getting into embarrassing situations through his desire to help others.

In "Good Morning" he will be seen as a newsboy who finds many chances to be of service, but they all turn out wrong, giving Hamilton excellent opportunities to display his wonderful ability as a portrayer of the role that has done more than anything else to make him a famous screen comedian—the part of an embarrassed boy.

AT THE ROYAL

THINGS YOU'LL WANT TO KNOW ABOUT THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER" AT THE ROYAL NOW.

The Great Mid-Western Character Comedy by Edward Eggleston, Which has all the Ingredients of a First Rate Money-Getter — Action, Thills and Bales of Laughter.

The Story: "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" is one of America's great classics and the first novel published in the Hoosier dialogue. It originally appeared in 1871 as a serial in "Hearth and Home," and has sold over a half million copies since that time. After fifty years, the book is still very much "alive." It has been printed in French, German and Danish. It sold widely in England and the colonies from the time it first appeared.

The story tells of Ralph Hartsook, the young Schoolmaster of the Flat Creek District of Indiana, who after many hardships is instrumental in capturing the gang of thieves that had been annoying the district. Ralph finally wins Hannah Thompson, the girl who according to the custom of the time was 'bound-out" as a servant. This is a tale with all the adventure, quaintness, humor and love found in the Hoosier District ten years before the Civil War.

The Author—Edward Eggleston conceived the idea of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" after visiting some relatives in Indiana. He portrayed the actual life and many of the actual people that he saw there and did it so faithfully that he did not dare to go back to Indiana for a long time. Although Mr. Eggleston has written other things the public's favor fell on "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," his first novel, and to it he owes his fame which spread quickly and has lasted for half a century.

The Producer—Whitman Bennett is known in the industry as a man who is not afraid to try something different. He produced the Rex Beach stories, "The Iron Trail" and "Fair Lady," a series of Betty Blythe pictures, "Loyal Lives," and "The Leavenworth Case." He was quick to see the picture possibilities in the "Hoosier Schoolmaster," which other producers had apparently overlooked in their eagerness to snatch up current "best sellers." Mr. Bennett has spared no effort to make the picture faithful to the Hosier country in every detail.

The Featured Players—Henry Hull (favorite of both stage and screen) has the title role. Mr. Hull will be remembered for his stage success in "The Man Who Came Back," '39th East," "The Cat and the Canary," and "In Love with Love," and for his recent picture "One Exciting Night." Jane Thomas who has the part of the "bound-out" girl opposite Mr. Hull has a long screen career to her credit. Some of her recent pictures are "The White Rose," "The Town that Forgot God," "Lost in a big City," "Secrets of Paris," and "The Exciters." Both Mr. Hull and Miss Thomas are Hoosiers. Mr. Hulls father and Miss Thomas' mother taught school in Indiana. They were delighted to play in a picture that was so near to them and consequently had entered into the spirit of the film with great zest.

The Supporting Cast—Since "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" is a character comedy, with many characters, each important in itself, special pains were taken in choosing the players. Strictly speaking there are no minor parts, for each is a type and required expert characterization. Mr. Bennet, the producer, obtained the services of many players formerly under the Griffith banner. Nat Pendleton, wold's champion amateur heavy weight wrestler, also plays an important part.

AT THE REGENT

"THE STEADFAST HEART" COMING TO REGENT.

Film Version of Clarence Budington Kelland's Great Social Drama Here

The fourth of the great Distinctive features of the year distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan, is now playing at the Regent Theatre. It is "The Steadfast Heart" by Clarence Budington Kelland, adapted to the screen by Philip Lonergan, and it ran serially in Collier's Weekly.

Dainty, winsome Marguerite Courtot is playing the leading feminine role and it is said that this is one of the triumphs of her career. Miriam Battista is the girl as a child. Assisting these two is Joev Depew, whose graceful young figure has flitted across more screens than many an older star. As the picture progresses and all the folk become grown-ups, handsome Joseph Striker enters the scene, and those who have seen this talented lad on the stage will find in him the utmost fulfillment of his earlier promise of great characterization. Besides, there is also the famous William B. Mack, whose name is more than sufficient to boost any production on the stage or screen. The incomparable Mary Alden, and Hugh Huntley, the young Australian who has captured the hearts of the American people, are also in this photoplay.

The story is that of a young waif who, frightened and terrorized by his wicked mother, shoots and kills a sheriff in imagined defence of his home. The boy is tried for murder and through the efforts of a newspaper man and a young attorney is acquitted. He wins the enmity of the town's most powerful lawyer through his defeat. The boy is educated far away from the little town, and years later he comes back when his friends are taken sick. He fights his way through the barred doors of local society and in a series of breathless episodes finds out who he really is, and that "blood will always tell."

The picture was directed by Sheridan Hall and the photography is by George Peters. Both men are masters of their craft and the result is beautiful to behold. "The steadfast Heart" will play for 3 days at the Regent Theatre.

Lack of Punch Lost for Petes - C.G.E. Beat Cobourg C.N.R.

PUNCH LACKING AND PETES ARE BEATEN BY 5-0

Have Fifteen Men Left on Bases in Saturday's Game at Oshawa.

FAIL IN PINCHES

Serth Pitches Good Ball, But Breaks Are All Against Him.

You can't win ball games if you don't score runs and as the Petes didn't score any at Oshawa on Saturday while the motor crew were sending five across the plate, the Solomon outfit dropped a peg down the ladder and left themselves in a position that makes it necessary to win three games this week to be in the running for the first half honors.

It was the first time this season that the Petes have been badly beaten and the only explanation is that the punch was missing Saturday.

Getting on the bases was easy.

The Petes had tenants on the sacks in every innings but one and three or four of the boys got round as far as Micky Murray's corner and discussed the postal strike and other topics of the day with their fellow townsman while the side was being retired.

In fact our gang had no fewer than fifteen left on the runways.

And the irony of the thing was that on two occasions each the two Petes with the most consistent batting records, Legon and Heckman, had opportunities to drive in runs and failed.

Both had chances with the bases full but couldn't deliver the necessary transportation.

When a pitcher walks six men, hits two more, allows seven hits, including a triple and double and escapes without a run against him, he is either a wonderfully effective worker in the pinches or he is lucky.

That is what Duke Dainty, Oshawa's left-handed ace, did Saturday, and you can take your choice as to which theory to use.

But you have got to hand this to the Duke anyway—the hit that would have spilled the beans never came, and although he was always getting into trouble he worked out again on every occasion.

Of course the Goddess of Luck smiled upon him too.

An Unusual Play.

His shutout would have been impossible had not "Buck" Wilson, Oshawa's elephantine first baseman accidentally stumbled over the bag and thus unconsciously retired Serth.

It was one of those unusual little plays that delight the experts and puzzle the fans.

The Petes pitcher was first man up in the third and Murray fielding his tap back of third threw wide to first, Wilson having to move towards the plate to take the throw. He tried to tag Serth but the runner ducked under him, tried to grab the bag with his hand as he passed it, missed and ran a few steps past. Thus the situation was that there had been no play completed on Serth and he had not technically reached first base. Umps Hallinan waited for developments and then Wilson in shuffling round to throw the ball back to Dainty happened to touch the bag. Serth was promptly called out. As Johnston and Swanston both walked after Legon had been retired the side would have been a sacrifice and sent in a run had not Wilson accidentally completed the play on Serth,

Serth pitched the full game for the Petes and delivered a brand of twirling that would have won an ordinary ball game.

With the Petes failing to produce a run he couldn't have won Saturday's game anyway but all the breaks were against him in so far as Oshawa's run-getting was concerned for the motor crew shouldn't have scored more than two counters against him.

Dainty: "Hear Me Smile."

An error gave them one and two more were registered on fluke hits that might just as easily have been outs, one a misjudged fly that went for three bases.

A Circus Catch.

Serth supplied the fielding feature himself when he speared R. Fair's torrid liner with his gloved hand with the bases full and doubled a runner off first. Had not the Petes infield been playing in for a play at the plate the grab could have been converted into a triple killing.

Jimmy Hall was out of the game with a lame back and Shaughnessy was shifted into centre while Heckman played right field.

For the Petes in the first Legon flied to Roddick and Johnston fanned. Swanston walked but Heckman's line drive was right at Dainty who pulled it down with his gloved hand.

Oshawa scored a clean cut run in their half. Rowden was tossed out by Serth but W. Fair singled to right and went to third when Murray singled through the box. Tyson hit the first ball on a line to deep centre to Shaughnessy, who made a nice catch. W. Fair scored easily after the out, Murray being held at first. Swanston tossed him out by a yard when he tried to steal.

In the second Harrison lofted one to R. Fair, Holyman fanned and after Collins had drawn a pass Shaughnessy's high fly to Wilson retired the side.

Dainty first up for Oshawa fanned. Roddick got a life when Collins after a nice pick-up of a hard hit ball tossed wide to first. Wilson sacrificed hm to second but the effort was futile for Swanston picked him off the bag on a quick throw to Johnston.

One For the Book.

Dainty walked two in the Petes third but got out of the hole. Serth hit to Murray, whose throw pulled Wilson off the bag. The first baseman tried to get Serth but missed him and the Petes pitcher likewise failed to touch first base. When Wilson accidentally touched the bag with his foot in preparing to toss the ball back to Dainty, Umpire Hallinan called the runner out. It was an unusual play. Legon was then thrown out by Morrison and after Johnston and Swanston had worked Dainty for free transportation Heckman lifted a long fly to R. Fair retiring the side.

For Oshawa R. Fair flied to Heckman, Morrison doubled past third but Rowden was tossed out by Collins and W. Fair by Holyman.

The Petes went out in order in the fourth the only frame during the game in which they did not reach the runways. Harrison rolled to Dainty, Holyman fanned and Collins fouled to Murray.

In Oshawa's half Murray struck out and Tyson lifted a high foul to Collins. Dainty was hit but Roddick fouled to Swanston.

Peterboro got a great start in the fifth. Shaughnessy opened with a double past Murray, the first hit off Dainty and Serth was hit with a pitched ball. Legon moved the pair up a peg with a neat sacrifice but Johnston fanned and after Swanston had walked for the third time, filling the bases, Heckman hit a high fly which Rowden took back of second.

The motor crew got their second run in their end of the inning. Wilson struck out and then Serth hit Reg. Fair. Morrison looped to Legon and Rowden's long fly to Shaughnessy should have been the third out. "Shag" however, misjudged the drive and it went for a triple, scoring R. Fair. Walter Fair fanned, retiring the side.

Bases Filled—No Score.

The Petes again filled the bases in the sixth but failed to score. After Harrison had rolled to Dainty, Holyman singled to centre and Collins beat out a roller to Morrison. Shaughnessy struck out after which Serth was hit putting three on the paths. It was up to Legon but his best was a tap to Dainty, forcing Holyman at the plate.

Oshawa got two counters. Murray's liner got away from Holyman to start with and he went down to second on a passed ball. Tyson doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Murray. Dainty got a Texas Leaguer back of second, Tyson going to third and Roddick's single to right scored the catcher. Serth plugged Wilson with a pitched ball, leaving the sacks crowded and nobody out but Serth pulled down R. Fair's vicious liner with his gloved hand and doubled Wilson off first and Morrison flied to Legon.

In the seventh Johnston rolled to Morrison and Swanston flied to the same player. Heckman and Harrison singled in succession to right but Holyman rolled to Dainty.

For Oshawa Rowden scratched a hit to Harrison on a roller which bounced off Happ's knee. W. Fair sacrificed him to second and Murray singled on a line to left, scoring Rowden. Tyson walked but Dainty hit to Johnston forcing Tyson at second and Johnston made a fast play on Roddick's tap to retire the side.

Serth's Triple Wasted.

In the eighth Collins popped to Murray and Shaughnessy rolled to Dainty. Serth tripled to left, Roddick losing the ball in the sun but Legon fouled to Tyson.

In Oshawa's half Wilson rolled to Johnston, R. Fair fanned and Collins threw Morrison out.

Johnston opened Peterboro's ninth by walking. Swanston flied to Morrison and Heckman fanned. Harrison singled to right but Holyman struck out, ending the game.

FELIX FREIDMANN

It is a sad world, mates. Felix Freidmann is going back to Europe and leave us flat. Felix is a flyweight boxer from Hamburg. Felix hasn't been doing so well in this country.

Mr. Tex. Rickard hasn't been begging him to accept any $100,000 purses. Mr. Rickard, indeed, doesn't seem even to know that Felix is in this country.

Felix thinks this is all very wrong, and very cruel and is going back to that dear old Hamburg—to stay.

MIDLAND LEAGUE

Ross Was Batting Star and Electrics Won by 9 to 8.

The C. G. E. sporred the C.N.R. of Cobourg to six runs in the first three innings of their game in the Midland League on Saturday, and then fought an uphill battle to a 9-8 victory at the Exhibition Grounds.

Ross was on the Warpath.

Bob Ross was the batting hero of the game, driving in five runs with a triple and a single.

Both pitchers were hit frequently, but showed good form in the pinches and most of the runs were due to the indifferent support given by the fielders.

The fielding feature of the game was contributed by Ranger, who took Mackey's hot grounder while running toward first and turned to throw Thompson at second. Both third base men made good stops of sizzling grounders and threw out the hitters.

The long fight to come from behind kept the fans in an uproar and when the Electricians entered the ninth, but one run behind, the excitement was intense. Bun Frost started the tying run on its way with a sharp double to right. Wolfe followed with a double to left sending Frost across to knot the score. McCarney tried hard but Butler made a sparkling catch of his fly back of second. Wolfe stole third while Derry was working on Ross and then Bob crashed the ball far over Boundy's head to the race track, scoring Wolfe. Ross could easily have got to the plate ahead of any play made on him, but is only credited with a single, as Wolfe scored from third.

HECTIC RACE IS IN FINAL STAGES

Saturday's Game With Kingston Here May Decide First Half Honors.

Saturday's defeat sends the Petes down to third place in the Central Ontario League standing and the home crew are fighting with their back to the wall to stay in the running. Saturday's game here with Kingston is likely to be the crucial fixture that will decide the first half honors whether the Petes are in the running by that time or not for the teams are still bunched and the race will not likely be over until Saturday. There are complications over the recent Kingston games inasmuch as it is claimed that the Ponies have been using Somerville and Nickle from the intermediate series without securing their release from that series. One or both of these players played in the last four victories of the Ponies and if their certificates are cancelled it may alter the standing considerably.

Outside of that fact, however, anything can still happen this week in the way of shakeups in the positions of the teams.

Here is the present standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Kingston	6	4	.600
Oshawa	5	4	.555
Peterboro	4	5	.444
Belleville	3	5	.375

The Petes play in Belleville today and on Wednesday and then tie in Kingston here Saturday.

Kingston's two remaining games are with Oshawa in Kingston on Wednesday and here on Saturday.

Oshawa has to go to Kingston, play off a tie game with Belleville and play Belleville in Oshawa.

Belleville has four games to play, three at home and one in Oshawa.

The fans can figure out the possibilities for themselves.

FRENCH BREAK RECORDS

Three New Records Established at Olympic Tryouts at Paris.

PARIS, June 23. — (Canadian Press).—Three new French records were established yesterday at the final Olympic tryouts for the French team, and one of these was lowered twice. Clement clipped one minute, 50 seconds off the 10,000 metre walk, covering the distance in 49 58-15 seconds.

Zaidin threw the hammer 37 metres, 33 centimeters, adding two metres, to the record. Andre Mourlon, the French champion, and De Grelle, in winning their heats, bettered by one-fifth of a second, the time for the 200 meter dash, running it in 22 flat, and later Mourlon won the final in 21 2-5, again lowering the national mark.

CANADIAN BIRD WON

Pigeon Race Won by Montreal Entry Out of Field of 500 Birds.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 23 (Canadian Press). — An entry of R. L. Bibeau, of Montreal, with an average speed of 1,501 yards a minute, was the winner of the flight started at Midland, Ont., at 5.10 a.m. on 21st June, by the American Racing Pigeon Club, it was announced here yesterday.

More than 500 birds were liberated in the contest, which was open to all within a 500-mile radius of the start, in either Canada or the United States.

The flight was started in fair weather, with a strong west wind blowing. South of the Great Lakes the birds were bothered by electrical disturbances.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

If Lee Fohl continues the Boston Red Sox in the first division for a month or so longer, critics will be referring to him as the "Houdini of baseball."

Bequeathed a tail end ball club, badly lacking in reserve strength, Fohl has created much excitement after the first two months of play, by having his despised Red Sox out in front.

But why the "Houdini" tilt?

It is impossible to make a major league ball club over in a year, although Quinn and Fohl, the directing heads at Boston, have made a pretty good job of it.

Three years is considered the average time to rebuild a major league club. Connie Mack has been at the trick since 1914 and hasn't yet accomplished his goal.

With limited strength in various departments of play, a manager is called upon to make the best possible use of available material.

That is just what Fohl is doing. Hence the title the "Houdini" of baseball.

The major league manager lays himself open to criticism every time he makes a strategic move. The second guess invariably proves that he "booted" one. So far Fohl is batting high in the league of strategy.

When his sensational rookie shortstop, Dudley Lee, was injured, Fohl had no understudy. That was problem number one

In Shanks, Ezzel and Clarke he had three third basemen, all of whom had played second, but none of the trio were familiar with the intricacies of shortstop.

Ezzel, a fine fielding third sacker, was tried at short. In his first game he had four errors.

Then Fohl experimented with Shanks, who filled in very well.

At third base he has been using a trio of aspirants for the job, with Lee having recovered from his injuries.

Clarke, a left handed hitter, plays third with a right hander pitching for the opposition. Either Shanks or Ezzell, right handers, draw the job against a southpaw. Fohl seeks to get the very best offense possible, rather than worrying about defense.

Fohl is deserving of much credit for the early success of the Boston club, regardless of where it finishes. He has the courage of his convictions, very essential to the success of a baseball leader.

LAKEVIEWS WON FROM CRESCENTS IN GOOD SCRAP

Whitehouse Fanned Ten and Gave Seven Hits—Poor Support.

SCORE WAS 10-8

Crescent Outfield Made Great Plays—Lakeview Infield Was Poor.

It was a scrappy battle that took place at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon between the Lakeviews and the Crescents in the Junior City League. The game was close throughout but the Lakeviews came out on top by the score of 10 to 8, after nine innings of good and bad baseball.

Some Misses, Too.

The game was full of excitement, but the many errors and slips of both teams deadened it considerably, from the spectators' standpoint.

Some of the neatest catches ever seen on Riverside Park were pulled off, while some of the poorest misses ever seen on that diamond were also demonstrated.

The game was so close that both teams were inclined to be a little excited, but some of the misplays could have been avoided had the players played their proper positions.

The Lakeviews got the drop on Bradley, who was on the mound for the Crescents in the first innings, and walloped him for one run and two hits, including a double by Collins. Bradley has been pitching too much ball during the past few weeks, and wasn't in shape for Saturday's fixture.

The Lakeviews hit everything he had to offer, and in the five innings he pitched he was walloped for 8 runs and eleven hits, three of the hits going for two bases. His infield was rather shaky at times, and had several errors behind him, but his outfield was perfect, and they reaped in everything that was possible.

During the game the Crescent outfield had six putouts amongst them, and had but one error registered against them. Al. Griffin, in left field, pulled down four beauties and came through the game with a clean sheet in the error column, while Fred Jones, in centre field, also reaped in two hard flies, that would have gone for three bases had they escaped from him.

Frank Whitehouse was on the mound for the Lakeviews, and he turned in a nice game. He fanned ten men and held his opponents to seven hits, while his team mates behind him had nine errors chalked against them.

The Lakeview infield were far off colour, and although they made several snappy plays they mussed up a great number that had a lot to do with the Crescents piling up their score.

Whitehouse stuck to his guns for the nine innings. Jack McDonough replaced Bradley in the sixth, and blanked the Lakeviews in the sixth and seventh, but he was touched for one hit and one run in the eighth. He went up in the ninth and was touched for two hits and one run. He walked two men in this frame, but managed to strike out Lou LeBarr, with the bases loaded.

This pulled him out of a great hole, but it was too late, as the Crescents went out in order in their half of the ninth.

Al. Griffin was the outstanding fielder of the game, while Red Whitlow in centre field for the Lakeviews also turned in a nice game.

DYEWORKS WENT CHEERILY HOME

Cobourg Aggregation Took First Victory in League From Raybestos on Saturday.

MADE IT 3 TO 2

Cobourg Dyeworks went home with their first win in the Midland League when they squeezed a 3-2 victory from the Raybestos at the Exhibition grounds on Saturday.

Bill Duggan pitched a nice game for the locals keeping the visitors' five hits scattered among as many innings but two of these hits came after his support had placed men on the paths by poor play. Campbell allowed 8 hits and was given airtight support and the Raybestos' pair of tallies were earned by good solid hits. Butcher, Corin and Rogers were the heavy hitters with two hits in three times up while Nichols had the only extra base hit of the game.

The color mixers got the jump with 3 runs in the first three innings and were content to protect their lead. The Raybestos came right back in the fourth with three hits but smart defensive play held them to one run. They climbed another rung in the sixth when Nichols hit to centre for three bases and Corrin sent him home with a neat single to right. A golden opportunity to tie or win the game was lost in the seventh. With one down, Rogers singled through short. Kirn batted for Cupoli and was hit; Lowe batting for Murphy struck out while Rogers and Kirn pulled a double steal. Butcher was hit filling the bases but Irwin made a fine play on Nichols fast bounder, and the game was over.

And the bases were full.

This game was seven innings by agreement.

COGNAWAGAS IN KEENE CARRIED OFF THE BACON

Keene Tied the Score in the Third, But Were Held by Vannesse.

SCORE WAS 6 TO 4

Keene Twirler Was Touched for Ten Hits Against Cogs' Six.

KEENE, June 23.—The boys proved to be too much for the Keene aggregation in a seven inning contest of the East Peterboro league at Keene on Friday evening. The Cogs got of to a good start and scored three runs in the first innings, to which they added a fourth in the third. In the same innings Keene brought four men across the plate and tied the score. Vannesse then relieved Wilson in the box and held the villagers hitless for the rest of the game. The boys scored their winning runs in the fifth.

Wilson was on the mound for the Cogawagas and pitched good ball up to the third when he was relieved by Vannesse who finished the game in fine style, striking out eight in the last four innings. Mr. Robertson who pitched for Keene struck out six and was touched for ten hits.

Robertson in Fast Action

Vannesse, the first man to bat, made a triple out of a long drive to left field and was followed by Prest, Davis and Williams each making a single. In the third Davis made a single, sole second and was brought in by Shadgett, who got out trying to make home on a hit by Cripps. In their half of the innings Keene made five hits and tied the score. In the fifth Prest took a walk, stole second was advanced to third on a sacrifice by Davis and came on in a single by Shadgett, who also came in on hits by Williams and Crips.

KINGSTON PEEVED WHEN DON BARRED

Secretary Nott Cancelled Nickle's Certificate and Fans Are Wrathy.

KINGSTON, June 23. — (Special.)—For some unknown reason Secretary J. G. Nott, of the C.O.B.L., cancelled the certificate of Don Nickle for Friday night's game and the executive of the local club are at a loss to know the reason for the action. Nickle is a Kingston boy, has always lived here, and has his amateur card, which was forwarded to Nott when application for a C.O.B.L. card was made. The executive are taking up the matter with the League and expect to have Nickle on hand for the game here with Oshawa next Wednesday.

Relative to his outfield and pitching, Fohl is constantly called upon to juggle his lineup to meet situations.

Often Fohl takes Ike Boone, great hitter, out of the lineup in the ninth inning and sends in John Collins.

Boone is fast learning the fielding tricks. John Collins is a master, particularly of a sun field. When enjoying a slight lead late in the game, Fohl seeks to hold it by strengthening his defense.

Unquestionably much of the success of the Red Sox must be credited to Fohl's skilful handling of his pitchers. He seems to scent the proper time to make a change.

CHICAGO KNOCK KOLP FROM BOX TO WIN 6 TO 4

Several St. Louis Players Missing on Account of Row With Umpire.

CLEVELAND WON

Rice's Triple Won for Washington and Boston Beat New York.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Kolp was batted from the box in the third inning and St. Louis lost the fourth game of the series to Chicago yesterday, breaking even on the four game series. Ted Lyons was pounded in the latter innings, but held the Browns from victory. The Browns played without Manager George Sisler and Catcher Pat Collins in the line-up, and Coach Jimmy Austin on the coaching lines, due to notification given the trio of their indefinite suspension as the result of difficulty with Umpire Homes in the first game of the double-header with the White Sox yesterday. The notice came from President Ban Johnson of the American League.

The three men had protested Umpire Holmes' decisions on balls and srikes, which led to their banishment from the game. Score:

Chicago . . 004000011—6 11 1
St. Louis . .0000020020—4 7 1

CLEVELAND WON.

DETROIT, June 23.—(Canadian Press.)— Cleveland won the odd game of the series from Detroit yesterday, 7 to 5. The Indians fought desperately to overcome the lead allowed by Virgil Cheeves, former Chicago Cub pitcher, who made his American League debut with Cleveland yesterday. With the bases loaded, Cheeves was relieved by Metevier, who held the Tigers to six hits in eight innings. Score:

RICE HELPED WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Rice's triple in the fourth with the bases full, coupled with Galloway's error which permitted Rice to complete the circuit, gave Washington a 5 to 4 victory over Philadelphia yesterday in a well-played game. Martina relieved Ogden in the fourth and was invincible. Score:

BOSTON BEAT YANKEES.

NEW YORK, June 23.— (Canadian Press.)—The Boston Americans won their first victory here yesterday, defeating the New York Yankees by a score of 6 to 2. First Baseman Todt, who is filling in for Joe Harris for the Sox, was the big slugger for Fohl's team, hitting a single, a double and a home run, and scoring three of the Boston runs. Score:

Boston . . .030101010—6 12 1
New York . 000011000—2 10 0

AUTO COST 8 BILLION

Annual automoblie cost of this country, excepting taxes and interest, is about $8,000,000,000, estimate Firestone tire officials. Of this, the largest item is depreciation, which is figured at $1,800,000,000.

More than 500 treaties have been filed with the League of Nations.

The annual loss of growing cotton due to the boll weevil is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at over $200,000,000.

C.P.C. JUNIORS DEFEAT DUMMER

Nice Display of Soccer Ended 2-0 in Favor of the Homesters.

FOR TAYLOR CUP.

The C.P.C. Juniors, holders of the trophy, met the North Dummer team in the first round of the Mayor Taylor Cup competition at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon, and after one of the best and most exciting games this season the C.P.C. Juniors won by 2 goals to 0.

Ex-Mayor W. H. Taylor arrived too late to kick off, but he remained on the field, and at the conclusion of the game congratulated the teams upon their display.

The Game.

The Township men won the toss, and elected to face the sun and a strong wind. There were two prominent players absent, James of the Packers and M. Payne of the visitors.

The Packers at once brought pressure to bear on the visitors' goal, and Bryan brought off a good save from Soutar. H. Jory relieved and sent out to Darling, who made a splendid centre, which Curtis headed out of danger. The Packers' halfbacks were feeding their forwards skilfully. Carmichael placed nicely to Soutar, who in turn gave to Downer, whose final effort went just wide of the post. The Packers were pressing very hard. A. Jory and Batten were having their work cut out to keep the Packers at bay. Mitchell on the right sent in a terrific shot, Bryan conceding a corner. Mitchell took the kick and sent well in the goal, A. Jory coming to the rescue. R. Payne essayed a solo run and gave Bruce Bradley a difficult shot to deal with. The left wing of the Packers made a nice run and Soutar sent well into goal. Bryan caught the ball and was penalised for carrying. The visitors packed their goal when Carmichael took the kick. There was a melee in front of the goal, and A. Jory relieved and sent to Munro, who gave to Darling, whose centre was met by Bill Bradley bringing off a great save. Halliday sent Soutar along. He was tackled by Batten, who gave a corner. Carmichael took the kick and sent well into the goal, but the wind seemed to divert the course of the ball, and it appeared as if it went over the goal line without being touched by another player. The referee was close up, and promptly gave a goal. This put the visitors on their mettle, and Bradley and his backs had a lively time, and it was at this period that Curtis was seen at his best. Strudley made a great effort to increase the score. Bryan brought off a great save, and he repeated in the next minute by turning a long drive from T. Montgomery, over the bar. Carmichael took the corner, and again placed nicely, Bryan fisting out. Half-time arrived with the Packers leading 1-0.

The Second Half.

Upon resuming the visitors had the wind and sun behind them, and Bradley was called upon to save from Darling. Curtis by a huge return, sent Mitchell, who had as a companion all through the game, the left half of the visitors. He made a nice run and sent to Downer. Batten hesitated, and Downer sent well out of the reach of Bryan. From the centre kick the visitors were within an ace of scoring, Oxley kicking out of danger, when Bradley was beaten. The game was fast and exciting. The visitors forced two corners, which were well taken by H. Darling. R. Payne nearly scored, just heading over the bar. Bell and Darling were very prominent and were continually causing the Packers defence to kick out of danger. It seemed as if the visitors would open their account. Munro hit the upright and from the rebound R. Payne tested Bradley with a daisy cutter. Bruce kicked out like a veteran.

Strudley kept plying his forwards with nice passes, but A. Jory, who gave a great display at full back was very safe.

The game continued fast, each goal being visited in turn. There was no further scoring, and a grand display of football left the Packers still undefeated, and winners of the game by 2 goals to 0.

The visitors were entertained to supper after the game, and the teams spent a pleasant evening together.

The Teams.

North Dummer — Bryan; A. Jory, E. Batten; Taylor, H. Jory G. Little; R. Payne, F. Bell, G. Batten, H. Munro, and H. Darling.

C.P.C. — B. Bradley; H. Curtis, W. Oxley; Carmichael, Halliday, T. Montgomery; Mitchell, S. Willis, M. Strudley, I. Downer, and F. Soutar.

Referee, Mr. Kellar.

RUNNING ON RESERVE.

Some cars are equipped with a reserve gas tank, but all engines carry a reserve power supply. It is for this reason that a large percentage of motorists keep going day in and day out without realising that they are running on the engine's reserve power and that suddenly the engine is going to give out altogether.

Reserve power is such an important point in the design of some engines that it is possible to climb steep hills in high gear with the cylinders hitting on only five or seven, depending upon whether the engine is a six or an eight. This may be due to faulty spark plugs, or, which is more likely, to a valve not seating properly. Compression in the particular cylinder approximates nil, and contributes hardly anything to the work of the engine. The other five or seven cylinders carry the burden, and do it exceptionally well.

But suppose a second cylinder grows weary? When you run on the reserve you skate on thin ice.

BABY IN RIVER

Alleged Mother Located at Kingston—Inquest Will Be Held.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 23.—(Canadian Press).—The alleged mother of the new born baby found in the Rideau river at this point on Friday evening was located on Saturday by the authorities and is now in the hospital. It is understood that the autopsy showed that the child was dead when put into the water, its death being due to lack of medical attention. No charge has been laid against the alleged mother, awaiting the result of the inquest today.

CAMPBELLFORD UNLUCKILY LOSE GORDON CUP TIE

Geo. Logan Opened the Scoring—Smith Equalized—Williams Scored Winning Goal.

SCORE TWO TO ONE

Gay Brilliant in Goal, With a Good Steady Defense in Front of Him.

The first round of the Gordon Soccer Cup was played at the Oval on Saturday before a fair attendance of spectators. Strong teams represented the two clubs interested and a keen game was the outcome. The Quakers were very lucky to win, because Campbellford had as much of the play as they. Perhaps so many games this week had made the Petes a little stale, but Gay deserves credit for an excellent display of goalkeeping, also his smart style of clearance appealing to the fans. The Campbellford boys have a nice team but from a spectator's view it is evidently noticed that they have never enough practice— or training—if these two do not go hand in hand, then boys you will not have success which is so essential in the world-famed sport.

The Quakers got their first goal in first half; Campbellford equalized on resuming, and candidly speaking the game was value a draw, instead of two to one victory for Peterborough.

Campbellford faced the sun and the breeze and Craig kicked off to lead an attack on the Campbellford goal, but Smith relieved. Blackwood caught on to give the outside left a chance which was spoiled through offsides. Metcalfe travelled down the field to test Gay from 25 yards out. He returned the ball to Mayette who centred on the run, Logan trapped it nicely but skyed high well over the bar.

Both Goalkeepers Tested.

It was all Quaker attack versus Campbellford defence for a time, and once visitors' outside right was almost through, from a timely pass by Cleverley, 'ere he was successfully tackled by Willshaw. The Mayette-Logan combination travelled to the other end where Gay was right on his alert to prevent a score by grabbing the ball from Quakers foot. Campbellford forwards attacked in a body to test Pellow with rapid shots that lacked sting. A solo run down the wing by Mayette drew out the Armstrong-Smith defence,, dribbling past two opponents until he gained two corners that caused Campbellford a lot of worry.

G. Logan Opened the Scoring.

The Quakers' outside right then came away strongly, and steadying himself let drive to witness his parting shot strike in below the bar to come back out where G. Logan gave Gay no chance to save, for the opening goal, after 25 minutes of play. Encouraged by their success the Quakers added pressure upon Campbellford's full-backs. Time and again Armstrong and Smith took the ball from the Quaker players when in the act of shooting. The ball travelled from end to end in quick succession that demonstrated the ability of clean tackling and cool defence work by both teams when the forwards were forcing the play. Just before half time Cleverly gave away a free kick for handling. Half time—Quakers 1, Campbellford 0.

Half Time.

The Quakers pressed on resuming, but without gain, Campbellford retaliating to call upon Pellow to save. Honor pointed upfield, Craig and G. Logan tried to outwit the Campbellford defence full-backs who frustrated many well-laid attacks upon Gay. Once Logan went right through but his parting shot went over the bar.

Smith Equalized.

Parrish tried to force the play into the Quakers' area by carrying the ball close on the defence. Honor tackled and gained possession to clear up-field. Smith saw the chance to test Pellow. A little slackness by Quakers caused them the equalize. The full-back's rocket shot completely deceived Pellow from a well over midfield kick. The balance of the play almost for next 10 minutes favored the Quakers, but there were many occasions when the Campbellford boys by meritorious play, got in touch with the Quakers' goal-keeper.

Gay Brilliant in Goal.

At this period of the game, Campbellford worried the Quaker boys in many raids upon Pellow's goal. Swinging passes from wing to wing kept Willshaw and Honor busy, while the latter was the best full-back on view. After more attacking by the Quakers' forwards, Gay was peppered from every angle without any success, in fact, he held them out by his running out of goal to pick the ball away from his opponents' foot, then again he would jump high up in the air to touch the ball over the bar, while all the Quaker forwards were upon him, and only gave away to fruitless corners.

Williams' Winning Goal.

With only seven minutes to go, Gay had to admit defeat from a scrimmage in front of the goal. The ball was kicked out, kicked n, headed out and up in the air, until Williams drove hard at Gay, who unfortunately was standing through his goal when he stopped the ball and gave Quakers a lucky win in the Gordon Cup game. Quakers (Peterboro) 2, Campbellford 1.

Goal scorers— Quakers: Logan and Williams. Campbellford, Smith.

The Teams.

Campbellford—Gay, goal; Armstrong and Smith, full-backs; Cleverly, Parrish and Dorne, halfbacks; Morrow, Truce, Balckwood, Haggickwagg and Osborne, forwards.

Quakers — Pellow, goal; Honor and Willshaw, full-backs; W. Logan, Metcalfe and Butler, halfbacks; Mayette, G. Logan, Craig, Wilson and T. Williams, forwards.

TIGERS WON LACROSSE

Hamilton Defeated Toronto in Gruelling Fixture, 4 to 1.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 23.—(Canadian Press).—Hamilton Tigers defeated the Toronto Maitlands this afternoon in the Senior O.L.A. fixture. It was one of the most gruelling games of the year with the score standing one all from early in the second period until near the close of the final frame when the Tigers staged a sensational rally and ran in three goals winning the game 4 to 1.

Both defences held the opposing teams absolutely helpless for the greater part of the struggle and it looked for a long time as though a one goal margin would be plenty, Cooper, Drown and Dextras scored for the locals and Draden notched the visitors only counter.

GOLF NEWS

BY JOE WILLIAMS

In the matter of putting one style seems to be about as good as another. Likewise one type of putter as efficacious as another. A true, steady swing and a feeling of confidence in the implement, that is about all there is to putting.

Some golfers get the notion they are poor putters and never get over it. Tireless experiments with new clubs and theories only serve to heighten their difficulties.

It was years before Chick Evans, the Chicago amateur, developed a dependable putting touch. A master of all other strokes, Evans was helpless on the greens and lost championship after championship.

In his first national championship, at Brookline, if memory serves, he used a midiron on the greens, largely as a youthful experiment. He imagined the loft of the club helped him on long roll-up putts.

This was the beginning of a series of experiments which ended finally with a gift putter from an old friend, Snakes Ames, of Princeton football fame, a curious looking instrument which had all the architectural aspects of a potato masher.

As a putter the Ames' creation was no better or worse than the simple stranght-faced blade so generally used; but Evans had the happy break to putt like a fiend the first time he used it. Faith whispered: "That's the club you have been waiting for." It was. Evans has used it ever since and is now accounted one of the game's surest putters.

Walter Travis, champion in the days gone by, used a freak putter—the Schenectady—with great success. He went abroad and won the British amateur championship, the first and only American ever to win it.

Th English, having never seen a Schenectady putter, attributed the American's unexpected success to the queer looking club, and took immediate action barring it from future tournaments. It was probably just as well that Evans' monstrosity didn't exist in those times.

All types of putters are used in the American championships. There is not great uniformity even among the topnotchers. Some of the champions used their own designs. Max Marston, king of the amateurs, for instance, makes his own putters.

GOLF CROWN IS ABSORBING ALL ENGLAND TODAY

Open Championship Will be Battled for by 256 Aspirants at Hoylake Course.

HARDER THAN EVER

All Old Reliables Are There —Course Has Been Made More Difficult.

HOYLAKE, England, June 23.—(Canadian Press).—All the villages that lie along the Irish Sea and at the mouths of the Dee and the Mersey in the vicinity of Hoylake, talked about nothing last night but golf, for to-day 256 professional and amateur aspirants for the crown of open champion of Great Britain will begin the qualifying rounds of play for that title.

Both courses on which the thirty-six holes of qualifying play will take place are in splendid condition. One is at Formby, on the other side of the Mersey, and the other here on the Royal Liverpool Club's celebrated links, where the actual championship test at 76 holes will be played Thursday and Friday by the eighty or eighty odd men whose scores in the qualifying rounds lead the rest of the field.

Arthur Havers will defend his title of open champion, won by a margin of one stroke over Walter Hagen last year, and all but two of the other British champions since 1892, will try to recapture the honor. Even John Ball, the 61 year old veteran, is still going strong enough to have his name in the pot of contenders. Only Harold Hilton and Jock Hutchison are missing among the fairly long array of former British open winners. All the rest are here and ready to tee off to-day—Taylor, Varden, Braid, Herd, White, Massie Ray Duncan, Hagen and Havers.

Havers, who came back from the United States a few weeks ago, tired and weary, as all British visitors to America seem to be when they return from the strenuous cross-continental series of matches, has freshened up and again is playing consistently. It was his consistency that won the championship for him last year—four rounds, and each round in exactly the same figure.

Likewise, Mitchell and Duncan, who always have a following of loyal souls who believe one or other of them is bound to win, are in good condition. Gene Sarazen has a group of admirers who think that he is very likely to turn the trick this year and atone for the disappointment he caused in 1923, when, playing in a bad wind and heavy rains, he failed to qualfy. His air is not so cocksure and confident as it was on the eve of last years' qualifying tests. His boyish spirit, however, is very little subdued. Many persons follow him over the course as much to see his spontaneous smile and listen to his comment as to watch his shots.

The Hoylake that was known by amateurs three years ago, hard as it was then, was a far easier course than the Hoylake of to-day. The course measures only a good long brassie shot less than 7,000 yards. Several of the holes have been altered this Spring, both in length and in character. Not a single alteration has tended to make the going a bit easier. In fact it is the very opposite of this.

SUMMER BAZAAR.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's will hold a summer bazaar in the Sunday school from 4 to 6 on Tuesday, June 24th. Over 25 dresses for children and junior misses; children's underwear, aprons; homemade cooking and other articles. Tea will be served. 3d-19-21-23-2451.

THE C.O.S. CLUB.

The C.O.S. Club of the Y.W.C.A., one of the junior clubs of the organization, held a jolly picnic at Jackson Park on Friday evening. A bountiful supper was enjoyed, and a programme of sports and races entered into with zest. Kathleen Cooney was winner of the Niagara Falls race, and Margaret Gillespie of the peanut race.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION

The Y.W.C.A. Garden Party at Mrs. Geo. Macdonald's this Friday afternoon and evening, promises to be one of the big attractions of the season. The committee of 30 ladies in charge of the party are arranging many novel and new entertainments. High tea is being served at little tables on the lawn each in charge of its own hostess. Business men and families, business girls and friends should enjoy this out door tea and everything will be in full swing during the tea hour as well as afternoon and evening. As there are only a limited number of tickets for tea, all wishing to come are advised to secure their tickets early. 1d-148-2501

BUMPER STRAWBERRY CROP IS EXPECTED

PORT CREDIT, June 23.—(Canadian Press.) — Strawberry growers, beginning their quest to-day for pickers, reaffirmed former statements that the berry crop this year would be abundant and would probably set a record. Some weeks after the first announcement was made fears were entertained that the cold, damp weather would endanger the fine prospects but now on the eve of picking weeks, growers are assured of plenitude of berries. Prices, it is thought, will come down to 15 cents a box or two boxes for 25 cents retail, while prices

TORONTO APPEAL POSTPONED TO-DAY

W. N. Tilley, K.C., Presented His Reasons Why the Award Should be Set Aside.

LONDON, June 23. — (Canadian Press). — Further argument in the appeal of the City of Toronto before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council against the award of the board of arbitrators, allowing the Toronto Street Railway Company £11,000,000 for its property taken over by the Toronto Transportation Commission, was postponed this afternoon until to-morrow. W. N. Tilley, K.C., one of the counsel for the City of Toronto, this morning presented his reasons why the award should be set aside.

KING GEORGE HELD SCHOOL PICNIC SAT.

Over Four Hundred People Turned Out at Nicholls Oval Where the Picnic was Held.

The annual picnic of the King George School was held at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon, with an attendance of over four hundred people, comprising parents, teachers, and pupils.

The weather was propitious for the occasion, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the school's annual outings.

A baseball game between ex-pupils of the school, of the year 1922, and this year's classes, was played, the ex-pupils winning the match.

Fifteen hundred ice-cream cones were disposed of, and about forty gallons of lemonade.

Instead of having a general sit-down supper this year, each family brought along its own basket.

The ice-cream and lemonade booths were in charge of Mesdames Ebbs, King and Pomeroy, and Messrs. L. Copp and J. E. R. Munro, assisted by one of the parents, Mr. Louis Yeates, supervised the sports programme.

A general committee was composed of the president, Mr. James Ellis, Mrs. P. King, and Mrs. V. Hamilton.

A very pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation by Miss Eva Outram, one of the teachers, of the silver cup donated by her to the girl winners in the Softball School League, and won by the girls of the King George School.

Much appreciation from the Home and School Association was expressed for Miss Outram's handsome donation.

Florence Greer, in the name of the winning team, thanked Miss Outram for the cup.

Prizes in the racing events were won as follow:

Girls, 6 years and under—Betty Perks, Madge Mickroff and Marjorie Joyes. Six years—L. Langley, F. Reid, and E. Roberts. Seven years—H. Storey, E. Day and H. Mahood. Eight years—M. Jaquith, E. Mr. and Mrs. George Daley, of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. M. Daley, Rubidge street.

Miss May Overend, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Mr. Alphonse Picard of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Mrs. Lea Picard of Lansing, Mich., attended the funeral of L. J. Picard yesterday.

Jules Falk of New York City, the violinist, who appeared here last season with such success, was a transient visitor in Town on Saturday.

Mrs. W. Davis, Margaret Avenue, is spending a few days in Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Gliddon and the teaching staff of the Peterboro Conservatory of Music were at home to pupils of the Conservatory and their parents at the Conservatory on Saturday afternoon. The affair, a very pleasant and enjoyable occasion, was attended by between four and five hundred people. The spacious building was thrown open to the guests, who were received by Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon, Madame Bonnaure Walsh, Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, Miss Pearl Burford, and Miss Bessie Elcome, and was profusely decorated with a quantity of lovely flowers, artistically arranged by Miss Florence Scott and Mademoiselle Mathilde Masson. Dainty wood blossoms were used, in buttercups, marguerites, honeysuckle and lilac, while the two tea-tables, one in the rear of the living room, the other in the studio, were centred with masses of peonies, carnations, roses, iris and spirea. Mrs. W. McKee Bingham and Madame Masson presided at one table; Mrs. N. H. Sutton and Mrs. W. R. Widdess at the second. Tea arrangements were supervised by Miss Florence Scott, and assistants were the Misses Cameron Edwards, Mary Harstone, Mary Eliot, Mathilde Masson, Ina Allen, Alice Price, Kathleen Sutton, Bertha Hill, Geraldine Collins, Mabel Gardiner and Elizabeth Webber. The Misses Mathilde Masson and Margaret Widdess had charge of the refreshments for the children, a large number of the junior pupils attending. During the afternoon, a delightful programme of music was given in the big hall by the Conservatory orchestra, directed by Mr. Gliddon. A cornet solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song," with orchestral accompaniment, was also played by Mr. Charles Thirnbeck. An interested visitor for the occasion was Mr. Jules Falk, violinist, of New York, passing through Peterboro on his way to Montreal, who attended the at home, and heard the playing of two of the junior violin pupils of the Conservatory: Winnie Evans and Arnold Evans, expressing himself as being much pleased with their efforts. An exhibit of work by the junior pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards, also was on view, their drawings in colored crayons of still-life subjects, and the plaster head done in relief by Harold Cranfield, attracting much attention.

Pupils from Bailieboro who have been attending the Continuation school in Millbrook for the past year and were successful in passing their examinations from first to second form, were: Jean Blake, Edna Byers, Agnes Breckenridge, Harold Barnard, Charley Anderson and Keith Barnard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bolan and Master Bert, 565 Gilmour street, motored to Norwood on Saturday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubbell.

Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave is attending the conference of the Social Service Workers of the Anglican church in Canada at Havergal College, Toroto, to-day.

IRISH REPRESENTATIVE WILL GO TO WASHINGTON

LONDON, June 23. — (Canadian Press).—Government has assented to proposal of Irish Free State to send separate representative to Washington it was announced in the House of Commons by J. H. Thomas, Colonial secretary. Question whether such representative would have independent position at Washington was being discussed with minister of Free State who is in London, Mr. Thomas added.

ROTARY HAD A GOOD MEETING

Mr. W. R. Morris Was the Speaker of the Day—The Convention.

At to-day Rotary luncheon, a discussion on the salient features of the recent International Convention was of considerable interest.

The speaker of the day was Rotarian W. R. Morris, and the chief subject under discussion in the dining-room and in the lobby was "Rotary Convention." This remarkable convention so impressed the members that attended, it will no doubt provide intellectual food for discussion at many future luncheons.

"I cannot talk about Rotarian education without talking about the Rotarian Convention, nor can I talk about the Convention without talking about Rotarian education," began the speaker.

The international aspect was probably the outstanding feature of the recent convention. As a result of this feature of Rotary, friendship spreads from province to province, and from country to country, remarked the speaker. The spirit of friendship follows its development. Quoting the words of an American speaker at the recent convention, Rotarian Morris said: "Politicians raise up barriers, but Rotary knocks them down." Rotarian Crawford McCullough stated that he would not belong to Rotary for half an hour were it not for its international aspect.

The inspiring addresses by Rotarians from Japan, China, France, Australia, Cuba, South Africa, Great Britain and Ireland and Bermuda demonstrated the international good feeling that Rotary has created. The speaker mentioned the fact that congratulatory telegrams were received at the convention from the King of England, the President of the United States, the King of Norway, the Queen of Spain, the President of Brazil and many other constitutional heads.

Better business methods was another aspect of the convention dealt with by the speaker. "A respect to moral principles applied to your business," was a standard set by one speaker at the recent convention. Rotarian Morris stated that Earl Thorpe, in a remarkable address last week, declared "That Rotarians should nail and stamp out the current phrase, 'Business is business,' for business is straight and honorable for the most part."

"The problem of the privileged boy" was the subject of an address at the convention. We are educating but not training our boys, stated the speaker.

Rotarian Morris also touched upon the administrative and entertaining aspects of the convention, concluding his remarks by explaining the constitution of the executive.

"A unique international feature of the convention was the presentation of a pageant last Monday night," said Rotarian Morris. "The crossing of the British and American flags at different intervals brought 20,000 people to their feet, loudly applauding. It was a great inspiration, showing the international good fellowship Rotary is promulgating."

"I have tried to cover the salient outstanding features of the convention as it appealed to me, eliminating the chaff and giving you the wheat," concluded the speaker.

President Reid Wren, in thanking the speaker, remarked that Rotarian Morris had covered the convention in a remarkable manner, considering the time he had spoken.

Rotarian Jack Seels opined that the members should allow no grass to grow from now until the 17th of July, when the Rotary Boys' Camp will open.

There was a good attendance at to-day's luncheon, among whom were Messrs. James Kelso, Rochester; Herbert Elliott, Dallas, Oregon, and Smith Kelly, Toronto.

POSTAL STRIKE SITUATION GOOD

The Strike in Montreal is Over and Mail is Coming and Going as Usual.

MONTREAL, June 23.—(Canadian Press). — "Mail coming, mail going, business as usual. Strike in Montreal is over." This was the announceemnt made by Postmaster Gaudet to-day. A party of representatives of the local English and French press were conducted by the Postmaster on a tour of all departments of the Central Post Office and given ocular testimony to his words. There was a full staff of employees going about their (in many cases new) duties, mail carriers, arriving and leaving, protected by constables with drawn batons. The accumulations of mail had either entirely disappeared or had fallen to dimensions which the next couple of hours would easily diminish.

Insane Statement.

"The most insane statement that anyone could possibly make," was the comment of a member of the running trades organizations on the published statement that railway engineers would refuse to man trains handling mail in view of the postal strike.

Such a move was absolutely impossible, it was pointed out. Before any such decision could be reached by the engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers would have to take a strike vote of their membership, and would have to secure a two-thirds vote of their men and two-thirds vote of their general committee before it could be put into effect. This means it would be six weeks before such a decision could be put into effect.

HAMILTON POSTMEN RETURNED TO WORK

Postmaster Webber Advised Them Not to Go Out on Strike Again.

OTTAWA, June 23. — Postmaster Webber of Hamilton this morning wired the Post Office Department that everything was going along satisfactorily there, that after the men were interviewed by the Toronto strikers he called them together and advised them against going out on strike, and emphasized the fact that any employee who did go would never be re-employed in the Hamilton post office, if he could prevent it. Mr. Webber stated that the men appeared to be working harmoniously but they tried to get an assurance that those who returned within the time limit would be reinstated at the salary that they were receiving. He indicated that he told the men that he would do everything in his power to assist in the matter of their reinstatement at their old salary but that question was one which rests entirely with the department.

The postmaster added that quite a large quantity of Toronto mail, newspapers as well as first class matter, had been sorted and that the Hamilton work was up to date.

Montreal is officially reported to-day to be functioning normally.

Regular Deliveries.

In Montreal this morning regular deliveries began again, men and cars being escorted part of the way by a police guard. The local situation is now believed to have become clear. The places of 800 odd postal strikers have now been filled.

With regard to offers said to have been made by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to refuse to man the mail trains no definite word could be had here this morning.

Most of the officials of that body are at present in Cleveland attending the railwaymen's convention, at present in session there, and it was intimated that any decision on that matter would have to be made at the convention.

THE COMMISSIONERS HELD MEETING TO-DAY

List of Accounts Passed —Pensions for Hydro Workers

A regular meeting of the Utilities Commission was held this morning, Chairman Robert Hicks, presiding.

Letters from Geo. H. Ducan, W. H. Hill, and T. F. Matthews were read acknowledging the reecipt of photographs of the past and present Commissioners, taken at the opening of the substation.

The secretary was directed to write the Pension Board of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in reference to the pensions of the substation operators and it was decided that members of the Commission should meet the Board on the matter.

A letter was read from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission acknowledging the receipt of a copy of a statement sent to the City Council regarding the Campbell Flour Mills Co.

Manager Fisk reported having employed one Cummings, as a supply man for the substation.

A certificate was read from R. L. Dobbin, superintendent that J. A. McDonald and J. Theobald were entitled to $450.00 on account of their waterworks office contract and payment of the same was authorized.

Payment of the following accounts was authorized:

City of Peterborough $11,425.00; Miss M. E. Moore, $20.50; Moffats Ltd., $40.42; Mrs. A. C. Sawyer, $10; Canadian General Electric Co., $548.86; Murdock Stationery $8.82; H.E.P. Commission of Ontario, $80.11; R. J. Soden $1.05; Robert Hicks, $16.20; City of Peterborough $26,453.50; Simplex Valve and Water Co., $543.72; R. C. Heard, $209.00.

There were present at the meeting Messrs. Hicks, (chairman); W. H. Bradburn and E. F. Mason.

MR. JOHN MANLEY'S CAR RECOVERED

Thieves Operating Between Belleville and Peterboro.

The car stolen from the garage of Mr. John Manley, Otonabee, last Thursday night, was recovered in Huffman's swamp, just east of Peterborough. The discovery was made by Provincial Officer Maker and Detective Meagher of the local force, on Saturday.

The presence of feathers on the car indicates that it had been used for thieveing and apparently abandoned by the culprits, after it became an obstacle rather than of assistance, to them.

This is another link in the chain of evidence against the gang of thieves who have been operating for months between Belleville and Peterborough.

MURDER SUSPECTED IN HANSFORD CASE

Medical Examination on Saturday Led to Suspicion That the Boy Had Been Murdered.

CALEDON, Ont., June 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Murder is now suspected in the case of 17 year old John Bolton Hansford, youth who was found dead from a rifle bullet wound in his head on his father's farm Friday morning. At first it was believed that the lad had accidentally shot himself while getting his sporting rifle, a 22 calibre, from the barn, but medical examination Saturday led to the suspicion of murder. As a result, an autopsy was performed and Coroner A. Reynar of Palgrave, opened a preliminary inquest here. It has been adjourned until Monday afternoon.

It was the position of wounds on the body which first gave rise to suspicion. The lad left his home early Friday morning without announcing his intention but it was thought at the time that he was going to to the barn to get his rifle. A few minutes later shots were heard and the father of the boy, rushing out to the barn, found the lad's body on the floor with the rifle beside him. At first only one bullet wound was noticed. The bullet had entered the forehead and, as medical, examination disclosed, had lodged at the base of the brain, causing almost instant death.

Autopsy, however, disclosed a second wound in the stomach. It was this second wound which gave rise to suspicion.

Dr. Reynar said last night that it would hardly be possible that both wounds could have been self-inflicted. The wound in the head might have been accidentally received with the gun in the hands of the boy, as it would have caused almost instant death. The other wound is a clean one and the shot went through the body. So far it has not been found.

McADOO WAITING

Governor Al. Smith Has Developed a Strong Body of Supporters.

NEW YORK, June 24.— (Canadian Press.)—The Democratic National Convention assembled in Madison Square Garden at noon today with its favorites for the presidency deadlocked, its chief advisers in disagreement over party policies, and its delegates seeking a leader to guide them out of the wilderness of their own indecision.

In the vast arena of the storied old amphitheatre, political observers expect to see enacted such stirring scenes as will live forever in the political history of the United States.

Despite the differences over platform declarations, the convention is looking to the contest over candidates as likely to furnish its greatest spectacle and its most serious difficulty.

Twenty Dark Horses.

The claims of twenty aspirants for the presidency has placed the delegates in a fevered pre-convention period, but there was no clear indication last night that the convention would find even in such a field the standard bearer it is seeking.

In pledged delegate strength William G. McAdoo stands well ahead of all his competitors. Governor Al. Smith, the idol of the New York Democracy, has developed a backing that will put him in second place on the opening ballot. Down the line will be ranged a long list of others, whose managers last night were predicting triumphantly that both of the leaders would be eliminated in the end by the bitter rivalry between them.

Yesterday there was a rallying of strength in the camps of both Smith and McAdoo that kindled enthusiasm to a fever heat and kept the hotel district of New York echoing with the cheers of marching delegates. Mr. McAdoo, taking notice of fast-flying reports that some of those pledged to him were preparing to quit the fight after the early ballots, told a group of his supporters in a public speech that no delegate had been sent to the convention to "betray a trust."

Governor Smith, appearing before a crowd of thousands to review a civic parade, was welcomed by roars of applause and acclaimed by his partisans as the next president.

During the day, most of the

MAGISTRATE SENT VAGS AWAY HAPPY

Freed With a Good Meal—No Use in Punishing Them, He Thought.

REGINA, Sask., June 24.—(Canadian Press)—"It is a regrettable situation and it is serious. Hordes of men are working east with the same object in view," is what Magistrate Heffernan said yesterday in city police court, after he had dealt with thirteen cases of vagrancy, a record for recent years in Regina. Not a man in the lot but walked from the court a free man and each man had a good meal tucked under his belt.

"There is not much use in meting out punishment to you, who have to find employment," said the Magistrate. "I am pretty well convinced there is no work here, or near here for you. There is not a man among you I would call a tramp. You all appear to be men who would work if you could get work to do."

SENATOR RALSTON TO BE PLACED IN NOMINATION

Deserted Wife Sells Her Blood To Feed Her Family

DETROIT, Mich., June 23.—Mrs. Marie E. Youngs, 27 Elmwood avenue, sold her blood that she might support her children, she testified before Judge Murphy yesterday.

"I was forced to do it," Mrs. Young stated, "because my husband, William D., now a soldier in the Panama Canal Zone, would not support us. Three times I sold my blood, at a sanatarium in Battle Creek. Each time I received $25 for the blood, used in tranfusions."

She was granted a decree. They were married in 1914 and separated in 1923.

TOWNSHIP HAD A BAD SYSTEM

Kingston Township Berated by Auditor For Condition of Books.

RATES TOO HIGH.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 24. — (Canadian Press).—The fact that instead of running behind, the Township of Kingston, which has been in the limelight lately because of shortages in the finances, has actually a cash surplus of $23,218.86, the difference between the available assets and current liabilities, and that the rates levied for last year have been too high, is brought out in the complete report of Auditor A. H. Muir, which was last night taken up at a meeting of the Council of the township. The raising of the tax rate has been contrary to the municipal act, points out the report. It also deals with every phase of the township work, showing that by-laws were improperly executed, cash books were not in order, the law relating to dog taxes has not been followed, the last financial statement was not in order, minutes of meetings were not properly kept, the auditor winding up by stating that "it is doubtful if you could find another township in the province in as bad a shape as Kingston Township."

DEMANDS DAMAGES TELEGRAPH ERROR

Message Read "Mother Dead" When "Ill" Had Been Written by the Sender.

TRENTON, June 24.—An alleged error in the transmission of a telegram by the Western Union Company relative to the physical condition of the mother of Mrs. Ida E. Brown, of Jersey City, figures in a damage suit which has been transferred from the Supreme Court to the United States District Court. Mrs. Brown sues to recover $5,000 and her husband, Robert L. Brown, $3,000.

According to Mrs. Brown, a telegram was transmitted by the company to her on March 15 from her sister in Washington. It read:

"Try to come, mother dead."

Mrs. Brown says she dropped all her business and with her husband proceeded to Washington, where she found her mother was not dead, and at the same time learned that the message as written by her sister read, "Try to come, mother ill."

It is charged that considerable money was expended both by Mrs. Brown and her husband in railroad fare, hotel accommodation and clothing incident to attending the supposed funeral, and also for medical attention due to the shock, which was followed by an attack of nervousness.

FORTY-ONE PRISONERS BROKE JAIL YESTERDAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 24.—(Canadian Press).—Forty-one prisoners tunnelled their way from Shelby county jail last night. Four were captured during the night and posses were seeking others early to-day.

Sheriff W. S. Knight said wholesale delivery was engineered by H. Digge Nolen, who is under sentences aggregating 19 years, in state and federal penitentiaries for forgery and violation of federal anti narcotic laws.

Prisoners escaped by digging hole in three foot brick wall, using pieces of iron oct and table knife and fork.

AIRPLANE ACE PURSUES WIFE SEEKING BABY

Five Italian Airplanes Join in Chase of Former Chicago Reauty.

ON MEDITERRANEAN

Wife Seeks to Hold Child in Defiance of Piccio's Wishes.

ROME, June 24. — Airplanes, deadly instruments of martial warfare, have now been turned to marital warfare.

Somewhere on the buffeting breast of the Mediterranean an American heiress fled with her child to the refuge of Corsican shores in an egg-shell of a motor boat.

Skimming low over the foam-flicked billows of the sea, five Italian planes are in hot and daring pursuit, their pilots and observers scanning the water in an effort to spot the little craft and capture its occupants.

The flight and amazing pursuit came as a climax to the marital difficulties of General Pier Ruggero Piccio and his beautiful wife, the former Loranda Bachelder, daughter of a millionaire Chicago lumberman.

Fight For Child.

Having filed suit for divorce in Paris, she is seeking arbitrarily to hold possession of her child, in defiance of her husband's wishes.

If she wins the race and, gaining French Corsica, is enabled to defy Italian authority, an international discussion is threatened, involving the Governments of Italy, France and the United States.

If, however, the planes sight her, and seize the boat, she and the little daughter will be taken back to Italy for prosecution.

General Piccio is the idol of Italy. As an "ace of aces" during the world war he brought down forty-two enemy planes and was awarded the highest decoration his country can bestow, the Gold Medal of Valor.

Served as a War Nurse.

His marriage to Miss Bachelder at the St. Regis Hotel, New York City, in 1920, was a social event of international scope.

The bride, only eighteen, had resided with her mother in Paris for many years and returned to New York only at the outbreak of the war. She became a nurse at the Grand Central Palace and at the port of embarkation and served until the armistice.

It was following the Armistice

INVITE PRINCE TO JOIN GROUP

Society Against Tyranny of Parents Offers Membership.

PROTECT CHILDREN

LONDON, June 24.—The Prince of Wales was invited by cable to become a member of the International Association Against the Tyranny of Parents, at a meeting in Chicago, yesterday. The organizaton is being formed by Baron Willy Knoblock Droste, poet and dancer. It aims to aid young sons and daughters of European nobility and American upper classes to pursue careers despite objection on the part of the parents.

The meeting was attended by Gilbert Kahn, son the banker; Princess Alteresco, Prince Alexander Dierichstein, Count Battyany and Prince Osman Fuad.

Baron Droste announced that after the association was formed it would hold concerts, at which children of Eurpean noblemen had promised to appear.

Commenting on the plight of young Europeans of noble blood, Baron Droste said:

"As soon as a child of a nobleman expresses a desire to go on the stage he is thought out of his mind If he goes despite parental objection he is disowned."

START HUNT OF SQUIRREL FISH

Party Will Sail to Australian Waters to Look For Fish That Runs.

IT'S A FISHY FISH.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The South Sea Island expedition to seek out and photograph a tree-climbing fish will hoist anchor in the "Big Bill" in Chicago harbor July 5 and proceed by the river route to New Orleans, Captain Albert J. Duken, the skipper, has announced.

At New Orleans the Big Bill will be copper-sheathed against salt water, provisioned with sea biscuits and the scuttle butts filled for the run to Panama.

Working down the Pacific coast to South America, Capt. Duken plans to call at Callao, Peru, and then spread sail for Tahiti, the south seas and the squirrel-like fish.

Just Like a Chipmunk.

This fish has sturdy fins and tail that on land serve as feet. It is said to be able to scoot along the ground and up a tree as frisky as a chipmunk. Its habitat is an island north of Australia, so far unvisited by a movie cameraman.

"I shall be working in these waters well over a year," said Capt. Duken. "Then we shall start our homeward course, sailing by way of Ceylon, visiting parts of India and Persia, East and South Africa, around the Cape of Good Hope to the Platte River and up the east coast of South America and so back to Chicago."

NEGRO TO CONTEST SEAT IN CONGRESS

First of Race to be Selected by Democrats is Distintinguished Scholar.

NEW YORK, June 24.—By direction of George E. Brennan, the Illinois Democratic State Committee has named a negro as Democratic candidate for Congress in the First Illinois Congressional District to run against Representative Martin B. Madden, candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket. The negro, said to be the first man of his race to be named as a Democratic Congressional candidate, is Earl B. Dickerson, assistant Corporation counsel of Chicago, who was named to fill the vacancy caused by the declination of James Doyle, the primary nominee, on account of illness.

Mr. Dickerson is a graduate of the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago, and a member of the Kappa Alpha Upsilon Fraternity.

In urging the nomination of Mr. Dickerson, Mr. Brennan said he had received many letters from Chicago negroes commending him for his assistance on an Anti-Klan plank and suggesting the nomination of a negro in this district.

Nearly two-thirds of the voters in the district are negroes.

This county has 19 national parks [illegible] a total area of 11,373 square miles.

THE MAYOR MAY KICK UP A ROW OVER STRIKERS

Windsor Postal District is Tied Up by Continued Strike of Workers.

MAYOR HELPS THEM

Chamber of Commerce Sympathizes With Demands of Men.

OTTAWA, June 24 (Canadian Press). — Disquieting reports of the strike situation at Windsor have been received by the Post Office Department.

T. H. Murray, Post Office Inspector, London, stationed at Windsor, wires that five employees are on duty at the border city.

The strike situation, says Mr. Murray, is not improved. It is impossible to give service to the Windsor public, and the mails for despatch are being forwarded to London.

The offices at Windsor, states the report, are closely picketed. Any employees who want to return are prevented from doing so, and the Mayor, continues the reports, has advised the postmaster that if any outside employees are brought in to help to man the service at Windsor, he will "kick up a row."

No Protection Given.

There are also complaints that proper protection is not being given the postal service, in so far as delivery in Windsor is concerned, cannot function.

Directors of the Border City Chamber of Commerce have wired Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, a resolution in which they express sympathy with the demands of the men for a higher wage scale and offer the services of the Chamber in securing a thorough investigation by the Government of local conditions and the cost of living.

Replying to this message, Mr. Stewart has telegraphed that the wage scale applies to the whole of Canada, and was fixed by the Civil Service Commission.

"Regarding delivery of mail at border cities," Mr. Stewart adds, in his telegram, "the Department has been prepared since the strike started to give an adequate postal service, and employed men for that purpose. But through lack of adequate protection which only the authorities at Windsor could give, the service was unable to function. Had that protection been given, the postal service at Windsor would now be in operation."

WORLD CONFERENCE

Sunday School Association Meets at Glasgow—Budget is $153,800.

GLASGOW, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—The Executive Committee of the World Sunday School Association reported at yesterday's session of the convention that the annual budget for the next quadrennium was $153,800, compared with $65,000 for the last quadrennium.

Yesterday's session of the convention was brief in order to permit the delegates to go on an excursion by special steamer sailing down the Firth of Clyde and through the Kyles of Bute. The principal speaker was W. C. Pearce, of New York. He spoke on "Christian Education—A World Task."

WANT 8-HOUR DAY

Workers Demand That Germany Be Relieved in Reparation Work.

GENEVA, June 24. — (Canadian Press).—The workers' group of the International Labor Conference yesterday demanded that the Reparation Commission ensure that the eight-hour day law, as adopted by the Washington Conference, be respected in the application of the experts' reparation plan. The workers asked that the governing body of the Labor Bureau take the matter up since the claim has been made by Germany that longer working hours are necessary in order to meet the provisions of the experts' report.

PEOPLE OF FOOCHOW EXCITED OVER FLOOD

SHANGHAI, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—One of the most disastrous floods in history of Min River, Fuken province is reported in telegram from Foochow, important port at the mouth of that river.

There have been many casualties and the damage will amount to millions of dollars accroding to reports. Three-fourths of the city of Foochow is flooded, including large ware houses containing rice and tea, which had been ruined.

Postal Worker Called His Companion a "Scab"

KINGSTON, Ont., June 24.—Canadian Press).—An employee of the post office who had been out on strike and was one of the last to return to work was heard by the postmaster calling another employee a "scab" because he had not struck with the others. When postmaster Stewart overheard him, he at once told the man that he would consider him discharged if he did not apologize. Needless to say the employee apologized and is still working at the office.

PARLIAMENT TO PROROGUE SOON

Hope for Closing Next Week is Gaining Ground Among Members.

CARRY BILLS OVER

OTTAWA, June 24. — (Canadian Press).—Prorogation of Parliament at the end of next week appears to be gaining ground among members, although some declare their intention to continue the fight on for some weeks yet. Conservatives meet in caucus to-day to discuss the remaining sessional programme, and it is likely that then there will be discussion of an approximate date for the end of the session.

Redistribution is the most contentious of the public measures yet to come before the House. Almost since the beginning of the session, redistribution has been before a special committee with Ontario constituencies as the stumbling block. On the Ontario constituencies, it is doubtful if a full agreement between Liberals and Conservatives will be reached, and there is talk of sending the bill over for still another session. In any event, the bill for the single transferable vote is likely to go over for another year—unless it is decided to continue the session beyond the end of next week.

EVEREST DASH IS ENDED FOR YEAR

Colonel Younghusband Says Death of Men Ends Present Attempt.

LONDON, June 24. — Further news of the Mount Everest disaster is being anxiously awaited here, and Colonel Sir Francis Younghusband, ex-President of the Royal Geographical Society, said that he hoped messages would get through soon, but as the nearest telegraph station is in Tibet, ten days' or a fortnight's journey from the explorers' base camp, there might be a little delay.

Speaking of the disaster he said it was impossible to say at this moment exactly how it happened. "The last we heard was that the party was caught in a blizzard,' he said, "but what evidently happened was that Mallory and Irvine and some Himalayan porters had attempted to climb to Mount Ridge. From the fact that Colonel Norton, leader of the expedition, used the word 'killed' it looks as if there had been an accident.

Mallory must have been weakened by the blizzard, and the exceptional snowfall which he had experienced, and by his noble achievement, together with Colonel Norton and Dr. Somervell, in rescuing a party of four porters marooned at 23,000 feet.

"He was a man of great courage. A nobler, more unselfish mountaineer could not be found. We profoundly regret his loss. The tragedy will, of course, put an end to the expedition for the present year, but it may go on next season. We cannot come to a decision until we have received full reports as to how the accident happened and what conditions have been met with.

"The trouble is that actually the ascent can only be attempted in a single month in the year, from mid-May to mid-June. The expedition had expected to meet with comparatively good weather instead of which it encountered severe blizzards and frightful cold. Now the monsoon has arrived and it will last for three months, and it is quite impossible to carry on any work while it lasts."

DRAYTON SAYS THE BILL WAS ONLY A FARCE

Conservative Member Makes Caustic Comment on the Withdrawal of Amendment.

ABOUT PLATINUM

Hon. T. A. Low Promised There Would Be No Objection to His Next Bill.

OTTAWA, June 24 (Canadian Press). — When the House of Commons resumed consideration of Hon. T. A. Low's Bill to amend the Gold and Silver Marking Act yesterday afternoon, the Minister of Trade and Commerce explained that he had consulted authorities of the Justice Department and officials of the National Jewellers' Association as to their interpretation of the clause relating to the adulterating of platinum.

They had all agreed that its meaning was plain. Ninety-five per cent. of the weight of any article described as platinum must be of platinum or a combination of platinum and iridium.

The Opposition had expressed a doubt, when the Bill was up three separate times last week, that the clause was sufficiently clear on this point.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe) asked if the wording of the clause could not be changed by stating that 95 per cent. of "the whole weight" of the article, etc., so that it would be clear to the lay mind.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen supported that suggestion.

Mr. Low said that the clause had been framed by the Justice Department after every consideration had been given to its object and its phraseology. Could a member expect to frame a better clause offhand?

After some further consideration, Mr. Low withdrew the Bill.

Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, West York) remarked that its withdrawal was a fitting conclusion to the "nonsensical farce" which the House had witnessed in connection with the Bill. Everybody but the Minister had known the meaning of the Bill, he said, and the latter had been "peeved" because he was put right. Was the House to regard all measures introduced by the Minister of Trade and Commerce as things which were designed for the purpose of delaying business indefinitely? He ventured to say that the Minister was withdrawing the Bill because it had to be redrafted.

Mr. Low merely replied that there would be no criticism of the drafting of the next Bill which he would introduce for the purpose of amending this Act.

DID NOT KNOW RIFLE LOADED

Boy Ordered His Companion "Throw Up Your Hands" And Pulled Trigger.

DROPPED DEAD

CHICAGO, June 24.—A jest turned tragedy when George Paretti, fifteen pointed a rifle at his friend Walter Weitlauf, eighteen, and pulled the trigger, Weitlauf died immediately.

The accident occurred in the mailing room of the Third Avenue Railway Company office, where both boys were employed. Paretti saw several rifles standing in the corner. He took one and pointing it at Weitlauf gave a terse command to "throw up your hands." Weitlauf laughed and a moment later fell to the floor with a bullet in his abdomen. Employees summoned Dr. Lepore of Harlem Hospital but the boy was dead on his arrival.

Paretti was arrested as he tearfully told police he "did not know the rifle was loaded."

More than $150,000,000 worth of unsable food is dumped into the garbags pails of America every year.

SENTENCE SIX TO BE HANGED FOR A MURDER

Jury Finds Hochelaga Bank Bandits Guilty After Eleven Minutes.

CLOSE GUARD.

Morel, Ready to Take His Medicine, Pleads For Davis.

MONTREAL, June 24. — Louis Morel, Giuseppe Serafini, Tony Frank, Mike Valentino, Frank Gambino, and Leo Davis, will be hanged on October 24 for the murder of Henry Cleroux here on April 1 when the Hochelaga bank collection car was held up and robbed of $142,266, and Cleroux and one of the bandits —Harry Stone—were shot dead, unless an appeal or commutation of sentence should intervene in the case of either or all of the convicted men before that date.

The jury in the court of King's Bench took exactly 11 minutes to agree on their verdict which they delivered at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

Juryman number six spoke for the twelve, and replied to the summons of the clerk of the court: "Guilty of murder." This was first in regard to Giuseppe Serafini.

The names of the other five were then called by the clerk and to each the reply came back in firm tones: "Guilty of murder."

The court after a 15 minute conference between the judge and the lawyers, addressed the formal enquiry to Serafini, if he had anything to say why formal sentence should not be passed upon him. The convicted man's lips quivered; his eyes reddened; a few tears welled over his cheeks and he sighed and shook his head.

The question was then put to Tony Frank who in a thin voice asked for the help of the official interpreter. While the interpreter was being called the invitation to speak was passed on to Frank Gambino. "All I have to say," said Gambino, "is that I don't know anything about it."

The query was put to Mike Valentino. He smiled and merely gesticulated towards his companions on his left and right, as if to say 'They have said it all."

"Leo Davis, have you anything to say?" the court asked.

"I had nothing to do with it," replied Davis, "I have not taken any part in the crime."

The interpreter then arrived, and took Tony Frank's statement which ran:

"Your Lordship, I beg this tribunal to have pity on me. I have a very old father and mother. Furthermore I have a wife and two children. Thirdly, in regard to this matter here I know nothing at all about it; and

MABLE NORMAND'S CHAUFFEUR BACK

Acquitted of Shooting Dines He Returns to Employ of Actress.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Horace Greer is going back to be Mabel Normand's chauffeur.

Greer, acquitted by a jury of ten women and two men of shooting Courtland S. Dines, after he refused to testify in his own defence because "it might hurt Miss Normand," mysteriously obtained bail on a charge of possessing liquor.

He was reported on the way to Hollywood to rejoin Miss Normand. Greer's attorneys said Miss Normand has promised to hire him if he was freed after the Dines trial.

The chauffeur's plea was that he shot Dines in self defense after the millionaire attempted to strike him on the head wth a bottle.

Immedately after acquittal. Greer was arrested under the State dry act.

It has become possible to photograph excellent panoramas with ordinary cameras.

RUM RUNNERS WERE CHASED FOR HOURS

Cabin Cruiser Loaded With 600 Cases of Canadian Ale Was Seized at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, June 24.— Three hour chase through thousand islands was terminated at midnight at American Island, in Brockville Narrows, with capture by United States border patrol of cabin cruiser carrying 600 cases of Canadian Ale. The alleged pilot and owner, Charles O'Brien of Alexandria Bay, was captured with companion, whose name was given as Johnson, made his get away. The value of the seizure is estimated at $14,000.

Canadian revenue officers at Brockville, were called to the scene of American officers for consultation over the seizure and resulting capture of O'Brien in Canadian waters. American officers brought their captive here, while Canadian officers conferred with revenue department officials.

Conference resulted in O'Brien being informed of existence of recent treasury decision No. 3601 holding agreement with Canada in prohibition treaty which allows American officers to board any vessel in Canadian waters if they have reason to believe that liquor is being carried and allows them to take boat to American port for examination. Accordingly O'Brien and the valuable cargo were taken to Ogdensburg.

FIRST MOONLIGHT.

The first moonlight of the season was held by the W.O.W. last Thursday evening, June 19. It was a very enjoyable and successful trip. Much praise was given to the committee in charge—Fred Hillier (chairman) assisted by Mixon, Scott and Johnson, who handled the large crowd in a most efficient manner. Excellent music for dancing was rendered by Aitken's Orchestra, who featured "Faded Butterfly" (fox trot) and "Lonesome and Blue" (waltz).

CARELESSNESS CAUSED TWO FIRES ON SUNDAY

The carelessness of some smoker in disposing of his cigarette or butt was responsible for a small fire at 372 Water street, stated Chef Geo. Gimblett. Rubbish which had collected beneath the sidewalk grating caught fire but was checked before any serious damage was done.

Chief Gimblett stated that the brigade was called to 386 George St., at 1.25 .m. Sunday, where a small fire attributed to the carelessness of some smoker, was burning below the grating. Both of these fires were extinguished promptly, but the damage that might have resulted to the main business section in case either of these fires had not been observed in the beginning, cannot be estimated.

You can sell that last year's gown. Advertise it to the town.

EXCRUCIATING PAINS, CRAMPS

Entirely Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Eberts, Ont. — "I started with cramps and bearing-down pains at the age of eleven years, and I would get so nervous I could hardly stay in bed, and I had such pains that I would scream, and my mother would call the doctor to give me something to take. At eighteen I married, and I have four healthy children, but I still have pains in my right side. I am a farmer's wife with more work than I am able to do. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that it is helping me every day. My sister-in-law, who has been taking your medicine for some time and uses your Sanative Wash, told me about it and I recommend it now, as I have received great relief from it."—Mrs. NELSON YOTT, R. R. 1, Eberts, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for ailments common to women. It has been used for such troubles for nearly fifty years, and thousands of women have found relief as did Mrs. Yott, by taking this splendid medicine.

If you are suffering from irregularity, painful times, nervousness, headache, backache or melancholia, you should at once begin to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is excellent to strengthen the system and help to perform its functions with ease and regularity. C

FARMERS WANT HYDRO ENERGY

Hon. R. Cooke Was Speaker at Meeting Held in Campbellford Last Night.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24. — Hon. R. Cooke, M.L.A., who is also a member of the Hydro Commission and Major Belford, East Northumberland's legislative representative, who addressed a meeting here last night under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, found themselves in agreement on many points One of the chief of these was that the extension of light and power in the rural sections would go a long way in solving the problem of keeping the young people on the farms.

Mr. Cooke said this was what the present Government had in mind when they decided to pay half the primary cost of building transmission lines through the townships.

T. J. Hopkins who owns a number of farms in Seymour, gave the proceedings a local turn when at the conclusion of Mr. Cooke's address he asked him what the chances are for having the head offices of the commission for the district moved from Belleville to Campbellford the central distributing point.

Mr. Cooke regarded the question as unfair and said that he was not in a position to answer it. Campbellford is not the only community that has a grievance. When the private power companies in this district were brought out by the Hydro the property so acquired was exempted from taxation and this bore heavily upon the most communities where the system had been installed.

"How would Seymour, Rawdon, Murray and Percy townships proceed if they wished to get Hydro power?" asked Mr. Horkins.

Mr. Cooke—"Let the municipalities authorize the clerk to write the Commission and an engineer will be sent to look over the ground. Electric energy can be put to more uses in the country than in towns and cities. It can be utilized for light for pumping water, for driving all kinds of machinery including the washing machine.

Mr. Hoskins: The water power on the Trent River from Healey Falls down to Dam 8 is the birthright of the townships I have mentioned. In your address you spoke of the probability of this power being all taken up by 1926. Before that it may all be sent out of the district, and then there will be none left for the farmers.

'We want an electric railway, too, from Campbellford through Percy, Haldimand, Hamilton and other townships to Cobourg."

Mr. Cooke: You will get nothing unless you ask for it.

Mr. Hoskins: But you have made power in the country impossible. The price, $35.00, to the farmer is prohibitive.

Mr. Cooke: We have not made it prohibitive. It is the natural conditions of the country that have made it so, and these conditions are just what we are trying to overcome.

An Interesting Address.

Mr. Cooke gave an interesting address on the Hydro problem, referring to every stage of its development. The very success of the enterprise has created new problems. Light and power are so cheap that the demand has increased and how to supply this is the task that confronts the Commissioners to-day.

The development of the water power on the St. Lawrence, the speaker believes, is the only solution, and this should be carried out not by a private company, but by the Government, something, the speaker assured his audience, that the Commission would insist upon.

Referring to local conditions, he said that when the power houses at Dams 8 and 9 are completed early in the fall, Campbellford district will have a development of 50,000 horsepower ,an increase of 150 per cent. since the Commission bought out the private companies in 1916.

"The Ontario Government," said Mr. Cooke, "will conserve for the benefit of the citizens the natural resources of the country."

The extra cost of operation in the townships where the customers are more widely distributed than in the urban centres, was dealt with as showing the reason for the higher prices charged in the rural section. It costs $2,000 a mile to install a transmission line and in the country and in that distance not more than three customers may be secured.

Congratulates Campbellford.

In a brief address Major Belford congratulated Campbellford upon the natural resources and upon the enterprise shown by the citizens in erecting such a splendid High school. The Major is in favor of more railways for this section and the cheapest of these is the electric road.

Mayor Meyers, who occupied a seat on the platform, also spoke briefly and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Cooke for his instructive address.

The chair was occupied by G. A. Kingston, president of the Chamber of Commerce. This was the first public meeting held in the assembly room of the new High school, a spacious and well lighted apartment on the first floor. The attendance was good, several ladies being present, and the members of the audience inspected the various departments of the building before the meeting opened. All were unanimous in praise of the arrangement and furnishing of the rooms.

War on Weeds.

A number of residents on Front street in the vicinity of the village jail, led by J. R. Battisby, Glenn Thompson and L. F. Diamond, gathered last evening and cut the weeds in the jail yard, which were an eye sore to the community. The residents grew tired of waiting for the town authorities to take action. An official is to be appointed to look after such matters as this, as well as to deal with sanitary affairs.

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES

Banished By Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received.

KARL K. HOMUTH WAS RE-ELECTED

Recorded Largest Vote in Political Career and Defeated Government Candidate.

GALT, June 24—(Canadian Press)—Karl K. Homuth, Labor representative of South Waterloo in the Provincial Legislature during the regime of the Drury administration, yesterday scored the greatest triumph of his political career when he defeated the Government candidate, W. C. Shaw, prominent of Waterloo Township, by a decisive majority of 2,625. On June 25 last he was elected by a majority of 11, which was increased by a re-count secured by the Conservatives to 15. Later Mr. Homuth was elected when the Conservatives won a protest on the ground of irregularities, with the result that this constituency was without representation during the recent session.

In 1919 Mr. Homuth first entered the political arena and was sent to Toronto with a majority of over a thousand in 1923. The vote was much smaller, and while the public had been apathetic in the present campaign, nevertheless most voters made use of their franchise, 1,998 more votes being cast to-day than a year ago. In a speech here last night, when he was given a great ovation, Mr. Homuth said the result demonstrated the fair-mindedness of the people of the riding, and was a definite answer to the tactics used by his opponents. He said that what made his victory all the safer was the fact that he and his followers had beaten the greatest political machine campaign that South Waterlroo has known.

FLEAS EXPLODE SHEIK SWINDLE

Princes of the Desert Are Only Unwashed Scratching Gents.

KIND TO PESTS

LONDON, June 24. — Perish the sheik of romance—dashing, amorous, gallant and handsome.

There isnt any such thing.

The sheik, in reality, is just a fleabitten, unwashed son of the desert.

No self-respecting English girl would think for a moment of a romance with one of them if she ever could see him in his native habitat. She couldn't stand his FLEAS.

He has fleas—lots of them, and he would never think of killing them. In the desert a flea's life is far safer than that of the traveller. For the Moslem religion forbids the unnecessary taking of animal life, and the sheik is a stickler for the forms of his religion.

The Sheik Swindle.

The popular illusion of the sheik is all a swindle—take it from G. Ward Price, who has just returned from a first hand investigation of sheiks and their habits in the wild and little known Riff country—that mountainous tract of Morocco—that Spain has been trying to subdue for the last twenty years.

Says Mr. Price, anent sheiks and fleas:

"For twenty years the Spanish army and the mountain tribesmen have been fighting for the possession of the Riff, but there is one force that is already in effective occupation of the whole country. It is the fleas; in innumerable battalions, reinforced by allies which our soldiers used to know affectionately as 'cooties.'

"Romance and flea bites simply cannot live together. While I lay writhing on my rush mat, desperately rubbing insect powder into the very pores of my skin, I heard the sheiks around me scratching, and for all their eagle eyes and curly black beards and free child-of-nature ways, I do not believe the love of any English girl would have survived the test.

"I saw only one white man wash while I was in the Riff—and he was a negro.

"I did not even suffer alone. Several times I noticed one of my companions search for a specially troublesome enemy. Having traced it among the voluminous folds of his dress he seized it with practised fingers and very carefully put it down, unharmed, on the floor in our midst. If British fleas could only know how kindly their cousins of the Riff are treated they would hop right across Europe to get there."

AIRPLANE ACE PURSUES

that she met General Ricco, who had gone to Washington as a colonel to become air attache of the Italian Embassy.

His courtship was literally "up in the air," as they are said to have plighted their troth during one of the frequent occasions when he took her for airplane "drives."

Their domestic happiness, however, was short lived. After a brief residence in Rome with the Colonel, now elevated to the rank of general in command of Italian Air Forces, the Countess Riccio took sudden leave of her husband and rejoined ther mother in Paris.

Short Reconciliation.

Mother and daughter returned to New York and General Piccio followed. A reconciliation followed, but when he sailed to Italy, she and her mother went only as far as Paris.

Later she filed suit for separation in the Seine Tribunal, demanding custody of their child and a court order to compel her husband to restore to her jeweiry which he was alleged to have taken from Paris to Rome.

Details of how General Piccio finally gained possession of the child and brought her to Rome are lacking. Suffice it is to say that the little girl one day a month ago appeared at the Piccio home here, and until last night was a familiar figure, playing on the lawn.

Nor has it been learned how the Countess, obviously stealing in from Paris, seized her daughter and made off.

But when General Piccio discovered that the child was missing, he brought the entire Italian army intelligence department into action.

Trail of the Countess and daughter was picked up at Port Otorres, Sardinis, and flashed back to Rome.

Orders were flashed back for her immediate arrest, but when officers went to her hotel, attaches there said she had gone with the child and a small handbag, her only luggage, to the wharf.

At the wharf it was discovered the Countess has chartered a motor boat and sped off for Corsica, French soil.

Leads the Pursuit.

Meantime General Piccio was hurrying to Port Otorres When he arrived there and found his wife had escaped out on the Mediterranean, he telgraphed Rome immediately to dispatch five hydroplanes to him at once.

With the arrival of these, the General took command. Seated with the pilot of the flagship, he headed the first expedition of its kind in pursuit of his fleeing wife across the sea.

MISS HELEN NELSON OF OTONABEE IS DEAD

The Funeral will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon—Keene News

KEENE, June 24. — Miss Helen Nelson, one of the oldest members of one of Otonabee's pioneer families, died on Sunday mornig in her 80th year, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Walter Hope, after an illness of several months. Andrew Nelson and William Nelson are nephews of the deceased.

The funeral will be conducted at the house on Tuesday, at 2.30 p.m., by Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, and interment will take place at Keene.

A Return Visit.

Rev. R. Beavis, who is visiting at his sister's, Mrs. Ed Eliott, in town, is a delegate from Saskatchewan to the General Assembly at Owen Sound. In Sunday morning, after 32 years' absence, he visited among his old boyhood friends, and had the pleasure of preaching in the Bethel Church, where as the grandson of William Nelson, he often attended long ago.

Before leaving for the West in 1892 he taught at the Dutch Line School, Percy, and at Indian River Schools, and became an ordained minister of the Methodist Church, but now preaches in the sister Church.

Mrs. Ed. Elliott and family were at church, and the party visited Mrs. Sarah Nelson in Keene on Sunday afternoon.

NIGGER HORSES AT DEMOCRATS GATHERING

State delegations held caucuses to compare impressions and plan their part of the big show. The tone of most of them was one of uncertainty and speculation, but it became increasingly apparent that many who will have convention votes are disposed to make selections of their own after they have fulfilled the instructions to cast the ballots for this or that candidate on the initial roll calls. Should the deadlock be prolonged, the convention itself appears determined to take upon its own shoulders the responsibility of picking a candidate, rather than continue the stalemate indefinitely by following blindly the advice of state conventions and primaries.

The day's developments caused no change in the claims of victory emanating from the headquarters of both McAdoo and Smith, but there was no denying the growing show of optimism among the supporters of the favorite sons who for the present are cast into shadows by the towering strength of the two leaders.

Amid the activities of the workers for Presidential candidates, the delegates found little time to-day to give attention to the party's platform problems. The dispute over the Ku Klux Klan issue remained unsolved, and a disagreement persisted over the length the convention should go in reaffirming its stand on the League of Nations. The leaders believe that both of these issues have to be settled finally on the convention floor.

Senator Underwood, during a visit to his campaign headquarters, made public his proposal for a plank condemning the Klan by name, and the Massachusetts delegation gave its approval to a similar suggestion. William Jennings Bryan countered with a suggested plank omitting special reference to the Klan, but reaffirming the belief of the party in religious freedom.

EUGENE LEPAGE GIVES TANLAC FULL CREDIT

Stomach Trouble Vanishes And Montreal Man Gains 14 Lbs. On Four Bottles.

"Since I began taking this wonderful Tanlac I seem to be getting younger every day. I have gained 14 pounds on four bottles, and everybody speaks about how well I look."

The above statement was made, recently, by Eugene Lepage, proprietor Prince of Wales Hotel barber shop, Montreal, Canada, one of the most exclusive tonsorial parlors in this city. Mr. Lepage further said:

"Stomach trouble had almost completely wrecked my health. I was a mere shadow of my former self and so run-down and nervous I thought I would have to give up my work.

"Tanlac soon had me eating everything, sleeping like a log at night and feeling as fine as one could ask to feel. My only regret is that I did not learn about Tanlac long before I did."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

SENTENCE SIX

no one here is able to say who I am."

Speaks for Companion.

The turn of Morel, the former city detective, then came. He said: "On the matter of the conspiracy, I plead guilty. In regard to the death of Stone I heard the shooting, but I always understood that it was an accident. I am ready to take my medicine, but I regret to see here at my side, a man convicted of murder who had nothing whatever to do with it. No one ever called for the evidence of Constable Prevost who approached the car when we had trouble with a tire, and who could have said that he saw me and Stone and two others in the car, but Leo Davis was not one. I think it is an injustice to have brought this young ster here into the case, who had no connection with the case whatever."

Mr. Justice Wilson then donned the black cap and pronounced sentence.

Sarafini struggled to keep back his tears. Tony Frank, and Frank Gambino, who had been weeping copiously and Davis who had shed some tears during the proceedings, pulled themselves together and copied the stolid unemotional attitude of Morel facing a sentence of death with a stiff lip and dry eyes.

Morel threw out his chest and displaying under his loose-fitting shirt, those massive pectoral muscles which had made him once the first class athlete he at one time was, looked his best to the last.

"It was the only verdict we could bring in, in face of the evidence, said one of the jurors as he watched the judge, passing sentence. "There was no question."

Against the declaration by Davis that he was innocent and Morel's strong statement that in sentencing Davis the court had sentenced an innocent man a jurior stated that, according to the evidence concerning the cars and "the other things" they had no option but to include him with the others in their verdict.

Berated by Wife

On the arrival of the six murderers at Bordeaux jail Governor Seguin took special precautions and the prisoners were immediately placed in separate cells on what is called "death watch." Shortly after their arrival all the prisoners, except Morel, broke down and wept. Morel made the remark that all was finished. Later in the evening Mrs. Frank Mrs. Valentino and Mrs. Gambino, were allowed to see their husbands. The women wept with the men, although one of them upbraided her husband for getting himself into such trouble. Extraordinary precautions were made to guard the men in the trip from the court to Bordeaux jail.

Story of the Crime

The Hochelaga Bank collection car was held up at two o'clock in the afternoon of April 1 in a subway in the eastern section of this city. Six masked men were the chief operators of the hold-up which ended with the rifling of $142,288 from the car and the death of the chauffeur Henri Cleroux, and of one of the bandits, Harry Stone. Both were shot in the mix-up. One the same evening and following on clues found in the pock et of the dead bandit, a house at 57 Coursol street, in a western suburb was raided by detectives and Ciro Niegro, Guiseppe Seranfini, Mary Serafini, the wife of Guiseppe and Emma Leboeuf were arrested. About $32,000 of the loot was recovered at that time either on the persons of the accused or in a hiding place in the wall of the house, but the balance of the money has not yet been found.

Subsequently Ciro Niegro turned King's evidence and on his information eleven other arrests were made of whom ex-detective Louis Morel, Mike Valentino, Frank Gambino, Tony Frank and Leo Davis were brought to trial. Salvatore Arena was also under arrest in connection with the crime but was liberated at the time of the coroner's inquest and has since been sought fruitlessly by the police.

Guiseppe Serafini was tried twice on this charge, in the first trial the jury failed to agree. One man still faces a murder charge in connection with this case. This being Adam Parillo, who fled to Bridgeport, Conn., and was later arrested and extradited to Canada.

CANADIANS SHOULD SMILE.

There is a very popular song just now to the effect that "a smile will go a long, long way."

Canadians should be wearing one of those smiles at present, as the signs of returning prosperity in full measure are seen on every hand.

The Examiner has been quoting several of them.

The United States Department of Agriculture has made a forecast that can be viewed by Canadians as another such sign.

It estimates that the American wheat crop will fall short of last year's yield by 100,000,000 bushels.

That means, of course, that our neighbors will have much less wheat to export, and that Canadian wheat will command that much greater a price.

With the present crop prospects excellent and the likelihood of a much better price than last year, Old Man Gloom is being chased out of the Prairie Provinces.

The East should join in the hunt and drive pessimism out of the land altogether.

If the West lands the return from the wheat crop that is confidently expected, everybody in Canada will benefit, the railways, the factories, the men who work in the factories.

It is time for Canadians to don one of those smiles that "go a long, long way."

A PLEDGE FOR MOTORISTS.

A Safe Drivers' Club has been organized in Buffalo with the object of eliminating traffic accidents so far as possible, and a pledge has been drawn up to be signed by the members.

Motor drivers everywhere might study this pledge with profit, and a general compliance with its rules would help to make conditions more pleasant for everybody.

Here it is for the benefit of Peterborough motorists:

"I will study and obey all local and State traffic laws.

"I will at all times drive with extreme care, realizing that accidents occur at unexpected moments.

"I will be especially watchful in approaching a group of children at play.

"I will keep my car in good mechanical condition, with especial attention to the brakes.

"I will signal to following drivers my intention to stop or turn."

These rules combine the principles of courtesy as well as of safety, and could be followed by every driver to the general benefit.

It has been well said that to follow the Golden Rule in driving is to practice the principal factor in safety first methods, and the Buffalo pledge combines about all that is necessary to ensure courteous, safe driving.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN.

The action of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Motor League in erecting "Drive Slowly" signs in the neighborhood of city schools is another sign of the fact that the league has a keen appreciation of its responsibility as a directing body for automobilists generally.

One of the principal objects of the organization is to inculcate in its members and all owners and drivers of cars the necessity of handling their machines in such a manner as to ensure the maximum of safety not only for themselves but for the public.

The protection of school children from accidents is, of course, in line with this policy, hence the signs that have been placed in position near the schools.

It is to be hoped that they will have the necessary effect and that all drivers will take the warning seriously.

It is especially necessary near several of the schools to drive slowly, the Central School being one school where vigilance on the part of drivers is needed because hundreds of children cross the road frequently to play in Victoria Park, and there is always the danger of an accident.

The Motor League does well to take a prominent part in the campaign for the protection of the public against traffic mishaps.

It is a very necessary effort in view of the increase in the number of cars in commission.

WILL POWER IS LOSING OUT.

As soon as you started to school, you began to hear about the miraculous possibilities of will power. It is necessary propaganda to keep us from becoming discouraged too easily.

Will power is undoubtedly a mighty weapon. But isn't there too much Big Talk about it? Deep down in our hearts, every one of us has a sneaking suspicion that the power of the will is exaggerated.

If a new-born baby could see into the future, he'd discover that 95 per cent. of his life is cut-and-dried—staged for him by forces and situations that are totally beyond his control, even though he had the will power of Niagara Falls.

We don't need to consult a clairvoyant to learn most of the things that will happen to us. Take the child. In school he pores over textbooks that were in the making thousands of years before he was born. It is inevitable that he will recite, play hide-and-seek and have to take an occasional dose of castor oil.

The child matures into a social and economic system that changes only by the slow processes of evolution. He and his will power have no more to do with the preparation of this system that grabs him in iron claws, than actors have in writing the plays of long-dead Shakespeare.

The system changes as time rolls on, yes. But the individual is the slave of the system, and it changes only by mass movements of humanity, without regard to the individual and his reputed will power.

Few of the really important things of life are the result of personal will power. Sickness certainly is not acquired by any exercise of the will. Love comes phantom-like, emotional, no will. Marriage occasionally is the result of will power, but usually it's following the line of least resistance toward comfort.

Comes, finally, death, and removes us from the stage to make room for another even though we have a will like steel.

In toiling for success, however, will power is mighty. This is its real domain—the acquisition of fame and wealth. Without will power and plenty of it, failure or near-failure is almost certain. But, after all, are fame and wealth the really important things of life? They are dim shadows behind the brilliance of happiness, content and spiritual improvement—the real purpose of life.

THE PROPAGANDISTS START AGAIN.

Following the statement of the fathers of Loeb and Leopold, held in Chicago on a charge of murder, that only a legitimate and proper amount would be spent on the case, comes the propaganda of the hired experts for the defence.

These alienists assumed a dignified pose, and although they did not "talk for publication" they were ready to place their views in such places that they would be sure to reach the public through the medium of the printed page.

The trend of their remarks is carefully designed to bring about a state of mind on the part of the public that these two youths should not be hanged. "Leopold is an experimenter in human emotions. He wanted to kill a human being so he could satisfy himself on the problem of what a man who had committed a cold-blooded murder thinks about." Therefore he should not be hanged, because he is abnormal.

If anything more callous could be desired it comes in the next statement of one of the hired experts, who points out that Leopold "believes that persons of unusual intellectual attainments, who have been carefully trained, are above the ordinary laws of mankind, and that it is not wrong for them to do what might be pointed out as being wrong to an illiterate person."

It is the most damnable sort of propaganda, and it is being carefully put forth with the idea of prejudging the case. It is known that all these statements sent out by the "experts" for the defence will be read by the public, and they will probably be read by the men who will ultimately sit as jurors. It is a plan to start people thinking in the direction that the defence wants them to think. They know that the line along which they are advancing jars and clashes with all our solid ideas of right and wrong; they realize that it strikes right at the root of the first principle of law and democracy—that all men are equal in the sight of the law.

Were an alienist to appear in a court of justice in Canada and give his opinion that a man should not be hanged he would be put in his proper place. He could state his belief as to the man's sanity or insanity, but to attempt to create a current of opinion, or to state an opinion that amounts to assuming the duty of judge, jury and witnesses combined, is clearly a case of turning liberty into license.

The storm of criticism and protest as to the method of teaching these youths, and the frank condemnation of a home surrounding that could permit boys to develop in a way that made them a menace to the community, continues unabated. It is well that the American conscience should be pricked and brought into such a state of active interrogation that will cause it to scrutinize and take stock of its home life and its school facilities.

The Los Angeles Times asks what after all, is to be gained by the possession of great monetary fortunes in a family. The Times says:

'The factor of money in our civilization is to be measured by the wholesome influence it has on human life. Does it make its possessor more law-abiding? Does it make him a better neighbor? Does it make him more useful to the honorable business institutions of his community? Does it make him a more reliable American citizen? If it does not do one or all of these things it is a deadly peril. There is a heart hunger which money never satisfies. Babson is surely right in his constant insistence that rich men and women do a wrong and dangerous thing to their sons and daughters in turning over indiscriminately riches which these children have not earned.'

Turning from money to the schools and colleges of United States that have been made possible by the handing over of great sums of money, the Times asks pointed questions of the men in charge:

"The supporters of our schools, colleges and universities have a reason and a right to ask the presidents and instructors in these institutions what they really mean by education. We know the etymology of the word. We must have something better than that. We know it means 'lead out,' 'lead forth.' But Chicago and the rest of the country are asking now with a new emphasis, 'What is it that the university is going to lead out—a moral idiot or a sane citizen with a conscience?' If sensible men are to be asked for millions to endow the Chicago University and other schools, these men are going to ask with fresh interest and emphasis, 'What sort of citizens are you going to train in your university? Are you going to lay more stress on chemistry than you do on character?' 'Are you going to fan the central fires of the universe called God and the human conscience, or are you going to have sneering professors who make light of these everlasting verities?' The men who give money to educational institutions have a right to ask these questions. And it is their duty to demand a satisfactory answer."

What can the serious-minded element in United States say now of the propaganda carried on openly and unblushingly to prove in advance of the day of trial that the confessed murderers killed in order that they might know what it felt like to be a murderer, and therefore should not pay the penalty of the crime?

God pity the men who preach the doctrine of inequality before the law, and pity the country that would dare substantiate by the process of its legal machinery that there is a shred of truth or a grain of worth in such a doctrine.—London Advertiser.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 24.—The only cattle left at the week-end at the Union Stock Yards, were a few loads of stockers. Receipts were 245 cars, 3,947 cattle, 692 calves, 2,791 hogs and 559 sheep and lambs. In cattle there were also 322 billed through. The cattle receipts were not considered too heavy, but trade was very dull following the opening and buyers seemed a unit in working for easier prices. Sales were almost nil during the first hour and lower prices were resisted yesterday.

The first load of heavy steers to go to the scales was sold to the Harris Abattoir at $8.25 a cwt. These were Harry Hedrick's of Elmira, who had twelve other loads of butchers for sale. This load was of export quality and pointed to a fairly steady market for the heavies. Two bunches for export followed these at $7.75 and $8.15 a cwt. A load of 33 in the baby class, but not finished, and averaging 650 lbs. each sold to the Canadian Packing Co. at $6.35 a cwt.

It was figured out that there were around 900 butchers' cows on sale and a cut of 25 cents a cwt. was confidently predicted for these. Good medium cows were selling at from $4 to $4.75. Up till eleven o'clock the exporters were making slow progress and had bought less than 100 head. For two loads of McDonald and Halligan, $7.75 and $8 was paid The latter was too heavy for the time of year and would have brought half a dollar a cwt. more earlier in the season. Three extra choice bullocks, not too weighty, sold to Rogers & Maybee at $8.50. The heavy steers taken by the Harris Abattoir are expected to go for export.

Few handyweight butchers made as high as $7.50 but one extra choice sold at $8 a cwt. The average for good mixed butchers was $7 to $7.25. Good mediums brough up to $6.75 and other mediums sold from $6 to $6.50. The top for a butcher's cow was $5.90, but the bulk of good cows did not go much over $5.25 and good medium cows were around $4.50 and common cows $3 to $3.50. Baby beeves were not as firm as they have been and an offer of 5 of good quality at $8.50 a cwt did not effect a sale. From indications at noon there is a prospect of a fairly large carry-over.

Calves were not in too liberal a supply but with tops in Buffalo reported at 10 cents this market was not expected to be too strong. One fancy calf, 260 lbs. sold at 11 cents, and one or two other choice ones at 10 cents, but the average for good bunches was 9 to 9½ cents. Medium calves sold at 7 to 8 cents and common at 4½ cents.

First sales of lambs showed an easier market and small bunches about 70 lbs. each went at 15 cents, and the cuss at 12 cents. Top lambs did not make over 15½ cents, and the range for choice was 13¾ to 15 cents. Choice sheep sold at 6¼ cents and yearlings at 11 cents. Lambs were off about 50 cents a cwt.

Packers admitted unchanged prices for hogs viz., $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b. and $8.65 off cars long haul.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 24.— (Canadian Press). — Predictions of a bullish crop report to-day at Winnipeg, together with talk of black rust danger to the domestic crop were largely responsible for an upturn in wheat prices here yesterday. Chicago closing quotations for wheat were strong 3-8 to 7-8c, net higher; July $1.13 3-4 to $1.13 7-8, and September $1.15 1-4 to $1.15 3-8. Corn finished 1 1-8c to 2 and 2 1-8c up; oats at 1-4c to 1-2c gain, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 2 and 5c.

At first the wheat underwent a decided setback as a result of weakness at Liverpool, where there was said to be a scarcity of buyers with numerous re-sellers at a sharp decline. Offerings here however, were light except of a profit-taking character, and with the corn market showing an upward trend, wheat proved responsive to bullish news from the northwest, especially from Winnipeg The fact that foreign exchange rates were higher helped to promote the rally here, and to, too, did 1,452,000 bushels decrease in the United States visible supply total.

Corn showed strength from the outset and the July delivery touched a new high price record for the season. With receipts running below current requirements, the market moved up briskly and fears expressed that too much rain was interfering with cultivation over large areas led subsequently to increased firmness in the price of the December delivery

A SUNDAY SERVICE ON THE OTONABEE

Commandant A. Smith and Junior Band at U. F. O. Gathering Yesterday.

BALIEBORO, June 23.—A very successful open air gathering was held at Wallace Point, on Sunday afternoon, on the beautiful grounds of Mrs. Cardwell. The weather was all that could be desired, brilliant sunshine and a cooling breeze. The river and the woods were looking their summer best and upwards of a thousand people met together to enjoy divine service in the open air.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the United Farmers' organization. Following the picnic of last Thursday, the crowd was even greater than on the picnic day. The U.F.O. Sunday is a new institution. This is the third year of its observance, but it promises fair to become permanent and a credit to the farmers' movement.

The Rev. A. H. McConnachie was billed to preside at the meeting, but he gave place to Commandant A. Smith of the Salvation Army, who conducted a regular Salvation Army service to the delight of the large congregation.

The Junior Salvation Army Band was in attendance and won fresh laurels by the splendid playing. Their selections were much enjoyed as well as their accompaniments. Commandant Smith is to be complimented on the training of the Junior Band. A feature of the afternoon was the leadership of the band under young Master Brooks, a five-year-old. He captured many hearts by his vigorous baton work and childish simplicity.

Two of the Salvation Army sisters sang very beautifully the selection "All Alone." A number of the soldiers gave their testimony in true army fashion. Commandant Smith himself giving the closing address.

In the course of the afternoon, the Rev. A. H. McConnachie took occasion to speak of his experience of Salvation Army work, going back thirty years ago to the time of his first pastorate in Wick, Scotland. It had been his privilege to assist a struggling corps in that great fishing centre. He associated himself with the Army plea for instant decision for Christ and begged leave to add his testimony to that of the Army soldiers. "Salvation," he said, "was of the nature of a business transaction." It was an offer on the part of God to be accepted by us. It was not enough to hear the word; we must accept the offer and clinch the bargain. As a minister he gladly stood up with the Army to testify to a present salvation.

Altogether the service was true to the best traditions of the Army and calculated to do good.

An offering was taken up at the suggestion of Rev. A. H. McConnachie for the Salvation Army work. Mr. McConnachie voiced the thanks of many to Mr. Jas. Dutton for his kindness in bringing the members of the band from the city. With one consent the great audience voted the service a great success in every way.

NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

CHOCOLATE.

Just 400 years ago Aztecs in Mexico were teaching white explorers from Europe the delights of chocolate, "the food of the gods." Spaniards took it back with them.

Prohibitionists of those days fought chocolate because, served as a drink, it cut down the use of alcohol. And if liquor came back in America, you would find chocolate makers fighting it because prohibition has jumped the sales of chocolate, and other candies. Chemically there are many "candy drunkards."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Anniversary Services in St. Andrew's Church—Liberals to Organize.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 23.—The anniversary of St. Andrew's Church was observed yesterday, the preacher for the occasion being Rev. Dr. W. T. Herridge, of Ottawa, who was elected Moderator of the General Assembly in 1913, and who since his graduation from Knox College, has always been regarded as one of the outstanding pulpit orators in the denomination. There were large congregations, both morning and evening, and the appeal for a special collection met with a generous response.

Dr. Herridge chose as his text in the evening the words of Christ: "Is not the life more than meat?" and delivered an eloquent address on the practical life of the professing Christian. The speaker has little sympathy for those doleful individuals who seem to believe that the highest duty of mankind is to scarify themselves, who deny themselves every pleasure and who like best to do those things which they do not like to do. Such people never seem to think that inclination and duty may run together.

The views of these people found no place in Christianity. Christ never asked us to give up anything that was good unless it kept us out of something better. No one can live below the letter of his utmost possibilities and not in the end suffer for it.

The speaker said that it is appalling to consider the ignorance of the youth of the present day, of literature especially. Other things being equal, the deeper our grasp of truth, the more serviceable we will be in this world and in the world to come.

Before the war materialism was dominant in many quarters. The meat was more than life. After these years, during which we learned and suffered so much, while we keep in memory the graves across the seas, there must be a time before our present unrest is exchanged for perpetual peace.

The great need of the age is a consciousness of the spiritual significance of life, finding our supreme joy in serving our generation in harmony with the will of God.

Reviewing the work of Christ while on earth, the preacher said that at the time of His ministry some might have thought that much of His energy was wasted, but now His name is honored above all names in human history, music, painting and literature all striving to extoll His name.

Mr. Wigglesworth Resigns.

At a special meeting of St. Andrew's session held after the close of the service yesterday morning, the elders regretfully received the resignation of Fred. Wigglesworth, who for over a year has held the position of organist and choir leader. Mr. Wigglesworth has received a flattering offer from a church in Sault Ste. Marie, this offer following his appearance as organist there on Sunday a week ago.

The session appointed a special committee to wait on Mr. Wigglesworth and ask him to withdraw his resignation, but when the committee met him he informed the members that his decision was final.

In announcing the fact of Mr. Wigglesworth's intended departure to the congregation last evening, Rev. C. F. McIntosh spoke of the excellent service he had given the congregation since coming to Campbellford, and of the inspiration his music had been to the worshippers. He was leaving for a field of wider opportunities, and while all were sorry to lose him, they were pleased to know that he had met with a well-deserved promotion.

Mr. Wigglesworth's final appearance here will be on the second Sunday in July.

Liberals to Organize.

Nelson Parliament, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature during the Drury Administraton, and now provncial organizer for the Liberal party, and also secretary of W. E. Sinclair, M. L.A., Liberal leader i the Legislature, were in town last week, the guest of J. Nelson Stone ,secretary of the Northumberland Liberal Association. At the last three elections held in this riding, two Provincial, and one Federal, the Liberals had no candidate in the field, the contest being fought out by the Progressives and the Conservatives. It is now proposed to get into battle array for the next election, to nominate a candidate, and to thoroughly organize every district.

Mr. Stone introduced Mr. Parliament to leading members of the party here and the vsitor expressed himself as pleased with the spirit of optimism that prevailed with regard to the outlook. A mass meeting to be addressed by Mr. Parliament and others will be held here early in July details to be announced later.

The county of Northumberland as a Federal riding is not to be affected by the Redistribution Bill now before Parliament. The present representative at Ottawa, is M. E. Maybee of Trenton.

Violated No Law.

At a funeral held here recently a visiting autoist ran past the procession, as it proceeded to the cemetery, at a high rate of speed. The number of the car was taken and a complaint was lodged with Chief Duncalfe, who reported the affair to the Department, at the same time sending the number of the auto.

The Chief has been notified that the owner of the car ; a resident of Grimsby, but that no action could be taken in the matter as he had not violated any regulation. An autoist is at liberty to pass a funeral procession provided it is going in the same direction as himself. If, however, he meets it he is required by the Act to move his car to one side and stop until the procession has passed.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCTS

Other markets centers were reported to be out-bidding Chicago, 3 to 5c a bushel in Chicago territory, with farmers declining to sell and giving as a reason the backwardness of the new crop.

Oats derived firmness from elevator purchases of December. Heavy arrivals of hogs eased the provision market.

Only full-size Gum-Dipped Balloons Give all the Advantages of Low Pressure

On full-size gum-dipped balloons you get the greatest amount of the unequalled comfort, safety and economy afforded by low air pressure.

Firestone full-size Gum-Dipped Balloons are not merely over-size tires. They utilize the principle of low air pressure, first perfected by Firestone, without changing gear ratios, fender clearance or interfering in any way with the mechanism of your car.

The universal success of the full-size balloon is due to the Firestone process of gum-dipping that impregnates each individual cord with pure rubber giving the balloon carcass, with its thin side walls, the great strength necessary to flex and absorb road shocks.

Firestone full-size Balloons give equal or better mileage than regular cords. They make all roads safe and poor roads better. Adopt them now and you will put a new enjoyment in short and long trips. There is a Firestone dealer near who will give you full details about their application.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Annual Lawn Social at the Home of Dr. J. H. Hess —Personal Mention.

HASTINGS, June 23.—A large and merry crowd gathered together on Friday evening on the lawn of Dr. J. H. Hess, on Albert Street, where the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held their annual lawn social.

About six o'clock a baseball game was called the teams being the pupils of Petherick's School, Seymour, and the pupils of Hastings Public School, after which the winners played the Hastings Public School girl's teams.

The first game was snappy ball for the juniors and resulted in a very close game, the score ending 6-5 with a win for the visitors.

The line ups were:

Pethericks—Grant Kerr, p; Harry Owens, c; Alf Simpson, 1b; Roy Barnum, 2b; George Brunton, 3b; Gerald Petherick, ss; Milliard McKenzie, lf; Raymond Dunk, cf; Fred Fry, rf.

Manager—E. S. Fairman.

Hastings—Clifford Scriver, p; Allan Hubbs, c; Eldon Simpson, 1b; Stuart Whitred, 2b; Everett Whitred, 3b; Russel Larmouth, ss; Jack Prest, lf; Everett Grieves, cf; Hayden Killey, rf.

Manager—Thos. Chaplain.

Umpire—Roy Fry.

The second game was between the Petherick nine and the Hastings girls, the former were winners by a margin of six runs when the score ended 12.6.

A large crowd of fans followed the visitors and much enthusiasm was displayed by the spectators.

The Hastings girls who played were: Madeline Bond, Myrtle Dodd, Lvonne Sharpe, Mary Clapper, Mary Fowlds, Kathleen Clapper, Effie Stewart, Thelma West and Edna Brooks.

Lunch was served by the ladies after the games were over. Refreshments were for sale at a booth on the front of the lawn.

A piano was placed in the centre of the grounds and a short program was given during the evening. The opening number was music by the Star Orchestra. A piano duet followed by Misses Carrie Doxsee and Ona Doxsee. Mr. S. McGuire of Campbellford contributed a reading. The young people rendered a chorus in unison. Mr. and Mrs. Cafley of Centreton sang a duet which was encored. Mr. Billie Bird played two selections on the Hawaiian guitar. This was followed by more music by the Star Orchestra. Mr. McGuire gave a second reading, after which Mr. W. Knight gave a cornet solo.

Mr. John Wilson sang a solo and Mr. Neal Scriver who played several selections on the bagpipes during the evening played the closing number.

Those present from Campbellford and Pethericks Corners were: Mr. and Mrs. Brunton, Mr. Barnum, Mr. Harvey Green, Miss Minnie Petherick, Mr. T. Petherick, Mr. J. D. Thompson, Misses Atkinson, Miss Jennie Fry, Miss Cora Irwin, Misses Simpson, Mr. Allan Simpson, Mr. S. Maguire, Mrs. C. W. Turner, Miss Nellie Hoover, Mr. Thos. Craighead, Mr. P. AT LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

Summer Train Service to the Lakes Now in Effect.

LAKEFIELD, June 24—The summer train service went into effect on Saturday when the number of trains per day was doubled by the addition of an early morning train and the evening train to the winter schedule.

During the post office strike of last week, the motto of the Lakefield office was "business as usual," as the only change lay in the diminished quantity of mail received.

Mrs. Gordon Northey entertained on Saturday at the tea hour in honor of the teachers of the Public School, at her pretty home on Queen street. A very pleasant afternoon was spent.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard entertained her Sunday School class at a delightful picnic on Hagues' Point on Saturday afternoon.

The hymn for those at sea was sung in St. John's Church on Sunday morning for Rev. C. Grant King who left last week for a trip to England.

Rev. P. L. Jull was the special preacher at the anniversary services of the Cottesloe Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Atkinson of Warsaw taking his duty in the Lakefield Presbyterian Church.

NEWS OF APSLEY AND IN DISTRICT

St. George's Church Held Annual Picnic on Friday.

APSLEY, June 24.—St. George's Church annual picnic at Apsley on Friday last was a decided success in every way. A big crowd assembled in the afternoon, almost every family in the neighborhood being represented, considerably over a hundred sitting down to tea. The most interesting feature in the program was the mile race, a football match between married and single men, and the judging in the bread competition. The ploughing match was cancelled there being only three entries. In the evening a picture show was given in St. George's Institute which was filled by an interested audience. Musical selections were rendered by the violin orchestra The total proceeds amounted to $107.

There were seven entries in the bread making competition, all of the bread being of such excellent quality that the judges, Mrs. Hales, Mrs. Dan Whitmore and Mrs. Will Tucker had a most difficult task in deciding which was the best. The prize, a 98-lb. bag of Quaker flour, donated by the Quaker Oats Co. was finally awarded to Mrs. Jack Buchanan.

The mile race was won by Vernal Windsor for the third time, though Herbert Lean gave him a hard fight being only two feet behind at the finish. A hard contested game of football resulted in a win for the single men who scored the only goal of the game, even that being a doubtful one, the scorer being offside in the opinion of the majority of spectators. Other events resulted as follows:

Ladies race, 100 yards—1. Miss M. Windsor, 2 Mrs. Joe Tucker.

Mens, 100 yards—Stanley Windsor.

Boys race—Ernest Tanner and Willie Everett tie, 2 Victor Tanner.

Girls race—Phyliss Tanner, 2 Alice McFadden.

Tots race—1. Rosalie Smith, 2 Dolly Tanner.

Mr. Spence wishes to take this opportunity of tendering his sincere thanks to all those who so generously provided eatables and labor, and whose loyal co-operation was responsible for the success achieved.

FOREIGNER SHOT DEAD.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 24.—(Canadian Press).—Harry Davidowiez, a foreign merchant, was found yesterday by the police lying dead in a room behind his grocery store with a bullet through his heart. MILK VENDORS LAY COMPLAINT

May is the Hardest Month in the Year to Obtain Good Milk and This Was the Month the Tests Were Published.

The Milk Dealers' Association laid their case before the Board of Health last night at a meeting called for the purpose of hearing the milkmen in reference to the matter of the publication of milk tests.

The publication of the May tests injured the trade of two local vendors, Messrs. Harper and O'Neil, and others, whose milk, though pure as to mechanical and chemical impurities, was below the standard requirements in butter-fat.

Mr. S. T. Medd, solicitor for the Milk Dealers' Association, stated that he had enquired and found that many citizens were under the erroneous impression that milk below 3 per cent. in butter-fat was impure, and was of the opinion that a fairer method could be arrived at than had been the practice of taking the tests to protect the public and the dealer alike.

Mr. Harper stated that as a result of the May publication he had lost about 20 customers. The two farmers from whom he obtained the reports were amazed to learn of the sub-normal showing of the milk. Two days after the tests were published, declared Mr. Harper, I had samples of the milk from each herd sent to Kingston and to Dr. A. I. McNair, of the local laboratories, for examination, and the tests showed a percentage 4.1 of butter-fat in one case and 3.9 in the other. These were both remarkable showings, and the reports of both laboratories tallied. The June test taken by Dr. McNair showed a percentage of 3.5 of butter-fat, which was .5 per cent. better than the standard demands.

Mr. O'Neil, the other milk vendor whose milk tested below the standard for butter-fat in May, was also heard. His May test was 2.8 per cent. and his June test 3.5 per cent. Mr. O'Neil stated that he was equally surprised to learn through the press that his May test was below normal in butter-fat requirements. The farmer from whom I buy my milk has been building up his herd for years and has taken every precaution and has had his cows tested for tuberculosis. After learning of this report, he purchased a tester himself, and on testing the cows separately he found that two cows were low in the percentage of butter-fat, so he disposed of them, and the results were that his milk was brought up to 3.5 per cent. in butter-fat and that was the showing of my milk in Dr. McNair's report for June.

Mr. Butler, president of the Milk Dealers' Association, enlightened the members of the Board by explaining the disadvantages to the producer in producing high standard milk in the month of May.

Mr. Butler—"You will find as many gentlemen peddling milk, as in any other line of business."

Mr. Lynch—"Yes, as many gentlemen peddling it as drinking it."

Mr. Butler—"Every vendor should be notified, so that he may have a chance to remedy any deficiency and get at the source of the trouble. Then, if he can't supply milk up to the standard, it is time for the Board to act.

"May is the hardest month of the year to produce good milk. The cows, after being fed dry feed all winter, are restless and anxious for the green food. The change from the hard into the green feed affects the milk production also.

"June is the best month for producing good milk, the percentage for butter-fat may not be higher, but the milk will be of better color and quality.

"A very slight change will cause the butter-fat test to vary, and no dealer can guarantee the percentage of butter-fat.

"A test represents but one milking out of 720 in the year, and in the case of a milk vendor that buys from two producers, it represents a test of one milking out of 1,440, and this is not fair to the public or the dealers. One milking of a high-producing herd might show a very high percentage of butter-fat, and the next might be below standard, while the average would be good."

Mayor Turner—"Personally, I am very glad to hear Mr. Butler's explanation, and I think if the public knew the conditions under which the milk vendors operate, it would be a good thing. I believe every man is trying to give good service. When we get the report of the tests we will notify you as we always have, in case any test is below the 3 per centage of butter-fat, as required."

Chairman Duncan—"I can assure you that the Board is anxious to help the milk vendors, and you may come to us at any regular meeting with any complaint you might have. We demand that the vendors come up to the tests, as we are here to safeguard the public."

Mr. Rogers—"There are two kinds of milk vendors, the man who produces and sells his own production and the man who buys and sells the production of others, and I think that if the dealers who buy would bring samples to Dr. McNair and obtained a test they could check up the source of the milk supply."

In response to this, the dealers explained to the Board that they had been refused this privilege, and it would cost them $3 or more to have a test made.

The members of the Board opined that the laboratories are placed here for the public benefit, and it is in the interests of the public health that the vendors should be allowed to safeguard themselves in buying milk which would be supplied to the public. They advised the dealers that they could have tests made free of charge at the city laboratories. The milkmen received this suggestion gratefully and feel that it will greatly enable them in supplying wholesome milk to their customers.

Mr. Medd was of opinion that a publication showing the average tests over a period of time would enable the public to form a fair estimate of the quality of the dealers' milk, and would also be fair to the dealers, adding that the dealers had no objection to publication.

Mr. Lynch stated that the Board had no control over the publication of any test. "The files are here, and the public are at liberty to inspect the reports," said Mr. Lynch, and we have a resolution declaring that the Board cannot publish any reports, but there is nothing to hinder the Milk Dealers' Association from publishing the results of the tests made."

Mayor Turner interjected that we are not here to advertise anybody; it is our duty to safeguard the public. "We have always notified vendors of low tests and will continue to do so."

Mr. Butler stated that the May test, obtained when conditions were the worst in the year, was published to the four winds, and very little was heard about the June test, when every dealer made a good showing.

Last night's conference resulted in an understanding between the Milk Dealers' Association and the Board of Health. The Board impressed the dealers with the fact that it is their duty to safeguard the public health, and the dealers demonstrated that they were anxious to co-operate with them in that regard.

BUSINESS DISRUPTED BY TORONTO STRIKE

The Suburban Centres Are Receiving and Distributing Local Mail Without Delay.

TORONTO, June 24. — The mail started trickling into Toronto business offices to-day. A local business man is in like case to a man who can telephone out from his house but cannot receve incoming calls.

Apparently the distribution of mail from Toronto back to last Wednesday has gone on fairly successfully throughout the country, but the avalanche of unsorted mail in the various postal stations still defies the mass efforts of the recruited postal staff.

Crowds line all the uptown postal stations, but the pickings even for the early bird, are slim.

So far as central Ontario is concerned the situation is purely local for close up suburban centres are receiving and distributing local mail without delay, but in the city itself business of every kind is disrupted.

PRINCE OF WALES IS 30

The Heir to the British Throne Celebrated His Birthday Yesterday.

LONDON, June 24. — (Canadian Press).—Yesterday was the Prince of Wales' thirtieth birthday. In the morning he received General John J. Pershing at St. James' Palace, and at noon he attended a luncheon given by his royal parents to King Christian and Queen Alexandrina, of Denmark, and the General. The luncheon was at Buckingham Palace.

In the afternoon the two kings and their queens went with General Pershing to the International Horse Show.

BODY WAS RECOVERED

Two Indians Found Body of Man Who Was Drowned on May 11.

MONTREAL, Que., June 24. — (Canadian Press).—Recovered from Lake St. Louis, near St. Nicholas Island, by two Caughnawaga Indians late on Sunday afternoon, the body of a man taken to the morgue was yesterday recognized by identification marks as that of Hiram Huff, of Cornwall, Ont., who was drowned off the tug "Annie Barrett," opposite Cedars, on the morning of May 11.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL PICNIC

Under the auspices of the Home and School Association of Queen Mary School, the annual picnic for the public school pupils of Queen Mary School was held last Friday afternoon, June 20, on the school grounds. RUSSELL MAUGHAN CONQUERS FLIGHT

Makes the Trip From New York to San Francisco in 21 Hours and 45 for Soviet.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 24. —United Press. — Lieutenant Russell Maughan flew by daylight from New York to San Francisco Monday and the dream of a dawn-to-dusk transcontinental flight became a reality.

A new era of aviation has been opened up by the venture, army and civilian flying men declared to-day.

Congratulations were showered upon Maughan, who left Mitchell Field, New York, at 2:59 Eastern Standard Time, and arrived in San Francisco 21 hours and 45 minutes later.

It was past dusk when Maughan's record flight came to an end at Crissy Field, but airmen pointed out that he had been delayed at dawn, that the sun was up 37 minutes before the little plane hummed off into the west and that the flyer had actually arrived 18 minutes ahead of schedule.

Maughan was 'air sick" a couple of dozen times during his flight. He ate little he said between the time he left New York and his arrival here.

His face was wind burnt, eyes flaming, red-rimmed, sunken and blood-shot, hands trembling with sheer fatigue.

"In the romantic country we made 140 miles. Over level country, faster time, better than 150 miles an hour, I think." Unpicturesque details that occur first to the trained flyer were given by Maughan as he sank exhausted into an easy chair after he had been assisted with much backslapping and hand-shaking from his plane.

"We?" somebody asked.

"Me and my plane."

COINS FOR RUSSIA

British Treasury Has Order for Minting 45 Million Minutes.

LONDON, June 24. — (Canadian Press).—The population of Russia will no longer be handicapped in the matter of coins which to carry on domestic commerce, provided they can overcome the difficulty of gaining possession of these monetary conveniences. The British Treasury has already started on an order to mint 45,000,000 coins for the Soviet Government.

The contract for these coins is the first Great Britain has received for the Soviet Government since the two countries patched up their diplomatic difficulties. These coins will also be the first Soviet coins ever minted.

SLIM ATTENDANCE AT DANCE EXHIBITION

The concert held in the G.W.V.A. Hall last evening, when an exhibition of classical and characteristic dances was given by Miss Jean B. Cooper, teacher of dancing, of the United Kingdom Academy in Dunfermline, Scotland, was poorly attended, due mainly to lack of proper advertising. The chief attraction of the evening, the dancing of Miss Cooper, was some of the best of its type seen here in a long time. Miss Cooper is a youthful dancer of much charm and grace. Her interpretive powers are outstanding, and her pretty dance numbers were executed with an ease and ability that brought echoing applause from a small but extremely appreciative audience. A hastily-constructed stage was used for the first two numbers, Miss Cooper giving later dances on the floor of the hall, where better scope was afforded for the exhibition.

Assisting artists for the occasion were vocal soloists, in T. Stazicker, W. Thompson and J. Stevenson. Mr. Stazicker sang in splendid voice two excellent solos, also giving an interesting monologue; Mr. Thompson was as good as usual in his Scotch imitations, done in costume, and Mr. Stevenson sang twice also, in fine style. Accompanists of the evening were Mrs. Pirie and Miss Buchanan, and Mr. F. G. Mann.

Miss Cooper's dances were done in costume, suitable in each instance to the delineation. "La Bacchanal" was her first number, depicting in interest-holding fashion a bacchanalian symphony; the "Water Nymph" was a graceful, green-clad interlude, with a great deal of difficult "point" work in its rendition; "Nebrewska" was a Russian dance, typical and entertaining, and "Les Hollandaise" was a lively, staccato-beat Dutch dance. The exhibition ended with a few buck and wing bars.

In the absence of Dr. N. H. Sutton, who arrived later in the evening, the chair was occupied by Capt. Winterbottom. The evening wound up with a dance.

CHARGE AGAINST MOTHER

Mrs. Iris Morris is Said to Have Failed to Obtain Help for Child.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 24. — The coroner's jury called by Dr. Phelan to inquire into the death of the infant whose body was found in the Rideau River here on Friday evening, brought in a verdict yesterday evening to the effect that death was due to a hemorrage through lack of medical attention at birth. The mother, Mrs. Iris Morris, who is in the General Hospital, is held on the charge of failing to obtain medical assistance in child-birth.

WESTERN POSTMEN WANT SETTLEMENT

Delegation of Postmen to Meet Government Will Be Named.

REGINA, June 24 (Canadian Press).—Asking the Dominion Government to meet a delegation of the Western postal workers with a view to settling the present dispute, Frederick Knowles, president, and Charles Gardner, secretary of the Amalgamated Civil Servants, last night sent a telegram to Premier King, Hon. J. Murdock, Labour Minister, and Charles Stewart, Acting Postmaster-General.

The delegation will be named from among the employees of the Western post offices, should the Government consent to this suggestion.

Mr. Knowles, who arrived from Vancouver in the morning, held conferences with the members of the Regina branch of the organisation at a mass meeting last night.

D. C. COLEMAN ARRIVED IN VANCOUVER, FRIDAY

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 24.—D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived in Vancouver Friday morning and left on the S.S. Princess Charlotte for Victoria, where, as Manitoba president of the Canadian Navy League, he will attend the annual meeting of the Dominion organization.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE MACCABEES HERE

The regular meeting of Peterboro Tent No. 69 of the Maccabees was held last week, attended by a delegation from the Ladies' Queen of Canada Hive No. 336. Kt. Commander Roode was in the chair.

The work of the Maccabees is progressing very favorably, but to obtain better results in degree work, a larger hall is necessary. This was taken care of by Sir Kt. Commander Roode, who moved that arrangements be made to obtain the W.O.W. Hall, if possible, for the first meeting in July. This was seconded by Deputy Sir Kt. H. Gilbert, and it was also moved by Sir Kt. G. Hawkes, and seconded by Sir Kt. E. Walling, that members be notified by mail as to time and date of future meetings, also officers and members composing degree team, when special rehearsals are to be held.

Lady Commander E. Langton, on behalf of Queen Alexandra Hive 336, paid a compliment to Deputy Sir Kt. H. Gilbert, on his winning the Washington trip. The deputy thanked the ladies for their kind remarks and thoughtfulness in this matter. Lady Commander E. Langton draped the charter, for a period of ninety days, in memory of Worthy Sir Knights Past Commander F. Darling and Dr. E. F. Harvey, on a motion to this effect by Deputy H. Gilbert, seconded by Sir Kt. G. Hawkes. Lady Commander E. Langton thanked the members for their thoughtfulness in sending flowers, also for visits received during her recent illness.

POSTAL FIASCO NEARING FINISH

Toronto, Montreal and Windsor Still Crippled by the Strike.

TORONTO, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—What was intended to be a Dominion-wide strike of Canadian postal employees has become a fight between the striking workers in Montreal, Toronto and Windsor and the Federal Government. At all other points in the country the service is functioning normally, while in Montreal it is expected that the mail will be handled efficiently in a few days.

In two Ontario cities the service is seriously disrrupted, and the situation, as far as business houses are concerned, is assuming grave proportions. Every effort is being made to provide service, hundreds of substitute workers have been employed and the system of mail delivery at general and branch post offices has been put into operation, but it will be some time before the problem of dealing with the tremendous accumulation of mail is solved. It was reported yesterday that two firms had been forced to close down, and they will be followed by others unless the movement of mails is speedily accomplished.

Government officials are firm in their stand that as far as they are concerned, no further negotiations will be conducted with the striking employees, and postmasters have received instructions to bring their staffs to full strength by the employment of new men.

Efforts of the strikers to bring the Hamilton postal workers out again have been futile. A meeting held there last night was poorly attended, and a full staff is working today. The crisis has been reached at Windsor, and last night Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, wired the Mayor of the Western Ontario city, asking for a definite reply as to the intent and power of the authorities to afford protection to those engaged in the distribution of mail. If necessary, the Government will send police to Windsor to guarantee the delivery of mail.

MAJORITY OF CANCERS ARE CAUSFD BY IODINE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 24 (Canadian Press). — That 95 per cent. of the consumptive and cancer cases are due to vaccination and the use of iodine was the starling condition of Heinrich Duringer of New York at banquet of Chiropractors of the East at Ambassador Hotel.

Dr. Ruringer told his audience that vaccination and iodine destroyed the tissues, with the further result that everything around the tissues decayed, finally bringing about the two dreaded diseases.

The largest island in the world, with the exception of Australia, is Borneo, having an area of 284,000 square miles.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate, and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Gertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, tells Wanda that Paul is coming home before the reading of the will, which, as she expects to be Collinge's sole heiress, somewhat mystifies her. Paul arrives unexpectedly, and when the will is read Wanda learns that she has been disinherited, on account of a quarrel she has had with the dead man, and that Paul is the heir. After the funeral, Paul sends for Wanda and tells her that she must make plans for her departure, and that he will make her an allowance. She is furious and determines that she will never leave Grey Chumley, for it is the one thing for which she has real affection. Paul and Wanda quarrel over authority at the house.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

X—PAUL'S ORDER.

For a moment they looked steadily at one another, and the passion grew in Wanda's eyes beneath the cool amusement of his; twice her lips moved, but she seemed unable to find any words, and then with a little smothered exclamation she caught up a small brass paper weight from the table and flung it at him.

Fortunately it missed, but it went crashing through the window and fell with many fragments of splintered glass on to the path outside.

That brought her to her senses, and she stood, pale to the lips now trembling in every limb, waiting for him to speak.

And Paul said very quietly, though he was white with rage:

"This finishes it. You will leave this house tomorrow. I've put up with your intolerable temper long enough. God alone knows how my father endured you for so long. I don't blame him for cutting you out of his will," he added brutally.

Wanda's hands were clenched, and her breath came in difficult little gasps, as if she were trying to keep back a burst of sobbing.

"You're a coward, and I hate you. I wish I'd never seen you," she panted.

Paul laughed.

"That is one point, at any rate, on which we are agreed," he said. He went to the writing table, turning his back on her.

"You will please make arrangements to leave this house tomorrow," he said again in a voice of flint. "I will write to Lindsey to see you with regard to money. I am willing to allow you eight hundred a year." Wanda broke into stormy tears.

"I will not take a penny from you."

"We shall see," Paul said. He drew up a chair and sat down, drawing some papers toward him and taking up a pen.

Wanda was not used to being ignored and treated like a child; she snatched the pen from his hand and flung it down.

"Listen to me," she panted. "If you think you can bully me you're mistaken. I've tried to be nice to you—"

Paul roared with laughter.

"Tried to be nice to me! Do you think I want you to be nice to me? Good lord, I only want to get rid of you."

"You will find that difficult," she flashed at him. "You will find that if I make up my mind to stay, I shall stay."

"Will you?"

Paul rose to his feet, and before she could even guess at his intention, he had picked her up under his arm as easily as if she had been a doll, carried her across the room, and deposited her outside in the hall.

"We'll see who's going to be master," he said, and went back into the room, shutting and locking the door behind him.

He walked over the broken window and opened it. The brass paper weight had rolled across the path on to a flowerbed.

Paul picked it up and looked at it ruefully, then he laughed and replaced it on the writing table. He had rather enjoyed that little battle; he wondered how many more would have to be fought before he broke her to his will.

"Marry her! I'd rather marry a wild cat," he thought as he sat down again at the table and tried to fix his thoughts on the letters waiting to be written.

But Wanda's face kept coming between him and the paper, and his first sense of victory changed a little to remorse.

Had be been too hard on her?

The thought worried him; after a little while he pushed his papers away and went out to look for her. He met Mrs. Garnet in the hall.

"Have you seen Wanda?" he began, then broke off to ask: "Is anything the matter?"

"It's Wanda; she's ill."

"Ill!" he repeated the word incredulously. "She was all right just now," he protested. "What's the matter with her?"

Mrs. Garnet shook her head. "I don't know. She came upstairs to me. I thought she looked upset, and then before I could speak or do anything, she fell at my feet in a dead faint. I've sent for the doctor. I expect him any minute now. I hope I have done right."

"Quite right," Paul assured her; he felt conscience-stricken; was his brutality the cause of Wanda's illness?

"If there is anything she wants, anything I can do, please let me know," he said.

Mrs. Garnet departed upstairs again, and present Paul saw the doctor's car arrive.

He fidgeted about till he saw the doctor drive away again, then he sent for Mrs. Garnet.

"Well, what's wrong with her?" he asked.

"I don't know, and I don't think the doctor does either," she confessed. "He tried her pulse and her heart, and he said they were both in perfect order. But the fact remains that she looks white and ill."

"Well, what did he prescribe?"

"He said it must be her nerves; he has ordered her a week in bed."

Paul looked relieved.

"Well, there's nothing for her to worry about," he said bluntly. "You might tell her so from me, will you?"

Paul gave a sigh of relief. Of course he had always known it could not be anything serious, but he had certainly been a brute, ordering her to leave the house tomorrow, and—a sudden illuminating thought flashed across his mind.

He had ordered her to leave the house tomorrow, and she had declared that she would not go! Was that the meaning of this sudden faint?

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwhistle, Alta., writes:

"Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of sixteen months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

GOVERNOR GENERAL SUMMONED HERTZOG

New Leader Hopes Prince of Wales Will Visit South Africa in the Near Future.

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Interviewed tolday on his way to Pretoria, where he will confer with the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of South Africa, General James Barry Hertzog, leader of the Nationalists, who were victors in the recent Dominion elections, said that the question of the proposed visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, had not been considered by his party. As far as he personally was concerned, however, he hoped that it would be possible for the Prince to come to South Africa.

The visit of the Prince of Wales to the South African Dominion was only postponed on account of the elections, and was not cancelled.

The visit of General Hertzog to the Governor-General at Pretoria is in connection with the formation of a new Cabinet, General Jan Christian Smuts having yesterday handed in his resignation as Premier.

It is believed that there will be at least three members of the Labour Party in the new Cabinet.

CAVAN BOYS HAD A GOOD TIME AT PORT HOPE CAMP

Durham Regiment Turned Out Over Two Hundred Strong—Some Came to Peterboro at Close of Camp.

CAVAN, June 23.—(Written by a Private).—The camp of the Durham Regiment was well attended. The number required was set at one hundred and eighty, and two hundred and one were present.

Colonel Snyder said that this was the most orderly camp which he had ever conducted.

C Company of the Durham Regiment was composed of boys from Cavan, Millbrook and Pontypool. Capt. A. V. Thorne led the Millbrook boys, and Lieut. I. Willis was at the head of those from Pontypool.

The boys left Millbrook, June 10 at nine o'clock, and arrived at Port Hope at ten.

From the station the troops were marched to the Port Hope Armouries, and joined the boys from Bowmanville, Oshawa. Other towns and villages represented at Port Hope were Perrytown, Port McNichol and Blackstock.

When the lads reached the camp they found that the advance parties, sent the night before, had put up all the tents. The camp was arranged on the hill above the fair grounds. At the west end there were six rows of tents, five to the row, for the men; farther to the north-east was the quartermaster sergeant's tent, while at the extreme east was the cookhouse and tents. At the north, near the gate, was the guard tent where the guards slept. Along the south-east was a row of ten tents for the officers. Just east of these was a large tent for the officers' mess, close by were two cooks' tents and a cook-house. The hospital tent was the last tent east on that line. At the south-east of the soldiers' tents, a large tent was erected for the band. In the centre of the camp the tent of the commanding officer was raised, and to the east of it the tent where the soldiers ate dinner.

The boys were at once assigned tents, six in some, four in others. The tents were scarcely arranged and blankets, lanterns, plates and cups distributed, before the bugle sounded for dinner. George Raper, of Millbrook, was corporal of the cooks and he certainly did good work. Dinner always consisted of potatoes and gravy, beans or cabbage, and beef, with one slice of bread, and coffee or tea.

After dinner there was two hours' drill, and then rest until supper. Each man had to bring knife, fork and spoon, and had his own dishes to wash after each meal.

The manner in which the meals were served was the usual custom in camps. The men lined up in single file and marched by the cook-house. Here four cooks stood at a table, laden with food, and handed each man his rations as he passed. One cook ladled out tea, another handed out the potatoes, etc., so that each man received a fair portion. For supper each man had two slices of bread, butter, jam and coffee.

After six o'clock, retreat, the men could go down town and remain out until ten, or, if they had a pass, until midnight.

At six o'clock the first evening a guard was picked from A Company. This squad was on duty until six o'clock the following evening. Then a new guard replaced them and so on. The business of the guard was not only to protect property, but also to check up any carelessness in dress of soldiers leaving to go down town. The guards were ordered to stop such soldiers until they had made themselves presentable. At ten the bugle sounded "lights out," and fifteen minutes later the "last post."

The beds were made by spreading a rubber sheet on the ground in the tent, with a blanket on top; then two woollen blankets were provided for over each man.

Well before six in the morning reveille was sounded, and the soldiers made a rule to have their blankets shaken out and piled neatly out in the air before breakfast. Besides this they always rolled up the bottoms of their tents at once and stacked their rifles in front of their tents.

Breakfast parade was about 7.30. Each man was given two slices of bread, two strips of breakfast bacon and coffee. Sick parade was at eight o'clock. After breakfast the men spent their time in washing their dishes, shining buttons and preparing to fall in for drill at 8.30 or 9. We drilled from then until 12. After dinner the men were obliged to drill two hours, and then sports were enjoyed until supper. The Rotary Club of Port Hope supplied a softball and bats, a hard ball and a football.

On Thursday evening over 150 soldiers saw Port Hope defeat Bowmanville 7 to 3 in a league game.

On Thursday every man underwent a medical inspection. The health officer was Dr. McKinley of Port Hope. There were not more than a dozen cases of sickness during camp.

On Sunday all soldiers who were not on duty paraded to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church to hear the regimental chaplain, Capt. Anderson.

The following Monday the regiment left Port Hope at eight o'clock and arrived in Belleville at 11. The train was delayed at Cobourg, when it struck a signal-man, an Italian, throwing him against a pole, breaking his arms, legs and neck.

On arrival of the train the men were marched to a camp prepared for them, and the Salvation Army of Belleville gave each soldier a free dinner. After dinner the soldiers paraded to the exhibition grounds where they took part in the competition of regiments at the U. E. L. celebration. The Durham Regiment was placed first; second, the Brockville Rifles; third, the 48th Highlanders of Toronto. It was 4 oc'lock when the troops were dismissed at the market square. Their time was now at their own disposal until five.

The train left Belleville—at 6 and reached Port Hope at 8. The cook served lunch on the train en route, and a hot lunch was served on their arrival at their camp.

Throughout the hot afternoon, none of the Durham Regiment dropped out from heat or any other cause.

On Tuesday morning the regin went to the butts, about two miles from camp, drilled all morning, had lunch and remained there for inspection and target practise. On Wednesday the camp broke up, and the Millbrook and Cavan boys came home on the noon train, and those who were almost strapped on arrival had turned in their uniforms and were carrying their pay by 6 p.m.

The boys were so well pleased with the way they were used in Port Hope that as many as possible went into Peterborough with the 23rd Dragoons on June 19.

Belleville 6 Petes 5 - Millbrook Lost To Curlers - New York Drops

THRILLING GAME WON BY TRUNKS WITH SOME HELP

Bad Decision by Umps Hallinan Gives Belleville Win in the Eleventh.

FINAL SCORE WAS 6-5.

Petes' Infield Handles Flock of Chances in Fine Defensive Exhibition.

Umpire Frank Hallinan is one of the best officials who has ever worked in the Central loop but in spite of that fact he presented Belleville with yesterday's ball game when he called Weir safe on second on a forced play in the eleventh inning. The runner was out by a couple of feet and the play should have retired the side. Instead the next batter, Harry Mills singled and drove in the winning run, Belleville winning 6 to 5 after the most exciting and nerve-racking contest of the season.

Hallinan was working under a great handicap. Just before the game started he received word of the death of his mother and although he commenced as umpire on balls and strikes he changed places with Benson after the first two innings.

The decision was a bad one and it cost the Petes a chance to win it in the twelfth.

Few more thrilling battles have been staged in the Duff circuit this season than yesterday's engagement.

Belleville took the lead in the first, scoring two runs off Heckman on a walk and two hits, and the Petes got one in the second on Heckman's single and Holyman's triple which was almost a home run.

The third frame saw the Petes take the lead by scoring two runs and Belleville come back with a pair, a dropped throw by Frankie Collins, subbing at first for Hap Harrison who was an absentee, being responsible.

Heck's arm was bothering him and he gave way to Serth after the third.

The tall southpaw proceeded to give his best exhibition of the season. Belleville nicked him for a counter in the fourth but for the next six frames the Trunks were blanked.

Meanwhile the Petes had got to Oulette for two runs in the sixth and the old rivals battled along on even terms until Hallinan's unfortunate decision in the eleventh gave the verdict to Belleville.

Serth struck out only one batter in the 7 2-3 innings he worked but he kept the enemy batters popping up easy flies or scratching weak rollers to the infield and worked in fine style throughout.

Johnny Oulette had his side arm curve ball breaking nicely and outside of the three frames in which they scored and the tenth when a double play stopped them when a win seemed certain, the Petes hitters were baffled, eight of their nine hits being crowded in these four innings. Oulette fanned fifteen of the visitors, thirteen during the first nine frames, and the win was a nice one for the big right-hander.

Some Great Fielding.

With only one strike out registered against Belleville the Petes had a busy day afield and in spite of five errors, only one of which did any harm, the Solomon outfit gave a fine exhibition of defensive play. take a glance at the assist column in the box score and the total of 25 registered there will show just how much work the gang had to do. Shiner Johnston accepted fifteen chances, his one error being a wide throw in an attempt to complete a double play. Tommy Holyman neatly handled eleven plays at short stop without a skip and Helson took care of six in fine style. Jimmy Hall was in the limelight with a circus catch and Doug Moore got into the game long enough to figure in a neat double play.

The Petes looked certain to win the game when they filled the bases in the tenth with nobody out, only to have Heckman's smash bounce into Williams' hands for a fast double play. The third sacker expected a bunt and started in for the plate and Heck's plan was to cut one past him. Instead the ball "hopped" perfectly for a made-to-order double play. It was a lucky break for the Trunks.

The Petes did not move a wheel in the first. Legon fanned, Johnston was extinguished on a nice stop by Meagher and Swanston struck out.

In Belleville's half Ross flied to Legon. Weir walked and W. Mills singled past second, Weir going to third. W. Mills stole second and both runners scored on Harry Mills' single to centre. Hagerman hit into a fast double play, Heckman to Johnston to Collins.

The Petes got one back in the second on Collins sacrifice. Moore rolled to H. Mills, Heckman going to third. Holyman drove a long triple to left scoring Heckman but was out at the plate by a whisker when he tried to stretch the hit into a homer, Weir relaying the ball to Mills.

For Belleville Williams singled to left. Meagher flied to Moore who doubled Williams off first. Casey got a life when Heckman's throw pulled Collins off the bag but Oulette popped to Holyman.

Petes In Lead.

The Solomon outfit took the lead in the third. Hall walked and when Helson bunted for a sacrifice, Oulette threw to second too late to get Hall. The pair then pulled off a double steal. Legon fanned but Johnston squeezed Hall home with a sacrifice bunt and Swanston singled over second, scoring Helson. Heckman singled to centre but Collins struck out.

The Trunks got a pair in their half that they shouldn't have had a chance to register. Ross started the frame with a single to left but Weir hit to Holyman, forcing Ross at second. Billy Mills rolled one to Holyman forcing Weir and Mills should have been doubled on the play but Collins dropped Johnston's throw. The break was costly for Harry Mills got a Texas Leaguer double back of second scoring his brother and rode home himself on Hagerman's single to left. Williams' pop-up to Collins retired the side.

In the fourth for Peterboro Moore struck out, Holyman rolled to Meagher and Hall flied to centre.

Serth took over the pitching burden for the Petes at this stage, Heckman going to first and Collins to right field. Meagher rolled to Johnston, Casey doubled past third and scored on Oulette's triple to right. It was a lucky one, the ball bounding over Collins' head. Ross was hit but when he tried to steal second, Swanston's throw headed him off and a run up followed. Oulette tried to score on the play but Heckman's accurate throw to Swanston nailed him at the plate, Johnston then tossed out Weir.

In the fifth Helson flied to Ross, Legon was thrown out by Weir and Johnston lined to Ross.

Belleville were retired on four balls. W. Mills popped to Holyman, Harry Mills was thrown out by Johnston and Holyman threw out Hagerman.

The Petes tied it in the sixth. Swanston walked to start with and Heckman got his third hit in succession, a single to left. Hagerman let the ball roll through and Swanston scored on the error, Heckman reaching second. Collins' sacrifice put him on third. Serth fanned but Holyman singled to left to send the run in after which Hall struck out.

In Belleville's half Williams rolled to Helson, Meagher was thrown out by Holyman and the short stop also grabbed Casey's fly.

Helson walked to start the seventh but Oulette struck out Legon, Johnson and Swanston in a row.

Belleville threatened but failed to come through. Oulette flied to Hall but Ross singled on a vicious liner to the box and took second on Serth's bad throw to first. Weir hit to Serth and Ross was caught between second and third, Helson throwing to Johnston for the put out. Hall dropped W. Mills' fly back of second after a run but Holyman made a nice catch of H. Mills' fly in short left to retire the side.

In the eighth Heckman fanned, Collins rolled to Weir and Serth struck out.

For the Trunks Hagerman flied to Legon, Hall took in Williams' short fly on the run with his gloved hand, a sensational grab and Heckman fielded Meagher's tap and beat the runner to the bag.

Holyman fanned to start the ninth and Weir was under easy flies by Hall and Helson.

Belleville were dangerous— but that was all. Casey singled through short but was forced at second on Oulette's roller to Holyman. Ross singled to left, his third hit. Weir hit to Serth forcing Oulette at third and Peeney Mills lifted a high one to Johnston.

The Luck Of the Game.

The Petes had a glorious chance to win the game in the tenth. Legon started with a single to left. Johnston bunted and when Mills threw to second Meagher dropped the ball and all hands were safe. Swanston singled to left filling the bases. With Heckman up a score or two seemed certain, but Heck's hard hit roller came on a perfect hop to Williams as the third baseman ran in looking for a bunt with the result that Legon was forced at the plate and Mills' throw to first doubled Heckman. There was still a chance but Collins rolled to Meagher.

Belleville had an opening but also failed. H. Mills was hit to start with. Helson deflected Hagerman's hard hit roller to Holyman who forced Mills at second. Williams forced Hagerman on a grass cutter to Holyman but in trying to complete a double Johnston threw wide to first, Williams reaching second. Helson made a fine running pick up of Meagher's roller and got the runner at first.

In the eleventh Serth and Holyman fanned. Hall singled to centre but was forced on Helson's tap to Williams.

Then came the break. Casey rolled to Johnston and Oulette fanned, the first strikeout of the day for a Belleville batter. Ross singled to left, his fourth hit and stole second, a very close decision. Weir walked. W. Mills hit to Holyman who tossed to Johnston forcing Weir at second by two feet, but Umpire Hallinan called him safe. The side should have been retired then and there but instead away went the ball game for with two strikes on him Harry Mills whistled a single to right and the winning counter was across.

MURDER OF BILL BRENNAN RECALLS KETCHEL'S DEATH

By JOE WILLIAMS.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Bill Brennan, noted heavyweight, once a menacing barrier in the path of Dempsey the champion, is shot down and killed by a New York gangster.

Few fighters go that way. Most of them round out life's allotted span and pass away peacefully as farmers, iron workers, actors or retired capitalists.

The man who makes his living battering human opponents to the canvas is instinctively a savage and through his system must course the impulses of the killer.

Yet the ring has been singularly free of violent tragedies.

Ketchel Shot to Death.

Stanley Ketchel was the only other noted fighter in memory to go to his death by an assassin's bullet. Ketchel, middleweight champion, was murdered by Walter Dipley, a farmer, at Conway, Mo., October 15, 1910.

Ketchel had gone to the Missouri village to train and was quartered at the Dipley farm house. A discourteous remark addressed to a feminine member of the family by the fighter brought on a scarlet controversy. That night as he sat at the table eating Ketchel was killed.

There was no quiet, pastoral background for Brennan's death. The Chicago Irishman died in the midst of the gay crowd he loved—the night life with its barbaric melodies, morbid characters and electric atmosphere.

BILL BRENNAN.

"A dope bumped him off."

That was the police sergeant's laconic report.

Brennan was not the fighter Ketchel was. Brennan was a plodder whose durability and infinite courage carried him higher in pugilism than anyone expected him to go. Ketchel was an artist with the fists, a tremendous hitter, cat like on his feet, and smart as a steel whip.

Once Brennan ran amuck in ring circles and built up a lengthy list of knockouts. The experts began to call him a "knockout king." But chief credit belonged to his astute manager, Leo Flynn, who exercised extreme caution in selecting opponents for his man.

Lacked Kayo Wallop.

Indeed, had Brennan been able to hit with even ordinary power he would have won the championship from Dempsey in 1920. The champion held Brennan cheaply, refused to train and entered the ring in beefy, billowy shape, hoping to end the fight with a punch.

Brennan held the champion off for 12 rounds and then succumbed from his own exhaustion. Time after time he reached Dempsey with full pot shots to the jaw, but his blows lacked the death sting. A Willard, a Firpo, a Gibbons, even a Carpentier would have put the champion away that night.

ETCHEN BROKE 200

NEW YORK, June 24. — George Beattie of Hamilton, Ont., and Dobt. Hewton of Sherbrooke, Quebec, with Frank Hughes of McBridge, S. D., all broke one hundred straight targets in the pre-Olympic trap-shooting competitions which closed in London on Saturday, according to word received here. The performances of the two Canadians and Hughes forced Fred Etchen of Coffeyville, Kansas, to break two hundred clap pigeons straight to win the honors of the meet.

New York Yankees Lost Two to Washington, Taking Second Place.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—The world's champions lost two games to Washington yesterday and dropped to second place. The scores were 5 to 3 and 4 to 2. Mogridge, pitching well in the pinches, defeated the Yankees in the first game, while the Senators knocked out Jones. The second was a twirling duel between Zachary and Hoyt until the latter was taken out for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Shawkey, who followed Hoyt, allowed the winning runs. Scores:

RUSSELL STARS FOR MILLBROOK

But Was Unable to Beat Carl Wood and His Bunch of Curlers.

SCORE WAS 5 TO 0.

Curlers scored a quartette of runs in the first game against Millbrook at Exhibition Park last evening, and won by the score of 5 to 0. Russell for Millbrook and Wood for Curlers gave the fans an exhibition of high-class twirling, Russell's performance standing out prominently in view of the fact that the Millbrook hurler's support was erratic, and save for the good back stopping of Gilmour he had to go it alone. The infielders did not play the batters, in consequence of which their defence was wide open and ground balls went through to the outfield as hits.

Russell fanned eleven Curlers and Wood struck out ten batsmen. The visiting hurler did a "Dainty" in the second when with one down, and the bases loaded, the side was retired without a run. Baker was fanned and Ash went out on a foul fly on which Gilmour made a pretty catch.

The Curlers made sure of the game in the first when five hits, one a double by Barrie, sent as many runners across, with only one out. Russell finished strong by fanning McLeish and A. Baird.

Millbrook could do very little with Carl Wood's offerings, and in the fifth were retired on three pitched balls. Wood threw out Gilmour, Barrie took Williamson's fly, and Ash tossed out Armstronk. The visitors were struck out in order in the seventh.

Russell also showed his skill in the Curlers' sixth when he whipped Fleming, Barrie and Wood, Macdonald alone connecting for a single.

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS RAY CHALK
Catcher, Chicago White Sox

No catcher should get the impression that the main duties of his position are merely to catch and throw the ball.

As a matter of fact, they are simply the mechanics of the game.

The real duties of the catcher are too numerous to mention.

If he is to be successful he must attempt to become proficient in every phase of his work.

Of vital importance to a catcher in a major or minor league is his knowledge of the strength and weakness of the other batters in his organization

Then, even more important is a sane application of this knowlege in actual play.

Dont be a dumbbell.

GIANTS WON FIFTH IN ROW YESTERDAY

Beat Brooklyn 12 to 5—Phillies Took a Double.

BROOKLYN, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—The Giants won their fifth straight game yesterday, beating Brooklyn, 12 to 5. Reuther was chased in the first inning and Henry was hit hard. Ryan held the Robins hitless in three innings after Nehf was taken out. Wheat made four hits. Score:

HOFMAN MAKES UNIQUE RECORD.

The peculiar feature of the game played at Pittsburgh on 24th June, 1910, was that Artie Hofman, first basing for the Cubs, did not have a single putout in eight innings. His total fielding work consisted of one assist and one error. By way of contrast, Ham Hyatt of the Pirates handled 12 chances at first in nine innings. The score:

TAYLOR LEADS GOLFERS WHEN EXPERTS MEET

Veteran Beat the Present Champion by Two and Led Pack at Hoylake.

IDEAL WEATHER

Gene Sarazen Among Leaders at Formby, But Not Outstandingly.

HOYLAKE, England, June 24. — With perfect golf weather prevailing, the annual struggle for the British open golf championship began yesterday with more than 270 amateurs and professionals trying to qualify on the links of Formy and Hoylake.

Both courses have been made so difficult a test even for the best of golfers that few of the competitors kept close to par and not more than three dozen were able to beat bogey.

Leading the pack last night was the old time champion, J. H. Taylor, who shot a sterling 70 at Hoylake. Most of the rest of the field were in the 80's. Arthur Havers, the present champion, had a 72 at Hoylake, and MacDonald Smith of California, a similar score at Formby. Sandwiched in between them and the pace setting Taylor was James Rimmer of Bidston, with a 72, made at Formby. The other players followed along in the 70's and 80's, and even the 90's.

Only seven of the nine invaders from the United States entered in the championship were able to go to the first tees; Johnny Farrell and Clarkson both scratched. Clarkson is suffering from ptomaine poisoning and Farrell from boils.

Excepting for Smith, none of the seven who did start out to attempt to qualify threw any scares into the populace. Smith did exceptionally well, and the others were only pretty good or pretty bad.

Sarazen Got 75.

With a large gallery behind him Sarazen set out to atone for his failure to qualify last year and turned in a card of 75, which ranked among the score leaders over the Formby course. Douglas Grant over the same links had an ordinary 81, which figure must be improved upon today or he will likely find himself on the outside looking in when the real show starts on Thursday.

Gil Nicholls was the only one of four Americans, who, playing the Hoylake course, succeeded in breaking 80. He took a 79. Al. Espinsoa, playing with a spained ankle, was an even 80, and Jim Barnes 81.

Walter Hagen, who was honored by the greatest gallery of the day, was always hopping from the frying pan of hard luck into the fire of faulty shots, and took an 83, ten strokes under the man who went around with him—Samuel Robinson, an amateur from Southport.

Hagen's case however is far from hopeless for if he gets par figures at Formby he should qualify as on the face of the returns yesterday cards of 159 for the 36 holes should squeeze a player into the circle of the 80 elect, as it did in 1923 at Troon.

Of the more than 130 men who played at Hoylake, only 37 broke 80. The scores at Formby averaged very little better.

BASEBALL GAME RIVERSIDE PARK

Crescents and Lakeviews Clash in Another League Game To-morrow Afternoon.

The Lakeviews and Crescents in the Junior City League series play a league game at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon at 6 o'clock. The Crescents have won two and tied one while the Lakeviews have won one and tied one. Both teams will be out there full of pep and a much faster game than the one played last Saturday is expected. Jack McDonough who hurled a good game for the Crescents last Saturday will likely do their mound work to-morrow while Frnak White house will do the twirling for the Lakeviews are in great form now and expect to come through with another win to-morrow night.

GERMANY URGES TO AVOID ALL CLASHES

BERLIN, June 24.—(British United Press). — The German Government to-day notified the entente powers of its readiness to accept military control, as outlined by the Dawes' report.

Germany urges, however, that it be so accomplished that all clashes be avoided.

KINGSTON PONIES HERE SATURDAY

First Half Honours Will Likely Depend Upon the Result of This Clash.

WILL BE A BATTLE.

The last game in the first half of the Central Ontario League series will be staged at Riverside Park on Saturday, when the Kingston Ponies —at present the leaders—will clash with the Petes in what should be a red-hot game, inasmuch as the first half honours will likely hinge on the outcome.

The Petes are anxious to grab off the decision in this fixture to get on even terms with Kingston in the first half series between the two teams.

Kingston on the other hand will likely need the game to stay in the running, and as there is no love lost between the two teams, there will be fireworks all through the piece.

The Petes have been playing good ball, but have been getting few of the breaks in their recent fixtures.

The machine is being tuned up for the second half race, however. Serth is hitting his stride as a pitcher, and if Heckman's sore arm responds to Bonesetter Bannister's treatment, the rest of the gang had better watch their step.

Saturday's game, the last home fixture in the first half, should attract a big crowd.

The Petes play a regular scheduled game in Belleville to-morrow, and are determined to get even for yesterday's setback, which peeved the gang more than any other loss this season.

The team will leave for Belleville at 9 o'clock, the cars leaving the Water Street Bowling Alleys.

TROOPERS LOST BASEBALL GAME

Plenty of Thrills in Last Night's Contest at Dragoon Camp.

Plenty of thrills were experienced by the participants in last night's bare back wrestling contest at the Exhibition Park. Troopers were pulled over the heads of their horses, others when hanging to their steed with feet and arms seized about its neck, and their horse, out of their controll and galloping away from the fracas, were pursued and grasped by the foot, the trousers or by the hair, and pulled from their horse in Wild West style.

Four teams, consisting of five troopers and astride five horses harnessed with but a bridle, engaged in the contest. Although men fell off their horses from all angles, and even under their heels, no one was trampled or injured; but the boys who engaged in the struggle prefer to stand to-day.

In a lively baseball game, the officers defeated B Squadron in fine style yesterday evening, to the tune of 13 to 7. Captain Clare Stuart twirled for the officers and Adjutant Max Sloan back-stopped. Troopers Gower and H. Slattery provided the battery for B Squadron.

C Squadron will play the officers to-night for the championship. Orderly Room Sergeant E. Sheehy and Col. T. D. Johnston handled last night's fixture.

SOCCER NOTES.

G.W.V.A. and Thistles will meet in a league game at the Oval on Thursday evening. Kick-off at 6.15 prompt. Referee J. L. Howarth. All spectators are requested to keep six yards away from the goal keepers or the goal.

The Peck cup attraction will be played at the Oval on Saturday afternoon between the Quaker Oats and the G.W.V.A.. All soccer fans are assured of an excellent game. Kick-off at 3 oclock. Referee Alex. Mitchell.

On Saturday, the Woollens will play in the Trent Valley Town in the Peck Cup, at Campbellford. They intend going down in cars at noon. Referee Jack Clark.

The Thistle F. C. are going to Campbellford on July 26th, to play an exhibition game with the Senior Cup.

All Nomads are requested to turn out for practice on Wednesday evening, at 6.30 prompt. Prospective players made welcome.

CRICKET NEWS

The cricket match between a team from the Examiner, which was to have been played on Monday evening, was postponed until to-morrow (Wednesday) at 6 p.m. sharp at the Exhibition grounds. All De Laval players be there.

LABOR GOVERNMENT MET WITH DEFEAT

LONDON, June 24 (Canadian Press Cable). — The Labour Government sustained another defeat in the House of Commons last night by a substantial vote of 315 against 175 in consequence of the Conservative-Liberal combination in favour of referring the motion dealing with the financial propositions of the Housing Bill to the Committee of the Whole House instead of to a special committee which the Government sought to impose.

The defeat, however, was one of procedure and not of principle.

No political significance, therefore, was attached to it, and the other business of the House proceeded.

DRURY SATISFIED WITH PRESENT ACT

Endorses the O. T. A., in a Speech at Palmerston Last Evening.

PALMERSTON, June 24.—(Canadian Press).—That Ontario Government should come out into open on prohibition question and admit that there was no general demand for a referendum on Ontario Temperance Act, was stated here last night by Hon. E. C. Drury, in an address before a mass meeting of Temperance Workrs in auditorium of public library.

Mr. Drury declared that although enabling bill authorizing taking of a poll had been on statute books for four months there had been no indication that public opinion throughout province favored a referendum.

Government he said, should acknowledge fact and announce that no vote would be taken. He stated further that O.T.A. had proved a satisfactory law and that government control as it existed in British Columbia and Quebec had been failure.

On an unanimous vote meeting endorsed a resolution expressing satisfaction with O.T.A. stating that no referendum was necessary, calling for rigid enforcement of existing temperance laws and complimenting Attorney General Nickle on his enforcement.

Others speakers were Rev. Dr. A. E. Henry and Albert Hassard of Toronto, both of whom spoke at Main meeting and at an overflow in Methodist church. Rev. Dr. S. J. Oaten, Toronto, was in charge. Evening gatherings included a conference by Ontario Prohibition Union for organizing of temperance forces of Bruce, Grey, Perth, Huron and Wellington counties. About 150 delegates from outside points were in attendance.

Sir George Foster and Mr. Drury will address a similar gathering at Peterboro to-night.

MONTREAL POLICE LACK SOMETHING

There Are Some Big Questions That the People Are Asking That Will Have to Be Answered.

MONTREAL, June 24 (Canadian Press). — Declaring that "there is something lacking in the police somewhere" and that there are some big questions the public are asking the police, and these questions will have to be answered, Mr. Justice Wilson this morning refused to endorse the thanks and congratulations which R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, wished to address to the police officers who had been associated with him in the investigation of the murder of Henri Cleroux, who was shot to death in the hold-up of the Bank of Hochelaga collection car on 1st April, and for which Giuseppi Serafini, Louis Morel, Tony Frank, Leo Davis, Mike Valentino, and Frank Gambino were yesterday found guilty and sentenced to death.

His Lordship also refused to accede to Mr. Calder's request to acquit Mary Serafini on all three charges, two of murder and one of receiving, which was pending against her, and instead remanded for trial at the September Assizes.

Adam Parillo was also brought before the Court on the three charges and remanded until September.

Ciro Niegro was formerly charged and acquitted, but was held as a material witness.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL HELD ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the King Edward School was held on Friday afternoon of last week on the school grounds, with an attendance of over seven hundred people.

The principal of the school, R. J. Bolton, acted as convenor of the Sports Committee, the judges being H. H. Langford and Miss Addie Batten.

The president of the Home and School Association, Mrs. J. J. Pollock, was general convenor of arrangements, Mrs. J. O. Fife and Mrs. E. B. Cowan had the ice-cream booth, Mrs. F. Finnie and Mrs. Jas. Girard the lemonade sale, and Mrs. F. White was in charge of refreshments.

Winners in the various events were:

A RECITAL.

Many and enthusiastic expressions of delight and appreciation were heard among those who were present at the recital in Knox Church on Sunday evening. Mr. Peaker's organ numbers were "Evening Song," by Bairstow; "Allegretto," by Wolstenholme; and "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor," by Bach, all rendered in excellent manner.

Dorothy Allan Park assisted with "Nearer My God to Thee," by Lewis Carey, and "Hark! Hark My Soul!" by Ernest Newton. Her clear soprano voice was heard to fine advantage in both solos, her well-known powers of dramatic expression finding an excellent medium in the first. The second song was rendered with delightful smoothness of tone, and was characterized by great fidelity to the thought of the text. Singer and player thrilled and inspired the audience, winning spontaneous admiration and gratitude.

An interesting recital by pupils of Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M., was held in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, with a good attendance of parents and friends. The pupils were assisted by Miss Irene Breckenridge, reader, pupil of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, in readings that were a very enjoyable part of the programme. The pupils acquitted themselves splendidly. They showed the results of very careful and intensive training, with special attention to details of technique. At the conclusion of the programme, which follows, Miss Elcome was presented by her pupils with a handsome bouquet of flowers:

Duet—"The Merry Bobolink" (Krogmann), Muriel Porter and Donald Reid.

Duet—"Primrose Dance" (Krogmann), Jean and Gerald Dawson.

Duet—Waltz (Krogmann), Marie and Christina Pappas.

"A Spanish Castle" (Mana-Zucca) Margaret Gillespie.

"Goblins' Frolic" (Heller), Adrienne Mathews.

"Joy Dance" (Mana-Zucca), Ruth Agnew.

Duet—"The Pony Race," Donald Best and Wilfred Preston.

"Mazurka" (Carl-Heins), Muriel G. Wilson.

"Caprice Etude" (de Loetz), Margaret McCulloch.

Trio—"Le Carillon" (Ringuet), Elizabeth Mulholland, Barbara Ackerman, Frances Jennings.

"Causerie" (Meyer - Helmund), Violet Davidson.

"Thistle Down" (Bath), Isobel Davidson.

"Elfin Dance" (Jensen), Muriel E. Wilson.

Duet—"La Joyeuse," Adelle and Audrey Milburn.

"Valse Bluette" (Schutt), Mary Comstock.

"Revue d'Automne" (Wachs), Arleigh McKone.

"Souvenir de Russie" (Telma), Margaret Johnston.

Poet and Peasant Overture (Suppe), Mildred and Helen Morphet.

A CASE OF SUICIDE IN HANSFORD CASE

Boy Left Note For Mother Stating That He Was Tired of Living.

CALEDON, June 24 (Canadian Press). — Following the submission of a chain of evidence all pointing to suicide, Coroner A. F. Reynar's jury ,inquiring into the death of 17-year-old John Bolton Hansford, who was found unconscious and fatally injured in his father's barn from rifle bullet wounds last Friday morning, yesterday returned a verdict expressing the opinion that he had died "by his own hand."

The verdict followed the reading of a pathetically worded note found the day after the tragedy by the boy's mother in which the boy expressed the opinion that everyone was against him.

"Dear Mother," read the note, "I cannot stand this any longer. They are all against me. Don't worry, as it is for the best. I cannot be happy here, so good-bye, mother. Please don't worry. Please don't let them see this; they will understand."

It was signed "William."

Evidence relating to his past history showed that he had received a good public school education, but had returned to the farm to work on passing his High School entrance examination.

He had always been regarded as a boy of high intelligence, and had been of a retiring nature. Latterly his quietness had become pronounced.

WASHINGTON, June 24. — Exports of wheat from the United States last week totalled 3,264,000 bushels, against 868,000 bushels for the previous week.

Total Canadian grain in transit was 2,633,000 bushels against 710,000 bushels for the prevoius week; United States and Canadian wheat flour in transit, 394,000 barrels, against 157,000 barrels.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETINGS TO-DAY

Afternoon Meeting in Murray Street Church and Another Meeting To-night.

The temperance forces opened their campaign in Peterborough this afternoon. The attendance at the afternoon meeting held in the Murray street Baptist church, at 2 p.m. to-day, was not large, but was indicative of the strong temperance sentiment in Peterborough and district. Representatives from outside points were present.

Large bills, posted in conspicuous places in front of the church, containing charts, explaining the results that prohibition had worked in this and other provinces. "A 74 per cent. Tumble in Toronto," was the heading of one bill, observing that in Toronto, drunkenness had declined three-fourth in nine years, under prohibition.

Another bill with the following headline, "Tried and Failed," explained that as a result of government sale in the province of British Columbia, the consumption of liquor had greatly increased, by the following statements.

"Sale during last six months ending December, 1920, under prohibition $99,376."

"Sale during six months ending September, 1923, under government sale, $5,717,624."

"Or an increase of 5,600 per cent."

The bill concluded by reading:

"Government sale means more liquor sold and more gaol population."

Mr. A. B. Cunningham, president of the local Prohibition Committee, presided at this afternoon's meeting.

"Nothing ought to unite both city and country alike as an issue of this kind," were the opening remarks of the chairman. He pointed out that the greatest opposition to the temperance movement was found in the large cities and that the densely populated centres looked to the farming communities for assistance in the impending danger.

Rev. Mr. Bailey, secretary of the Ontario Temperance Union, was the first speaker called upon.

Mrs. R. G. Smythe, president of the Ontario Women's Prohibition Committee, will address you this afternoon, stated the speaker, and one good stirring speech is enough.

"We may have the hardest campaign that has ever confronted us," remarked Mr. Bailey, "but we never had such good ground for optimism. In the overwhelming defeat of our opponents in 1919, we are apt to forget their strength, but we must remember," he remarked, "that 367,000 people voted to bring the liquor back, and that number comprises a body we cannot ignore."

The speaker opined that the temperance forces are going into the campaign with a better measure to fight for than in 1919 as we have the O. T. A. and supplementary legislation now, which they did not have then and from that standpoint Mr. Bailey stated, "Our platform is stronger."

"The platform on which our opponents are standing and from which we have heard so much talking during the last few years is weak and crumbling from under their feet," remarked the speaker.

"We never had such an opportunity to roll up a good, wholesome majority that would go a long way in settling this Province on the matter of Prohibition."

Mr. Bailey concluded by pointing the two essentials to success in this campaign as in every campaign.

"There is the educational side, he stated, and we must try to get the facts of the case, both the strength of our own case and the weakness of our opponents' before the electors. We must also not ignore the value of careful organisation with the other essential.

"A great deal can be done through the press and from the pulpit, but individual work must be done as never before. Let us inform ourselves as best we can and we shall accomplish much by talking kindly to those interested."

Tokio, Japan, was shaken by an earthquake, Nov. 11, 1855, which destroyed 50,000 homes and killed 6700 people.

AT THE REGENT

BIRTHPLACE OF FILMS SEES A PICTURE MADE.

Distinctive Pictures Uses Town of Fredericksburg, Va., As Location For "The Steadfast Heart."

Though not generally known, the great motion picture industry is what it is to-day chiefly because of the energy, inventiveness and enterprise of a native of the historic town of Fredericksburg, Va. Despite that fact, the present-day population never saw a motion picture made until the arrival in town of the Distinctive Pictures Corporation unit engaged in making a photoplay of Clarence Budington Kelland's famous story, "The Steadfast Heart," which will be the attraction at the Regent Theatre for 3 days.

In 1878, one Edward Muybridge, an Englishman, found that he could put cameras at short intervals along a race track and by placing the resultant photographs on a cylindrical roller which brought them before the eye in quick succession, create the impression of a running horse.

This experiment attracted widespread attention among scientists and inventors who realized that it was the basis of something which would unquestionably revolutionize photography. Immediately they all set to work to perfect Muybridge's idea and make it available for practical use.

A young man named Jenkins invented a camera which almost did the trick. He searched for help, but received no encouragement until he came in touch with Thomas Armat, of Fredericksburg, Va. The two young fellows got together and managed to interest Thomas Edison in their ideas. The great scientist immediately realized in what respects the camera invented by Jenkins was weak and supplied the lack. The result was Mr. Edison has received most of the credit for the invention.

While Edison was making his experiments, which lasted two years, young Jenkins became discouraged and gave the thing up, but Armat, the Fredericksburg boy, stuck to it. The result was that Edison and he turned out the forerunner of the present motion picture machine.

The people of Fredericksburg, Va., have never forgotten this incident in the life of one of their townsmen and consequently upon the arrival of "The Steadfast Heart" company they entertained royally and made the affair an excuse for much celebration.

The film people were met at the station by all the town officials, including the Mayor, to say nothing of the silver cornet band. During the actual making of the picture the local national bank was kept open all day in order to permit the filming of scenes, the state road was blocked off for five hours for the same reason and all the city departments extended every co-operation possible.

Among the famous picture people entertained in Fredericksburg were Mary Alden, Marguerite Courtot, Joseph Striker, Miriam Battista, Joseph Depew, William B. Mack, Hugh Huntley and Sheridan Hall.

AT THE CAPITOL

"The Woman on the Jury," the feature picture that opened at the Capitol Theatre last night, has an atmosphere somewhat similar to "The Acquittal", the big production that was an interesting feature at this theatre some time ago. The major portion of the sequence is told through throw-backs, with the scene centred in the court-room and the jury-room, before a final verdict of "Guilty" or "Not Guilty" is rendered

It is one of those complicated stories that grow out of the complicated relations of modern society, and is made exceptionally interesting by means of an excellent cast and a sustained quality of suspense that runs clear through to the end. Gripping and dramatic situations make "The Women on the Jury" one of those productions where the audience grad ually become more and more involved in the web of the unfolding tale, until the finale leaves them hanging onto their seats, watching for the end, which is just a trifle weak, but gives the happy wind-up that most 'movie' fans demand .A repudiation of Betty Masters by her newly-wedded husband would be more logical, if not quite as satisfactory or sentimental.

With eleven of the jury, all men, ready to vote "Guilty", the woman stands alone, and, not until she makes a terrible sacrifice, is he able to swing their opinion to her view-point The scene in the jury-room has the few light touches that redeem it from weariesome tragedy. The Germanic juryman, with his characteristic Teutonic reasoning, the smooth-faced ,smiling gambler, and the irrepressible glutton, enliven the action and bring some relieving laughs

"The Woman on the Jury" is a highly entertaining picture, one of those psychological dramas that lay bare human souls for audiences to peer into, and demonstrate some of the most excellent acting on the silver sheet. With an immense supporting cast, a sustained quality of interest, and a dramatic story, it is a likeable and interesting feature. The problem of the double standard and the contrasting treatment accorded men and women in similar sit uations is one of the high lights of the tale.

The comedy is a Lloyd Hamilton mix-up, "Good Morning," where the genial, serious-visaged gentleman be comes involved in a bright bazaar, where all sorts of hilarious happenings transpire in rapid succession.

SUCCESSFUL NOVEL NOW ON THE SCREEN.

Over half a million copies of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" have been sold since it was first published. The screen version faithfully follows the novel which lends itself admirably to photoplay purposes. It created quite an impression at the Royal last night.

There are two or three fights in the picture that will make you sit at the end of your seat with excitement. Nat Pendleton, world's amateur champion heavyweight wrestler, takes part in one of them, so you know it's a real battle. The others are just as breath-taking.

Henry Hull who plays the part of the Schoolmaster is ideally suited to the part. Jane Thomas is excellent as Hannah, the "bound-out" girl.

The supporting cast is a large and worthy one. Each player ably portrays a typical Hoosier "character."

The cast includes Mary Foy, Dorothy Allen, Walter Palm, Frank Dane, Arthur Ludwig, Frank Andrews, and Tom Brown.

Praise should be given the producers who have evidently endeavoured to make the picture faithful in every detail to the period. The spelling bee, the office of the country doctor, the trial, all are in keeping with the time. If you want to laugh and to be really thrilled, don't miss this one.

BRITAIN AND BELGIUM WILL AID THE FRENCH

BRUSSELS, June 24. — Premier Herriot of France, who arrived here last evening after his conference with the British Prime Minister at the Chequers Court, has received a formal assurance that Great Britain and Belgium will aid France as they did in 1914, in case another unjustified attack is made upon her. He is quoted as declaring in an interview published by Independence Belg: "In case of premeditated aggression by Germany," he said, "I have the assurance of a defensive pact that would bind France, England and Belgium. I have a most formal promise that now, as in 1914, a German attack would find England standing with France and Belgium."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

That, that has been born with us, and drilled into our hearts and minds from our earliest infancy is not easily eradicated, even though plain reason and statements of the Bible teach the contrary. The majority accept, or rather continue in error. This is not strange, seeing we are all at present in an imperfect condition. A few, who are the exception to the rule, have fought their way through into light and liberty. This means to the few ostracism, but they may be called the wise, and they shall understand. an. 12:10. One of the greatest of all errors is that mankind in general is on probation for life in this age; and another gross error is, that if he fails to make good when he dies he does not really die, but still lives on in endless torment. "Whoso is wise will give heed to these things, and they will consider the loving kindness of Jehovah." — Psalm 107:43.—M. T. Butcher.

O'NEILL—CHARLTON.

LAKEFIELD, June 24. — The marriage took place at eight o'clock this morning, at St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, of Gladys Sarah, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Charlton, of Lakefield, and Lawrence Myles O'Neill, of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill, of Bancroft. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. J. J. Garvey, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride was charmingly attired in white satin, with veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid, a sister of the bride, Miss Margaret Charlton, wore poudre blue brocaded silk, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of columbia roses. A brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Michael O'Neill, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, on Ermitinger street. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill leaving later for a honeymoon, to be spent in Niagara Falls and other western points. The bride travelled in a suit of navy, with blouse of Egyptian crepe and blue hat.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Picard, of Montreal, Miss Olive Northcott of Fraserville and Mr. Herbert Moloney of Rochester, N.Y.

The bride was a popular member of the community. She occupied a position on the teaching staff of the Public school and was also secretary of the local branch of the Catholic Women's League.

FRANCE SAFE AGAINST SECOND GERMAN ATTACK

BRUSSELS, June 24th — (British United Press).—France is even now safe against another attack by Germany, Premier Herriot believes. An interview with the French leader, published in the newspaper Independent Belge, to-day, quotes him as saying:

"In case of another premediated attack by Germany, I am now sure of a defensive pact between France, England and Belgium.

"Premier MacDonald promised me that to-day the same as in 1914, a German attack would find England again on the side of France and Belgium.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUES AT END OF NEXT WEEK

OTTAWA, June 24. — The possibility of proroguing Parliament at the end of next week is understood to have been discussed at the caucus of Conservative Senators and members of Parliament this morning.

The sessional programme was under consideration and in this connection the date of the end of the session came up.

The opinion continues to grow in favor of bringing the proceedings to a close by the date mentioned.

It is believed however that this would mean the dropping of several important pieces of legislation, including redistribution and the new Civil Service Superannuation Bill.

IMMIGRANTS FACE DEATH ON VOYAGE

Only Five Short Days Ago Men, Women and Children, 500 in Number, Were Face to Face With Death.

QUEBEC, June 24 (Canadian Press). — With marks of mental strain written upon their faces, over 500 men, women and children, many of the latter only infonts in arms, were to-day congregated in the Immigration Building here, and talked in low voices of the terrible experience through which they went just five short days ago, when they were face to face with death on board the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, after she had collided off Cape Race with the Italian freighter Clara Camus during a dense fog.

The immigrants disembarked here this morning from St. John's, N.F., having been brought by the Canadian Pacific liner Montreal, together with 191 cabin passengers, the latter to be disembarked at Montreal.

COMMUNIST PARTIES TO OPPOSE EXPERTS PLAN

PARIS, June 24 (British United Press). — Representatives of the French and German Communist Parties have met at Cologne and decided to unite to fight the experts' plan, according to l'Humanite, the French Communist organ, today.

The newspaper asserts, the meeting declared the plan equivalent to "a world trust for the purpose of enslaving labour."

The Communists demanded nationalisation of railroads, banks, and industries.

ENTHUSIASM AT MEET IN CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE

St. Paul's Church Crowded to Capacity to Hear the Prominent Speakers.

DENOUNCE PLEBISCITE

Sir George Foster Declares Lesson of Alcoholic Inefficiency Learned in War.

The temperance forces of the community filled Saint Paul's Presbyterian Church to capacity last night to hear the Honourable E. C. Drury and Senator, the Honorable Sir George E. Foster. It was the last of a series of meetings instituted by the Ontario Prohibition Union and "It was a gratifying climax," stated Rev. Mr. Bailey, secretary of the Union.

"You will pardon me if I draw on personal observation and experience during the course of my address," began Sir George Foster. "But after all a man's observations and experience should receive consideration. I am here in health and strength, after somewhat of a long life, and my body has never received the ministrations of alcoholic liquor, yet my physique is still good, and my mind is not bad." Continuing, he stated that in his sixty years of active life he had come out fairly well, but that in his personal observation he had seen many fall by the wayside through drink.

"The world in war stood up straight, the speaker declared That war had to be won. It could only be won by efficency and every country engaged in the struggle put the shackles on the liquor traffic. If efficiency is needed in times of war, is it not needed in these trying times of readjustment? Efficiency is demoralized by drink, and the business men of Great Britain cannot expect to compete with a sober America."

The speaker declared that in the last 60 years, no live interest in this nation had been helped by the liquor traffic, whether intellectual or otherwise, but thousands have been robbed of their best and brightest, through its evil.

Sir George asked if there was any good reason, why the people should be called upon to register a protest against the Ontario Temperance Act. "Some say the act is not enforceable," he observed, "but let us put the same test to any other act. We have a law against hold-ups, a law against theft, a law against robbery, yet do you ever pick up a newspaper without seeing numerous reports of these crimes, and to be consistent with the argument advanced by some, you have got to say, 'Why keep such laws on the statute books; they are not being enforced and are bringing all other laws into disrepute. Possibly a modernest would advocate putting such laws under Government control."

Explained Development

Sir George explained the development of temperance legislation in the last 60 years and it was a revelation to the younger generation to hear a practical reminiscence of the prohibitory features of the Scott act and Ontario under the license system and the conditions that caused the passing of the act now in force. It was shown that prohibition was the basis of the license system and that at one time in Ontario there were just 2,000 licenses issued in the province. Each measure it was shown was more prohibitive than its predecessor.

"We have toiled up to the temperance act after a period of sixty years," declared Sir George, "extracting the stings of alcoholic drink along these 60 years of travel, and the resistless power of common sense has wrought into people's minds that prohibition is the only method of handling the liquor traffic."

The speaker pointed out that in 1922 after the Ontario Temperance Act had been in force for 6 years the Ontario License Board issued a questionnaire, comprising six questions in order to ascertain an expression of opinion as to the advisability of the Act. This questionnaire was sent to the manufacturers, as representatives of the business interest, to

TORNADO HITS BELFAST HARD

Worst Storm Ever Witnessed In Belfast, Lasted For Five Minutes.

HOUSES WRECKED.

BELFAST, June 25.—(Canadian Press).—A terrific tornado unprecedented in history of Belfast, struck the city yesterday evening, resulting in extensive damage. Many buildings were wrecked and number of people injured.

The tornado swept over the heart of the city with great intensity. The roofs were torn from houses like paper, slate shingles flying in all directions hundreds of people had to cling to lamp posts and railings for safety.

Numerous houses were wrecked and other heavily damaged. Enormous damage was caused to telephone and telegraph wires. Sides of railway stores here were smashed in by violence of storm. Tornado lasted five minutes.

RUSSELL MAUGHANS PLIGHT COST $102

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 25.—(United Press.)—Lieut. Russell Maughan's epoch-making, dawn-to-dusk flight from New York to San Francisco cost just $102 for gas and oil, he revealed to-day, after checking up his log book.

Maughan will fly back to Mitchell field, Minneola, N.Y., late this week, but will not attempt a west to east record.

The log book showed an actual flying time of 18 hours and 20 minutes, the fastest trip ever made between the two cities.

Maughan has promised to describe his flight over the radio some time before leaving Crissy field.

ROME DEMANDS PURE THEATRE

"Educate Moral Sense," Says a Representative of the Holy See.

STOP IMMORALITY.

NEW YORK, June 25.—A proposed boycott by Catholics of immoral plays is the high point of a remarkable Catholic church document obtained by the dramatic critic of an American paper and received by cable from him.

In this document it is stated to be the clear duty of Catholics to absent themselves from immoral plays. The need for the spiritual improvement of the drama is dwelt upon.

Visiting Rome the critic sought the views of Pope Pius XI. on the modern theatre. He was asked by Father Burke, vice-rector of the American College in Rome, to put his questions in writing. These questions were answered by the Central Organization of Catholic Italian Action. This is an organization approved by the Pope, which in the past has reflected opinions of the Holy See.

Of Immense Impoft.

The answers are so complete that it is not necessary to print the questions. The answers from the church, which will be of extreme importance to the entire theatre field of the country and of extreme interest to all theatre-goers,, follow:

1—"In Rome the Central Secretariat for Morals, a department under the Central Committee of Catholic Action, has begun to deal with this very grave problem, but it has so far limited its activities to inquiries for the detection of immoral performances and to studies for their ultimate prevention, since, unfortunately, immorality, especially on the stage, is everywhere spreading in a remarkable and distressing way.

2—"In order to purify the drama we should educate the moral sense of the public, denounce and boycott immoral performances and encourage such authors as are morally safe.

Both Are Concerned.

3—"It is right and necessary that both Church and State should concern themselves with this matter. The Church has never, in point of fact, ceased from fighting immorality under whatever garb it presented itself, but has done so both in the ordinary course of her teaching and also by utterances (documents) of special solemnity. Unfortunately, civil power has not always fulfilled, nor does it now always fulfill, its duty in this respect, partly because the law is itself incomplete,, and partly because observance of even such laws and ordinances as have been enacted are not enforced.

4—"Groups of leagues of fathers of families, all of them serious and experienced, might well contribute to reawaken the moral sense where it has, unfortunately, fallen very low and is even incapable of detecting immorality in works and performances obviously offensive, and it would not be a bad thing—indeed, it would be useful—that such groups and leagues should be called upon to give their opinions.

Duty is Clear.

5—"The duty of Catholics to absent themselves from the theatre when immoral plays are performed is clear, although it is unfortunately not felt or observed by all, and this non-observance of it either scandalizes the weaker brethren or draws them to patronize the same

SOME STRIKERS WOULD BE GLAD TO HAVE JOBS

Report Says Montrealers Ask to Return Without Conditions.

BITTERNESS FELT

Will Take Minimum Salary, Losing Their Seniority Rights.

MONTREAL, June 25. — The postal strike in Montreal is over.

Executives of the letter carriers' association and the postal clerks' association in Montreal, waited upon Postmaster V. Gaudet and asked him to take the men back unconditionally.

Mr. Gaudet replied that he would consider the case of each man individually upon his merits, having regard to his circumstances, ability and financial standing.

The effect of the request is that the strikers are willing to go back at $85 a month, losing their seniority, but it is not certain that they will be taken back even on this newly arranged basis, the postmaster stating officially that he will have to consider each case separately. He could not guarantee the men their positions en bloc, he stated.

The executives stated that the men were willing to trust to the justice and generosity of the department to deal fairly with them.

Much bitterness against general officers is felt by the Montreal strikers who express the opinion that they have been deceived. Local officers point out that the offer made by the government to the postal employees last Friday was refused by the general officers, and the men only learned of it through the newspapers —the news officially coming through to them late that night.

Asked whether the appointment of the new men taken on was permanent, or if they would be dispensed with when returned strikers were taken back, the postmaster stated he could make no pronouncement until he had received instructions from Ottawa on the matter.

Frank Shea, secretary of the local strike committee, in a statement last night, declared that the report from Montreal to the effect that the striking employees there had applied to Postmaster Victor Gaudet for unconditional reinstatement, was absolutely false, according to information at headquarters. Meanwhile the post office officials are making every effort to bring about an efficient service.

The mail is now being sorted in Ottawa for distribution in Toronto and an effort will be made to-day to deliver the first class matter in certain sections of the city. The situation locally is reported as improving slowly.

Pathetic scenes were witnessed at the main post office here, when strikers with families of six, seven and eight children, sons who are sole supporters of aged parents, some with tears, begged Postmaster Gaudet to take them back into service. Mr. Gaudet said he had received letters so poignant, that after the first two or three lines, he could not bear to read to the end.

Of 112 who yesterday sought reinstatement unconditionally, one of the saddest was that of a father of seven children. He told how his wife was in delicate health and when the news of the strike reached her she fell senseless on the floor and is now at death's door. The man was immediately taken on.

Another striker, a young man, knelt at Mr. Gaudet's feet and clung to his knees begging to be reinstated. He said he was the sole support of his aged mother widow and he had had nothing to eat for four days. At the end of the interview he broke down and passed into a condition of nervous hysteria bordering on convulsions.

At strike headquarters, action of a group who waited on Postmaster Gaudet yesterday is strongly repudiated. Offers of financial assistance had been made and accepted from A. Gayner, president of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers of the United States. Offer was made by letter received at strike headquarters, it was stated.

JAMES BARRIE HERTZOG ACCEPTED PREMIERSHIP

PRETORIA South Africa, June 24 (Canadian Press). — General James Barrie Hertzog, leader of the victorious parties in the recent elections, to-day accepted the Premiership of South Africa, succeeding Gen. Jan Christian Smuts.

General Hertzog has begun the formation of a Cabinet.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY.

KEENE, June 25. — The funeral of the late Miss Ellen Nelson, who died on Sunday morning, was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hope, on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

The funeral was a large one, showing the esteem in which she was held in the community.

Rev. A. McLauchlin conducted the services, following which the remains were interred in Keene Cemetery.

PRESBYTERY IN TORONTO DROPS PARKER DISPUTE

Remarks of Scotch Divine Were Objected to—Debate Ended.

STRONG DISLIKE

Impressions Gathered Were Regrettable, But Incident Was Closed.

TORONTO, June 25.—By a vote of 64 to 20 the Toronto Presbytery in its regular meeting at St. James Square Presbyterian Church yesterday, adopted a report recommending that the Presbytery proceed no further in the matter of Dr. Pidgeon's letter in regard to statements alleged to have been made by Rev. Stuart Parker in a sermon at the Queen Street Presbyterian Church. The committee expressed its regret "that Mr. Parker, in the public utterances referred to, should have left the undoubted impression that the composition of Presbytery and the administration of its methods of electing commissions to the General Assembly have been influenced in an unworthy manner in the interests of any party or movement."

The report pointed out that the committee had before it the communication from Dr. Pidgeon, and also a letter of Mr. Parker's stating his inability to be present, at the Presbytery's request, at its meeting on May 27, in which Mr. Parker says:

"I have at no time cast any reflections on the conduct of the Presbytery or of the individual members comprising it.

"I have criticized the composition of the Presbytery; but that, as you will readily see, is a different matter, and one upon, which a variety of opinion must inevitably and always prevail."

On presenting his report, Dr. Wallace expressed regret that he was appointed to the committee. He had not shirked the duty, however, and was now prepared to report in the name of Dr. Duncan.

DOG DENIED BURIAL IN WOMAN'S CASKET

Mrs. Alms's Will Directed That Poodle Should Share Obsequies.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Because of protests by organizations which will hold services at the funeral of Mrs. Mary S. Alms, the provision of her will calling for the burial of her pet poodle, Patty, in her coffin, will not be carried out, it was announced. Henry Boan, Passaic, in whose house Mrs. Alms lived and who had promised to poison the dog, said that the organizations felt that to carry out Mrs. Alm's wishes would detract from the dignity of the funeral services.

Mrs. Alms lived for many years in Rutherford. There she was an officer of the Pythian Sisters and a member of the Rutherford Council of Sons and Daughters of Liberty. She found Patty on the streets seven years ago. She died in Ferndale, N.Y., last Thursday.

HAMILTON MAN FELL AND BROKE HIS NECK

HAMILTON, June 25 (Canadian Press). — Word was received here yesterday of the death in Buffalo of Herbert W. Skerrett, former well-known resident of Hamilton.

He fell down stairs, it was stated, and broke his neck.

TO KNUCKLE DOWN.

BERLIN, June 25.—The German government yesterday notified the entente powers of its readiness to accept military control, as outlined by the Dawes report.

Germany urges, however, that it be so accomplished that all clashes be avoided.

MANY INJURED.

NEW YORK, June 25.— Many persons were reported injured yesterday afternoon by an explosion of undetermined origin on board the British freighter, Egremont Castle, at her dock in Brooklyn. Two alarms of fire were sounded and half a dozen ambulances summoned.

BLACK GLOVES.

Very long black kid gloves, reaching nearly to the shoulder, are worn in Paris with sleeveless frocks. They are featured only by a few of the houses, most women preferring to follow the convenient fad of going sleeveless.

L.O.L. No. 50.

THIS IS NO PLACE FOR A "PROHI."

G. K. Chesterton, internationall known writer, is shown receiving the degree of "Doctor of Distillery" at an English University. He has just been crowned with the wreath of Bacchus—a bit of comedy at the end of the commencement exercises at which Chesterton was speaker.

CURLING TONGS DEADLY MENACE

Declares Toronto Engineer —Lipsticks Are Just as Bad Say Others.

DANGEROUS BEAUTY.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Even a permanent waving machine or electric curling iron is deadly!

But, for that matter, hair dye and skeletons go well together and match pretty well with corsets and tonsils, cancer germs from chlorinated water and paraphenylendiamin in powder puffs, lead poisoning in lipsticks and even the varnish on baby's wooden soldiers. Human beings haven't much of a chance.

That was what members of the American Medical Association, who met in Chicago, told the wandering thousands who stood in awe-stricken wonder before exhibits demonstrating the fatality of modern living.

Poison from lead, carbolic acid, bichloride of mercury, arsenic, wood alcohol, or a nice little poison called paraphenylendiamin—all lurk in any cosmetic from freckle cream to henna dyes. Professor H. N. Cole of Western Reserve University told the doctors and anyone else who would listen. As a result the doctors adopted a resolution favoring a "pure rouge act."

Curlers Deadly.

For the lady who becomes entangled in an electrical hair-curling iron that becomes short circuited, Wills MacLachlan, of the General Electric Company, of Toronto, Canada, offered the suggestion that, since the electric shock results in paralysis of the lungs, the prone method of artificial respiration be employed in such cases. The first things, MacLachlan went on to say, is to untangle the victim from the instrument. This can be effectively accomplished by using some non-conductive article like dry wood, or even newspaper, to push the person away. Next place the victim, face down, with one of her arms under her face, straddle her body, place both hands on the small of her back, fingers outward. Press in and out rhythmically. Sing some song like "Yes, We Have No Bananas," to keep in perfect cadence—or, it too excited to sing, count slowly. Continue for four hours if necessary. Don't stop under any consideration, even while the patient is being carried into an ambulance.

Tonsils. Troublesome.

Tonsils, another physician declared, are responsible for mouth-breathing, sore throat, head colds, diphtheria, ear trouble, malnutrition and heart disease. While Dr. Albert D. Kaiser, of Rochester, N. Y., however, furnished convincing proof that every child's tonsils should be removed, Dr. W. W. Watkins, of Phoenix, Arizona, presented equally convincing proof that the tonsils should stay with us.

"The chlorinated water used in the larger cities," said Dr. William Held, of Chicago, in his lecture on the "Study and Cure of Cancer," "means incessant chemical irritation of the alimentary tract, with its secretion perverting consequences. Cancer often results."

Baby often chews enough varnish off his wooden soldiers to start him well on the way to lead poisoning, one authority declared. But, for that matter, baby often gets enough paint off the wooden part of his teething toy to start that fatal disease.

Powder contains a poisonous substance which clogs the pores, authorities on cosmetics declared. Most of the hair dye, as well as the rouge and other cosmetics, contains this cheap dye, full of a poison called paraphenylendiamin. That is why when some people dye their hair black it comes out green, while others try to be blondes, and they find themselves with pink hair. The physicians declare they will press the resolution demanding pure rouge until it is incorporated in the Pure Foods Act.

RE-ORGANIZATION IN ROME CABINET IS NOW EXPECTED

Fascisti Cabinet Must Remain in Power, Despite the Political Uproar.

ROME, June 25.—(United Press). — Prospects of a re-organization of the Mussolini Cabinet were thought imminent to-day, following the Premier's address in the Senate yesterday, in which he declared that the Fascisti Cabinet must remain in power, despite the political uproar caused by the assassination of the Serralist Deputy Matteotti. There were even reports to-day that the opposition parties may be allowed several portfolios in the re-organized Cabinet, although leading Fascists considered this unlikely as Mussolini always has demanded a strong Government of the majority, unhampered by linking it with the opposition elements. Hence the best opinion seems to be that Mussolini will merely take in the new Ministers and sub-secretaries from his own ranks, probably retaining Admiral Thaon Di Revel in the post of Marine and Minister Di Giorgio, owing to the technical nature of their portfolios.

THE WEST HAS KU-KLUX KLAN

Group of Radicals Called the Community League, Threaten the Settlers.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 25 (Canadian Press). — Defying constituted authority, a group of Radicals or Communists in an attempt to completely dominate the country near Valhall, in the Grande Prairie district, have instituted threats of violence against settlers of Anglo-Saxon birth, according to a farmer of that neighbourhood, who arrived here yesterday.

"In the Grande Prairie country we now have something which closely resembles the Ku Klux Klan, and it is an organisation which practically defies constitutional authority," he said.

According to this information, the members of the party, which is known as the Lakeview Community League, have openly stated that they are a law unto themselves, and that their orders and instructions to the rest of the settlement are going to be enforced to their ideals of government.

The society is now in the hands of a group of foreigners, and efforts have been made to run out of the settlement only three families of Anglo-Saxon origin.

The farmer asserts that the secretary of the League admits threats, and is to appear in the Court charged with intimidation, the preliminary trial being set for early in September.

HUGE BLACK BEAR EXCITES CASTLETON

CASTLETON, Ont., June 25. — (Canadian Press).—Considerable excitement was caused at Castleton on Monday afternoon when a huge black bear made its appearance in the village just west of Purdy's Pond. It was first noticed by Mr. George Blakely, who resides near the pond. With a number of others he endeavored to shoot it. Although the bear was seen several times, it has so far escaped.

BABY SNATCHED FROM HER ARMS AT END FLIGHT

American Heiress Barricaded Hotel Room, But Ram Crashed Door.

CHASED BY PLANES

Spectacular Struggle Between Count Piccio and His American Wife.

ROME, June 25.—Pursued by a squadron of hydroplanes, captured on the high seas, stormed in a barricaded hotel room, her child wrenched from her arms.

Those are the high lights in the most recent adventure of the former Loranda Bachelder, whose sensational efforts to regain custody of her little daughter were foiled by equally spectacular tactics of her husband, General Pier Ruggero Piccio, Italian ace of aces.

Details of the thriller were aired for the first time when the American heiress was brought back to Rome. Though temporarily the loser in her gamble of mother love, she is still hopefully defiant.

To Fight to Last.

Between intermittent seizures of hysterics, she declared she would carry her fight for the child to the last extreme of Italian law. She added:

"And I'll succeed, too. My baby is under seven years of age. The Italian courts always award children of tender age to the mother in event of a separation. It is customary. They cannot deny me my own child."

The Countess, twenty-eight and beautiful, appeared much the worse for her hazardous experience. Her eyes were red, as with almost continuous weeping. Her strength seemed sagged, as a result of the daring journey in which she sought to take the child across the Mediterranean to French Corsica in a small motorboat.

But her perilous passage of the sea was only an entree to the battle she gave for her child upon capture, the story shows.

After the failure of the General and his hydroplane squadron in pursuit of the fugitive boat, and its final seizure by other boats from Cagliari, Sardini, the Countess and her child were taken to the island port of Terra Nova.

General Piccio was wirelessed and he flew over from the mainland.

He found the Countess barricaded with her child in a hotel room, to which her captors had permitted her to retire. She declined to comply with his command to open the door, crying:

"Never, beast, I hate you."

General Piccio flung his body against the barricade, but without avail. He summoned police. Half a dozen flung themselves against the stout door without results, then a heavy pole was used as a battering ram. The door gave way with a crash. A dozen men were projected into the room.

The Countess, cowering in a far corner, her arms tightly clasping her little daughter, glared at them with blazing eyes.

Frightened almost out of her wits, the little girl clung to her mother. There was a tug of war, with a bit of frail humanity as the rope.

But the mother, apparently fearing the child might be injured, released her hold and the General backed out of the room, bearing the screaming baby, victoriously in his arms.

PETERBORO BOY HEARD IN COURT

Kingston is Getting Tired of Looking After Deserted Boys From Other Towns.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 25.—(Canadian Press).—To-day in the juvenile Court before Magistrate Farrell, the case of a fourteen year old boy, who had been committed to the custody of the local Childrens' Aid Society as a deserted child, was heard. The boy was made chargeable to the municipality of the city of Peterboro, where his father resides.

In this connection it may be pointed out that in two other cases Inspector Black has had the responsibility of maintenance shifted from the Kingston taxpayer. In the one case the city has received $176 from the city of Belleville plus 75c per day, till the child has reached sixteen. In the second case the municipality of Renfrew has been made debtor to the city of Kingston to the extent of $600 for children belonging to that municipality who have been deserted in this city.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Seymour West Women's Institute Held a Meeting Last Week.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 24—The monthly meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. James Watters.

The president presided. The opening song, "Maple Leaf," was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. After the reading and signing of the minutes new business was brought up.

Moved by Mrs. Robt. McCullogh and seconded by Mrs. David Stillman that Kathleen Longmuir and Mrs. Cecil McCullough remain on the sick committee for July. Carried After some discussion it was decided that the programme for the District Annual meeting to be held at Wooler on June 25th left in the hands of the District Represnetatives.

On Motion of Mrs. Howard Clarke and Mrs. Martin McArthur, the following committees were appointed on motion of Mrs. West and Mrs. Fairman.

Lunch — Mrs. Reginald McCullogh, Mrs. Thos. Dunham and Mrs. David Stillman.

Booth—Mrs. Marshall Longmuir, Mrs. Roy Fleming, Miss Josephine McConnell, Mrs. Geo. Van Volkenburg, Miss Jessie Brown and Mrs. Douglas Rutherford.

Music Committee—Mrs. Geo. Dunham, Mrs. Howard Clarke, Mrs. David Stillman and Miss May McArthur.

Moved and seconded by Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. Waddell, that the decorating committee be the young girls of the Institute.—Carried.

On motion of Mrs. Reginald McCullogh and Mrs. Martin McArthur, the secretary, was asked to pay for the Institute programmes.

A short programme followed: — Reading "The House-wife's Prayer," by Miss Josephine McConnell. Reading, "Margaret Canniff," Mrs. Reginald McCullogh. Reading, "The United Empire Loyalists," Miss Jessie Anderson.

Lunch was served after the programme. There was a good attendanc twenty eight being present.

Christ Church Party

The Rectory grounds were brightly lighted and nicely decorated for the Garden party on Thursday night. The weather though cloudy was fine and a large crowd gathered. Every booth was busy and the side show was up to its usual standard.

The Northumberland Regiment Band furnished lots of good music and everyone seemed to enjoy the evening from beginning to end.

The ice cream booth was in charge of Mrs. Chas. Benor, Mrs. Ernest Cassan and Miss M. Muffitt, assisted by Grant Morrison.

Mrs. S. Neale, Mrs. F. Bonnycastle and Miss L. Smith looked after the "touch and take" table.

Mrs. Sergeant and her Sunday School Class of young ladies had a "mystery table" and were kept busy selling the mysterious articles.

The soft drinks were in charge of Mrs. Gledhill, Mrs. A. Tripp and Mrs. Wilsher and Mrs. Symons.

A side place for football shots was managed by Messrs. C. Smith, E. Armstrong, F. Gay and Cleverley.

Another side place called the "hat shy" was in charge of Messrs. Cubitt and Ellis.

The flower booth had four ladies in charge Miss Bedford, Mrs. F. Lang, Mrs. Pearce and Miss E. Bedford, Mrs. F. Linton, Misses A. and J. Martin sold the candies for those having "a sweet tooth."

The children, especially, enjoyed the fish pond, and it kept the ladies in charge, busy. They were Mrs. N. Dickson, Mrs. J. Linton, Mrs. C. Booker, Miss Helen Tait and Miss Flossie McComb.

The "hot dogs" disappeared very rapidly and were made palatable by Mrs. Lloyd Mr. Chas. Bonnycastle, Mrs. Lawford, Miss Rita Singer, and Mrs. Ross McComb.

Miss Lillian Benor and Miss Laura Anderson sold balloons.

The Lunch table was well looked after by Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mrs. A. Denmark, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Hendricks and Mrs. Caddy. Many went to the tables and enjoyed the sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee.

Mr. A. J. Jenkins and Mr. Burling attended the gates.

The side show enclosed by curtains and filled with chairs gave several concerts with a varied programme of Irish songs, Spanish dances, duetts and sleight of hand. Those taking part in these entertainments were Miss G. Maynard, pianist, Mrs. L. Gibson, Miss Elsie Southern, Mr. Gledhill, Mr. I. A. Humphries and Staunton Archer.

The garden party was a success financially but all the returns had not come in to tell the exact amount. Some people from Trenton and Belleville attended the garden party.

A Lawn Social.

Several people from Campbellford attended the lawn social under the auspices of the Methodist Church, held on the grounds of Dr. and Mrs. Hess, on Friday night. The following were among those who were present: Messrs. T. Craighead, S. A. Maguire, B. Blake, P. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Johnston, Mrs. C. W. Turner, Misses C. Clarke, M. M. Hoover, S. Kerr and J. Johnston. All report a good time. Mr. S. A. Maguire assisted in the program giving two humorous readings.

Mr. Thos. H. Chaplin, principal of Hastings Public School, returned with Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnston on Friday night from the Garden Party to spend the week-end with his mother, on Front street.

Mrs. C .W. Turner, Queen street, left on Saturday for Peterborough where she will visit friends for a week or so.

ENTHUSIASM

the school inspectors of the province, as representatives of the educational interests and to the preachers as representatives of the moral interests.

"The answers of these technical, practical and experienced men, having their several interests in observance were overwhelmingly in favor of the Ontario Temperance Act, stated Sir George, "and isn't such testimony worth a ton as against those forthy foamings we hear about the denying of rights, the unenforceability of the Act and similar utterances. It is what I call hard headed evidence, reliable common sense," he declared, "which is worth a thousand conjectures."

"Do you hand the railway engineer before you enter the train," asked the speaker," a quart of liquor? Of course not and if there is one enemy to liquor more earnest in its negatives, it is the Railway Brotherhood of the North American Continent."

Sir George explained that 50 years ago, the business interests considered liquor necessary to business prosperity, "but that condition has reversed and to-day it is well known that liquor is devastating and demoralizing to business efficiency, which was well demonstrated by the stand taken by the warring nations, in that regard.

In concluding Sir George opined that Canada is looking forward to a great nation, in a great empire. "Let us guard its springs and its fountains; let us keep away from its youth the debasing and degrading influence of alcohol," he advised.

"Don't," he declared, "for your own sake and for the sake of Canada and its future and perhaps for the sake of an Empire greater than Canada, release the hold you have gotten. "Don't sacrifice your position; don't go down in history but as defenders of the strong position we have gained."

Hon. E. C. Drury

Honorable E. C. Drury was the first speaker of the evening and Sir George when speaking of liquor control spoke of the splendid manner in which Honorable Mr. Drury had explained its effect on the provinces, which had adopted that system and stated that he was in accord with the previous speaker on every point he covered.

"I would rather return to the license system at its worst than to have Ontario involved in what is called Government control," stated Mr. Drury He explained that what is termed government control is nothing but unrestricted Government sale.

"The danger lies in the fact that people, not knowing the ineffectiveness of any system of government control in other provinces are apt to be deceived to support the issue," he observed. The speaker was emphatic in stating that if Ontario adopts Government control, it means that the province goes back on all restrictive legislation in the matter of the consumption of alcoholic drink.

It was stated that Government control in British Columbia and Quebec meant that a person could only buy one quart of liquor at a time, but that did not prevent him from returning in a minute or two to buy another quart, and so on, ad infinitum. "It was Government sale and not Government control," said Mr. Drury, "and it is our duty to bring the light into the people, for Government control is a demon in disguise."

The speaker pointed out that once a Government sold liquor it respected the trade and naturally, creating a source of revenue, any Government would have a tendency to hesitate to abolish this source of revenue, thus created.

"Temperance is the most serious public question confronting us today," declared Mr. Drury. "In my forty years of public experience, I have noticed that the temperance movement has always advanced along well-defined channels and has always been subjected to criticism from the same opposition.

"Fanaticism," said the speaker, "is of sudden growth, and there is no case in history where it lived through generations,' 'pointing out that mere whims and many sudden expostulations had formed the basis of the opposition's platform.

Mr. Drury explained how the temperance issue had been fought with equal zeal by our forefathers, and stated that "it is a well thought out and considered objective which has remained and been perfected through generations. It is not of sudden thought," he declared, "but it's a settled thought.

Never Respected.

"The excessive use of liquor has never been respected in this country, and the Anglo-Saxon Americans have led the way in the works out forefathers early recognised," he stated.

It was also shown that public opinion had never associated women with the liquor traffic on this continent.

Mr. Drury, outlining temperance legislation for 30 years back, pointed out that the Scott Act and the license system had been incredited in the same manner in which some now discredit the Ontario Temperance Act. The argument that the law could not be enforced and brought all others laws into disrepute was an old story, it was stated.

Following the license system, Mr. Drury stated, two plebiscites were submitted to the people and accepted by large majorities. These plebiscites unfortunately, were not acted upon, but showed that the contention of Temperance Act was forced on the Province by giving the women the vote, is wrong, he observed.

Credits Hearst.

It was shown that as a result of the petitions received by the Government at the beginning of the war the Ontario Temperance Act was passed and "I would like to give all credit to Mr. Hearst for putting it on the statute books," remarked the speaker. In 1919 public opinion, after a three-year trial of the Act, expressed itself in favour of it by a 2 to 1 vote. "That vote was the advanced expression of two generations of restrictive measures, and I think it should have been final." He further stated that in 1922, when the people were asked if they wanted inter-provincial trade, they again said "No."

"I don't know whether a vote will be taken again I hope it will not, and the Premier of this Province would be well advisgd not to ask a vote," Mr. Drury opined. It was shown that the public have always favoured alcoholic restriction, and each vote indicated that the people wished to go further in its restriction.

A disappointing feature of last night's programme was the fact that Albert E. Greenlaw, the Detroit baritone, was unable to sing, although present. Mr. Greenlaw was suffering from a severe cold, and attempting his first selection, "In the Garden," by Lane, he got as far as "In the Garden—" and his voice failing him he smiled and retired to his seat.

The coloured singer has a strong, magnetic voice, and has thrilled Peterborough audiences on more than one occasion.

The meeting was lively and the crowd expressed its enthusiasm by frequently applauding the speakers.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. John Edgar, who presided, read a resolution to the gathering which approved of the Ontario Temperance Act as it now stood.

The meeting expressed its unanimous approval by a standing vote, and it was announced that the resolution would be forwarded to Premier G. Howard Ferguson.

MAIL WAS LATE

Bailieboro Farmers Fortunate in Only Having to Wait Two Hours.

BAILIEBORO, June 25.—Messrs. Ross Moncrief, W. A. Wood and George Bebee motored to Toronto on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell and daughter, and Mr. Corn and son of Toronto are spending a few week's vacation at Rice Lake.

Roy Rutherford is home from the Peterboro Normal School for his vacation.

Owing to the strike among the postal employees, last week, the local mail-men had a great amount of mail to distribute on Saturday and Monday. Consequently this left the mail that comes from Millbrook later than usual, and the farmers were about two hours later than usual receiving their mail.

PERFUME

Lilac has become the favorite American perfume, outselling all others. Jasmine is second in popularity among women, delicate violet third.

Musks and other violent perfumes have lost favor. They were invented originally to conceal the wearer's need of a bath, back in the days before running water and modern plumbing.

The greatest advance toward real civilization in the last few generations has been in bodily cleanliness.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Closing Meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society—Prizes For Pupils.

MILLBROOK, June 25.—About sixty members and visitors in connection with the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church were conveyed in cars to the home of Mrs. W. Fred. Fallis, Fallis line, this week for the closing meeting until September. The President, Miss M. Needham, occupied the chair.

During the discussion of business items it was decided to hold a lawn social at the home of Mrs. J. H. George, Fallis line, in July.

The bazaar which the Aid intends holding this fall was emphasized, and members urged to begin work now for this event, and interest others in giving assistance also. The list of homes for the meetings of the Aid was read by the Secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, as follows: September, Mrs. A. J. Brown; October, Miss M. Duncan; November, Mrs. Ross Edmunds; December, Mrs. J. McKnight; January, Mrs. C. Garside; February, Mrs. E. S. Burnham; March, Mrs. P. Stinson; April, the parsonage. The meetings will close during July and August as has been the custom for some years past.

On behalf of the Aid, Mrs. A. J. Brown, 1st Vice-President, expressed the sincere regret felt at the removal of Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Tucker, and the severe loss the society will sustain when her wise and sympathetic counsel, her generous hospitality and her willing assistance are no longer available. Mrs. R. H. Edmunds seconded the motion for a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Tucker, with which Mrs. Brown closed her remarks.

A solo, "Loving Saviour, Thou Art Calling," by Mrs. Walter Williamson of Leader, Sask., was much enjoyed, as was also the talk by Miss Estelle Hetherington from S. D. Gordon's "Quiet Talks on Power."

Mrs. A. Ferguson, who shares with Mrs. T. Gillott the honor of being the oldest resident of Millbrook, was celebrating her eighty-ninth birthday the day of the meeting and was presented with a bouquet of peonies, besides being the recipient of many congratulations and good wishes for "happy returns of the day." To the delight of the gathering, Mrs. Ferguson sang in her well-known sweet voice one of her old-time solos, "Far Away." Several snaps were taken after the meeting of the "guest of honor," and a number of the other older members who were present.

The social hour which concluded the afternoon, and during which Mrs. Fallis, assisted by a committee, served refreshments, was somewhat prolonged, the guests seeming loth to bring so pleasant an occasion to a close.

Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of the primary room in the Public School, Miss C. McConnachie, teacher, were held on Friday afternoon, a number of the mothers being present to enjoy the occasion, which was a very pleasant one throughout.

The special feature of the afternoon was the presentation of prizes to the pupils having won the largest number of stars in their respective classes during the year. They were as follows: In the senior first class, Dorothy McDowell; in junior first, Bryar Edmunds and Mary Burnham; in the junior primer, Madeline McDowell; in the beginners' class, Margaret Smith.

A special prize, given to the pupil having the best record for the entire year, was won by Dorothy McDowell.

In order to show how well her pupils had progressed with their reading and memory work, Miss McConnachie explained that the programme would consist of practical illustrations from their daily lessons by the tiny tots and the older boys and girls. The list included:

"Cherries," by Mary Vance.

"The Snow," (memory verses) by Mary Burnham.

"The Reason Why," by Dorothy McDowell.

"The Laughing Brook," by Norman Armstrong.

"What I should Do," (memory work) by Bryar Edmunds.

"The Honest Indian," by Mary Nattrass.

Class song, junior first, "A, B, C's."

"A Wise, Old Owl," by Joe Thorndyke.

"Two Little Kittens," by Dalton Brown.

"Grey and White," by Jack Stinson.

Nursery rhyme, by Leon Raper.

"Little Bo-Peep," by Toy Nattrass.

Class song, senior first, "Every Little Wave Had Its Night-Cap On."

"The Spider and the Fly," by Lyle Nattrass.

"Spring Waking," by Evalena Todd.

Primer class song, "Little Bo-Peep."

"One Way of Learning the Colors," by Margaret Fallis.

Presentation of prizes, by Miss McConnachie.

On behalf of the parents, Mrs. H. J. Grassett made a brief address, expressing their appreciation of Miss McConnachie's faithful and successful services as teacher for the past two years in the Millbrook school, and also voiced their sincere regret that she is not returning when the September term opens. The hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. Grassett, was seconded by Mrs. Ross Edmunds, and Miss McConnachie replied briefly.

As a token of her love for the pupils she is leaving Miss McConnachie gave to each one as a personal remembrance an excellent snap (postcard size) of herself, with the signature. "Lovingly, C. McConnachie." The bright eyes and shining faces showed how pleased the little ones were and how much the gift was appreciated.

A treat of home-made candy brought a very pleasant occasion to a close.

Among the mothers present were: Mrs. H. J. Grassett, Mrs. C. Thorndyke, Mrs. (Dr.) Mitchell, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. G. Fallis, Mrs. W. G. Rowland, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. B. R. Raper, Mrs. C. Nattrass, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. L. W. Smith; two of the grandmothers, Mrs. E. S. Burnham and Mrs. Robert Smith, were visitors who enjoyed the event, each having a grandchild among the prize-winners.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Denne and children of Peterborough were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eakins on Sunday.

Arthur and Patricia Richards, the little son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. G. Raymes of Brighton, returned home last week. Mr. and Mrs. Raymes motored over and spent the week-end with friends in town.

Mrs. I. E. Needham, who has been visiting friends in Toronto and other points for the past three weeks, has returned home, motoring back with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ardagh and son of Streetsville. Mrs. Hopkins of Lakefield also accompanied them.

Mrs. W. E. Bemister of Beaverton has recently been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ross Edmunds.

Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Brown and their son, Dr. Morley Brown, of Lindsay were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Needham.

Dr. C. Alvin Richards, who has completed writing his Dominion Council examinations, has begun practice with Dr. H. A. Turner.

Now that our junior boys are entered in the Peterborough Juvenile League series, why not have some of the older and more experienced baseball players give them some coaching during their practice hours? A repetition of Friday evening's errors and rather crushing defeat, could be avoided were sufficient training given. The team has good material, but lacks in knowledge and judgment. It was evident that had they been helped by being coached either at the bat or when on bases during Friday's game the score against them might have been considerably lessened.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Wood and child of Mitchell and Mrs. C. Larmer of Oshawa are guests of Mrs. J. Hutchison and other friends in Millbrook and Cavan.

Norma Dunford, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dunford of Oshawa, is visiting her cousin, Bernice Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. B. C. Whyte of Raybrook, N. Y., are guests of her mother, Mrs. A. Wood, and also of his mother, Mrs. E. Whyte, arriving on Thursday.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25, 1924.

A GOOD CITIZEN GONE.

The passing of Mr. L. J. Picard, whose sudden death shocked the community, has taken from Peterborough one of its best known and most popular citizens.

The late "Joe" Picard was a native of this city and always one of the keenest and most active supporters of Peterborough's activities.

He was one of those enthusiastic citizens with whom the home city always came first.

Particularly interested was Mr. Picard in athletics.

In his earlier days he was an active participant in rugby and other games, and in later years he had taken a helpful interest in hockey and baseball, at the time of his death being a member of the Executive of the Peterborough Baseball Association.

His death removes one whose support could always be counted upon when the prestige of Peterborough as a sporting centre was at stake.

Popular with his fellow-citizens, highly respected as a business man, Mr. Picard's loss will be felt in many circles.

The bereaved family have the genuine sympathy of the community.

ONTARIO'S MINERIAL WEALTH.

Ontario's rich mineral resources furnish another reason why Canadians should be optimistic as to the future.

The mineral industries of the Province are merely in their infancy; there is no telling to what stages they will develop.

A booklet issued by the Ontario Department of Mines tells the story in convincing fashion.

Ontario, it is shown, now stands third among the countries of the world as a gold-producer, the production of this Province being surpassed only by South Africa and the United States.

Last year Ontario produced $20,082,586 worth of gold; what the ultimate production will be can be left to the imagination.

Next in order comes silver, nickel, copper and cobalt, and among the non-metallics the production of natural gas is given as leading with a total of $4,283,696, followed by salt, arsenic and gypsum.

Ontario's production of clay products and construction material also looms large, with Portland cement totalling $5,855,590; stone, $2,457,879, and common brick, $1,481,830.

This well-illustrated booklet gives a concisely compiled mass of information in regard to Ontario's mineral resources, and should do much to call attention to the wonderful possibilities of Northern Ontario.

SOUTH WATERLOO'S VERDICT.

There may not be much political significance in the election of Karl K. Homuth, Labour candidate in the South Waterloo by-election, but nevertheless the 2,625 majority recorded by Mr. Homuth is a striking demonstration that the people of the constituency possess a keen sense of fair play.

Monday's successful candidate was elected at the general election last June by 13 majority, the vote being increased by a recount to 15.

Then the defeated Conservative candidate protected the election, and Mr. Homuth was unseated because of some minor irregularities that were merely technicalities.

Monday's verdict showed the resentment of the electors at the "committee boom" attempt to wrest from the winner in a hard fight the laurels he had won.

Nearly every polling subdivision rolled up a Homuth majority, Galt, for example, which piled an adverse majority of 1,006 against him a year ago, giving him 297 on this occasion.

The lesson should be clear to politicians.

The people respect a good loser, but they have no sympathy for the man who is defeated in a hard fight and then takes advantage of technicalities to win his point.

The emphatic answer of South Waterloo proves that the majority of the electors have no use for that method of playing politics, and doubtless hundreds of supporters of the Government endorsed Mr. Homuth's candidature because of their resentment of the tactics that followed the general election.

THE POSTAL STRIKE.

The Toronto postal employees who are out on strike are making the mistake so common with Queen City residents of imagining that Toronto is the whole Dominion of Canada.

There is congestion, of course, in the Toronto post-office that will take the rapidly growing but inexperienced new staff to clear up, but the postal situation in the rest of Canada, with but one or two exceptions, is normal.

The majority of the employees are back at work—hundreds indeed never left their posts—and the Toronto workers might as well realize that the strike is a complete failure and take advantage of the opportunity offered by the latitude given to Postmaster Lemon by getting back to work before their places are all filled.

The scale of wages fixed by the Civil Service Commission was not decided upon without very mature consideration.

The Commissioners took into regard the rates of compensation obtaining in commercial and industrial concerns in Canada, conditions of work, holidays, sick leave, reasonable security of continued employment and prospective provision for retiring allowance and superannuation.

In the House of Commons the other day the Labour member, J. S. Woodsworth, quoted from the Bureau of Statistics figures to show that in some twenty of the largest industrial firms in Canada the annual average wage scale was $750, while the minimum for postal employees fixed by the Civil Service Commission was $1,050 a year for beginners.

When it is taken into account that workers in industrial concerns face the constant peril of trade depression, shut-downs, under-employment and loss of time, while the postal workers are unaffected by such things, the folly of the Toronto strike is apparent.

It is true, as the Ottawa Journal says, that the postal men "have not been provided with princely pay," but they have been provided with better wages than can be obtained by men doing similar work in any other field in this country.

SOME POINTERS FOR RUSSIA.

The steps necessary to restore Russian credit have been thus set forth by a committee of British bankers engaged in considering the matter:

1. That a recognition of debts, public and private, should be agreed upon, acceptable to both countries.

2. That an equitable arrangement for the restitution of private property to foreigners shall be made.

3. That a proper civil code shall be brought into effective operation, independent courts of law created, and the sancity of private contracts again firmly established.

4. That the Russian Government shall definitely guarantee that in future private property shall in all circumstances be free from danger of confiscation by the state.

5. That bankers, industrialists and traders in this country shall be able to deal freely without interference by the Government authorities with similar private institutions in Russia, controlled by men of whom they have personal knowledge, and in whose character, word and resources they have confidence.

6. That the Russian Government shall abandon its propaganda against the institutions of other countries, and particularly against all those from whom they propose to request financial assistance.

These requirements can well be studied by the Canadian Government and our bankers and manufacturers, says the Financial Post. They cover matters heretofore regarded as essential in international dealings, and it is difficult to see how Russia can hope to restore her credit on any other basis.

GERMAN GOODS.

While it is commonly known that large quantities of German goods are being sold in Canada, it has been generally supposed that people who buy these articles do so with their eyes open, since products of foreign manufacture must be clearly marked with the country of origin. It will, therefore, come as a surprise to many people to read the answer given by the Minister of Customs in Parliament to certain questions put to him by Mr. McKillop, M.P., who asked whether the Government was aware that a shipment of 50,000 pairs of children's shoes had been received in Montreal from Germany, not marked with the name of the country of origin. The answer, as recorded in Hansard, is: "There is nothing that requires shoes to be marked with the name of the country of origin." Mr. A. E. Medcalf, general manager of a St. Thomas shoe manufactory, calls this condition a "scandal," and from information he supplies in an interview with the St. Thomas Times-Journal, most people will agree with him. It appears that these shoes are dumped in Canada at a value of 50c to 60c a pair, and after duty has been added are placed on the market by jobbers to be sold for $1.25 a pair. It is said that a further shipment of 33,000 shoes has since been received, and in addition to this the Germans send stitched uppers, cut soles and other parts to England, where British workers assemble the shoes, which are then exported to Canada as English-made articles.

In these times of slack trade and strenuous competition the throwing of 83,000 pairs of cheap German shoes on the market is a serious matter for the Canadian manufacturers. Mr. Medcalf explains that during the war the productive capacity of the shoe factories of Canada rose from about eighteen million pairs to twenty-four million pairs; now it has fallen to between thirteen to fourteen million pairs. Last year 25 factories out of 180 went out of business in Canada. "Things are in a critical state, and we cannot stand this German invasion," declares Mr. Medcalf, "the German competition is insidious and unfair." Moreover, these German goods yield very little revenue to the Government and the displacement of native labor which they cause is another very serious aspect of the matter.

Two deputations have gone to Ottawa to seek a remedy for this unfavorable condition, it is said, "but got no satisfaction from the Premier." Whatever may be the Government's views with regard to the necessity of protecting native industries from the very severe competition of the United States, there can surely be no two opinions about the necessity of closing the doors as much as possible against the entry of these cheap German goods, made by workmen who have been paid by mere "scraps of paper," a currency which is valueless outside their own country.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The statement that "Toronto holds Canada in the hollow of its hand" made by one of the striking postal leaders will be a surprise to the rest of the country.

At least the strike in Toronto must furnish a good alibi to the man who is carrying around letters in his pocket that he was supposed to have posted long ago.

While prohibitionists are preparing for a battle on the O.T.A. issue, there is not a sound from Queen's Park to indicate that a vote is to be taken.

Smuts may have resigned, but it is significant that his successor, General Hertzog, declares that secession from the Empire is no longer his policy. Thus the Smuts policy remains.

One member of Parliament is said to have 12,000 applications for jobs. The chances are, says the Globe, that he is very thankful for the existence of the Civil Service Commission.

A THOUGHT

PLAY BALL.

This world's a diamond, with the bases laid,
And on it Life's great game of ball is played.
The teams are Human Beings verus Fate,
And Time's the umpire, watching by the plate.
We're at the bat. Our purpose o'er and o'er
To wield Ambition's club and try to score.
To try to solve the curves the pitcher throws,
And lam the sphere where not a fielder goes.
Some of us seem to bat with skill immense,
Knocking long homers o'er the deep field fence.
Others bunt infield hits, but wildly race,
And beat the ball down to the primal base.
Still others, though they strive their best, no doubt,
Fan wildly at the air, and then—strike out;
They seek the bench, downcast, with visage drawn,
Crestfallen, shamefaced, blue, ambition gone!
Or rag the umpire, growling like a bear:
"You robber! That decision wasn't fair!"
That's not the game! Be not a grouch or quitter!
What though you're not a straight 300-hitter?
You've got another chance. Stand to the plate.
Grab tight your bat, get braced and calmly wait!
Wait for a good one. Let the others rip,
And when it comes—now! Lam it hard, and zip!
It's got to go! And so must you, old man!
Hike for the base. Keep going—yes, you can!
Steal second! Good! Now, easy—not too gay!
There! Get a lead! A hit! Now you're away!
Keep on! Don't stop! Don't lose that dandy stride!
You've got to beat the throw-in! Slide, now! Slide!
Hurrah! You did it! Score? Of course you scored!
See—there's your tally marked up on the board!
And now you'll win the game—no doubt at all!
You just can't lose, old man, if you'll play ball!

—Paul West.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 25.—The present week gives indications of being the worst for shippers of cattle for the year. Only 2,841 were sold on Monday thus leaving 1,200 head for Tuesday. Early receipts were 67 cars, 891 cattle, 440 calves, 1,270 hogs and 515 sheep and lambs. On Monday and yesterday the only cattle making any stand against the over-supply are exporters and a few choice butchers. These are easier though not to any extent from last week, but in common to good butchers there is a drop from 25 to 50 cents a cwt. Yesterday the market was equally as dull as on Monday, and packers' bids were again reduced. One bunch of babies was pointed out to the writer for which $5.50 a cwt. was bid and these cost over $7 in the country. For a load of nice butchers' heifers only $5.65 a cwt. was bid and the commission man said he had sold less acceptable ones last week at $6.50. Sales were not being made at the price quoted, but the buyers have the advantage and are trying to make full use of it.

Rogers and Maybee bought about 700 for export on Monday, and took 9 loads yesterday morning. Yesterday's steers were extra well finished and averaged close to 1,400 lbs. each. Geo. Rowntree who feeds near Woodbridge, got $8.75 a cwt. for seven loads and W. Henderson of Lucknow, sold two loads at $8.50 at cwt. These were especially good and could not be classed with steers which sold on Monday at $7.65 a cwt.

The exporters also took a number of medium weight steers at $7.25 a cwt. and heifers at $6.75. These prices represent a drop of around 50 cents a cwt. Sales of butchers were extremely slow, and handyweights in the choice class sold from $7 to $7.25 good butchers were not much over $6.50, and mediums were wanted below $6. Butchers' cows were off as much as others, and only one cow made $5.50. Good medium cows sold from $4 to $4.50. The light supply of bulls did not leave as much latitude to buyers, but easier prices ruled with the rest of the market. A small bunch of 800 lbs. stockers was reported sold at $5 a cwt. These had been held almost two weeks. A number of baby beeves sold from $7 to $8.50. It is expected that there will be another heavy carry-over of cattle.

The heavy run of medium and common calves held this market easy. Medium calves were seldom higher than 7 cents, and commons were had around 4½ cents. Good calves were steady at 9 to 9½ cents a pound, and choice calves brought 10 cents.

Lambs held at about Monday's decline of 50 cents a cwt. Choice lambs were 13 to 15½ cents, and the culls from the good bunches generally brought 13 cents. Yearling lambs sold from 8 to 11½ cents and sheep a little heavy at 5½ cents a pound.

The advance of a full 25 cents a cwt. for hogs was general yesterday and all the packers were taking supplies at $8 a cwt. f.o.b., and $8.90 off cars long haul. A new ruling on sows makes these subject to a discount of $4 a cwt. if over 350 lbs. and under $3 a cwt. Shorter hog runs accounts for the stronger prices.

IMMERSION AT APSLEY

Large Crowd Witnessed Strange Rites of Faith Mission.

APSLEY, June 25.—A big crowd drawn from all parts of the adjoining country assembled on Sunday afternoon at Deer River in Lake Township to witness the immersion of converts to what is known locally as the Faith Mission, a sect that has become established in this locality during the last few months. About thirty adults and children dressed in their ordinary clothes submitted to the rite, being totally immersed by the leaders of the sect, who came from a distance for the purpose. The spectacle was one that will not be soon forgotten by those who witnessed it, and it is to be hoped that converts and onlookers alike will be benefited spiritually.

Remington Portable

Made in Canada

There's a Remington for Every Need

Do your friends enjoy your letters?

Do they tear them open and read them eagerly, or do they put them by until they have time to decipher the scrawl? Even the neatest letter written by hand lacks the distinction of a letter written on the Remington Portable Typewriter—and the letter on the Portable may be written in half the time.

The Remington Portable has the regular keyboard and all the qualities of the Standard Remington including its strength and dependability, yet it is as easy to carry as a small hand-bag.

Pay Five Dollars down and you can have a Remington Portable immediately. Further payments of Five Dollars a month will complete the purchase.

plays whilst at the same time encouraging further production of that kind of play.

6—"The duty of critics is evident (we refer to Catholic critcs, for whom the matter of primary concern is the salvation of souls). It is not permissible for them to defend or support for the sake of their artistic value performances that constitute a great danger for the souls of spectators and especially of the young.

7—"True progress on the spiritual side is not so far discernible in the theatre, partly because the present financial strain is felt in this branch also of human activity. Certainly the desire and need for spiritual elevation is felt by many and it would be well for Catholic autáors to take advantage of the present moment to use also those means whose effectiveness is unquestionable to further the Christian restoration of society."

BIG DRIVE OF LOGS.

Archie Whitmore and Crew Making Good Time From North Country to Peterborough.

APSLEY, June 25.—Archie Whitmore established what is believed to be a time record in taking a drive of logs from Jack's Creek, making the trip from the creek to Young's Point in three days. The drive consisted of thirteen thousand logs, and the work was done by fourteen men and a horse crib. They left Jack's Creek on Thursday morning and were at Young's Point on Monday, not working on Sunday. Favorable wind and weather all the time and a willing gang, were the factors in making the record, of which Archie is justly proud. The drive reached the three islands on Thursday night, and is going on to Peterborough to W. Purdy's mill.

HIS SLUGGISH LIVER MADE HIM FEEL DROWSY AND TIRED ALL THE TIME

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers, and the only way you can get back to feeling right is to make your liver right.

This you can do by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills as they will stimulate the sluggish liver clean away all waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent, as well as relieve, all complications arising from a liver that has become inactive.

Mr. E. Hazel East Florenceville N.B., writes: —"I had been troubled with my liver and felt drowsy and tired all the time, and was unable to do my work with any comfort. I took your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and to-day I am a different man, and would not be without them in the house."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Late William Martin Calder.

One of the older residents of Grafton was removed by death on Monday morning in the passing of Mr. William Calder in his sixty-second year. He had been ill for only a few days, but pneumonia along with other complications developed and the end came quite suddenly.

Mr. Calder and his wife came to Coneda from Galashiles, Scotland, soon after their marriage, settling on the site of the present home in Shelter Valley, a short distance from Grafton Village. By occupation Mr. Calder was a weaver, and for a number of years owned and operated one of the numerous mills that derived their power from the Shelter Valley River. Mr. Calder was known far and wide as an upright and honorable business man, a kindly, willing neighbor and a consistent Christian. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Grafton, and for a number of years a member of the Board of Managers. His wife passed away five years ago, and a family of three sons and four daughters survive their father. They are: Thomas in the West, Graham in Toronto, William at home and Mrs. E. W. Knight, Mrs. N. J. Spence, Misses Jean and Margaret in Toronto. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Mayer of Grafton.

Hit By Ball Bat.

Lewis Roberts, son of Mr. Lewis Roberts, Ball street, met with a bad accident on Monday evening. The little lad, who is about nine years ago, was watching the Longslow team who were engaged in a practice game. The batter in striking missed the ball and the bat flew out of his hand, striking the boy on the fore part of the head and inflicted a gash that required several stitches, just above the hair-line. A physician dressed his injury and he is reported to be doing nicely.

Double Wedding Anniversary.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Furber, Division street north, it being the double eighteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Furber, Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. Banner Furber of Drumbetter, Alta. Guests were present from Saskatoon, Alta., Bowmanville, Toronto, Port Hope and Peterborough, as well as Cobourg.

Ontario Hospital Graduation.

The graduation exercises of the training school for nurses at the Ontario Hospital here were held on Wednesday night, when five nurses received their diplomas. There were Miss Margaret Lyon of Cobourg, Miss Lillie Burkell of Oshawa, Miss Alice Allen, Miss Helen Fryar and Miss Dorothy Milner of Cobourg. The young ladies have served their three years' course and have made excellent records.

Dr. Wilson, Superintendent of the Ontario Hospital, was the efficient chairman and Or. Abraham addressed the nurses. The prize awarded by the Provincial Secretary's Department for the nurse attaining the highest standing in the Province was awarded to Miss Margaret Lyon, who is to be congratulated upon receiving this high honor.

The prize awarded by Miss Johnston, Superintendent of Nurses at the Ontario Hospital here, for highest standing in practical work, was awarded to Miss Lillie Burkell.

The prize for highest marks in dietitics was presented to Miss Alice Allen of Cobourg.

In the awards for nurses who have completed their second year Miss B. Brown of Cobourg was presented with a prize for special work in electric therorapeatics, bandaging and massage.

Miss Jakill was awarded the prize for the highest standing of the year and Miss Cochrane received the prize for the highest standing in practical work.

In the first year's work the award for highest standing was made to Miss Varcoe of Roseneath, and Miss McKendry received the prize for being first in practical work.

After the prizes were awarded a dance was given for the graduating class, the nurses and their friends, some of the latter being present from a distance.

WARSAW CORRESPONDENCE

WARSAW, June 24.—On Tuesday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Crowe, at the lake, celebrated their diamond wedding. There were one hundred and twenty guests present, mostly the family, or near connections.

Congratulations were extended by Rev. F. G. Weir and Rev. W. Atkinson. Among other things they spoke of how rare it was to see peoole married sixty years with all their large family around them, except the one that had died in infancy.

There were fourteen children, nine sons and five daughters present. There are forty-five grand-children and twenty-five great grand-children. Three grand-children and two great grand-children were baptized. It was also the birthday of Mrs. George Russel, one of the daughters.

Mr. Crowe is eight-two years of age, and was born on the second line of Dummer. Mrs. Crowe is seventy-seven years old, and was born in Ireland. She came to this country when about two years of age. They have lived all their married life, except about eight years spent in Exeter, in Dummer. For the last forty years, where they are now. Mr. Crowe has one older brother, Christopher Crowe, living. He was present. There are also three sisters in the West, who were not present.

Mrs. Crowe has five brothers and one sister living.

Photos were taken of various groups in the connection, and all the guests present.

Sixty years ago Mr. Crowe and Mattie Matthews, with their bridesmaid Margaret Jane Hunter (who married another Wm. Crowe) and groomsman J. J. Crowe, drove to Peterboro in a wagon over roads which would now be considered impassable, and were married. When they returned there was a large wedding party and some of these guests were present on Tuesday, viz.: Mr. Crowe's brother, Mrs. Crowe's brothers and one sister, Mrs. Henry Moore, Mr. Joseph Moore.

At the golden wedding the bridesmaid and groomsman were present, but they have since passed away.

Who Caught the Boy?

In the Examiner of Wednesday, June 18, was an article dated at Lindsay, "Warsaw youth held on theft charge." Some of the Warsaw people rather resent that as the accused was not, and never did belong here, nor has he any friends here. Constable Henry Clements of Warsaw was notified from Douro about 3 p.m. on Sunday. Lakefield and Peterboro police had been notified on Saturday evening. He was not given a fully detailed description of the boy and outfit. About 4 p.m. Sunday he started off and drove and searched steadily, except for about two hours' rest, until about 11.30 a.m. Monday when he got the boy in Marmora. He had gotten trace of him in several places, but got on a wrong trail at Trent Bridge, and went to Campbellford. He found the horse near Marmora. It had been sold, and had he not arrived when he did the horse would have gone north with a new owner, and would have been much harder still to trace. Constable Clements found the boy and dog in Marmora, arrested the boy and took him to Peterboro Police Station, to be escorted to Lindsay by Provincial Officer Storey. The horse he had locked in the hotel stable until the owner came for it.

According to the boy's story to Constable Clements, young Richter was born of German parents, in London, England but spent part of his life in Germany. Was brought to Canada and placed with Walter Brien, farmer, by the Salvation Army, who still have charge of him. He stole the outfit while Mr. Brien was away on the Saturday forenoon.

A U.F.O. Meeting.

The U.F.O. held a special meeting Tuesday evening to arrange for their picnic, which is to be held in Deen's woods, next Thursday.

Mr. Harding's yoke of oxen, which created quite a furor in Belleville, went down on Sam Charlton's truck.

Held A Social.

The entertainment and ice cream social given by the Women's Institute on Friday was a success in every way. Again the town hall proved inadequate, and a number had to stand. The playette, "Pa's New Housekeeper," was well done. Ralph Selby's impersonation of Mrs. Pounce was excellent. Mrs. Chorley of Indian River kindly sang. Mrs. Foster gave a solo, Clinton Crowe and Willet Floyd recited. Warsaw Orchestra supplied the music.

Vivian Jackson has returned from Toronto and is setting up a barber shop.

Hiram Anderson and Harold Matthews went to Peterboro to camp on Friday morning.

OLD HOME WEEK.

LINDSAY, June 25.—(Special).—This town is in gala attire for Old Home Week starting on July 1 and from here it looks as if it will prove the biggest event ever staged in the town. The business streets are gaily decorated with bunting, and a big programme has been prepared for every day of the week. Already many old boys and girls have arrived home, a number of them coming from remote parts of the United States and from the Canadian West.

Bon Ami

Keeps white shoes looking like new!

For all kinds of white shoes—except kid—Bon Ami works wonders.

Put it on with a wet brush—let it dry—then wipe it off with a dry cloth. You'll find that all the dirt, dust and grass stains have disappeared. Just the fresh original whiteness remains—without any pasty, chalky streaks.

When the original whiteness finally has worn off your shoes, clean them first with Bon Ami, then apply a good white dressing. This avoids the ugly, grimy, clogged-up appearance.

Bon Ami also cleans windows, mirrors, white woodwork, aluminium, kitchenware, bathtubs, etc.—in fact, it has scores of uses throughout the house.

MISSIONS OUTSTRIP ABILITY OF CHURCH

Canadian Workers in China Make This Gloomy Suggestion—Crisis Has Has Passed.

TORONTO, June 25.—Viewing with misgivings the approaching end of its financial year, June 30th, the Methodist Missionary Society has decided to make public a document received from its west Szechwan (West China) Mission.

The situation is that for the fourth successive year the Methodist Church of Canada has failed to support completely its missionary work.

Evidently this is being felt by the 97 missionaries in Szechan, for only by subscribing $50.00 each from their salaries have they been able to keep the work going at full strength in recent months.

Never So Successful.

Meanwhile the demands on them are increasing steadily. "Our work is growing apace," says their message to the Missionary Society. "In spite of anarchy and lawlessness our schools are crowded, our hospitals are full, and more people are studying the gospel than in any previous year. We have two university graduates in the ministry, one in denistry and three in education, serving the Church with marked efficiency and consecration. The number of graduate nurses in our hospitals is increasing, and their work is in marked contrast to that of the illiterate coolies who were the hospital assistants a few years ago. Our schools are being manned by graduates from mission schools in place of the old type of Chinese teacher formerly employed."

Work Too Successful?

Facing these developments in need and ability to meet the need, they have been asked by the General Board of Missions to reduce their expenditures. The missionaries go on to protest that they have been economical. They report further that "the gifts of Chinese Christians are increasing, the fees collected in the schools are more than double what they were a few years ago, and several hospitals have reached or are approaching the self-supporting status. No effort is being spared to increase the amount of money raised on the field, as this year's statistics undoubtedly prove. The great difficulty lies in the fact that we have asked for them, and new missionaries have been appointed, faster than the giving ability of the Canadian Church to maintain them. Seeing this, two pastoral members of council are ready to tender their resignation in order that those remaining behind may retain all their Chinese colleagues.

May Cut Grants Again.

The gloomy statement of the missionaries as to the inability of Canadian Methodism to carry on what it has begun is supported by the statement of the Missionary Society's officers here that already a deficit of "many thousands of dollars" for the year 1923-24 is in sight.

It begins to look as if the Methodist Church had bitten off more than it intended to chew, and the possibilities are that next Fall the Methodist General Board of Missions will have to reduce the grants for work in the foreign fields.

During the West China Mission Council in Luchow, in February of this year, a cable was received from the Missionary Society, Canada, the effect of which was to make plain that the controllable grants to the West China Mission for three main departments for the year April 1, 1923, to March 31, 1924, were as follows:

Medical, $21,000—a cut on the estimates of 11⅛ per cent.

Pastoral, $27,000—a cut on the estimates of 18½ per cent.

Education, $45,000—a cut on the estimates of 5 per cent.

Will Have To Quit.

In accordance with this schedule the Mission Council made its allotments for the year to each missionary for his Chinese staff of evangelists, teachers and doctors. The Council goes on to say:

"Yet the only way for the individual missionary to bring his expenditures within the allotment given by Council, is to dismiss his Chinese fellow-workers. It means that in every district three chapels would be left without preachers, at least two lower primary schools closed for lack of teachers, and the number of poor patients who can be given free treatment in the hospitals seriously curtailed. Can anyone estimate the loss of prestige which the Christian Church will sustain in any Chinese community by putting this policy into effect?

"The estimates were carefully scrutinized in each local committee and 'cut to the bone' in the Council, so that when Council closed a year ago each missionary knew that the Board had been asked for considerably less money than he estimated was the minimum amount with which he could carry on his work. To have this amount further cut by 18½ per cent. in the pastoral estimates perilously affects the fundamental task of our missionary endeavor, the establishment of an indigenous Chinese Church. It must be perfectly evident that our chief need for the next few years is larger grants for maintenance of our existing work."

Books Will Not Balance.

Methodism has been pouring nearly $300,000 annually into this West China Mission, which is admittedly one of the greatest missions created by any Missionary body. The Methodist Missionary Society enters upon its centenary year in July and until recently hopes had been entertained that the 100th year would begin with all the work intact, and the books balanced. So far the work is going on but the books certainly are not going to balance next week. Receipts from several conferences this year are considerably less than last year and expenditures in West China have been reduced in vain.

NEW MEMBERS.

Mr. Perry Alexander, of Oak Orchard, is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, and mailed in twenty-five new members to the Association to-day, with the following list as members:

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died, he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses, and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XI—CLARE CHARMS.

Paul wrote to Bertram Lindsey that night, instructing him that Wanda was to have eight hundred a year on condition that she left the house at once, "or as soon as she is able," he added grimly, wondering how long Wanda would choose to remain a prisoner upstairs.

"Kindly see to this at once," he wrote. "And inform Miss Griffin of the arrangement, as I am anxious to have the house for myself so that I can proceed with the necessary repairs and alterations."

He felt relieved when that letter had gone; it was a step in the right direction at all events, and would show Wanda that he was not a man with whom she could trifle indefinitely.

It would be something to get her out of the house, to know himself beyond the reach of her shrill, insistent voice and tantrums; the one thing for which he was sorry was that it would mean Mrs. Garnet leaving also, for Paul liked Mrs. Garnet. He liked to meet the glance of her soft eyes across the dinner-table, he liked the frocks she wore, and the way she played the piano in the drawing-room after dinner.

If he had only known it, Mrs. Garnet played very badly indeed, but Paul had not a trained ear, and she was clever enough to cover up her mistakes with a great deal of soft pedal, and a sympathetic touch which sounded very well in the dustance.

Paul often left the library door open when he was writing letters so that he could hear her play, and it pleased his fancy that she chose old-fashioned airs, and attempted nothing classical which would only have irritated him, and which he would not have understood.

On the third night after Wanda's fainting fit, instead of going to the library, as he usually did, Paul followed Mrs. Garnet to the drawing-room.

It was a warm evening, and the long French windows stood wide open to the garden; the air was heavy with the scent of the roses from the bushes which old John Collinge had so loved.

Mrs. Garnet was wearing a dress of some soft blue material which hung about her in graceful folds, and suited her to perfection, though Paul realized that on some women it was a gown which would have looked slovenly and untidy.

She had sat down at the piano before she realized that he had followed her, and she started up with a little exclamation of surprise when he suddenly spoke:

"How is Wanda?"

Mrs. Garnet spread her white hands deprecatingly.

"I hardly know," she murmured. "She refused any dinner, and turned her face away when I spoke to her. She seems to sleep a great deal, and when I went into her room an hour ago she asked me not to disturb her again to-night as she was very tired."

"Paul said "Humph!" rather dryly, then added abruptly, "Won't you play something?"

Mrs. Garnet smiled and blushed.

"I only play for my own amusement," she protested. "I play so badly."

"I'm not a judge of music," Paul answered grimly. "But I like to hear you play. You don't bang, or try to be clever, as so many women do."

Mrs. Garnet laughed as she sat down again at the piano.

"It wouldn't be any use my trying to be clever, I'm afraid," she said with a shake of her charming head. 'I'm the most ordinary person, really."

"I like ordinary people," Paul maintained.

He sat down in one of the big chairs drawn up to the open window and took out a pipe.

"Do you mind if I smoke?"

"Oh no, but Wanda only allows cigaretts in this room."

"Wanda is no longer mistress here,' Paul said stolidly, and lit his pipe.

Mrs. Garnet looked distressed.

"I am sorry. I should not have said that," she apologized. "Of course, you are master here now. I do not always remember."

He made no answer, and she began to play. She chose the old air of the song, "In sheltered vale the mill wheel——"

"I remember that when I was a kid," Paul said abruptly when she had finished. "Isn't it a song?"

Mrs. Garnet told him the name of it, and he said again:

"Oh, yes; I remember now. My mother used to sing it." He looked away towards the open window and the dark scented night.

"What's your opinion of marriage, Mrs. Garnet?" he asked abruptly.

Her hands fell from the keys, and she half turned, looking at him with startled eyes.

"My own experience was not a very happy one," she said after a moment. "It seems to me that all marriage is the same," he answered gruffly. "I can remember my own mother and her unhappiness. Not that I altogether blame the guy'not for it. I think unhappiness more often than not springs from the fact that people marry who are unsuited. Pity they don't find it out till it's too late."

"I don't see how that is possible," Mrs. Garnet answered. She sat with her head a little down-bent, her pretty white hands toying nervously with one another. "In my case, for instance, I was only a girl when I married. I was only eighteen."

"It's too young," Paul said with the conviction of ignorance. "How old was your husband?"

"Ten years older than I."

"Humph!" He struck a match with which to relight the pipe he had allowed to go out. "The more one hears of marriage, the more shy of it it makes a man," he said with an awkward little laugh. "I should hate like the devil to know that some woman regretted having tied herself up to me."

"She probably would not regret it," Mrs. Garnet said gently.

"Why?" Paul raised his head to ask his question, and their eyes met.

"I think you are the kind of man with whom a woman would be very happy," Mrs. Garnet told him then softly.

A wave of color ran into his sunburnt face.

"You are very kind," he said bluntly, and then, "Play something else, won't you?"

She obeyed silently, but her hands shook a little as they pressed the keys, and she was painfully conscious of Paul's eyes upon her.

She was a very pretty woman, he thought. In some vague way she reminded him of his mother, the poor little mother who was only a vague, sacred memory in his life. Paul liked womanly women; in some ways he was old-fashioned in spite of his rough and tumble life.

There was a softened note in his voice when at last Mrs. Garnet stopped, and he thanked her.

"I've enjoyed that. Perhaps to-morrow night you will play to me again?"

"I should like to," she answered quietly. "I don't play at all well, but if you like it——"

"I shall look forward to to-morrow night," he told her.

He bade her good night and went out into the garden, strolling across the lawn towards the stables and the garage.

Anniversary Services at Fairmount Church—School Exams.

MILLBROOK, June 24. — The anniversary services of Fairmount church were held on Sunday. Rev. J. R. Butler, a former pastor on the circuit, preaching morning and evening to congregations which filled the church comfortably. Rev. S. G. Rorke, who is greatly beloved and respected by the people of the Cavanville circuit, where he was pastor for three years, retiring from the active ministry one year ago, was present in the evening and read the scripture lesson. The explanatory remarks with which Mr. Rorke accompanies his reading are most illuminating, and the remark is frequently heard that when he takes this part of the service the sermon itself is not listened to with more interest or profit.

"The Changeless Christ" was Mr. Butler's theme at night, his text being from Hebrews, 7:24, "This man, because He continueth over," the 25th verse also was referred to, "Wherefore He is able to save to the uttermost them that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them."

"We oftein speak of being settled in life; we might as well think of casting anchor in the midst of the ocean, or talk of the permanent situtaion of a stone that is rolling down hill." Nevertheless for the Christian every change is from the partial to the compete, from good to better, and from the better to the best. But while God subjects mankind to greater, more numerous, and more surprising changes than He does any other of His intelligent creatures, it is always that truth may triumph, and the Kingdom may be advanced.

The old guide posts are removed, the lights blown out, the road we journey is plowed into confusion, but "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, to-day and forever." The Old Leader is on the new path, and He will still answer faith with grace, and venture with triumph. He is in the front of the world ,able to keep pace with time, and with human need.

Great changes make great men. When great things are to be done, great men are raised up to do them. There has, however, been no substitute, nor successor, for "the Christ that continueth ever." From childhood to maturity He alone is equal to every emergency. His authority unshaken, and His love able to save to the uttermost.

The solos contributed by Miss Black of Peterborough, and the special anthems by the choir, added to the attractiveness and helpfulness of the services throughout the day.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT MARMORA

Women's Institute of North Hastings Had a Successful Year— Marmora News.

MARMORA, June 24.—The district annual meeting of the North Hastings Women's Institute was held at Springbrook.

Representatives were present from all the branches except Bancroft and Fort Stewart. There were about 120 present. Mrs. Brown, of Bonar Law, the president, occupied the chair.

The first session met at 10 o'clock in the morning. Reports were heard from the different branches, nearly every branch specializing on one object. Marmora Institute looks after the public library; also Bancroft. Madoc looks after the cemeteries. Fort Stewart spent their money on local relief; Deloro Institute sent a crippled child to the Sick Children's Hospital and supported it there; the Girls' Institute is making babies' layettes for some needy homes; Ivanhoe has put school bells, valued at $25 each, into three schools, and also put a coal-oil stove and dishes in the Community Hall. Springbrook did considerable local relief, and also sent boxes of supplies to a needy home in the West. A number of branches helped the agricultural societies and school fairs.

After a very sumptuous repast, prepared by the Springbrook ladies, the afternoon session was called.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers was as follows:—President—Mrs. Brown, Bonar Law; first vice-president—Mrs. Caskey, Madoc; 2nd vice-president—Mrs. Charles Linn, Stirling; secretray-treasurer—Mrs. Nickle, Madoc.

It was decided to send two delegates to the convention to be held at Toronto in the fall:—Mrs. Brown, confederation delegate; Mrs. Coulter, Stirling, district delegate.

The president reported that the district was in a much better condition financially than last year.

Mrs. Vanderwort, of River Valley, spoke on "The Value of Federation to the Institutes."

The Institute has 30,000 members in 1,000 branches. Institute members are home builders and community builders. They are of all sects and meet on common ground. As they have the Government at their back they have great opportunity for influence and power. Knowing that "In union is strength," in 1919 it was decided to form a federation of the institutes. An institute has to have ten members to organize, and later fifteen members.

The institutes were formed into districts; the districts into sub-divisions. There are 17 sub-divisions in Ontario, and North Hastings is in Sub-division 4.

Then the Provincial organization, and, lastly, all the Provinces are joined in a Dominion Federation.

Each branch pays at the rate of 15 cents a member—three cents of this goes to the Dominion Federation. The Federation needs financial support because the work has broadened out. First, it was home welfare; now it is schools' social work, child welfare and many other branches.

The speaker urged for support for the Federation.

Mrs. Williams, of Deloro, sang a solo, and later gave a reading in her usual pleasing manner.

Mrs. Finkle, of Chatterton, president of West Hastings district, was introduced. She spoke of the Institute motto, "For Home and Country," and defined neighbor as "one who needs our help"—not necessarily one who lives next door. She said the new settlers of the West were neighbors to the Institutes. They need help in becoming good citizens. The Federation helps us reach them. She gave some ideas for work from her district.

Miss Cranston, of Stirling, gave a recitation from Drummond's "Habitant," which was much enjoyed.

The new officers were introduced to the convention. Then a discussion of reports was led by Mrs. Fraser Bowen, of Marmora.

Rylestone branch had made a study of the temperance law, and it was urged that the ladies made a better study of this. A resolution from the district is to be forwarded, urging that the O.T.A. be not repealed.

The convention was brought to a close after Deloro extended an invitation for next year.

Funeral Friday.

The funeral of Mrs. Le Tendre (Agnes Terrion), daughter of the late John Terrion, of Deloro, took place in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Marmora, on Friday morning. Mrs. Le Tendre was brought from her home in the United States on the local on Tuesday, but she passed away on Wednesday. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and one child.

Wedding Bells.

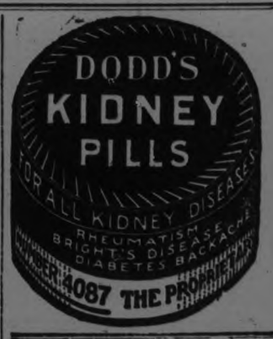
Miss Nellie Joyce and Mr. Alex. Bateman, both of Springbrook, were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. D. R. Clare on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. David Simmons returned this week from a three weeks' visit in Toronto and Niagara.

Mrs. Summis, who has been visiting her son, Charles, returned to her home in Millbridge on Wednesday.

Miss Mabel Inkster has finished her examinations and joined her family at Trent Bridge. She remained in town to finish the school term after the family had moved.

Mrs. Clement and son, Paul, are spending the week in Toronto.



WOMEN A BUNDLE OF NERVES

"Everything irritates me,—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS RE-ELECT L. G. GRIFFIN

CLEVELAND, June 24. — L. G. Griffing, Long Island, New York, today was elected Grand Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Only one ballot was taken. Griffing was formerly Vice-President of the Brotherhood.

F. A. Burgess, Franklin, Pa., and Ash. Kennedy, Toronto, Canada, were re-elected assistant to Grand Chiefs by acclamation. Ballots were being taken to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Griffing.

Three more assistant chiefs are to be elected.

PLAID EFFECTS.

Plaids are not more effective in any other material as in taffetas or alpacas, although the new plaid chiffons are very new and unusual.

KING'S WHARF AND DOWNEYVILLE

KING'S WHARF, June 23.—Master Paul O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, of this place, went to St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, last week for further treatment, and has returned much improved in health.

The Misses Marie and Olive Pluard, of Ennismore, spent Sunday the guest of friends here.

Fox—Thompson.

The marriage of Mr. Michael Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fox, and Mrs. Lena Thompson, both of Lindsay, was solemnized in St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, by Rev. Father Meagher last Tuesday. The bride was attired in a brown crepe dress trimmed with fawn, with hat, shoes and gloves to match. She also wore a fawn coat and carried a bouquet of roses. The bride was attended by Miss Florence O'Neill, of King's Wharf, while the groom was supported by Hubert Fox, of Lindsay.

After the ceremony, the bridal party motored to King's Wharf to the home of the groom's sister, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, where a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives. Those present were:—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fox, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neill, and Rev. Father Galvin, of Downeyville.

In the evening all the friends and neighbors gathered and spent the evening in dancing and card playing. Afterwards all went home, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Fox a long and happy wedded life. They will reside in Lindsay.

A School Social.

A large number from here attended the social held at Murphy's School, South Ops, and report a splendid time.

The fishing season opened here last Monday, and the hum of the motor boat is heard from early morning on Pigeon Lake. A number of tourists are here at present and they report the fishing good.

DOWNEYVILLE NEWS

AT LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

Tea and Linen Shower in Honor of June Bride.

LAKEFIELD, June 23.—The Misses Kennedy entertained a number of lady friends at their home at an afternoon tea and linen shower in honor of Miss Gladys Charlton, a bride of next week. The shower was given by the members of the Catholic Women's League, of which Miss Charlton is secretary. A bevy of pretty young girls assisted the hostess at the tea hour and included Misses Margaret Bissonette, Margaret Allen, Roleen Darcy, Margaret Charlton, Pearl Charton, and Loretta Harrington. After tea had been served, Miss Roleen Darcy read a short poem, addressed to Mrs. Charlton by the ladies of the C.W.L., and Miss Margaret Bissonette presented the basket holding a prettily decorated parasol over the head of the bride to be.

The picnic of the A.Y.P.A. held on Thursday afternoon and evening at Strickland's Point, was a great success. The host was Mr. Tom Simpson and the members were his guests, and right merrily did the time pass. There was a good attendance of members, and all unite in praising the picnic, which ranks second to none in the history of the society.

Attended Funeral.

A large number of friends and acquaintances attended the funeral of Mrs. Blastorah on Friday morning in St. Paul's Church. Interrment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, Peterboro.

Personal Mention.

Miss Ray, Miss Nelson, Miss McKibbin, Mrs. S. Sutton, Mrs. Graham, and Mr. W. H. Casement attended the recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allen Park in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Monday evening last. Miss Nelson, who is a pupil of Mrs. Park, was one of the soloists.

Mrs. Earl and daughter, of Port Credit, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Q. Deuch for a few days this week.

Mrs. John Sanderson was taken to the hospital in Peterboro this week for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Elmsley and family have moved to their summer home at Strickland's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. David Charlton and daughters left this week for their summer home at Kawartha Park.

Mr. C. F. Leonard is at present in St. Jospeh's Hospital, Peterboro.

Mrs. W. G. Stone, of Burleigh, is in the village with friends.

Cadet C. V. Hamilton is spending the vacation with his mother, Mrs. M. G. Hamilton, on Cloborne Street. Cadet Hamilton is a member of this year's graduating class at R.M.C., and won the sword of honor for conduct and discipline. His career has been as especially distinguished one.

Mrs. Gordon Smith of Brantford, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Laurence Graham.

Solan Nixon left this week to spend the summer with his father in Northern Ontario.

Miss Mary Hewitt, of Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, is spending the vacation with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strickland at McCracken's Landing.

Rev. Walter Cox was in Guelph this week attending the meeting of the I.O.O.F Grand Lodge.

Miss Irene Condon, of the staff of the Ford Hospital, Detroit, is visiting her mother, Mrs. William Condon.

APPLIQUES.

Leather appliques are used effectively on sport coats and on frocks. Tapestry and galoon braid are also used extensively.

Mr. Fisher and son of Toronto arrived Saturday and is guest at the Cook cottage.

Angling associations in England stock their fishing waters yearly with baby trout, from four to ten inches in length.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing—

JUST by soaking the clothes in the suds of this new soap, dirt is gently loosened and dissolved.

Even the dirt that is ground in at neck-bands and cuff-edges yields to a light rubbing with dry Rinso. Not a thread is weakened. The mild Rinso suds work thoroughly through and through the clothes without injury to a single fabric.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. For the family wash it is as wonderful as Lux is for fine things.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

FARM NEWS

CHICKENS WILL LIFT MORTGAGE SAYS NEIGHBOR

Fred Ryan May Live Near You or Anywhere, But He is a Success.

MADE POULTRY PAY.

Have You a Little Mortgage on Your Farm?—Read This.

When you mention mortgage lifters and money getters, F. L. Ryan has a lot to say for chickens, aside from the satisfaction he gets from his flock of high-producing hens. In 1920, his Brown Leghorns paid off the last dollar of farm indebtedness and every year since have provided a net income of from $4,000 to $5,000. And this at a time when other farm products were not making money.

There was a time, shortly after Mr. Ryan married Mrs. Ryan, and the two of them set up housekeeping on a rented farm, when the chickens weren't counted on for much more than necessary clothes and maybe a much needed piece of furniture.

That was eighteen years ago. Then one afternoon Mrs. Ryan visited a neighbor and helped her gather the eggs. She noticed that nearly all of the eggs were white and large and even, although the poultry on the farm consisted of 100 mixed and mongrel hens and sixty purebred Brown Leghorns. She made a count and found that forty of the eggs were pure white and had therefore been laid by the purebred fowls as against a dozen dark and various-sized eggs attributed to the mongrel hens.

This incident convinced Mrs. Ryan that she wanted to raise purebred fowls and she went right home and won her husband to her convictions. Now, during the laying season, Mr. Ryan reckons his weekly egg productions in hundreds of dozens. Two hundred dozen is the size of an average load hauled twice a week to a man eight miles distant, who packs and ships the eggs to the market. Mr. Ryan says he does not have time to put them up in the dozen-size cartons required for this long-distance shipping. He receives twelve cents above the market price on all eggs sold for market.

The hatching of baby chicks has gotten to be a big part of the business. The demand for the Ryan baby chicks last spring was so much greater than the supply that they decided to increase their incubator capacity another year. Before the first of February they will install another 12,000-egg incubator, exactly like the one now used. These, together with a number of small-capacity incubators, will bring the total of chickens to approximately 30,000 every three weeks. A regular hot-water furnace heats each of the large incubators. Some one must be on hand every minute to watch the incubators when they are going, particularly as the hatching time draws near.

"We aim to keep about 4,000 or 5,000 baby chicks for ourselves every spring, culling them down to a thousand or 1,500 layers," Mr. Ryan said recently. "The rest we ship. We couldn't supply our orders by half this last spring. The letters came in stacks all through March. Once Mrs. Ryan and I sat up till almost morning answering letters refusing baby chicks." Mrs. Ryan is the secretary of the business as well as the bookkeeper and first assistant in the poultry yards.

Let Them Range.

A heavy mulch of straw with scratch feed underneath is kept on the floor of the poultry-house during laying season and during the summer and late fall the chickens are allowed to range over seedings of barley and rye. Laying hens must range freely to be good producers is Mr. Ryan's belief.

Up through the years since 1905, which was the year the Ryans began with purebred fowls, they have culled carefully and tirelessly. "We aim toward birds that are perfect on color as well as good layers," remarked Mr. Ryan. "To do this we cull three times; the first time for laying ability, the second time for color and the third time for both." Both Mr. and Mrs. Ryan are expert cullers and always on hand at a community culling demonstration to learn new methods.

"We can't afford to miss anything that might mean improving our flock," said Mrs. Ryan. "We read and study every reliable source of information and we like especially to read the stories of other folks' successes with chickens."

Believes in Culling.

Culling is a simple matter according to Mr. Ryan. Says he: "I can go into any chicken yard during the laying season and without picking up a single bird I can spot the good layers. Simple. A hen that's a good layer will have a comb as red as fire. A hen with a pale comb won't lay enough eggs to pay for her keep. Maybe not an egg."

Trapnesting has proven the wisdom of their culling as is shown by the following statement by Mr. Ryan:

"In 1919 our laying records showed that one of the hens in Yard 7, carrying leg-band No. 60, laid sixty-one eggs from May 11 to July 10. In six months, from January 15 to July 15, she had 148 eggs chalked up to her credit.

"These records convinced us that this hen was an unusual producer and that breeding stock from her would be valuable. So her chicks were pedigreed. When the pullets came into laying the following spring, it was found that three of them laid more than did their mother during the same six months' period. One of them laid 153 eggs in 180 days. This was pullet No. 49. She was likewise put into a breeding pen in 1921 and ten of the forty-nine pullets raised from her eggs laid close to 300 eggs apiece in 1922.

"I have slept in the brooder houses many nights, keeping the fires going," said Mr. Ryan. "Hard? Yes, but that's the way we have made the chickens pay. Beginning with February and lasting through the hatching season it keeps every one in the family my wife, the three boys and the girl on the jump."

THE MANN FARM PRODUCES GOOD TYPE OF STOCK

"The Hawthornes" is the Name of One of the Best Farms in County.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

Mrs. Allan B. Mann is the Third Bride to Occupy the Big House.

One of the most interesting farm holdings in this district is situated about nine miles from the city, almost directly north, slightly to the eastward. "The Hawthornes" is the name of the farm home of Allan B. Mann, of Bridgenorth, where purebred livestock is raised. Mr. Mann goes in for mixed farming, but he is pre-eminently a specialty farmer, giving the major portion of his attention to purebred stock.

A long, widespread red brick homestead where the seventh generation of the Mann family is now growing up, is based on a rising slope fronting Chemong Lake, about two miles northeast of the park. On the hill behind the house, three lakes, within a radius of eight miles, may be seen on a fine day, when the waters of Chemong, Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes may be clearly discerned. The house itself is a pleasant place, facing a wide green sward, where the hawthornes, for which the farm is named, and dark hemlocks border a grass pathway down to the road. A long verandah extends along the front portion, topped by a sun-room and bordered by narrow boxes of geraniums. The rooms within are spacious and handsome. Two fireplaces give a cheerful effect, the one in the living-room is built of grey stone, with wide, old-fashioned chimney. There is no electric light in the house, but there is a perfectly-equipped bathroom, with running water from a basement system of cistern and force pump, and a hot-air furnace heats the big place with its thirteen rooms. An addition has nine rooms, where Allan Mann's father, George W. Mann, lives with his daughters. The farm, with its two hundred acres, and another hundred farther down the road, was a gift from the Crown, over a hundred years ago, and has been occupied by the Mann family ever since the great, great grandfather of Allan Mann, out from England, first built on it, at the far end, to the time when his grandfather came up to the little hill and built a log house for his bride, that was replaced seventy years ago by the brick building that makes the central portion of the present homestead. Mrs. Allan B. Mann is the third bride to come to the old building, and little Braden Mann, the only son of the house, is growing up to continue the Mann tradition in the same place.

In the barn, the biggest in the country, that looks down at the house on the north side, a building fifty-eight and one-half feet wide by one hundred feet long, with an ell forty feet by forty-six feet, a metal-shingled hip roof over its red sides, the lower stables house some of Mr. Mann's purebred stock. Here is Terrington Denmark, a purebred hackney, twelve years old, that took second prize in Cobourg Horse Show against a class of six, two years ago, and whose mother, from England, was champion of the Madison Square Gardens Show. This horse has the outstanding eyes, set almost at an angle to the head, that are said to be remnants of the old Arabian breed. Next door is Lark, a daughter, a three-year-old bright-eyed chestnut, getting ready for this Fall's showing, and farther on still is a mild-looking, white, purebred shorthorn bull, Browndale Sort, brother of two other champions, Browndale Hero and Crowndale Count. Dundrennan Jock is another tall horse, biting at his staff posts, a purebred Clydesdale that was shown for the first time in Peterboro' last Fall, and took second prize at Guelph as a yearling, against nine competitors. Out in the fields and in the pens are the forty purebred shorthorn cattle that Mr. Mann specializes in, with twenty or more of lesser quality, and a few of the "babies" occupy a place all to themselves in the big stable. There are about twenty-five purebred Yorkshires, with a few of the little red Tamworths, and seventy-five purebred Leicester and Shropshire sheep. A couple of hundred hens, mostly white Leghorns and Barred Rocks, have their own quarters.

OMEMEE, June 24.—The price of eggs is on the increase, the market price being 23 and 27 cents per dozen, with a plentiful supply of dairy butter at 26 and 30 cents.

AT SEVENTY, HE STILL THROWS THEM

James Dahlman, mayor of Omaha for so long now he has become a tradition, has polled the pioneer vote in countless campaigns through the title "Cowboy Jim." And when his city held its first rodeo, the mayor proved that his title meant something after all. He challenged all ex-cowboys over 60 to a calf-roping contest. Though nearly 70 now, he easily won.

HAVE GREEN CORN TO FEED TO COWS

Increased Milk Production Will Result—Saves Pastures.

It will surprise you to know how much the milk yield will be increased if you have green corn to feed the cows in Summer after hot weather comes and the pastures begin to get short and dry up a bit. This pasture problem may be largely overcome by using a small area of land for closely planted corn. Choose the warmest small area of the farm near to the barn. By this is meant a place that permits of early planting in Spring. You gain a couple of weeks by such selection.

The land is plowed and prepared as for an ear crop of corn. If stable manure is available, use about ten tons to the acre, plowing the same under. The area may be an acre or two of land, or even up to five acres, depending, of course, on how many cows are in the herd. If there are only a few cows to supply the farm family, a half acre to an acre will suffice.

In planting run the rows about 40 inches apart and drop the grains every five or six inches in the row. This corn is cultivated and being warm soil it will gain two or three weeks by August. Then it may be used as a soiling crop. The feeding may be done on the pasture. A small armful is cut for each cow and scattered on the grass, this being done every day. It will surprise those who have never done this to note the very great increase in milk flow that always follows the use of this green corn.

Of course if green alfalfa or green clover is available resorting to green corn is not necessary. However, there never comes a time that this supply of green corn is not appreciated. It is especially recommended for those farmers who have few cows and always feel the lack of green feed when the hot days of August come. Many farmers depend on this small green corn patch as one of the most important of their year's plantings. You ought to try it.

MAGIC TOUCH OF RAIN.

Bethany Benefitted by Recent Showers and Crops Look Well.

BETHANY, June 25.—The shower of rain received on Friday night did thousands of dollars' worth of good to the crops and other vegetation. All grains have sprung up as if by magic since the rain. Haying will not be so early this year on account of all other grains being late. This will give the hay a chance to be somewhat heavier than predicted. Fall wheat is showing an excellent crop, with rye a close second. The crop is showing up fairly well, and potatoes are all up and doing well. Eggs are plentiful, market price of 27c being paid, with butter not so plentiful since the creameries started, at 30c a pound.

Fall Wheat is in the Shot Blade—Other Grains Fair.

SHOWERS HELPED

MILLBROOK, June 25.—Lang and Madill shipped a carload of hogs to Peterboro on Monday. Next week a shipment of cattle, including a number a calves, will be sent to Toronto. Owing to the fire of two weeks ago, Mr. Lang has been obliged to postpone his trip to the West until a later date.

The sight of part of a field of grain on the road between Scott's Corners and Peterboro, cut and stooked and apparently well ripened, was an unusual one for this season. The grain turned out to be rye, cut for fodder while green, the weather being responsible for the yellow color.

Fields of alfalfa are making a satisfactory showing, but clover is "spotty," generally speaking. New meadows are looking well, while the old ones have not quite as good an appearance.

Fall wheat is in the shot blade and promises a good yield. Hay is doing better since the warm weather set in but a light crop is all that can be looked for.

Corn planting, on some farms in this vicinity, was only completed last week. Potatoes are well up in many cases, with plenty of time in which to mature yet. A number of fields are being prepared for buckwheat as the wet season made it impossible for the usual spring grains to be sown. Buckwheat is now a good price, but there is likely to be an unusual quantity offered for sale suits.

Making Rhubarb Last.

More than once the complaint has been heard that this year the rhubarb plants went to seed unusually early. The "garden's good-tempered growth," this welcome spring visitor has been called, because, while the sourest vegetable, "it is a good mixer, and uses its acidity to cover the flatness of sweeter things." Picking off the seed pods as soon as they are noticed forming is the only way to lengthen the season during which the rhubarb can be used with pleasure to the palate, according to the advice given by the Department of Agriculture. Because of this medicinal value, as well as its usefulness for the making of "sweet conserves," and the favor with which it is regarded as a toothsome filling for pies, the labor of prolonging its usefulness is well worth while. Combined with strawberries for jam, or with pineapple for preserves, or put away raw in cold water, it is equally palatable.

Seed Alfalfa.

Leave the first cutting of alfalfa for seed; experience proves that those doing so have reaped the best results. There is a steady demand for alsike for export, hence no safer or more profitable seed crop can be grown. Ontario alfalfa is in strong demand not only here but across the line as well.

The rain on Monday, and the occasional showers which have come through the night recently, have been welcomed both for farm and gardens. Particularly on the high, sandy land in Manvers township was the moisture needed. The excessive rains earlier in the season suited this soil admirably. "More" is the prevailing requirement at present, judging by the opinions generally expressed.

Much of the wayside grass in the village has been cut during the past week, having reached a surprising growth. Weeds also are attaining a most unwelcome prevalence and height. Left to itself for about ten days, during the owner's holidays, one garden, previously clean and well cultivated, had little but weeds visible—a back-breaking and trying task, with difficulty in locating the vegetables and giving them breathing space, was the outcome of work undone even for a brief time.

For Poultry Men.

The wise poultry man will take measures to avoid scaly leg developing among his fowl, according to the Department of Agriculture, by painting the perches with kerosene, thus killing the minute insect which causes the trouble before it has a chance to infect the birds. This insect burrows under the scale on the shank of the fowl causing a rough and ragged appearance. Thoroughly grease with lard, or oil, should nfection take place, and thus prevent further spread of the disease which is caused wholly by carelessness.

Preventive measures, two or three times a year, is a wise course to follow greasing the legs of all the fowls freely.

Poor nutrition and care is largely responsible for the heavy loss of young fowl in Canada each year, provided a good breeding stock has been secured in the first place. Approximately 50,000,000 chicks are hatched annually, but this season, according to advices received, about 50 per cent. have been lost, the eggs set lacking hatchibility—a fault that may be corrected by giving the breeding fowl plenty of exercise and juicy green food. The mineral salts from the latter have an important effect on the hatchibility of the eggs produced.

GETTING A GOOD STAND OF GRASS

Farmer Cannot Expect to Get Results by Merely Ploughing and Seeding.

A point in regard to old pastures is the fact that some farmers expect to plow up the ground, fit it fairly well and immediately seed it to grass once more.

There are circumstances when this should be done as, for instance, very hilly land or very stony land; but generally speaking it would be far better, where the nature of the land permits, to put in a crop like corn, plant it in hills and give a thorough cultivation both ways. This will clean up the land and give a much better chance for the new seeding. The lime may be applied after plowing for corn. Unless the ground is well broken up and cleaned many weeds and foul grasses will spoil the new seeding.

In some cases farmers plow the land and seed to oats, using the oats as a nurse crop for the grass seed. If this is done, the oats should be cut for hay, else they will so exhaust the soil of moisture as to injure the growth of the clover in the seed mixture. This is not the best way, this seeding in oats, but it works out all right in some sections and in some years when the rainfall is sufficient. But this is always gamble to take.

Whatever the grass mixture, add a few pounds of alsike clover and a pound or two or alfalfa or sweet clover. This will give some pasture the first year it is seeded. One ought not to turn stock on the new seeding right after the oats are cut. Give the new grasses a chance first. Sweet clover is a good plant and should be used in pasture mixtures more than it is.

EFFICIENCY ON THE FARM WILL PAY DIVIDENDS

There's a Right Way For Every Farm Job, Says Auzel H. Gerbaz.

A FEW TIPS.

Probably You Know Them All, But It Won't Hurt To Make Sure.

It has oft been repeated that a chain is as strong as its weakest link. A machine also is only as strong as its weakest part. Learn to seek the weakest points of the machines that you buy. That is the part that breaks or wears out first. For instance, a dump rake will usually give out at the wheels first, next the dumping apparatus. A few give out at the axle. So it is well to watch the construction of these parts when you buy. Of a mower, the cog wheels invariably give our first. The bundle tying apparatus of a binder usually gives much trouble before the machine is worn out. You can go on in like manner with all the machines that you have.

If farm machine companies would cooperate more closely with the farmers who buy their machines, they would find out much to their own benefit. But some companies seem to think that once the machine is sold the transaction is complete. They should be with you in spirit until the machine is worn out.

A safe rule, usually, is to purchase from a company that specializes in farm machinery. For instance, while travelling in the country, I saw a unique advertisement of a farm gas engine, that had proved to be a failure. The company I presume failed to make good its deficiency, so the angry farmer mounted the engine on a stand by the public road and over it posted a warning to beware of buying from the firm that sold that machine. Probably the firm lost more by the bad name that this gave, than it would have cost to adjust the claim. Incidentally, the firm that sold this engine specialized in plumbing materials, so perhaps it was not their place to manufacture or handle farm gas engines, especially in this age of specialization.

Does it pay to have a machine shed? A college professor, quoting statistics, said that it has not been proven that sheltering farm machinery makes it last any longer. Now do not pull down your machine shed, for a greater fallacy never was uttered. I say that it pays, and pays well, to shelter your machinery. A weather-beaten machine looks bad and even though the iron work is not harmed, nevertheless the bearings and moving points of control are materially affected. Then the draft of a rusty machine is much greater than one free from rust.

Does your farm repair shop equipment consist of a rusty monkey wrench, an old hammer, and a few miscellaneous tools? Well, it would be to your advantage to rustle up a full set of tools and learn how to use them. It is not impossible for the average farmer to learn to sharpen his own plow shares, do ordinary welding, sharpen and temper his tools, for ordinary repair work, and shoe horses. A little ingenuity with hammer, saw and square will save many a carpenter's bill.

Methods in Horse Barn.

Now let us go to the horse barn. Prince has a sore shoulder, because the hired man put on the wrong collar. A good horse has been put out of commission and spring work is pressing. Oh, well! hired men make mistakes like the rest of us. What could have prevented it? Use system about your harness and get yourself a set of steel letters and figures which will stamp anything on wood, metal or leather. Then stamp the name of the horse on the collar. A couple of dollars invested in this way will perhaps save ten or more.

Homer is taking the harness off the team he has been working. He is in a hurry, for it is late and he has a date with his girl. The more he hurries the more nettled he becomes. Then he swears that he is through with the farm. How can this work be simplified? Homer takes off the harness first and then returns for the collar, two distinct operations that might be made as one. Then there should be no missing buckles and buckle holes should be O.K. The old-fashioned fire station had the harness hung above the horses. There is food for efficiency study in this.

There's the grain feed bin. What two of your best horses died from getting gorged on the oats from the bin? The bin was shut but not latched and the horses were not tied. Yet this is exactly what happened to a farmer of my acquaintance, and the two horses died five years apart. A loss of $400 for the little lack of forethought in planning to secure the door of the bin automatically as it was closed.

It was Ben Franklin who said: "For want of a nail, a shoe was lost; for want of a shoe a horse stumbled and a rider was thrown, for want of a rider a battle was lost."

The flock which only lays when eggs are less than 20 cents a dozen doesn't pay a profit. Did you get a good production when eggs were 40 cents?

SHEEP LIKE CORN.

They Make a Good Job of Cleaning Leaves Off the Stalks.

When they become accustomed to cleaning the leaves off corn stalks, sheep soon do a good job of it, and the corn stover makes excellent roughage. The shock stover is scattered out over a sod—blue grass sod is best, but old timothy and clover also is excellent—and there is very little wastage. This is a good way to clean up the stover in shocks and still remaining in wheat or corn fields.

Breeding ewes may be fed in this manner, but they require additional food, such as clover or alfalfa hay, wheat bran with a little linseed meal, some oats and a bit of corn. The mineral matter in the legume hay and wheat bran is desirable for the bred-ewes to nourish better the unborn lambs. Such a ration, with the corn-stalk leaves, will keep the sheep in excellent condition. Housing is necessary only during bad weather at lambing time.

SCARE CROW NO LONGER SCARES

Modern Methods Have Supplied the Old-Fashioned Ragged Figure.

A CASE IN POINT.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25.—Three black crows, according to the college song, sat on a tree, with a carnivorous banquet, for lack of anything better, in prospect. If the bill of fare for the impending feast had been the corn just sprouted in a farmer's field the gathering of the dusky marauders would probably have been numbered by the hundreds.

The annual war between the corn-raising farmer and his standing enemy, the crow, is on again, and, as usual, the trend of victory is in favor of the latter. With a cunning that is almost uncanny, the crow is still able to circumvent all the old-time tactics that have been employed to affect his extermination. His defiant "caw" speaks the contempt with which he regards the steps taken by the farmer to inspire him with fear.

The other evening a C.N.R. train on the Peterboro-Belleville division of the road passed a 10-acre field of corn near Godolphin Station. The owner had erected in the centre of the field a scarecrow that was a work of art in its resemblance to a human being. In its outstretched arms the lay figure held something that looked like a gun and a pipe, for further effect, was inserted in its mouth. From stakes set up throughout the field were suspended the carcasses odd crows intended as a warning to the living of the fate in store for trespassers.

And what was the result? Two crows actually roosted on the lay figure designed to frighten them!

Several hundreds more were gathered at various parts of the field, perhaps to mourn the untimely end of their dead comrades. Be that as it may, a good acre of the growing corn would be certainly destroyed before the assembly broke up.

The crow can detect a man with a gun rather further than the human eye can see. Let such an individual be located by the outpost that these black imps of mischief in the corn season beyond all question maintain as a lookout for danger, and the warning cry apprises the entire bird community of the fact, and a flight out of range is at once made.

The old-fashioned scarecrow is no more than a moral institution that has outlived its usefulness, if it ever had any. No doubt the crows appreciate it as a contrivance put up by the farmer to afford them a resting-place, or a sentry-box from which they can the more easily observe the approach of an enemy. The sight of dead crows set up in a cornfield may occasion grief among those that survive, but grief does not deter them from pulling up the young corn.

Producers of corn on a large scale say that there is only one remedy that can be effectively used against the crow. Cunning as that bird is it lacks chemical knowledge and cannot detect poison. Strychnine is the solution of a world-old problem. If some of the seed is soaked in that drug the crow that pulls the plant will surely die, and the wise birds that are left will seek new cornfields.

BIG SALE OF PUREBREDS.

James White, who owns a 300-acre farm near Indian River, a farm that has for years been voted as the home of a fine herd of pure-bred Holsteins, recently instructed J. R. Battisby, auctioneer, of Campbellford, to dispose of his herd consisting of 37 head, every animal having successfully passed the tuberculin test. The date set for the auction is July 4th.

Mr. Battisby advises all owners of pure-bred stock to have their herds tested. Unless this is done the best buyers will not bid for them when they are offered for sale. No man with a tested herd cares to bring home an animal that lacks the Government stamp lest it infect his entire stock.

MAY ELIMINATE DISEASES THAT HURT POTATOES

Report of Government Pathologist on Degenerative Ills of Tuber.

SIMPLE CURE.

Root Out the Diseased Plants From Seed Piece to Crest.

OTTAWA, June 24.—Degeneration diseases of potatoes are those such as mosaic, leaf curl, curly dwarf, spingle tuber and the like, which are known to be spread in the field by aphids, plant lice, and which can only be eliminated by removing the source of infection. The source in every case can be traced to tubers which were formed in diseased hills the previous year. The aphids feed on the plants arising from these tubers, and when they go to healthy ones they carry some of the infection with them, and in the course of feeding, inoculate the juice from the diseased plant into the healthy one. In the course of a few weeks the formerly healthy plant is diseased.

In order to prevent the spread of these degeneration diseases it is necessary to go through the field about the time the plants are eight to ten inches high and pull out all that appear undesirable. In doing this be sure to remove the entire plant system, including the seed piece. The removal of plants in this way is known as "rogueing". Two or three weeks later the field should be given another thorough inspection and all diseased or undesirable plants rogued. It is also necessary at this time to remove any foreign varieties which may be present. Should it be necessary to rogue a field after the tubers have begun to form, care should be taken to remove these as well as the plant. This will reduce to a minimum the danger of disease being carried over to next year's crop by means of the tubers.

HIRED MEN ARE LEAVING FARMS

Farmers Are Unable to Pay High Wages and Helpers Go on Strike.

CAVAN FARM NEWS

CAVAN, June 25.—The men in most rural sections are engaged at road work. It has been decided by the Government that statute labor shall be abolished; but this year the roads are receiving attention in this way. Some of the roads were in very great need of attention before the farmers were ready to do their road work. Great ruts had been worn in them by automobiles and other vehicles during the long-continued rains of the spring.

There seems to be an epidemic of hired men leaving their employers. Seven or eight men, within a radius of three miles, have recently lost their help. It seems rather too bad to the farmers that when a farmer has kept a man through the slack time of a long, wet spring, and some through the entire winter, at a reasonable wage, that just as the hoeing and haying are in sight the man should strike for higher wages and leave.. With prices of farm produce as low as at present, farmers cannot afford to pay very high wages.

Sometimes, in thinking of the wages received on a farm, the fact is forgotten that, in addition to the wages received, the man also received his board and has his washing done.

Hay is Short.

The hay is short this season, and some farmers are predicting that they will be able to strip two acres with one load.

Mr. Cyril Moore, Eighth Line, cut a field of alfalfa last week. It is somewhat thin and not as tall as other seasons, but is up to the average crop of alfalfa for this year.

There is plenty of room in the barns for hay as few farmers have any old hay left. Everyone is cutting grass to feed stock.

Crops, according to present appearances, will not yield a great deal of straw. Consequently, the supply of feed for next winter will be scarce unless there is a great deal of corn and other fodder sown.

A few farmers who have been growing sweet clover have been very well satisfied with it. Where well cured it has been found to make very good fodder for cattle. One farmer, on a hundred acres, remarked this spring that had it not been for his sweet clover, he would have long since been out of feed. It seems to last out better than the other clover.

The farmers were glad to see the showers on Monday, even though it was not a heavy fall of rain. The ground had become so hard and caked after the heavy spring rains that it was retarding growth.

Wild strawberries are ripening.

Wood Chuck Menace.

Ground-hogs, or wood-chucks, are very plentiful this spring and are damaging the crops. The farmers need to get busy and destroy them. They not only destroy the crops, but the large holes which they burrow are a great menace to horses ploughing or cutting the grain.

Mr. A. Jamieson, Eighth Concession, has a field of peas and the ground-hogs have cropped them off close to the ground for several feet from the fence all along one side of the field.

Mr. Hal Argue has planted ten acres of beans this year. He will harvest the crop and then sow the field with fall wheat.

There has been great fatalities among foals this year. Mr. James Paul lost a fine foal when three days' old.

The Heart of a Tree

What does he plant who plants a tree?
He plants the friend of sun and sky;
He plants the flag of breezes free;
The shaft of beauty, towering high;
He plants a home to heaven anigh,
For song and mother-croon of bird
In hushed and happy twilight heard
The treble of heaven's harmony—
These things he plants who plants a tree.

What does he plant who plants a tree?
He plants cool shade and tender rain,
And seed and bud of days to be,
And years that fade and flush again;
He plants the glory of the plain;
He plants the forest's heritage;
The harvest of a coming age;
The joy that unborn eyes shall see—
These things he plants who plants a tree.

What does he plant who plants a tree?
He plants, in sap and leaf and wood,
In love of home and loyalty,
And forecast thought of civic good—
His blessings on the neighborhood,
When in the hollow of His hand
Holds all the growth of all our land—
A nation's growth from sea to sea
Stirs in his heart who plants a tree.

VISITORS ARRIVE

Crowe Lake Summer Resorts Bring Influx of Visitors to Marmora.

MARMORA, June 25.—On Monday evening at a meeting of the Marmora Booster Club plans were made for a picnic to be held on July 1 at Crowe Lake. The ladies of the town will provide lunch which will be put in boxes and sold on the picnic grounds.

Already many of the annual visitors to the summer resort on Crowe Lake are returning to their cottages. The citizens of the town are opening their summer homes again at the lake.

The new bowling green at Delora is receiving good patronage these evenings. Through the installation of electric lights play is possible until a late hour. The enthusiasm of one gentleman was so strong that he procured a set of balls from his native Scotland.

Much amusement is caused daily at Deloro by the pithy sayings displayed from the bulletin board erected near its store. This proves a good way of acquiring good-natured customers.

The brothers Norman and Raymond Leal have been visiting their mother, Mrs. Harry Leal of Millbrook for a few days.

Miss H. Taft spent the week-end with her brother near Belleville.

Mr. Warren Hickey, Mr. Gerald Potts and Mr. Eugene O'Neil spent Sunday in Bancroft.

Mrs. Norman Mitchell of Toronto is spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. O. R. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Parkinson are visiting the latter's father and mother Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Doupe.

Mr. Post who left about a year ago for Timmins has returned with his wife and child and is working with Mr. Roy Jones in the barber shop.

Mr. Halpenny of Stirling is presiding at the Middle School examinations here this week.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearlessly they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

RAIN SPOILED GARDEN PARTY

Social Will Be Held at Campbellford This Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 25. — Rain spoiled the garden party of St. Andrews' Church last night, after the ladies of the congregation had made eleborate preparations. A number of people had gathered on the church grounds early in the evening and supper was served but the downpour of rain that came about 8 o'clock put a sudden stop to the proceedings.

The social will be held to-night when all those who purchased tickets last night will be admitted free. Besides the refreshments an elaborate programme has been prepared.

Change in School Act

Just as everyone interested was beginning to have a clear understanding of the system by which the cost of maintaining a high school is apportioned between the town and county, there comes an amendment to the Act which is puzzling those whose business it is to interpret it. The only point on which local authorities agree is that the grant from the Counties Council will be greater next year, although it is not apparent just how this increase is to be computed.

Church Parade

The local Orange lodges and the True Blues will attend the Salvation Army Citadel next Sunday evening, when a special address will be delivered.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Streets Have Been Oiled and Sprinkled With Gravel.

HASTINGS, June 25.—The village streets will soon be free from the dust which has been so disagreeable lately. The oil ordered by the Village Council some time ago has arrived, and is on the local Canadian National Railway tracks. A steam engine belonging to Mr. H. McMillan has been heating the oil today and yesterday and it is being sprayed on the streets from the large tank. A light coat of gravel is being sprinkled over the oil, which keeps the latter from being lifted off the streets by the vehicle wheels passing over.

Game Postponed.

The junior lacrosse game between Hastings and Havelock, scheduled for Friday next, has been postponed upon the request of the Havelock manager, and will now be played on Monday, June 30th. Some of the Havelock players are attending the High School, and their examinations take place on the day scheduled at first.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fletcher and daughter Sara, of Pittsburgh, Pen., and five other persons make up a party of tourists who are spending a three weeks' vacation camping on the Trent River a little west of the railroad bridge just above Hastings.

Mrs. Rev. W. Peer of Norwood is visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Rev. Hinton's.

Mr. S. S. Spooner has purchased a sedan car from the local dealer, Dr. J. H. Hess.

Mrs. N. Crawford of Niagara Falls is a guest at the parsonage.

Mr. B. Smith of Peterborough spent Monday in Hastings.

Mr. G. B. Stevenson spent Monday in Peterboro.

Mr. L. E. Stevens of Peterboro, was in the village recently.

Mrs. W. H. Chapman was in Norwood on Sunday.

Miss Elva Portway of Norwood, was a guest here on Thursday.

Mr. Norman Kidd of Trenton was here on Monday.

Mr. T. W. Chaplain spent the week-end at his home in Campbellford.

Mrs. A. V. German was in Peterboro on Monday.

Miss Ruth Coons, of Bracebridge, has returned to her home after spending some time the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weild, Front Street.

Mrs. M. E. Greenley was in Trent River on Sunday.

Mr. Bruce Richardson, teller in the Union Bank of Canada, at Moncton, N.B., is holidaying at his home on Clyde street.

Misses Mable and Viola Stewart, who have spent the past year at Peterborough Normal school, are home for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Wellman and daughters, Reta and Ilene, spent Sunday in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allan, of Toronto, spent the week at their summer cottage here on the Trent river.

Messrs. Spraggs and Jex and families spent the week end at their cottage here.

C.G.E. LADIES WON FROM QUAKERS --- MAPLE LEAFS DEFEATED CLASSICS

C. G. E. LADIES WON FROM THE QUAKERS TEAM

Softball Fixture at Central Park Showed Some Good Play.

SCORE WAS 29 TO 13

Miss Bolam Was Leading Hitter — Miss Hayes Made Two Homers.

C.G.E. beat Quakers in a Ladies' Softball League fixture at Central Park last night by the score of 29-13. For the first four innings it was anybody's contest but in the fifth and sixth the C.G.E. unlimbered the heavy artillery and collected 12 runs and 11 hits in each session. The Quakers fought pluckily but were unable to cut down the large lead to any extent. Miss Bolam for the winners was the leading hitter having 6 hits in as many times at bat while Miss Hayes had 5 in 6 times up including 2 homers and a double. Miss Edwards led the Quaker attack with 3 hits in 4 times at bat. Rain stopped the game at the end of the eighth inning.

NEW CHAMPION IS ALL YEAR GOLFER

Walker's Success is Proof That Week-enders Have Little Chance.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

All-the-year-round golf was given another boost when Cyril Walker won the open championship at the Oakland Hills course. For three years Walker has been a 12-months-a-year golfer.

The New Jersey professional never misses an opportunity for tournament competition and since the big open tournaments have been held in the southwest and south, Walker has been a regular attendant. He has also spent much of his time during the winter months at Pinehurst, where he played two rounds a day.

Few of the professionals have worked harder to obtain a winning game than Walker and his success at Detroit was largely due to three years of constant effort, during which period he expended a large sum of money and gave his time in order to be present whenever there was an opportunity for competition.

Mrs. Donald Belcher, Massachusetts state champion, pointed out at the women's national championship at Westchester Biltmore last fall that more than half of the women who qualified were "all year" golfers, who played in Florida, Pinehurst and other resorts.

The leaders in professional and women's golf for years have been those who have been able to play the game 12 months in the year.

A partial list of the all-year golfers is illuminating. Among the professionals are Cyril Walker, Walter Hagen, Joe Kirkwood, Gene Sarazen, Jock Hutchison, Bill Mehlhorn, Bobby Cruickshank, MacDonald Smith and Eddie Loos.

Among the women, Glenna Collett, Edith Cummings, Marion Hollins, Louise Fordyce, Mrs. J. V. Hurd, Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Florence Hollaran and Doreen Kavanaugh.

Among the amateurs, George Von Elm, Willie Hunter and Fred J. Wright, all of whom migrated from cold countries to southern California.

Big league golf competition is getting so intricate that the week-enders in the summertime have little chance against the all-the-year players.

FEATURE GAME OF THIS DATE

ONE OF THE GAME'S IMMORTALS "BREAKS IN"

On June 25, 1879, one Dennis Brouthers, a left-handed hitter, received a trial at first base on the Troy National League team. With a two-base hit he started a second inning mass attack that won the game. From that day until 1896 this Brouthers stayed in the big leagues. He hit .300 for 14 consecutive years, and in 15 of 16 seasons. He led National League hitters four years, and American Association hitters once. It was said of him that he had the keenest eye in baseball; he could tell whether a ball was half an inch away from either outside corner of the plate. The score score of Dan's debut:

C. G. E. LEAD IN LADIES' LEAGUE

Third Year of the Organization is the Best Yet With 8 Teams.

MANY SUPPORTERS

The Peterboro Ladies Softball League is now in its third year and is bigger and better than ever. The season was started with six teams but two new teams were admitted after the second week. These games have a large regular following and several hundred people surround the field at every game. Some of the games played had large scores while others have been close low scoring battles, one going 12 innings. Alex Kay is umpire-in-chief and has greatly assisted in making real ballplayers of the girls. The umpiring in his absence has been ably carried on by Sam Calladine, H. Legros and others.

BABE RUTH HAS HUNCH ON SOME CLOSE BATTLES

Slugger Still Believes Red Sox Are Playing Beyond Strength.

INDIANS IN SLUMP.

Cleveland Indians as Much of a Shock as the Red Sox.

By BABE RUTH.

The American League pennant race, I guess, will be every bit as tight as I thought it would be before the Yankees went West. Those pestiferous Boston Red Sox don't seem to be showing any desire to blow up and the rest of the clubs are pretty well bunched together. Just what is going to happen this year, anyhow?

I had an idea before we went on the road that the Yankees were going to have some trouble. Our pitchers weren't in real good condition and the other teams were kicking up a lot of dust generally. Even the Athletics, who had gone off on a terrible slump, are showing signs of life, and what with one thing and another the panic is on.

Maybe an old jinx has caught hold of the Yanks. You know, no team has ever won more than three pennants in a row, either in the American League or in the National League, and just as we are having some trouble so, too, are the Giants. They're up against the same kind of proposition, having won three pennants in a row themselves.

Cleveland Upsets "Dope."

The Red Sox, of course, have been the sensation of the season so far, but in another way the Cleveland Indians have been just as much of a shock. Most everybody figured Tris Speaker's outfit to be up there scrapping with the Yanks for the lead. Instead, they're down there in the second division trying to stay out of last place. How are you going to dope a pennant race when such things happen?

Detroit, St. Louis, Washington and Chicago have been doing just about what they were expected to and as was thought the teams as a league were pretty well bunched together. Will they stay that way much longer, and if not when will the stronger teams begin to draw away from the pursuers? And when, particularly, will the Red Sox blow—if they do at all?

I don't mind saying the Red Sox have me up a tree. I still believe they are playing beyond their strength, but, as I said some time ago, I believe they will finish in the first division, instead of last, as they did a year ago. Not only that, but what I said about them having a good chance to finish third still goes.

July 4th Will Tell.

In the meantime, however, we'll have to suspend judgment on the Red Sox. The Fourth of July will be here soon and that's the day that has always been regarded as the tip-off as to how the teams will finish at the end of the season. As a rule the standing of the clubs on the Fourth has almost always been at the end of the year.

In other words, Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit—the teams that were supposed to be the real contenders with the Yankees—had better pull themselves together right soon and haul the Red Sox down and the Yankees, too, for the matter—if they can.

CLASSICS TOOK A DEFEAT FROM CLASSY LEAFS

Bradley Held the Brooklynites to One Hit and Fanned 13.

PERFECT BATTERY

Maple Leafs Won 10 to 0 After Splendid Exhibition.

Classics could get only one runner to second base when Maple Leafs scored a 10 to 0 victory at Exhibition Park last evening.

Bradley fanned thirteen Brooklynites and allowed but one hit. Ralph, after holding the Leafs in check for two frames, encountered poor support, and the runs began to pile up against him. Corbett and Bradley turned in perfect batting averages, the former helping himself to a pair of singles, a double, and a triple in four trips to the plate, while Bradley drew three singles in as many times up. In two games Corbett has hit safely in seven out of nine times at bat for a total of ten bases. Bradley has not been scored on in sixteen innings, and only one hit has been garnered off his pitching.

Starr at short, Smith at second, and Calladine in the left garden did some nice fielding.

BASEBALL MOGULS HELD A MEETING

Schedule Arranged For the Second Half of the Playing Season.

(By a Staff Reporter)

WARKWORTH, June 25. — A meeting of the executive of the Northumberland Baseball League was held here last night the following being present: President McKee Secretary Gordon Lapp and Halliday of Brighton, Manager Wellman of Hastings, C. W. Varcoe and M. Davey of Roseneath, Kory Zufelt, Gilbride and Way of Orland, A. D. Hall and M. Wilson of Colborne.

Schedule for Second Half

The following schedule for the second half of the season as submitted by Secretary Lapp was accepted by the meeting after Mr. Varcoe had stated that he could give no assurance that Roseneath would be able to continue in the league after the first half of the schedule had been played:

July 23.—Campbellford at Brighton, Hastings, at Orland, Colborne a bye.

July 30. —Colborne at Orland, Hastings at Campbellford, Brighton a bye.

August 6—Campbellford at Colborne, Brighton at Orland, Hastings a bye.

August 13—Hastings at Brighton, Colborne at Campbellford, Orland a bye.

August 20.—Brighton at Colborne, Orland at Hastings, Campbellford a bye.

August 27—Orland at Brighton, Campbellford at Hastings, Colborne a bye.

September 1 — (Labor Day) — Brighton at Campbellford, Hastings at Colborne, Orland a bye.

September 3—Orland at Campbellford, Colborne at Brighton, Hastings a bye.

September 10—Brighton at Hastings, Orland at Colborne, Campbellford a bye.

September 17.—Colborne at Hastings, Campbellford at Orland, Brighton a bye.

That Disputed Game.

There was a long and at times an acrimonious discussion over the game scheuled between Roseneath and Colborne, at present tied for the lead, and which was to have been played at Roseneath on the 11th of June. Roseneath wanted the contest postponed until Saturday, the half holiday in that village, but Colborne was as anxious to play according to the schedule and claimed the game.

Finally the matter was amicably settled. Colborne consents to play the game on some date on or before Jul. 31st, the exact time to be decided by that club.

The Case of Moore.

Orland had filed an official protest against Third Baseman Moore of Brighton on the ground that he could not qualify under the residence rule. Moore is a telegraph operator who was transferred to Brighton by his company after the first of the year, and it was argued by Brighton and Colborne delegates that an exception should be made in his case.

It was decided on motion of Messrs Hall and Halliday to permit Moore to play out the season and to refund the deposit of $25 with which Orland backed up its protest.

In case Roseneath decides to remain in the league for the second half of the schedule that team will play with the nine which draws a bye each week.

It was stated at the meetng that Campbellford had offered to replay the game with Brighton which was won by the former last week, play being called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness. Brighton had played its half of the eighth and had taken the lead, hence the dissatisfaction.

President McKee, who plays with Brighton, said that the offer would be accepted, the date to be agreed upon later.

CANADIAN ON POLO TEAM.

Invaders of United States, Representing Great Britain, Have Canuck to Help—Feared by the Yankee Players.

One of the strongest teams that ever represented England in polo will invade America this summer in quest of the International challenge cup at Meadow Brook.

And on this team will be Louis L. Lacey, a Canadian, who has lived in the Argentine for the last 15 years.

Lacey becomes a member of the English four under much the same circumstances that Molla Mallory, the tennis player, joins the Norway squad for future international competitions.

Because of his Canadian nativity Lacey was not acceptable as a member of the Argentine team by the Olympic committee. Mrs. Mallory being a Norwegian was not, or will not, be permitted to compete as an American.

Naturally the Britons are jubilant in getting a player of Lacey's sterling qualities, especially since Lord Wodehouse, who was slated for the back position, will be unable to make the trip to America.

Lacey is no stranger to American polo enthusiasts. He was a member of the Argentine invading four which won the open championship in this country two years ago. Lacey was the dominating star of that well-balanced, expertly-trained and superbly mounted outfit.

It is clear that the Canadian will add great strength to the British four and that the Britishers as a result will prove extremely dangerous.

American polo authorities realize that the situation is fraught with grave possibilities.

PERCY FAIR BOARD TO HOLD FIELD DAY

(By a Staff Reporter.)

WARKWORTH, June 24.—The directors of the Percy Agricultural Society held a meeting last night to discuss the matter of holding a field day, an event that has proved so popular and successful in past years. It was decided, however, to postpone this question for the present, but it is likely that the annual event will be held in August as usual.

Change Date of Fair.

The dates for the Fall Fair were changed to Thursday and Friday, Octoper 9th and 10th, the days agreed upon at a former meeting having been October 7th and 8th. Notice of this change will be sent to Secretary Hay of the Central Ontario Fairs Association and to J. Lockie Wilson at Toronto.

Directors R. Honey, C. H. Curtis and Secretary Armstrong were appointed a committee to wait on the Percy Township Council to ask for a grant for the Fair.

Director Honey gave a report of the meeting of the Ontario Fairs Association of Toronto, which he attended as the delegate from here. This was accepted and Mr. Honey's expense bill was paid.

HE HAD HIS TROUBLES.

When he came back to his home town
After the war
Expecting to be a hero
Folks
Threw him into jail
Foisted off someone's baby on him
Refused him his own insurance money
Told him his girl was engaged to be married
Tried to steal his inheritance of $50,000
Stole his clothes and money
Accused him of kidnapping
Sicked the sheriff on him
Called him an imposter
Pointed out to him that he was officially dead
Handcuffed him
Called him a liar—
And a few other little things like that.

It all happens in Thomas H. Ince's screamingly funny after-war comedy - drama, "The Sunshine Trail," running at the Royal Theatre on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Do you wonder the hero moaned, "Why didn't they shoot me in the Argonne?"

AMERICAN LEAGUE MORE HOME RUNS.

ST. LOUIS, June 25. — With Geo. Sisler back on first base, St. Louis Americans got the jump on Detroit Tigers yesterday, taking both games of a double header opening series here. Scores were 7-5 and 5-1. The defeats dropped Cobb's men from first to third place in the American League.

Sisler took the field amid a great ovation from the fans. He was suspended on Sunday with two other Browns as a result of a brief argument with Umpire Holmes over balls and strikes decisions, in which a pop bottle shower was directed at the umpire. Bill Jacobson, the centre fielder, drove out his eighth and ninth home runs in the first game, getting four hits out of four times at bat, besides having six put outs. His single in the eighth scored two runs.

Score:

Detroit .. ..000000050—5 8 0
St. Louis .. ..01001005x—7 12 0

Batteries: Whitehall, Cole, Stoner, and Bassler; Davis, Shocker and Severeid.

Second game:

St. Louis .. ..01031000x—5 11 0

Batteries: Wells, Holloway, St. Johnson and Woodall; Lyons, Danforth and Severeid.

At Boston:

Passes by Naylor and Gray, and timely hitting by Todd, Wambsganss, Lee and Ferguson enabled Boston to score early in yesterday's game and eventually to defeat Philadelphia by 4 to 1. Ferguson held the visitors to five hits. Meeker relieved Gray in the third and thereafter Boston failed to score. The score:

Philadelphia.. .. .. ..100000000—1 5 0
Boston .. ..02200000x—4 7 2

Batteries: Naylor, Grey, Meeker and Perkins; Bruggy Ferguson and Heving.

At New York—

After Pipp and Schang collided and lost Peckinhaugh's easy foul in the ninth inning yesterday, the batter hit a home run which sent the game into extra innings and permitted Senators to score again in the tenth and defeat New York by 4 to 3, the third game lost by Yankees to Washington within two days. Russell, the New York cast-off, held his former mates after Zahniser was knocked out. The score:

Washington .. ..1101000001—4 9 0
New York .. ..1002000 30—3 8 2

Batteries: Zahniser, Russell and Ruel; Penock and Schang.

FIRPO AND WILLS WILL FIGHT SOON

The Fight Will Likely be Held on Boyles' Thirty Acres in New Jersey in September.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, has accepted the final terms of Tex Rickard, promoter for 15-round bout between Firpo and Harry Wills, 220 pound negro, thus concluding negotiations which have been pending for two months. Although it was agreed that the match sould take place the latter part of August, Firpo, when notified of Rickard's announcement cabled from Buenos Aires that he would not fight until the first week in September at the earliest. Rickard said he would announce exact time and place after democratic convention.

It is probable that the match will be staged in Rickard's arena on Boyle's Thirty Acres in New Jersey.

Rickard also announced that nothing definite would be done about the proposed match between winner of this bout and Jack Dempsey, until after Firpo-Wills battle.

This statement is interpreted that Rickard has abandoned his plans to use Dempsey in the title match during the present out door season.

GEORGE STREET WON BASEBALL FIXTURE

Lakefield Failed to Overcome George Street's Early Lead.

LAKEFIELD, June 25. — In a rousing game of baseball last night, the Lakefield boys were unable to uphold the village honours against George street, who defeated the homesters by a score of 8 to 5.

George street amassed four runs in the first innings and although Lakefield beat them on the last five innings played, the early lead saved the church boys.

Tom Shields and C. Miller each touched Tommy Doughty for a two bagger in the opening innings.

Doughty, the Lakefield right-hander, pitched good ball after the first innings. Art Armstrong, George street's new pitching ace, duplicated his splendid performance against the "Cogs" two weeks ago. He pitched steady ball and allowed but three clean hits.

The game was called on account of rain and darkness at the end of the sixth innings. C. F. Tanner officiated at the plate and George Robertson handled the bases.

The teams lined up as follows:

George street — A. Armstrong p; Miller c; C. Armstrong 1b; A. Fitzgerald 2b; Graham 3b; B. Miller ss; K. Miller lf; T. Shields cf; Maudsley rf. Spares, Bates and Adams.

DRAGNET SET FOR MATTEOTTI SLAYER

ROME, June 25.—(United Press). —Amerigo Dumini, former Attache of the Press Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior, who confessed to a part in the kidnapping and murder of Serralist Deputy Matteotti, was born in St. Louis, Mo., it was disclosed to-day. Dumini's parents were Italians. This information was forthcoming when the police threw a huge dragnet over the entire country, not only for the purpose of catching any one identified with the Matteotti affair, but to apprehend intimate acquaintances of suspects in the hope of turning up fresh clues.

BRITISH TENNIS STAR OUTCLASSED U. S. PLAYER

WIMBLEDON, June 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Miss Kathleen McKane, Rankin, British woman tennis star, to-day easily defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory, former U. S. champion in the women's singles of Wimbledon tournament to-day, thus eliminating the United States' star. The British player won in straight sets, 6-1, 6-0. She completely outclassed Mrs. Mallory.

NEW INVENTION WILL DO AWAY WITH WEEVIL

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Canadian Press.) — F. N. Pickett, an Englishman, says that in experimenting during destruction of ammunition, he discovered a counteractant against poisonous gases used during the war. He says he has already given the formulae to the British and French governments, and is on his way to Washington to give his process to the United States' government. He also brings with him a formulae for an arsenical solution which he used against locusts in Egypt and which he believes will be successful against the boll weevil in cotton growing States.

U.S. ROUND-THE-WORLD FLIERS REACHED AKYAB

CALCUTTA, British India, June 25.—The United States round-the-world fliers, who left Rangoon this morning, stopped at Akyab, on the eastern coast of the Bay of Bengal, according to messages this afternoon. Earlier despatches reported the United States party had reached Chittagong, Province of Bengal, but these proved erroneous.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH YESTERDAY

STRATHMORE, Alta., June 25 (Canadian Press). — Cornelia and Marie Debie, aged 6 and 2 years respectively, were burned to death and their mother and two little sisters inqured when the Debie home was burned to the ground yesterday morning.

The father had left for work when the fire broke out.

SWAMP WHISKEY TAKES ANOTHER PERSON'S LIFE

Robert Street, of Owen Sound, Came to His Death on Saturday Afternoon.

DEADLY POISON.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 25. —(Canadian Press.)—Not only did Robert Edward Street, of Wiarton, come to his death on Saturday afternoon last by alcoholic poisoning, but in the liquor which he drank was some other than alcohol or fusil oil, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury returned following the inquest last evening. Poison which was mixed with whiskey was sulphite of copper, or blue vitrol, according to the evidence of Coroner Dr. Fisher, who made the examination of some of the bottles from which Street had been drinking during the night prior to his death.

On Friday morning last when Street left for work, he bade his wife good-bye as usual. He did not return on Friday night and it was 5.30 o'clock Saturday morning that he returned home, telling his wife that he had got some poison and that he was very ill. He said he had spent the night in the barn and later on Saturday morning his illness increased. When Dr. Hough, of Wiarton, arrived, the man was dying. He asked him if he had been drinking swamp whiskey and he replied in the affirmative. Street was in very great pain before he died. Dr. Hough stated that from the man's condition he judged he had taken swamp whiskey in which there was poison.

Authorities have stated that they intend to get to the bottom of the affair and find out definitely where the booze which caused Street's death came from. A post mortem was held and the contents of stomach and liver have been sent to Toronto for analysis. Wiarton and district is very much aroused over the startling developments in connection with the case. The finding of the jury definitely stated that in their opinion deceased came to his death from drinking swamp whiskey to which poison had been added.

SENATOR WALSH GETS RECEPTION

The Democratic Convention To-day Perfected Its Organization.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 25. — The Democratic convention to-day perfected its organization, gave a rousing reception to its permanent chairman, Senator Walsh, of Montana, and then moved swiftly along to the first stage of its fight over the Presidential nomination. Amid the floor demonstrations that bespoke resoluteness of the coming struggle, the names of the first of the score of presidential candidates were placed formally before the convention. Senator W. S. Underwood, of Alabama, was the first name presented.

Voting on the nominee will not begin, however, until the convention had received and adopted its platform which to-day was taking shape on sub-committee.

A Ku Klux Klan fight within the Ohio delegation to Democratic national convention died a natural death to-day, with the practical refusal of former Governer James E. Campbell, delegation chairman, to call another caucus of Buckeye delegates.

At their caucus Monday, Ohioans adopted the resolution offered by Edmond H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio's new national committee man, instructing Newton D. Baker, Ohio member of Resolutions committee, to offer anti-Ku Klux Klan plank. Declaring that they did not think such plank advisable at this time and that they had had no opportunity of voting against the Moore resolution, in the caucus, ten members of the Ohio delegation petitioned their chairman to call another caucus to rescind the Ku Klux Klan action.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

HOOSIER FILM TO LEAVE ROYAL THEATRE.

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster," the screen version of Edward Eggleston's famous novel, will be shown at the Royal Theatre for the last time to-night.

The story is laid in the Flat Creek District of Indiana ten years before the Civil War and gives a faithful and thrilling picture of the time. The Indiana Club of New York, which was given a pre-view of the picture, declared that they wished there might be other pictures as good, depicting the early history of Indiana. It is the love story of Ralph Hartsook, the schoolmaster, and Hannah Thompson, the "bound-girl."

Henry Hull, favorite of both stage and screen, and Jane Thomas, recently seen in "The Town That Forgot God" and "The Exciters," have the leading roles. A renowned cast of character actors has been chosen in their support. It includes Nat Pendleton, world's amateur champion heavyweight wrestler, Mary Foy, Walter Palm, Frank Dane, Dorothy Allen, O. W. Hall, George Pelzer, Arthur Ludwig, Frank Andrews, Harold McArthur, Tom Brown, Adolf Link, Jerry Sinclair, Dorothy Walters and Dick Lee.

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster" has sold over half a million copies since it was first published in 1871. It was adapted for the screen by Eve Stuyvesant. Oliver Sellers directed.

STARTLING PLOT TWISTS MIX LAUGHS AND THRILLS IN SIDE-SPLITTING STYLE

A Wholesome Home-Town Comedy-Drama.

In "The Sunshine Trail," his latest comedy-drama, at the Royal to-morrow, Thomas H. Ince has filmed a picture that is as full of surprises and romance as an O. Henry tale. Comedy becomes tragedy, and tragedy turns to laughter with a clever surprise twist while melodrama has been so skillfully interspersed with side-splitting laughs that it keeps the audience on the alert not to be caught napping. The unexpected always happens.

At the start there is some rapid action on a western ranch. Just when things look really serious the plot takes a laughable twist. In succeeding scenes the hero is just putting over some hilarious comedy by playing with a little boy when—presto!—it turns out that the boy has been kidnapped and that the fond 'mother' is a crook.

Later "Sunny" McTavish strolls into a bank to cash a cheque and again—bingo!—an ingenious turn of affairs carries the doughboy-cowboy out of the bank and a roaring motorcycle which chases a gang of bank bandits into a final smashup in a deep ditch.

With its optimistic theme, its scenes of speedy comedy, its melodramatic thrills and its strong appeal to mothers and children, "The Sunshine Trail" is a picture for the entire family — dad, ma and the kids.

COOLING SYSTEM CAPITOL THEATRE

Chilled Air Is One of the Features of Local House.

With lights dipped a rich cool green, the immense windows on either side of the procenium arch showing a restful deep blue, and three giant fans working, the Capitol Theatre offers an inviting and cool retreat during the warm days of the summer months. Despite the heat the Capitol will always be found to be many degees cooler than the outside.

On Saturday, with the thermometers on the street registering about 84 degrees, the temperature of the Capitol with a well filled house, averaged only 66 degrees. This low temperature is achieved by constant use of the splendid cooling system in the theatre. No theatre in Canada, regardless of its size, has a more complete or effective cooling system than has the Capitol.

High in the loft of the theatre, over the gold leaf dome in the ceiling of the auditorium, a monster fan continually forces the heated air out. Assisting this big fan are several smaller ones which draw the heated air through grills in the ceiling of the auditorium. In the basement, a giant turbine fan, one of the largest in this part of Canada, forces fresh air, through a special cooling system, which chills it, into the auditorium of the theatre. The size and capacity of this turbine fan may be imagined when it completely changes the air in the theatre every 1½ minutes. Patrons entering the Capitol occasionally comment on the delightful cool breeze which greets them in the lobby. This is caused by the powerful action of the big turbine fan in the basement.

Just because the summer heat is here will not find the Capitol offering a programme of less important pictures. On the contrary the list of July bookings contain several exceptionally big attractions, and certainly not one picture that can be considered as not being up to the Capitol's high standard. Among those announced for showing in July are Jackie Coogan, in "A Boy of Flanders;" Ramon Novarro, "Dangerous Mad," "The Eternal City," Cecil De Mille's production, "Triumph;" "The Great White Way," Agnes Ayres in "The Guilty One;" Tom Mix in "Ladies to Board," and a rapid moving melodrama of the far west, "The Arizona Express."

The Capitol management take particular pride that despite the fact that the summer time is not usually considered a good time in the theatrical business they will continue to offer the very finest pictures obtainable, which in the cool and inviting surroundings will be all the more enjoyable.

NEW CITIZENS FOR PETERBORO

Came Over on the Metagama and Figured in a Collision at Sea.

Fifteen of the passengers from the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, that was struck in a fog off Cape Race last Thursday by the Italian steamer Clara Camus, had her starboard side stove in and lost two of her crew and one of her passengers, arrived in Peterboro this morning, while a belated bride, who missed an earlier train, were expected on this afternoon's train. One of the fifteen who got here this morning is another member of the group of brides, eighteen in number, who came over on the Metagama, bound from Glasgow for Montreal. This liner, it seems, has a reputation for carrying brides from the Old Country to Canada, but its second accident in a twelvemonth, the first being its encounter last August with the Mount Vernon, when ten deaths resulted, may make the ladies more chary in the future of the big ship.

Seven miles off Cape Race, in a dense fog, on Thursday morning last, about nine o'clock, the Metagama collided with the Clara Camus, outward bound, and limped into the port of St. John's, Newfoundland, where the vessel was beached on a shoal, at eight o'clock, the passengers wearing life-belts throughout the interval, and the ship canted at a perilous angle, her ballast all on one side, and her passengers, none of whom were allowed to go below, clinging to the upper decks.

"You may prepare to bury me in Canada. I'll never go near the water again," said Mrs. William Anderson, of Clydebank, Scotland, when she landed at the Peterboro station this morning, with her three children, to be met by her husband, who has been out here for the past nine months. The Dominion has evidently received a permanent settler in Mrs. Anderson, who asserted firmly this morning that she never wanted to set foot on a ship again. However, her husband declared that she is booked for the Caledonian excursion down the river on July first, and possibly she will have recovered sufficiently by then to venture on the mild Otonabee. With three children, the eight and ten-year-old James and Alexander, playing cheerfully this morning outside the residence of their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Petrie, of 521 Murray Street, and a baby only a few months old, Mrs. Anderson had rather a harrowing experience.

A bride-to-be, Miss Hope Meakin, of Dundee, also arrived this morning, to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Reid, 193 Charlotte Street, until her marriage in the near future to J. McDonald, who came out here from Dundee last August. Miss Meakin was resting this morning, but she had related some of her experiences to her hosts. The men, it seems, were more panic-stricken than the women when the accident occurred. The Kelvin Travelling Troupe of show people struck up an eightsome reel during the panic, and a young Scotch girl danced a Highland Fling until the first alarm subsided. The report that "Lead, Kindly Light" quieted the travellers was characterized as false.

Another bride-to-be arrived this afternoon, with a somewhat similar name, Miss Nettie McMeechan, from Polmont, near Falkirk, in Stirlingshire, coming out, wedding cake and all, to be married next month to Thomas Martin, also out from Scotland about a year now. Miss McMeechan will stay with Mr. Martin's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, at 485 Donegal Street.

Welcomed at the station this morning by Commandant A. Smith of the Salvation Army, who brought his car to take them home, were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrie Halcrow and family, with Mr. Halcrow's brother and his family, a party of ten people altogether. Mr. Halcrow came to Canada some time ago, and went back to the Old Country to bring out his wife and family and his brother. They will reside in Peterboro.

FIVE MEN KILLED IN NEW YORK FIRE

Freighter Loaded With Oil and Other Inflammable Substances Caught Fire.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Canadian Press.)—At least five men are thought to have been killed and seven were seriously burned in a fire yesterday afternoon that turned the freighter Egremont Castle, loading at Red Hook Point, Brooklyn, with inflammable oils for the Orient, into a shell of hot steel, from which spurted at intervals huge whirling geysers of liquid flame.

The fire followed an explosion shortly after three o'clock, other explosions from time to time shaking factories and dwellings of nearby Brooklyn streets. Two fire boats and all available apparatus were unable to quench the blaze, and finally the vessel was towed to Red Hook point flats, opposite the statue of liberty. There she was partly submerged and the fire at last extinguished.

FRENCH CABINET HELD BRIEF MEETING TO-DAY

PARIS, June 25. — (United Press.)—The cabinet held a brief meeting to-day, Premier Herriot reporting on his recent conversations in London and Brussels toward the application of the experts' plan for the settling of the German reparations question.

The Premier is confident that Germany will accept the Franco-British note on disarmament.

THE FORMER PREMIER BLAMES SIR GEORGE

Amusing Incident at Temperance Meeting Last Night

Last night's Temperance meeting demonstrated that even Prime Ministers occasionally forget to listen to the remarks of the chairman.

Ontario's former Premier was a little late in arriving, and when he took his seat on the platform he engaged in a vigorous conversation with Sir George Foster, who had arrived earlier. Chairman John Edgar was addressing the gathering at the time and just as he had finished saying. "I am indeed very proud to be on the same platform with the two distinguished Canadians here to-night, Senator, the Honorable Sir George E. Foster, and Honorable E. C. Drury, former Prime Minister of this Province." Mr. Drury, thinking the chairman had called upon him, immediately rose to his feet and began: "Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen," when his mistake became apparent to him, whereupon he smilingly retired to his seat, amid hearty laughter from all quarters.

Mr. Drury, when the proper time came to address the meeting, stated that Sir George and himself ,like two school boys, had not been paying attention to the master, but remarked that Sir George was the ringleader.

THE FARMERS' BANK CASE UP AGAIN

They Will Hold Meeting to Make All Preparations For Presenting Their Reuest.

TORONTO, June 25.—(Canadian Prerss).—Depositors of the defunct Farmers' Bank intend asking the Government to reimburse them for their loss, and will hold a meeting to make all preparations for presenting their request.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, who was one of the counsel for the depositors of the Farmers' Bank in the former application, was in the city yesterday and stated that arrangements were about completed. He said that the depositors had so good a case that they convinced the former Dominion Government and House of Commons of the justice of their claim, but the Senate, by a very small majority, rejected the bill, although it was a money bill, which, according to usual practice, should not have been opposed by the Senate. During the war it was not considered opportune to make application, but the time has now arrived.

Mr. Mikel expressed the view that the loss occasioned to the depositors by the failure of banks in this country was caused by laxity in the issuing of a certificate authorizing the bank to commence business, or by laxity in using the Government's powers over the head office. Banks did not fail by reason of dealings of branches, he contended. Once it becomes settled policy that the Government must accept the responsibility for losses to depositors, he declared, there will be no more bank failures in Canada.

"In the case of the Farmers' Bank civil and criminal proceedings were taken in the court," he continued. "Inquiries and investigations were held and commissions appointed until all assets disappeared, and it looks as if the same policy was in operation as to the Home Bank, with the result that a lot of people become vexed at banks and the country, and the banking system get a lot of unfavorable advertising. If all the money thus expended were given to depositors and the banks and Government helped out," he concluded, "results would be better for all concerned."

DELEGATION OF HOME BANK MET IN HOUSE TO-DAY

Counsel For the Depositors Said That the Time For Talk is Over.

SOME HIT HARD.

Anything to be Done For the Depositors Should be Done This Session.

OTTAWA, June 25. — (Canadian Press). — The delegation of Home Bank depositors packed the largest committee of the House this morning to state their case to the banking and commerce committee.

So numerous was the delegation that the room in which the banking committee usually meets was not large enough to accommodate it.

"Time for talk is over; Time for action is here," declared W. T. J. Lee counsel for the depositors. If anything was to be done for the depositor it should be done this session, he went on. Many persons in Toronto, were being compelled to go to charitable institutions as result of their losses in the Home Bank. Simple faith of simple people in Canadian banks of ninety years standing would be rudely shaken unless the government acted to reimburse the depositors. It was a moral duty to restore the losses.

R. J. McLaughlin presented "claim on compassionate grounds". Depositors, he claimed, had right on basis of equity and justice. Technically there was no legal claim against the crown but under the bill of rights, people could petition the crown for remedy for grievance. "Just claim against crown is legally right, said Mr. McLaughlin, "quoting legal decision.

"I make no charge of moral turpitude," said Mr. McLaughlin. Action of minister during the war could be explained by war conditions.

"If you say," he told the members of the committee. "That the government takes no responsibility for the bank act it will be a scrap of paper. The people are halting between maintenance of our ancient banking system and discarding it. If the Government takes no responsibility, for the enforcement of act, you destroy confidence. If you say the government takes responsibility you restore confidence."

To Consider Request

At close of hearing of Home Bank depositors by Commons, banking committee to-day, Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, stated that request of Deputation would be carefully considered from all angles. He added, however, suggestion that it would be fair, before question was settled, that Government should have report from liquidators as to how much could be realized from assets and from double liabilities of shareholders.

Mr. Robb said that he would not have spoken but for intimation that delay had been suggested. He pointed out that depositors had made their appeal to the government on January 23rd, that they had appeared before Justice McKeown on April 16th and that interim report had been received on June 10th. There was no delay there.

The Minister further referred to the Court proceedings against directors and said that he was not sure that it would be well for the government to make a grant to the depositors before it had been ascertained in courts how much could be obtained from the directors of the bank.

In respect of those who did express themselves upon the issue raised by the Brown amendment opinion was facility well developed. Parliament seemed to divide automatically into schools of thought.

Those who favored almost immediate inauguration of the projected scheme of union, and those who felt that commons should ratify bill as it had been amended by committee, which had spent so much time and pains upon its consideration.

Owing to present hard times in Peterborough and many lines of merchandise costing too much to permit a majority of shoppers purchasing high-priced Garments, MR. BLACK made a Special Buying Trip to Montreal in search of Moderately-Priced, Seasonable Goods. And he was fortunate in securing a Large Consignment of Attractive LADIES' AND MISSES' DRESSES at Below Factory Costs. These are now being offered at about their actual cost to accommodate those who must buy economically. Profits are lost sight of.

SUMMER BAZAAR HELD BY ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

A well-patronized summer bazaar was held in the auditorium of the Sunday School of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, yesterday afternoon. The hall and small tables, where afternoon tea was served, were prettily decorated with daisies and buttercups. Dresses for children and junior misses, children's underwear and aprons in great variety, home-made cooking and other small articles were sold. Mrs. Vernon Foster had charge of the sale of children's wear, Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. J. Tremaine sold aprons, Mrs. Edmondson and Miss Maud Edmondson had the sale of pillow-cases, and home-made cooking was sold by Mrs. Wm. Stevens and Mrs. M. Wilgar. The convenor of the refreshment committee, Mrs. C. Banks, and the president, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, had charge of the teatables, assisted by Mesdames Barns, Marsh and MacKintosh. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. McWilliams. During the afternoon, a tableau by some of the children was put on by Mrs. J. A. McKone, and several pretty vocal solos were given by Mrs. J. Dwyer. A fashion parade, with children between three and twelve years of age, exhibiting the dresses on sale, was also a pleasant portion of the programme.

Carry enough Strollers away with you on your vacation or week-end trip. The tins of fifty and one hundred are handy for packing and keep your Strollers firm and fresh.

MANY FEATURES AT LAWN SOCIAL

Rain Interrupted the Festivities at Riverside Park.

The rain that gave a threatening aspect to the sky all yesterday afternoon came down in earnest before eight o'clock last evening, just in good time to spoil the evening's entertainment at Riverside Park, where the social held under the auspices of St. Peter's Holy Name Society was in full swing. The majority of the crowd of nearly five hundred people that had already assembled departed in summary fashion for their homes, and left the lottery booth, the fish pond, and the refreshment stands to a moist isolation

An energetic committee of men, headed by the president of the society, Mr. A. Doherty, had all arrangements well in hand. An excellent supper, well patronised, was served at long tables, decorated with flowers, by a corps of busy ladies, with Mrs. E. Leahy and Mrs. M. Connors in charge. The lottery booth, with Miss Deborah Welsh as general convenor, had a large quantity of particularly good articles. Messrs. T. Turcotte and A. S. Pepe had just started in with a will to dispose of them when the rain arrived to spoil the evening.

Ice-cream and soft drinks were dispensed from two counters, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett and Mr. T. Cronin assisting at one sale, Messrs. T. Cronin and M. Clancy, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Cronin, at the other. The fish pond was well patronised by the junior element in the crowd, and was supervised by Miss Annie Simons, assisted by Miss Josie Lynch. Reuben Brady, in black face and stove pipe hat, acted in his usual invaluable capacity at a jolly corner, where Eddie Welsh had charge of indispensable balls for target practice.

A pleasant feature of the evening, as long as it lasted, was the music of the Salvation Army Band, playing in their usual very satisfactory manner.

The baby show that attracted so much interest last season was again a feature this year, and eight babies were on view, several of whom should have been ruled out at once on account of their barefaced attempts to influence the judges. One susceptible gentleman, who confessed a fondness for blue eyes, was made the target of all the wiles of a tiny little competitor, that smiled and cooed at him with great persistency.

Mrs. Ed. Conroy, Mr. John Coughlin, and Mr. C. H. Pennefather filled the difficult and exacting position of baby judges in a manner very satisfactory, at least to the three prize-winners.

Little auburn-curled Norah Patricia Thomas, the eighteen-months-old pink-clad girlie of Sergeant and Mrs. A. G. Thomas, 510 College Street, took the first prize of three dollars; Marie Agnes Kieran, the placid, blue-eyed ten-months-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kieran, 330 Sherbrooke Street, received the second award of two dollars; and the third prize, of one dollar, went to little Betty Dundas, eight months old, the little baby that vamped the judge, and that belongs to Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dundas, 341 McDonnel Street.

The prize for the largest family on the grounds—won last year with a family of twelve—went this season to Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacPherson, 533 Patterson Street, who, with their six children, received the first prize o fthree dollars. Mrs. G. W. Griffin, with six children, won the second award of two dollars.

BLACK FOX OFFERED FOR PETERBORO ZOO

Some time ago it was announced that the city was offered a black bear cub. This offer has been followed by another, not a bear this time, but a genuine black fox pup. "Probably we will next receive the offer of a baby elephant," stated Mayor Turner.

"Personally," remarked the Mayor, "I think it would be splendid to commence a nucleus of a zoo in one of our parks." His Worship was of opinion that a few animals and perhaps some acquatic birds could easily be acquired by the city. Jackson Park would be the natural place, he stated, remarking that the Exhibition Park would also be a convenient place.

A nucleus of a zoo, would be to Peterboro, what Riverdale is to Toronto, observed His Worship and besides it being an attraction, it would be valuable educationally.

TORONTO POSTMEN WILL STAND FIRM

John MacClelland, Head of the Machinists' Association, Advises Men to Stick to Strike.

TORONTO, June 25.— (Canadian Press).—John MacClelland, head of the International Association of Machinists, in Canada, arrived in Toronto, early to-day, and spoke at a mass meeting of the postal strikers this morning. He said Montreal postal strikers were standing firm and advised Toronto strikers to disregard reports to contrary. A very small letter carrier service was started in down town district to-day, covering only larger buildings. Postmaster Lemon stated it was merely supplement to wicket service and people who wanted mail should still come to post office.

The men were not in uniform, strikers, having kept their uniforms. About fifty-five of the postal strikers have returned to work to date, the postmaster said this morning. Their status will be decided by Mr. Lemon.

Far fewer persons called at the main postal station this morning. Only 100 instead of the usual 1,000 were in line at 9 o'clock.

There is nevertheless a steady stream of people calling for their mail.

WEDDING BELLS

POULSON—MARSHALL.

A quiet but pretty wedding, was solemnized on Friday, June 20th, at 1 p.m., in the George street Methodist church, when Violet Ann, the eldest daughter of Mrs. A. Marshall, Peterborough, was united in marriage, to Charles Poulson, son of Robert Poulson, Chemong Road.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Young.

The bride who was charmingly attired in white flat crepe dress, with white droop hat, and who carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses, entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. W. George Graham, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. J. H. Renwick.

Duing the signing of the register Miss Elma Coon sang very sweetly "O Promise Me."

After the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother to about twenty guests. Numerous and useful gifts received by the young couple testified to the high esteem in which they were held by their many friends.

The happy couple left amid showers of good wishes on the 5:30 C.N.R train for Maple Lake, where they will spend a short honeymoon; the bride travelling in a sand crepe dress with tricotine coat and hat of the same color, and carrying a sand velvet bag with ivory top, the gift of the groom. On their return they will reside at 326 Charlotte Street, city.

WOLFE—YELLAND.

A quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at the Murray street Baptist parsonage, Rev. Dr. W. C. Rose officiating, when Emma Louise, daughter of Mrs. C. Wolfe, of De Pue, Ill., was united in marriage to William Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yelland, 693 Harvey street, city.

The bride was becomingly attired in white French silk crepe, with touches of blue, and hat to match and a wrap of fawn camel's hair cloth. She carried a beautiful bouquet of ophelia roses and maiden hair fern.

The young couple left on the 7.35 train for Chicago, De Pue, and other points and on their return will reside in East City.

They were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts, among them being a handsome walnut library table and chair, from the employees of the Westclox, where both the young people had been employed.

DUNSFORD—KERR.

At noon on Saturday, 21st June, in St. James' Church, Humber Bay, a quiet wedding was celebrated by Rev. T. C. Street Macklem, uncle of the groom, when Kathleen Ross, only daughter of Mrs. Kerr and the late John Ross Kerr, of Kingston, New York, was united in marriage to Martin Dunsford, of Belleville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunsford, of Peterborough.

The bride, in a white georgette gown, with rainbow-coloured hat and old-fashioned bouquet to match, was given away by her grandfather, Mr. G. A. Blackstock.

After the wedding breakfast the bride and groom left for Philadelphia and Atlantic City. On their return they will reside in Belleville.—Toronto Globe.

BASTEDO—READ.

The marriage took place at half-past twelve o'clock to-day, at the residence of the bride's parents, of Mary Angeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Read, 278 Reid Street, and Joseph Burleigh Bastedo, B.A., son of D. E. Bastedo, of Bracebridge, and the late Mrs. Bastedo.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Gordon, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. A. D. Cridland, of Toronto, played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white georgette, large white georgette hat and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of forget-me-nots, lily of the valley, and Ophelia roses. The young people were unattended.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon to immediate friends and relatives was served, Mr. and Mrs. Bastedo leaving later by motor for a short honeymoon, after which they will reside in Bracebridge.

Japan has a population of nearly 60,000,000.

BODY OF YOUTH FOUND ON ROAD

Farmer Found Dead Body of Roy Wilson, of Galt, Lying in Bushes With Rifle Beside Him.

GALT, Ont., June 25.—(Canadian Press).—A farm hand driving into the city yesterday morning along the west river road on the outskirts of the city had his attention attracted to a horse grazing on one side of the road and a buggy on another, later he noticed a body in some bushes and upon investigation found a young man dead with .22 calibre rifle lying beside him. The discovery was reported and the city and provincial police immediately went to work on the case and while there was no marks of identification on the body, last night it was discovered that the youth was Roy Sylvester Wilson, 18 son of Douglas Wilson, 25 St. Andrew street this city, ward of Children's Aid Society. Coroner Radford after consulting the crown, ordered an inquest, which opened last night and adjourned until Friday.

INSPECTION OF DRAGOONS HERE

Special Events at Exhibition Grounds To-morrow.

To-morrow morning, General J. H. Elmsley, of Military Division 3, Kingston, will inspect the dragoons at Exhibition Park. A military scheme, carried out in addition to the regular regimental and squadron drill will feature to-morrow morning's activities.

A sport programme of a military character will occupy to-morrow afternoon. Besides soft ball and the usual foot races, there appears on the programme one unusual event called a "Balaclava melee." Men mounted on horses, wearing head masks and padded jackets, will try to knock each other off their horses, with clubs, which will be provided to each contestant.

Another bareback horse wrestling contest will be staged. Both these events require agility and skilled horsemanship ability, and promise to provide many thrills for both spectators and participants.

Last night, headquarters defeated the officers in an exciting game of baseball. Captain Clare Stuart and Adjutant Max Sloan were the officers' battery. Orderly Room Sergeant Emmet Sheey tossed the pill for headquarters, while Corporal Jack Fanning back-stopped. The officers were hit hard, and weakened towards the end of the game. It was their third consecutive game and their ineffectiveness was due to too much baseball.

C Squadron will play a game of baseball with last night's winners today. This evening movie pictures and a concert will provide the entertainment. The concert will take place in the Manufacturers' Building and no outside talent will be used.

Yesterday afternoon the soldiers rode out to the shooting ranges using field movements to and fro, returning through the city to the camp, by way of Hunter and Aylmer streets.

WAR VETERANS' NOTES.

The following players have been selected to play for the G.W.V.A. against the Thistles at the Oval on Thursday evening, kick-off at 6.15: C. Griffin; Crowe and Wasson; Frost, Mann and Blowers; F. E. Wade, G. Clarke, H. Burrows, F. Dyer and J. W. Sharman. Reserves: H. Bestard and A. Gash.

The annual decoration parade will be held on Sunday next to Little Lake Cemetery. Fall in at the G.W.V.A. Hall at 1.30 p.m. sharp. Further particulars will be announced later.

A RESOLUTION.

The following resolution, moved by Mr. William Flavelle, Lindsay, and seconded by Mr. A. B. Cunningham, of Peterborough, was unanimously endorsed by last night's temperance gathering at St. Paul's Presbyterian church. An expression of opinion was obtained by a standing vote. Premier Howard Ferguson will be forwarded the resolution, along with many other obtained at similar meetings, held during the recent campaign launched by the Ontario Temperance Union:

"That inasmuch as no Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade or other organizations representing the commercial interests of the Province; that no social or religious organization has expressed a desire for a plebiscite or referendum, and that any request that may have come is from those, who are moved by appetite or greed of gain."

"Therefore, this great public meeting held in conjunction with a convention of temperance workers, representing the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and North Ontario, desires to express to the Honourable, the Premier of Ontario, its unanimous opinion that there is no popular demand for a plebiscite or referendum on the Ontario Temperanme Act at the present time.

"And further, we would suggest that instead of spending the sum of possibly $500,000.00 for the taking of such a plebiscite, that amount be devoted to a more perfect enforcement of the law."

YOUTH KILLED WHILE SEEKING EXCITEMENT

CROWFOOT, Alta., June 25 (Canadian Press). — Thinking he would have a little fun, just to break the monotony of farm life, Harry Holland, aged 22, set off a charge of dynamite here at seven o'clock last night and was instantly killed by the explosion.

He was struck on the head, and his throat was cut by flying rock.

SIX MEN KILLED WHEN LIGHTNING STRUCK SHED

WINSTON SALEM, N.C., June 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Six men, one a negro, were killed late yesterday when lightning struck a quarry shed near here in which they had taken shelter from the storm, and exploded 150 pounds of dynamite. The explosion was felt for a radius of two miles.

BRIGHT WATERS— HAPPY LANDS.

The Indians who gave the name "Kawartha," meaning "Bright Waters and Happy Lands," to the enchanting chain of lakes which lies east and north of Toronto, selected a name which was truly descriptive.

At an altitude of 600 feet above the level of Lake Ontario, the pine and balsam scented air of the Kawartha region is healthful and invigorating.

The cool, fresh water of the lakes which mirror the foliage overhanging, and hide the sportive 'lunge and pike, offers the vacationist unexcelled bathing, bathing and fishing.

Hundreds of miles of shore line caters to the camp lover, and for those who wish more comfortable quarters there is excellent hotel accommodation at different points.

A descriptive illustrated booklet with map showing entire district may be obtained free of charge from any agent of the Canadian National Railways.

CONFUSION WAS THE BIG FORCE AT CONVENTION

Ku Klux Klan Issue Started Riot—Party Favors League of Nations.

LOTS OF FUN.

Delegates Wave Flags and Bellow For an Hour at a Time—Business Slow.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—The deep, swift currents of Democratic rivalry and dissensions burst their dykes yesterday in Madison Square Garden and engulfed the party's national convention with a bellowing wave of confusion and disorder.

The Ku Klux Klan issue, brought at last to the open floor of the convention, set off an anti-klan demonstration that swept the great hall like a tornado and led to several fist fights among delegates, but apparently brought the question no nearer a solution.

Reaching the stage of receiving nominations for the presidency, the convention also was shown in an hour's demonstration for William G. McAdoo, visible proof of the organized and driving power of the forces that are at work to influence the selection of a nominee.

The name of Governor Al. Smith of New York, will be presented today, and his campaign organization was preparing last night a convention floor parade designed to outlast and out-do that accorded yesterday to his leading rival. Nominating speeches for all the other candidates are expected to conclude before tonight, but there will be no balloting before Friday or Saturday.

Moving swiftly through its routine preliminaries, the convention perfected its permanent organization, accorded to prolonged demonstrations to its permanent chairman, Senator Walsh of Montana, the Teapot Dome prosecutor, and disposed of all its duties except adoption of the party platform and selection of the nominees.

The Klan and other debated subjects last night held in continuous session a Platform Sub-Committee appointed to comb over a vast collection of suggestions and advice and weld what is found into a declaration of principles on which the whole paryt can stand.

There were indications that the sub-committee would not recommend that the Klan be named specifically in the platform, but this tentative decision will be subject to review by the full Platform Committee and probably will be settled finally after a fight in the convention itself.

Join the League

On foreign relations it is the present purpose of the sub-committee to reaffirm specifically the party's belief that the United States should be a member of the League of Nations. The prohibition issue was disposed of by the sub-committee men during the day by a decision to declare for law enforcement without mention of the Eighteenth Amendment of the Volstead Act.

The convention officials hope the platform will be ready for submission by Friday morning. Under the rules, it might be adopted by the convention before voting begins on Presidential candidates, and if no prolonged floor fight develops on the controverted planks it is possible the first roll calls on presidential candidates will be reached before adjournment Friday night.

In all, about twenty candidates are to be formally presented to the convention.

Started a Riot

It was denunciation of the Klan by Forney Johnston, of Birmingham, in his speech nominating Senator Underwood, that threw the convention into its first open manifestation of disagreement. Throughout his pre-convention campaign the Alabama Senator has waged unrelenting war on the Klan and since he came to New York he has made public the anti-klan plank he would like to see in the platform. Mr. Johnston read the vigorous phrases of this plank

HUSBAND NAMED.

MRS. W. G. McADOO.
Wife of the popular Democratic nominee for the presidency. She is proud of the spontaneous tribute paid her husband yesterday.

CARRY BATTLE TO MUSSOLINI

Countess Piccio Takes Fight For Her Child to Italian Premier.

DEFIED CONSTITUTION.

PARIS, June 26.—Countess Loranda Piccio, whose sensational flight with her child, pursued and captured by her husband, General Piccio, Italian war ace, in seaplanes and motor-boats, has interested two continents, has taken her fight for her son directly to Premier Mussolini, of Italy.

This was learned here yesterday from Mrs. Julia Bachelder, American society leader, who, in a letter from her daughter in Rome, received additional details of General Piccio's storming of his wife's quarters in a Sardinia hotel, resulting in his snatching the child from his wife's arms.

This letter revealed that Countess Piccio surrendered only after holding her husband at bay for three hours at the point of a revolver.

Her Mother Firm.

Mrs. Bachelder, in an interview yesterday, declared:

"Neither my daughter, myself, nor our friends will rest a minute until she regains possession of her child, who was kidnapped by that brute she calls her husband."

Mrs. Bachelder continued:

"A letter from Loranda gives graphic and amazing details of her attempt to wrest her baby from the clutches of her husband, General Pier Ruggero Piccio. The letter shows how the whole power of the Italian Government, through General Piccio, who is one of Premier Mussolini's friends and advisers, has been used against an American girl fighting for her rights.

"Even the constitution of Italy has been defied, for the Italian law gives a mother custody of her child until it reached the age of seven unless a competent court orders otherwise."

U. S. INVESTS IN CANADA.

Heavy Purchases of Canadian Dollars Sent Exchange to 99 Cents.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Heavy purchases of Canadian dollars by local bankers seeking employment for their vast surplus of idle funds sent Montreal exchange to a new high level for the year yesterday at 99 cents. Diversion of funds into Canada for investment in high-grade Canadian securities is due to the unusually easy money rates prevailing here, which are now at their lowest levels in seven years.

Time loans up to four months were available here yesterday at 3 per cent., with borrowers unwilling to pay more than 2 3-4 for the shorter maturities, although no loans were reported at that figure. Call money on the Stock Exchange held at 2 per cent., but brokers found plenty of funds outside at 1 1-2 and 1 3-4 for day-to-day loans on Stock Exchange collateral.

DEPOSITORS OF DEFUNCT BANK MAKE PROPOSAL

Ask That Government Advance 75 Cents on Dollar of Deposits.

HEATED PASSAGE.

Alternative is 60 Cents and Administration For the Depositors.

OTTAWA, June 26. — (Canadian Press). — Two alternative propositions for the reimbursement of Home Bank depositors were put before Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, yesterday evening by representatives of the depositors' committee. The first was that the Government should advance 75 cents on the dollar which, with the payment of twenty-five per cent. already received, would completely reimburse the depositors. In this case, the assets of the bank were to be administered by the liquidators for the benefit of the Government.

The second was that the Government should advance sixty cents on the dollar. In this case, the liquidator would administer the assets of the bank for the benefit of the depositors.

Mr. Robb made no comment upon the proposals.

These proposals were explained by W. T. J. Lee, chairman of the National Committee of the Home Bank depositors, at a special meeting of the Commons Banking Committee. Afterwards, I. E. Weldon, co-liquidator of the bank, explained that the total deposits were in the neighborhood of fifteen millions. A payment of 75 per cent. would require $11,250,000 and sixty per cent. $9,000,000. He said that G. T. Clarkson, the other liquidator, estimated that if the Government advanced 60 per cent., the depositors would realize about 85 cents on the dollar.

He suggested that the Government should put in the estimates the amount required to carry out one or the other of these proposals and should pass it at the present session.

In opening this statement, Mr. Weldon said that this proposal was made because it had been understood that Mr. Robb had yesterday morning expressed a desire to have a definite proposition put before him.

"Don't attempt to put anything of that kind in my mouth," interrupted Mr. Robb. "No person understood me to say anything of the kind. You did not so understand it."

Mr. Weldon expressed his regret if there had been any misunderstanding.

At the close of Mr. Weldon's statement, Herbert Marler, acting chairman of the committee, asked if Mr. Robb wished to make any comments. Mr. Robb shook his head and the meeting was over.

L. R. STEEL CASE BEFORE COURTS

Charge of Grand Larceny Heard Against Former Manager of Corporation.

ALLEGED FRAUD.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 26.—(Canadian Press).—The financial condition of L. R. Steel Company, Inc., in December, 1920, as shown by the company's books, was introduced into the record yesterday at the trial of Paul L. Chase, former manager of the Steel Service Corporation, on a grand larceny charge growing out of alleged fraudulent representation in the sale of stock.

Nathan Ross, accountant employed by the State Attorney-General, testified that up to December 31, 1920, $9,077,450 preferred and $210,250 common stock was subscribed. The selling cost was $2,432,725. There was an operating loss of $19,000 and $38,011 was paid in dividends. Chief assets that were carried on the books, which showed a surplus of $224,025, were $1,000,000 in stock of L. R. Steel, Limited, and $1,203,572 profit on the transfer of real estate to the Steel Realty Development Company.

The prosecution claims that these figures show that the value of the stock was depreciated 30 per cent. The defence contends that a rise in value of realty holdings and other assets proved an appreciation in stock.

WEST PROTESTS PREMIER'S ACT

Representations Failed in Connection With Crow's Nest Pass Agreement.

URGENT DELEGATION.

WINNIPEG, June 26. — Representations made to Premier King on behalf of the prairie provinces for a postponement of the hearing in connection with the Crow's Nest Pass agreement have failed, according to word received late yesterday afternoon by the Shippers' Bureau of the Winnipeg Board of Trade.

Hearing of the application of the two railway companies for further suspension of the agreement will be proceeded with as arranged on Friday morning in Ottawa.

A delegation has been appointed to leave urgently for the capital, while Mayor S. J. Farmer of Winnipeg, left yesterday morning for the East to join Premier Bracken, and H. J. Symington, K.C., in opposing a renewal of the suspension.

IMMIGRANTS STILL LOOKING TO CANADA

One Hundred and Twenty-Five Landed at Montreal

QUEBEC, June 25. — (Canadian Press).—Colonization parties coming to the country under various auspices and a number of unaccompanied children, whose ages ranged from fifteen months to 17 years, were a feature of the third-class passengers of the Metagama who arrived here yesterday on the Canadian Pacific steamer "Montreal."

There was a party of 80, comprising 50 boys and 30 female domestics, and the "Montreal," coming to this country in the care of the Salvation Army, while the Immigration Department of the Ontario Government had another group of 45, mostly men, destined for work on Ontario farms.

Two special C.P.R. trains pulled out from the harbor tracks within fifteen minute periods of each other, and at 9.45 o'clock this morning all the third-class passengers were speeding on towards their final destinations in different sections of Canada.

ENGLISHMEN HAVE FAITH.

LONDON, June 25.—The Public Trustee, which looks after and administers estates, has increasing responsibilities year by year and now has 15,8999 trusts on its books, valued at about $850,000,000. New business left to the trustee to administer averages about $75,000,000 yearly.

BIG CONVENTION IS DRY AFFAIR

Prominent New Yorkers Said to Have Been Possessed of Liquor.

$50,000 WORTH SEIZED.

NEW YORK, June 26. — A score of New Yorkers, several of whom are said to be prominent, and one of considerable political prestige, will be arrested to-day on warrants charging them with the ownership of $50,000 worth of liquors seized on Tuesday, Federal prohibition agents asserted last night.

The liquors were taken in four raids, and according to Federal agent Sol. Grill, were intended for visitors to the Democratic National Convention.

The seizures followed negotiations by Grill, who posed as a broker, eager to "corner" the whiskey market during convention week.

FORT WILLIAM GRAIN.

Yesterday's Shipments Have Brought Total to Over One Hundred Million Bushels.

FORT WILLIAM, June 26 (Canadian Press). — With yesterday's shipment of grain of all kinds shipped from the harbours of Fort William and Port Arthur has overrun the hundred million bushels mark.

Six boats, three Canadian and three United States, carried out 1,546,000 bushels, of which only 740,000 bushels of wheat, the two Reiss boats going to Buffalo with 176,000 bushels of oats and 90,000 of barley.

The Luzon took wheat to Buffalo, and two Canadian Glen boats carried 450,000 bushels of wheat to Port Colborne.

The big Canadian freighter Haggerty, after discharging coal, cleared for ore to Ashland, as did the American boat Sherman.

Two boats were loading last night, three waiting orders, and six on their way up light.

C.N.R. EARNINGS UP.

MONTREAL, June 26 (Canadian Press). — The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending 21st June ,1924, were $4,634,986, being an increase of $23 033.17 over the corresponding period of 1923.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from 1st January to 21st June, 1924, have been $108,630,597, being a decrease of $914,634.13, as compared with the corresponding period of 1923.

SAY MACDONALD REFUSED PLEDGE FRENCH SAFETY

Would Not Accept View That Occupation Started With Reparations.

GO TO GENEVA.

Herriot Hopes For Help From the League of Nations.

PARIS, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—Prime Minister MacDonald refused point-blank the plan of Premier Herriot for Great Britain to give the signed and sealed pledge to guarantee French security, according to the L'Intransigeant. Mr. MacDonald, it said, refused to accept the French view that 15 years of occupation of the Rhineland under the Versailles Treaty would begin only when Germany began to meet her reparation payments.

It was Premier Herriot's failure to get this much-desired guarantee of security, the newspaper adds, that resulted in the two premiers agreeing to go to Geneva in the hope that the League of Nations members might join in defensive alliance which would adequately protect France.

RIVAL AVIATORS PASS IN MID-AIR

Britisher Flew Over U. S. Round-the-world Airmen Yesterday Near Rangoon.

FLIGHT CONTINUES.

RANGOON, Britis' India, June 26. —Major A. S. Stuart MacLaren, the British aviator, who is attempting a round-the-world flight, arrived here yesterday from Akyab, Burma.

A despatch from London says that Stuart MacLaren had a stiff flight from Akyab to Rangoon in the continuation of his attempt at a world flight.

Passed U. S. Squadron.

Cutting across the Bay of Bengal, MacLaren flew over the United State' round-the-world squadron, going in an opposite direction.

The Britisher was compelled during his flight to make a landing at Gwa.

After another start he was forced to descend at Yandoon, in the Delta, after which his journey to Rangoon was uneventful.

MacLaren said that he regretted he arrived at Rangoon too late to meet the United States aviators who left there yesterday for a jump of about 500 miles to Chittagong.

Missing May Be Drowned.

James Koen, Formerly of Railton, Lost in Quebec Woods.

KINGSTON, June 26 (Canadian Press). — Though positive assurance has not yet been received, it is thought from the meagre information available that James Koen, B.Sc., formerly of Railton, was drowned from a canoe in the depths of the woods in Quebec on Sunday while working on a mining survey.

The first word of the possible tragedy was received by the young man's father, John Koen, of Railton, on Sunday, when a telegram arrived saying that his son was missing, and that the worst was feared.

James Koen graduated in mining engineering from Queen's University last fall, with a brilliant college record.

He was employed by one of the large pulp and paper companies in Quebec, with a branch at Flamand. It was from there that information was received.

An Income Tax Cheater Got Two Years in Jail

ST. PAUL, June 26. — H. H. Bigelow, the millionaire president of the Brown-Bigelow Co., lithographers, printers and wholesale manufacturers of advertising novelties, was sentenced yesterday to two years in Leavenworth prison, and fined $10,000, in the United States District Court here.

He pleaded guilty to defrauding the government out of $148,000 in income taxes.

IRISH MINSITER FOR WASHINGTON

House of Lords Informed of the Status of New Appointee.

SMIDDY NAMED.

LONDON, June 26. — (Canadian Press). — Baron Arnold, Under-Secretary for the Colonies, informed the House of Lords yesterday that the British Government had instructed its Ambassador at Washington to inform the United States Government that Great Britain had reached the conclusion it is desirable that the conduct of matters at Washington exclusively relating to the Irish Free State should be entrusted to a minister plenipotentiary accredited to the United States. He added the Government trusted this proposal would be acceptable to the United States.

Lord Arnold went into a full explanation of the status of the minister, should the United States consent. The Government's action in the matter was based on a precedent set in 1920, when it was agreed that Canada might be separately represented at Washington.

Carefully Considered.

The Minister would be appointed by the Free State Government, and receive his credentials in the usual manner from the King. Both documents would make it clear that the appointment was solely for the purpose of dealing with Free State concerns.

Lord Arnold further explained that careful provisions had been made governing the relations between the British and Free State Governments and between the British Ambassador at Washington and the Irish Minister and for dealing with cases where the respective functions might overlap.

The British Government was confident the appointment would strengthen the cordial relations with the United States, without in any way impairing the principle of diplomatic unity of the whole British Empire.

Recent despatches from Dublin stated that Prof. Timothy A. Smiddy of Cork had been appointed Minister Plenipotentiary of the Irish Free State at Washington, following the approval of the British Government.

CASUALTIES IN A MOTOR CAR WRECK

Two Cars Collided on the Hamilton Highway.

HAMILTON, June 26 (Canadian Press). — Eleven casualties resulted yesterday afternoon from a collision on the Toronto-Hamilton Highway between Burlington and Bronte, in which a Hamilton car and an automobile from Craddock, Pa., figured.

The following were injured, but not seriously:

Mrs. Nicol Thompson, 445 Aberdeen Avenue, wife of Nicol Thompson, the well-known Canadian golfer, Nicol Thompson, Jr., William Thompson, son, Miss Blanch McKenna, 10 Ray Street South, Mrs. E. Carson, Miss McKenna's grandmother, and Mrs. W. J. Burnston, mother of Mrs. Thompson.

Five passengers in the American car were also injured, and taken to Oakville.

George Folhals and F. F. Gordon were occupants, but the names of the others could not be learned.

Mrs. Thompson sustained a severe laceration over the right eye, and William Thompson's cheek was deeply cut.

The others were badly shaken up.

Both cars were travelling towards Toronto, and the machines were caught in the traffic jam when a car coming in the opposite direction appeared, it was stated.

Both machines were ditched, and the American car was badly wrecked.

SLAYERS PLAY HAND OF POKER FOR BIG STAKE

Detectives Believe That Loeb and Leopold Gambled For Responsibiliy.

LOSER RENEGED.

Friends of Two Youths Will Testify Against Them on Trial.

CHICAGO, June 26. — What were the stakes in the hand of poker Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb played after the murder of Robert Franks?

Investigators for the detective bureau and the state attorney's office believe the loser bet his chances of freedom against death on the gallows and—then reneged.

That would explain the bitter hatred now prevailing between Nathan and Richard.

Played One Poker Hand.

After the murder of the little boy, according to their confessions, they drove to Leopold's home, and, while relatives looked on calmly played casino. The relatives left the room and they switched to one hand of poker.

That much they admit. Who lost or what were the stakes, they will not tell.

Sergts. William Crot, Frank Johnson and William Gortland, of the detective bureau, who have worked on the case since the slaying, have tried hard to make them tell. But there is a set of ethics about poker, and a real player holds no "post-mortems."

Loser Takes All.

The detectives believe the loser was to have borne all the responsibility in the event they were caught.

Loeb, who broke first, blamed Leopold for the actual killing.

"The weakling!" cried Leopold, when he learned this. "He struck the blows!"

"The quitter!" said Loeb.

Many Mash Notes.

In the number of "mash notes" that flood his mail daily, Richard A. Loeb is running a close second to Valentino.

It was disclosed yesterday that since being locked up in the county jail both Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., have received hundreds of letters from women and girls. However, Loeb, of the boyish guilelessness and winsome smile, as Leopold once described him, receives most of the tender missives to one of his confessed partner in crime.

Call Their Friends.

Twelve young men and women who studied, played, and danced with Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb will be used by the prosecution in its efforts to defeat the insanity defence now being prepared by the foremost medical and mental authorities of the United States.

They will be called under the "intimate acquaintance" rule of law, which permits nonexpert testimony as to the mental condition of the defendants.

The will assert that in all their companionship with the accused youths they never observed the slightest indication of mental failings.

State Reveals Plans.

This plan was disclosed by Milton D. Smith, assistant state attorney. He communicated with Samuel Ettelson, friend of all the families, and legal adviser for Jacob Franks, father of the slain lad Robert Franks. Mr. Ettelson will select the twelve

LOCAL PRESIDENT ON POSTAL STRIKE

J. J. Grisdale Objects to Statement in Toronto Paper.

A statement appearing in the Mail and Empire a few days ago regarding the postal workers' strike, leaves the impression that J. J. Grisdale, president of the Peterboro Association, had handed out a statement dealing with the local situation. This Mr. Grisdale denies. The only information he handed out was that authorized by the members of the Association, and which appeared a few days ago in the Examiner. This statement enumerated the reasons for the men returning to work.

PETERBORO MAN VICE PRESIDENT

Mr. Alex. Gibson Elected to Board of Jewellers' Association.

OTTAWA, June 26 (Canadian Press). — E. H. Flach, St. Thomas, was elected president of the Canadian Jewellers' Association at the final session here last night at the annual convention of that body.

Other officers elected were:

Vice-presidents, C. L. Johnson, Halifax; W. H. Hooper, Cobourg; W. A. Sansburn, Windsor; treasurer, B. M. Chapman, Toronto; executive, A. C. Skinner, Sherbrooke; J. McKnight, Toronto; S. H. Lees, Hamilton; A. L. Wheatley, Regina, Sask.; O. R. Steadman, Thorold; Julien Schwab, Montreal; Gordon McLaren, Hamilton; and Alex. Gibson, Peterborough.

Officers of the Ontario Jewellers' Association, also in convention here, were elected as follows:

President, W. H. Hopper, Cobourg; vice-president, E. H. Flach, St. Thomas; secretary-treasurer, Thomas Lees, Jr., Hamilton; executive, C. H. Hepinstall, St. Thomas; B. M. Chapman, Toronto; and W. G. Young, London, Ont.

A COMMON ASSAULT DECISION APPEALED

Hiawatha Indian and South Monaghan Farmer in Altercation Over Traps.

Hanlon Howard, an Indian from the Hiawatha reserve, summoned William Pammet, a farmer residing in the township of South Monaghan, on a charge of assault.

Howard alleged that he and Pammet met in canoes on the Otonabee river, near Wedlock's wharf on April 8th last, and after a heated conversation over trapping territory, Pammet struck at him with an axe.

Pammet on the other hand, stated that the canoe tipped and the axe fell into the river. In response to this statement the Indian replied that Pammet struck at him and he parried the blow with a paddle.

The charge was heard before Magistrate Langley and was dismissed. W. F. Huycke conducted the prosecution and V. J. McElderry acted for Pammet.

Howard, not satisfied with the Magistrate's decision instituted an appeal, which was heard before Judge Ward at Millbrook. His Honour reversed the decision, finding Pammet guilty of assault, but reserved the matter of a fine and the disposition of costs.

BANK CLEARINGS

The bank clearings for the week ending to-day showed a decrease of $130,143 when compared with last week's. This week they totalled $660,227, while last week they totalled $790,370. For the same week a month they were low at $596,221 and for the same week a year ago they totalled $671,896.

A GOOD ADVERTISEMENT

"Business is Good" is the way the Laura Secord Candy Shops head an advertisement designed to increase public confidence in Canada. The ad points out that savings bank deposits have increased since December by $12,552,769 or more than 10 per cent; their freight car loadings are up 9.7 per cent over those of a year ago, and that the movement of grain represented by cash receipts is 23.6 per cent greater than a year ago. Chronicled also is a 15.7 per cent increase in the balance of trade and the fact that Canadian bank clearings for the first four months of 1924 are 5.6 per cent greater than during the same period 1923.

All these things are facts, taken from government statistics. They show that, whatever the blue ruin gentlemen say, business is better. It does not do to make a statement and then offer no proof in a case like this.

But what has all of this to do with the candy business? Simply this: The firm that wrote the ad knows the difference between good and bad times is largely a matter of public confidence, and that what increases confidence, will help business. There is nothing like a showing on the facts in the case.

POST'S BED BUG POISON.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is composed of carbolic acid, Methyl Hydrate and Corrosive sublimate. When this preparation is used according to directions, it is sure death to bed bugs, cockroaches and insects of all descriptions. Two or three applications are all that is necessary, but as it is very poisonous this preparation should be kept out of the reach of children.

CONFUSION WAS

to the convention and response was as prompt as it was dramatic.

Sending up a shout that came as from a single throat, the delegations from several Anti-Klan States poured into the aisles to begin a parade around the hall. Gathering momentum as they went, they tore from the walls and railings clusters of flags to carry aloft in their militancy, and took up for their marching song: "The Star-Spangled Banner," and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

It was twenty miqutes before order could be restored.

A number of States refused en masse to join in the demonstration, and in two or three delegations, where sentiment was divided, there were tussles between delegates who sought to take the standards of their States into the parade, and those who sought to prevent it.

When quiet has been restred, Mr. Johnston concluded his speech, and former Governor Charles H. Brough of Arkansas, presented the name of Senator Robinson. He was applauded from many parts of the hall and the Arkansas delegation stood on its chairs and cheered, but there was no effort at a prolonged demonstration.

Had Some Fun

The nomination speech for Mr. McAdoo was made by former Senator James D. Phelan of California. Long before he took the platform preparations for a demonstration had been set up on the convention floor, and at the mention of the name of the former Treasury Secretary, it came into effect. A group of women trumpeters blew a clarion call from the midst of the California delegation. Two men lifted on their shoulders a girl dressed in the national colors and bore her to the head of the parade. A cheer-leader took possession of the Speaker's stand, and scores of colored bandanas and California State flags, previously distributed to delegates and workers, were brought into play as the show got under. It was impossible to estimate how many delegates took part in the hour's demonstration. Among the marchers were many who wore no badges to identify them, and a group of these gathered in front of the Speaker's stand and kept whooping it up for McAdoo after most of the delegates were back in their places. The band, too, and a group of McAdoo boosters stationed in the gallery, carried the demonstration along for a time, while most of the rest of the hall was quiet.

There was nothing on the surface last night to indicate that this or any other development of the day had affected the relative standing of the candidates. Both the McAdoo and Smith forces each predicting victory kept up their canvass for votes, while the friends of all the other candidates continued to smile at the prospect of a deadlock.

ELEVATOR CRASHED.

Nine Persons Injured When Passenger Lift Fell From Second Floor.

VANCOUVER, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Nine persons were injured here yesterday afternoon when a passenger elevator in the Pacific building fell from the second floor to the basement when the cable broke. H. A. Stephenson suffered a compound fracture of the leg and internal injuries. His condition is regarded as serious. Miss A. Gibson suffered a compound fracture of the ankle and internal injuries.

Others less seriously injured were: Dr. John May, Dr. J. Miller, J. Gibson, G. A. Young, J. T. Drysdale, E. B. Peterson and James Carr.

DIED OF BURNS.

MURDOCK CASE IS THROWN OUT

Early Morning Vote in Commons Sustains the Minister of Labor.

HOW VOTE WENT.

OTTAWA, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—After debate and divisions lasting till 3.30 this morning, House of Commons adopted report of committee on privileges and elections which exonerated Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor from charge of having acted contrary to his obligations as Minister of Crown in withdrawing his deposit from the Home Bank two days before it collapsed. Vote for adoption was 119 to 44.

Immediately vote was announced Mr. Murdock, enthusiastically cheered by Liberals again took his seat in the House. Ever since charges were made against him Mr. Murdock had been unable to sit in the House.

Vote on main motion was preceded by two other divisions. First came Conservative amendment that charge against Mr. Murdock had been sustained. This was defeated by 149 to 39, Liberals and Progressives voting solidly against amendment; Conservatives voting solidly for it. Afterwards there came labor amendment Wm. Irvine, Labor Member for East Calgary moved to amend report in such way as to render Scottish verdict of "not proven."

This was defeated by 129 to 22.

Before debate drew to a close, there was sharp clashes and frequent appeals to chair.

Evidence said Mr. Porter, all pointed to the fact that the Prime Minister had brought the Home Bank matter before the cabinet meeting at which Mr. Murdock was present. The acting Minister of Finance was also present with a written report of the condition of the Home Bank in his pocket.

Speaking of the withdrawal, Mr. Porter quoted the evidence of Mr. Murdock who had said that "circumstances arose which brough the matter to a head" on the 15th. Within fifteen minutes of the close of the cabinet meeting Mr. Murdock had withdrawn his money from the Home Bank.

W. M. German (Liberal, Welland) said that Mr. Porter had taken an hour and a half in stating a number of things with which no person had any quarrel or dispute. "The member for West Hastings did the best he could do in support of a very bad case and a forlorn hope," said Mr. German. He disagreed with Mr. Porter's statement that Mr. Murdock's testimony before the committee had been delayed until toward the end of the deliberations. Mr. Murdock had been present with clean hands and had answered all questions in a most frank and open manner. The charges had been most absolutely refuted.

In making a comparison Mr. German cited the case of a suppositious Cabinet minister during war time who with knowledge that a certain merchantship was to be torpedoed would permit his wife and children to sail on that ship in order to keep has cabinet oath. The thing was ridiculous. There was no comparison, additionally between the dictum laid down by Right Hon. Mr. Asquith that a cabinet minister must not use his office to his own profit and the case of a minister withdrawing own money from a bank for his own private uses. The House he knew would sustain the minister.

COBOURG NEWS

Mrs. W. H. Spargo Bereaved

Mrs. John McInnis, sister of Mrs. W. H. Spargo, died a few days ago at the home of the latter in Bowmanville. NEWS FROM WARSAW AND THE DISTRICT

WARSAW, June 26.—The 64th anniversary of the Cottesloe Church was very gratifying. Rev. P. L. Jull preached to a full house morning and evening on Sunday.

Monday evening, despite another attraction and rather uncertain weather a good crowd gathered. Supper was served in the sheds. Afterwards in the church, Rev. W. Atkinson took the chair. There were two solos by Mrs. Chas. Foster and by Mrs. Chorley, one by Miss Lulu Bell, and one by Rev. F. G. Weir. Miss Cressa Crowe recited. Mr. Atkinson spoke of anniversaries as milestones that happened to be the anniversary of his wedding, and it is well to keep record of the past, and go foreward. Pastor Chorley gave advice to young people with headings "Do good, be good, make good." Dr. Munro told one of his Scotch stories. Rev. Mr. Wesley of Norwood spoke of the probable changes that take place, but whateyer happened that church would be taken care of. It mattered little by what name they went. Mr. Weir spoke of having worked with another denomination already. Mr. Michael Barr gave a short history of the church at Cottesloe. The present building was erected sixty-four years ago, but there had been a smaller building before, which was burned. The government had assisted the early Scotch settlers by giving them a deed of one hundred acres of land, worth about $1.00 an acre.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. P. L. Jull gave a synopsis of what was done at the general assembly, which he attended. Unfortunately it was not well known that he was to speak.

The Dummer Sunday School executive which was announced for tonight was called off on account of the meeting in Peterboro.

Rev. W. Atkinson and Mr. Wm Forsythe went to Cobourg to attend one more than usual of the Presbytery meeting of Presbytery.

Miss Aikens, who has been visiting her friend, Miss A. Preston, has returned to her home in Manvers.

Mrs. R. Palmer is spending a few days with friends in Oshawa.

A fine lawn has been laid and a new fence constructed around the west end of the Methodist church. This makes a great improvement to the appearance of the church.

CRESWELL AND BOYDELL HAD INTERVIEW

PRETORIA, June 25. — The two Labor party leaders, Messrs. Cresswell and Boydell, in an interview yesterday, stated that General Hertzog, the leader of the Nationalists, had expressed a wish that the Labor party would accept seats in a new cabinet which Hertzog is now forming, to succeed the defeated Smuts ministry, in order that both the British and Dutch races might be represented in the government of the country.

They declared however that the final decision in the matter of accepting the Cabinet posts ,must rest with the Labor conference, which has been called to meet in Johannesburg on Sunday next.

In the event of the conference approving of the Labor party joining in the formation of the Cabinet, Messrs. Creswell and Boydell declare, the party would not sacrifice its identity, independence or principals.

REGINALD TEMPLE A HONORABLE MAN

Senator Hayden Says National Railways Not a Party Issue.

OTTAWA, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—Senator Haydon, discussing in the Senate the Taylor charges against the Canadian National Railway administration on the Pacific coast, said from personal knowledge there was no more honorable man in Canada than Reginald Temple, the regional counsel for the Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg, who had conducted the inquiry into these charges at Vancouver. He said that Mr. Temple was a Conservative and a political opponent of his, but occupied a very high place in the estismation of all the members of the legal profession.

Senator Haydon said the National Railways was not a party question. They had been founded by the Conservatives and adopted by the Liberals. We could not make a success of them if we allowed the administration to be hampered by petty political partisanship. He strongly attacked the character and intent of Senator Taylor's charges, describing them as petty and questioning the motive of the author. It appeared to him as if Senator Taylor had decided first on his objective and then sought to find evidence to justify this.

To Senator Taylor's assertion of graft in purchase of lumber, he read a letter from the Timber Industries' Council containing a resolution viewing with regret the charges against the railway company and the attempt to drag the company into politics, and declaring the road was honestly and efficiently managed. He read another letter from forty lumber firms addressed to Senator Taylor, in which they declared that unwarranted expressions had been made on the railway management. In concluding, Senator Haydon said that the facts did not warrant the charges made nor the inferences drawn. He felt that if the Senate had no more work than to investigate such trivial charges, it should be abolished.

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day; helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred. Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

Primitive Woman Caught.

Provincial Police Break Door to Arrest Woman Clad in Loin Cloth.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Provincial police were forced to break in the doors of an old shack on the shores of Black Bay to take in charge a woman, who, clad only in a loin cloth, was living in dirt and grime. She is said to have lived in a primitive state for the past two months. The woman whose name was not given, has been placed in jail and will be examined as to her sanity.

WESTERN WHEAT GOOD.

Already in Shot Blade and Gives Promise of a Bumper Crop.

EDMONTON, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat is already in the shot blade in the Spirit River district, according to reports received at the offices of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway. Frequent rains together with an abundance of weather favorable to crop growth has made prospects for a bumper crop particularly hopeful.

GOOD FAITH ALLEGED.

Transactions Were Made in Interest of Company, Directors Claim—$4,000,000 Involved.

MONTREAL, June 26 (Canadian Press). — A declaration that all the transactions attacked by the Montreal Tramways and Power Company, Ltd., as having resulted in a loss to the shareholders of $4,000,000 were carried out by the directors with the utmost good faith, and that these transactions were in the interest of the company, is the outstanding clause of the defence filed here yesterday by the Imperial Trust Co., Ltd., and other defendants in the suit now pending in the Superior Court.

The defendants also reserve the right to take action against the plaintiffs for libel.

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him, she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. G. R. Paquette, Pierreville, Que., and Mrs. J. F. Beale, 325 Johnson Av., Winnipeg, always give Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good laxative," and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children — calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phenolphthalein, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Laxative Syrup Pepsin.

Bailieboro Farm Crops Helped Out—Ground Was Baked Hard.

BAILIEBORO, June 24.—The recent showers, althought light, are helping out the farm crops wonderfully. For some time the crops have been in need of rain as the ground has become very hard and dry, possibly made worse by the heavy rains during the month of May. The hay and fall wheat crops are looking fairly good throughout the township, and the spring-sown grain still promises to be a good crop if the weather continues favorable.

In the majority of cases the peas in the fields are in bloom, and the wheat is in the shot blade. In most of the corn fields the corn is only beginning to show above the ground.

The farmers are busily employed working on their summer fallows and buckwheat ground, and this week, on the majority of the road beats, the farmers are doing their statute labor on the roads.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARIA TRAVISS.

The many relatives and friends of Mrs. Maria Traviss, will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred on the 4th of June, in Orleans, Nebraska.

She was born in the township of Ennismore, 74 years ago, her maiden name being Maria Sullivan. She was united in marriage to Nathaniel Traviss when a young girl.

Four children survive her: Pat, and Mrs. Thomas Carroll of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. John Dunlay of Orleans, Neb., with whom she made her home, and Mrs. Jos. Freaze of Bigsby, Oklahoma; also two brothers, Francis Sullivan of Cheboygan, Mich., and Eugene of Chicago, Ill. Her four children were present at her funeral.

The family left Ennismore thirty-eight years ago, and took up a homestead in Nebraska, six years after her husband died. She surivved him by 32 years, and passed the remainder of her life close to their old homestead. She was highly respected and esteemed by all who knew her and her funeral, which took place from the Catholic church in her home town, was largely attended.

WOMAN RANKS NEXT TO GOVERNOR

SANTA FE, N.M., June 26.—New Mexico, the youngest state, is the first in which a woman stands next in rank to the governor. The recent death of Lieutenant Governor Jose A. Baca has left Mrs. Soledad C. Chacon of Albuquerque, the secretary of state, nearest in authority to the executive. Should Governor James F. Hinkle leave the state, during his absence Mrs. Chacon would be acting governor.

THE STRIKE WEAPON.

The Examiner finds itself unable to agree with the Toronto Star's contention that postal workers and other Government employees should not be deprived of the right to use the strike weapon to enforce their demands upon the Government.

Above everything, comes the right of the public to be protected against the tie-up of public utilities and services.

No body of men engaged in work that can be described as a public utility, firemen, policemen, postal employees, etc., should be able to leave the people unprotected against criminals or fires or inconvenienced by a general postal strike that would throttle business.

The Government, as representatives of the people, should be a model employer.

It should see to it that its employees are fairly treated in the matter of wages and working conditions, and that there is a ready opportunity for the airing of complaints and grievances.

But it should also insist that in return for these things that the oath of office taken by its employees should embody an agreement to submit complaints to arbitration and a straight guarantee that the strike weapon shall not be employed.

Public opinion demands that the strike as a problem in the transaction of public business shall be

WHAT ABOUT PETERBOROUGH?

The announcement that some $6,699,745 has been spent in unemployment relief by the Federal Government in Montreal, Vancouver, Toronto, Hamilton and Winnipeg will cause some conjection as to why these larger centres should enjoy a consideration that is denied smaller cities.

The unemployment problem, of course, seems at its worst in the big centres, but it is perhaps not any more serious considered in proportion to population than it is in the places of smaller population.

There are men out of work in all such cities, and the cost of looking after those who need relief falls directly upon the taxpayers.

Yet the big cities receive nearly seven million dollars assistance from Ottawa.

If Federal aid for unemployment is justified in the case of Toronto, it is justified in the case of Peterborough.

If the Government assists Hamilton to take care of its unemployed, it has the same obligation in connection with the unemployed of Peterborough or Belleville or Oshawa.

The same principle applies in all these cases, and the big centres are logically no more entitled to dip into the Federal Treasury for funds to take care of their out-of-work citizens than is Peterborough.

All centres should be treated alike in this respect, for the problem is by no means a matter that concerns only the big cities of Canada.

WHY NOT MATTHEWS?

The Washington authorities did not lose any time in deciding what to do in the case of Andrew Pepall whose presence is desired in Canada as a witness in the case against Hon. Peter Smith.

Realizing that Pepall, who has been living in California, was required by the Ontario authorities for a very important reason, Washington cut all the red tape and decided that the former ally of the ex-Provincial Treasurer should come back to this country.

It is reasonable to suppose that the same line of reasoning would apply in regards to the return of Charles A. Matthews, the missing Deputy-Provincial Treasurer.

If the United States authorities were willing to facilitate the turning of Pepall over to Ontario they would undoubtedly be just as helpful in Matthews' case.

That being so, the people of Ontario are looking to the Provincial authorities to renew their efforts to locate the former Deputy-Treasurer and have him brought back to tell his story.

Thanks to the tardiness of the Government, Matthews has a long lead, but if he is in the United States it should be possible to find him, and once found the Pepall case shows there will be no obstacle in the way of getting him back to Canada.

Matthews knows a lot, and the people will like to hear what he has to say about the financial operations of the Province, not only when Peter Smith was head of the Treasurer, but before the advent of the U. F. O. financier.

POLICE COURT FINES.

For some time Ontario municipalities have been trying to convince the Provincial Government that fines secured as a result of the activities of the municipal police should be retained by the municipality for its own use.

The fact that Hamilton has been ordered to pay to the Government the sum of $1,000 which has been held for some time under protest indicates that the attempt has been a complete failure.

A strong case can, of course, be made out by the municipalities.

The latter have to maintain expensive police departments, and it is a logical contention that fines for breaches of Provincial laws resulting from convictions obtained through the efforts of the municipal police should be turned over to the municipalities to help meet the heavy overhead.

But logi cdisappears in the face of necessity.

The Province needs money just as badly as the municipalities.

Many sources of revenue are being tapped, and the police court fines form one field from which the Government obtains funds to carry on.

Should such fines be turned over to the cities and towns it would merely mean that the Province would have to look elsewhere for revenue to meet the diversion of this source, and the public in the long run would be no further ahead.

Taxation still remains taxation no matter how the pill may be covered with sugar, and perhaps the present system is preferable to a new form of levy, abolished as archaic and tyrannical.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTER.

For the past month or two the weekly reports issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, containing a summary of conditions as reported by the local agricultural representatives throughout the Province, have been anything but encouraging. They have reported that the cold weather and the superabundance of cold rains during the month of May were keeping back farming operations to such an extent that the crops this year were bound to be poor. Seeding was being delayed, they have said; the seed which was sown in April and May had been drowned out by the heavy rains, and the late frosts, which were exceptionally late this year, had done irreparable damage to the fruit trees and the early crops. These were the features of the reports which were sent out during May and the first week of June, and they were far from being optimistic.

Now, however, in little less than a week, there has been a very agreeable change. The farmers, apparently, are finding that conditions are going to be much better than they anticipated. A week of bright, warm, sunny weather, coupled with rain when it was needed in most parts of the Province, has made a considerable difference to the situation. The growth during the past week or two has been phenomenal, is the latest report. The crops are coming along splendiddly, and although they may be a little light in straw, owing to the late start, they give every indication of being well up to the high average of last year. The late seeding date for corn, has, apparently, been beneficial, because this crop has come along rapidly, and is showing great promise in those parts of the Province where it is a large factor in farming operations.

The change in these reports shows that this Province is one in which handicaps in the matter of agricultural conditions can be readily overcome. Nature has blessed Ontario bountifully with a rich and fertile soil, and this richness has been well conserved by the farmers who have realized the importance of maintaining fertility in the land. One week of warmth and growth producing moisture has more than overcome the handicap of six weeks of unseasonable, bleak weather, and has turned the atmosphere of pessimism into one of optimism. We who live in Ontario have good reason to be thankful to Providence for having given us a Province with such remarkable powers of recovery in this particular. With agricultural prospects brighter throughout the Province, the prospects of other lines of industry will be correspondingly brighter, and if the latest reports are justified by the returns at harvest time, the whole Province will benefit by the measure of prosperity which will follow.—Kingston Whig.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

New York is fuller of Democrats this week than usual—which is, as they would say themselves, "going some." Democratic delegates from all over the Union are pouring into Tammany's home town to select the standardbearer of the party who is to save the Republic from the "calamity" of Calvinism in the White House. It is not at all a question of the government of the country. The President, under the American system, does not govern—he merely keeps up a running fire of criticism and protest against the men who do govern, the two Houses of Congress.

The Democrats seem to be actuated by the novel idea of selecting a candidate who will win. McAdoo looked like such a candidate until it turned out that he was on Doheny's payroll. This, it was feared, would rather cramp his style in a campaign against the Republicans because their leaders were "oiled" by Doheny et al. But McAdoo refused to be declared dead until the port-mortem actually occurred; and so he comes to the convention at the head of the largest single group of delegates and will doubtless lead on the first ballot. It being generally conceded, however, that his nomination would elect Coolidge without further argument, his chances have begun to be classed with those of the traditional "Chinaman," who is always out-o'-luck.

"Al" Smith, one of Tammany's own, will have "the sidewalks of New York," and all the rest of the town, behind him. He is more than Tammany's own—he is Tammany's star exhibit. He has made a fine Governor. He is so good that he can afford to forget Tammany. His greatest achievement, however, is that he well earned and thoroughly enjoys the bitter enmity of Hearst. The American nation cannot go far wrong if it first finds out whom Hearst hates worst, and then elects him. A horrible rumor got out last week that Hearst had made his peace with Smith and would support him, but both men deny it. This ought to increase "Al's" chances.

If these two men deadlock, then the "dark horses" will trot up. Davis, one time a Virginian and another time Ambassador to Great Britain, but now a New York lawyer with a Morgan flavor, is the favorite suggestion of the few people who are Democrats, though wealthy. They seem to be the kind of Democrats who think that, if the country has to have a Democratic President at all, it should have one as hard as possible to distinguish from a Republican.

Senator Ralston of Indiana is a more natural choice. He would probably carry his home State, a pivotal State; and would make a clean, popular, commonplace candidate. He would be more like Harding than any other man in the field. He looks like the late Grover Cleveland. If the American electorate have already made up their minds to vote against "oil," Daugherty and Coolidge, Ralston would be just about the best kind of candidate not to attract their attention away from so worthy an idea.

There are other more or less colorless candidates mentioned, with the occasional eruption of one not so colorless, like Woodrow Wilson's War Minister, Newton D. Baker of Ohio. Baker would inject "idealism" into the campaign; but it is by no means certain that even the American people are ready yet for another dose. Of all the candidates, Governor Smith is the most positive. He would give his party a "moist" appearance, and his very nomination would be a challenge to narrow-mindedness. He might even split the "solid South"—against himself. But it is said that he would carry New York, New Jersey and possibly Massachusetts, even against the latter's favorite son.—Montreal Star.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 26.—On Tuesday 1,289 cattle were sold at the Union Stock Yards and this still left over 1,400 on the market. Receipts yesterday were 53 cows, 303 cattle, 512 calves, 2,178 hogs and 538 sheep and lambs. Recognition of a poor sellers' market made for freer business with many holders inclined to accept the new scale of lower prices. The exporters have proved a valuable aid in helping aut a congested situation. With yesterday's shipment they will have sent out over 1,500 head and are still buying medium weights to carry over for shipment to Manchester next week.

Five loads of Western stockers were on sale yesterday. They were a presentable lot, and the best loads were priced at $6 a cwt. Everybody on the market discussed the weakness in cattle prices, which was general on all the markets on the continent. Sales of butcher cattle were made yesterday without any further drops. A few 1,100 to 1,200-lb. steers sold for export at $7.75 and $8 a cwt. and heifers at $7 and $7.25.

There were not many choice handyweight butchers on offer and a bunch of 15 good butchers averaging 825 lbs. each sold at $6.60. One choice steer, 900 lbs., almost in the baby class, was bought by Arnolds' at $7.90 a cwt. and some other babies sold at $7.25 a cwt. Choice butchers around 1,200 lbs. were taken by the packers at $7.50 and real good handyweights made as high as $7.40. Ordinary good butchers were had at $6.50 and $6.60 and good mediums from $5.25 to $6.25 a cwt. For common killers it was hard to get over $5.

Butchers' cows were reasonably steady and an extra good cow sold at $6, with other good ones at $5.50. A bunch of good mediums brought $4.75 a cwt. Bulls were also steady with one ton at $5.75. Good bologna bulls brought $3.50 a cwt. One load of Western stockers averaging 820 lbs. sold at $5.50 a cwt. Yesterday's better demand promised to make a big hole in the supply before the close of the market.

In the calves there were too many of the good kind and prices wer easier. One 210 lbs. went to Waugh at 10 cents, but this was about the top and most of the other good ones did not bring over 9 cents. Large shipments of mediums came in during the morning and these for the average veal trade brought $6.75 to $7 a cwt. Common calves were steady around 5 cents.

Lambs are not too firm and few sales of choice ones were reported over 15 cents a pound. Good lambs were 14 cents and the culls about 60 lbs. each 12 cents. Sheep sold at 6¼ cents for the handyweights and 3 to 4½ for those in the heavier class.

A fair sized shipment of hogs made this market a little unsteady, but no sales were reported below Tuesday's market of $8 a cwt. f.o.b. and one buyer thought he could pay 15 cents better for select bunches.

Stop!

WITHIN a split second the wheels are locked in the implacable grip of the brake and your tires scrape and grind into the road, taking every ounce of strain required to check the impetus of your car.

This terrific strain is not taken merely on the treads—it pulls on every cord and layer of rubber in the inner construction of the tire.

The Web Cord process, by eliminating cross threads, enables the cords to lie flat and even in the layers, thus giving each cord maximum resistance to strain and imparting to the tire body greatly increased strength to resist the pull of the car when the brakes are applied.

Sprayed Rubber used in the Dominion Cord Tires adds strength and resilience to the walls and treads.

These improved processes are used exclusively in Canada in Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires.

They are extra values in Dominion Cord Tires which cost you nothing extra.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK

WINNIPEG, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Arrivals yesterday, 930 cattle and calves; 2, 150 hogs and 300 sheep and lambs.

The cattle market continues some what unsettled. The bulk of the offerings were plain to medium and moved slowly at weak prices. There was a good active demand for light butchers and better grades found an outlet at steady prices. A few good stockers and feeders were absorbed on a steady basis.

The hog market was slightly firmer with thick smooths at $7.20 and select bacons $7.92.

The sheep and lamb market was fairly active. Spring lambs went from $15 to $17; yearlings $10 to $13 and sheep from $6 to $9.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—Reports generally from producing centres state receipts of eggs are much less and will continue to fall off for the time being. The average quality is declining and the proportion of seconds is increasing. There has not been much change in the market but the prices for all grades with the exception of seconds are very firm.

Toronto firm, retailing specials 40, extras 36, firsts 33, seconds 28.

Montreal—A stronger feeling prevails in the market for fresh extras and prospects are that prices for this grade will be advanced. Jobbing extras 33, firsts 29, seconds 24 to 25.

Manitoba market week and unchanged.

Saskatchewan unchanged.

Alberta market very quiet. Receipts only fair. Local demand very poor. Dealers quoting country shippers delivered extras 19, firsts 17, seconds 12.

British Columbia market steady. Jobbing extras 28, firsts 26, seconds and pullets 24.

St. John, N.B. market dull. Surplus stock on hand. Retailing extras 33 to 35, firsts 28.

Chicago spot 25 3-4; June 26 3-4, Decembers 33 3-4.

New York extra firsts 29 1-2, firsts 27 3-4, storage packed extra firsts 30 1-2; firsts 28 3-4.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—The spot market for oats was very firm locally yesterday The flour market was quiet. A fair business was passing in mill feed.

Trade in rolled oats was quiet. Prices are well maintained for baled hay. Prices for fresh extras eggs were advanced 2 cents per dozen and other grades 1c per dozen. There was nothing new in the potato market.

Undertone of the butter market is reported firm. The cheese market was fairly active.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday:
Sterling demand, 4.3850.
Sterling, cables, 4.3875.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 26. —(Canadian Press).—Corn and oats shot skyward in price yesterday both showing at one time an overnight gain in some cases of more than five cents a bushel. Exceptionally adverse conditions for the corn crop were reported. Corn closed strong, 1 1-8c to 4 1-4c net higher, July 93 1-4c to 93 1-2c, and September 91 3-4 to 92, with wheat firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c up, July $1.14 3-8 to $1.14 1-2 and September $1.16 to $1.16 1-8. Oats closed at 1 to 3 1-8c advance. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 10 and 12c higher.

Active buying of corn, especially on the part of traders who contracted to make deliveries in July sent that month quickly to above 90 cents for the first time this season. The other deliveries were prompt also in breaking the season's high price record, the weather forecast pointing to more rain, although the crop had already been deluged and the majority of fields were reported to be far behind the stage of development usual at this time of the year.

Scarcity of receipts here gave further impetus to the upward swing of the market.

Outlook Desperate

Announcement that one of the most widely known crop authorities in the country had described the present outlook for corn as desperate without parallel in the experience of a great many years, had much to do with stimulating the increased demand from buyers. Word that some Argentine corn had been bought to come to New Orleans and New York and Montreal, failed to check the ascent of values and a purchase at $1 a bushel for Number 2 white corn was noted at St. Louis.

Oats shared in the activity and strength of corn, all deliveries reaching new high records for the season.

Wheat was relatively quiet, and was steadied by corn strength.

Provisions reflected firmness of hog values and of grain.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, June 26. —(Canadian Press).— Cattle, receipts yesterday 6,000; fed steers and yearlings fairly active; strong to 25c higher, mostly 10c to 15c up; very uneven; top matured steers 10.60 average weight 1,502 pounds; few loads heavies 10.35

CHOIR PICNIC TO THE LAKES

Members of St. John's Church Choir Had Enjoyable Outing.

That the choir of St. John's Church made no mistake in deciding to visit South Beach this year for their annual picnic is the unanimous opinion of all who participated. Favored all day by the weatherman, a programme crowded with sports and with appetites which had been whetted, catered to by "Mine Host" Brooks in an excellent manner, who will not say that the impressions of so happy a day will not be lasting?

The choir and their friends assembled at St. John's Parish House at 9 a.m., and were conveyed by the Comet and Stoney Lake 'buses, also a dozen or more cars kindly loaned by members of the congregation. The work of allotting parties to cars and 'buses was very ably handled by Mr. D. Eldred, and with very little loss of time, a party of 75 was on the road.

On arrival at South Beach, many of the ladies participated in a real good game of softball, while the men and boys demonstrated their prowess at cricket. The equipment, recently provided by several members of St. John's for the choir boys' cricket club was put to good use. Incidentally these boys are fast developing into good players, and judging by the earnestness of their game, there is every likelihood of cricket, before many years, coming "into its own" again in Peterboro.

At the conclusion of these games the inviting waters of the lake set aquatic fancies in the minds of many, to work, so much so, that a goodly number were to be seen enjoying a swim before the midday meal.

The spacious accommodation of the hotel was all that could be desired, and many a "boy," both young and old, did ample justice to the repast served by Mr. Brooks, in a manner which left nothing to be desired. This was evidenced later by the desire of the majority to rest 'neath the shade of the trees, although a few boys did venture as far as the end of the pier armed with fishing tackle and bait and truth has it, they were accompanied by one of our respected wardens, but as very little was said as to the catch, one is quite safe in assuming that nothing larger than a ten-pound bass was caught.

At three o'clock the waters were again disturbed by many exponents of the natatorial art, to be followed with a real snappy programme of track events as the following list and prize-winners will testify, the prizes for which being presented by the Rev. Dr. Blagrave:

Married ladies' race — 1 Mrs. D. Eldred, 2 Mrs. G. Coleman.

Single ladies' race — 1 Miss W. Melton, 2 Miss A. Horn.

Ladies' egg and spoon race — 1 Miss W. Melton, 2 Miss M. Flowers.

Small choir boys' 75-yard race—1 K. Hutchinson, 2 J. Comstock.

Bigger choir boys' 100-yard race—1 L. Dyer, 2 L. Sorby.

Ladies' consolation race—Mrs. C. Perry, Mrs. R. C. Blagrave.

Tug-of-war, Ladies vs. Men — Ladies.

Tug-of-war, Ladies vs. Boys — Ladies.

Judges, etc.—Messrs. S. T. Medd, H. W. Morphet, Gray, Hayter, Godwin and Melton.

The tug-of-war, ladies vs. gentlemen, was a very strenuous event, the men being of the opinion that it would be a "walk-over" for them, and that chivalry, always to the fore when there is a lady in the case, exerted itself to such an extent that the men talked of handicapping themselves in devious ways, such as pulling with one hand or with their teeth, but little did they realize, bassos or tenors they may be, that "roping a fellow in" is no lost art with the ladies. No sooner had the word "pull" been uttered than several lusty bassos were seen to be sliding as if on rollers. No excuses could be found, the men were beaten, but only by the ratio of two ladies to one gentleman.

Several gentlemen thought they could demonstrate to the boys how a jump should be made and how a hop, skip and jump should be performed, but the results made by many of them caused several to seek cover under the alibis of "old age" and "haven't done it since I was a boy," although our Vicar gave some of us the impression that "time was when he could jump as good as any man."

As the call for tea sounded many could be seen making a "bee line" for the hotel, and once again praise was lavished by all on the catering, at the conclusion of which, after a game of softball, farewells were bade to one another for the journey home.

To the committee in charge of the details no small praise can be given, particularly to Messrs. F. G. Mann and H. W. Morphet, the choirmaster and choir president respectively, whose untiring efforts were largely responsible for the splendid outing.

The grateful thanks of the choir is tendered to the wardens who made this outing possible, and to the following friends who gave their cars and their services so unreservedly for the day: Mr. S. T. Medd, Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mr. Robt. Fair, Miss A. Halliday, Mr. H. W. Morphet, Mrs. C. Perry, Mr. C. Perry, Mr. F. B. Hutchinson and Mr. F. G. Mann; also to the following gentlemen who so kindly donated prizes: Mr. W. J. Kent, Mr. A. W. Turner, and Mr. R. Stephenson. MR. C. COLEMAN.

POSTAL WORKERS CLAIM NEW MOVE

Government Officials Say Door is Closed to Strikers.

TORONTO, June 26. — The predictions made yesterday by leading officials of the striking postal workers here that "important negotiations" in progress would lead to a settlement of the differences between the employees and the Canadian government within 36 hours, showed no signs of materializing this morning. No definite statements have been made by the federation officials as to who persons are who are conducting negotiations, but strikers are urged to be patient, promises being made of early developments of a favorable character.

Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster general, expressed amazement last night at the kind of information being given to the strikers by the Federation officials.

The government stands firm in its decision that no more negotiations are possible, and that as far as it is concerned, the strike is over.

Handling the Mail.

Montreal, Toronto and Windsor postmasters are making herculean efforts to effect a distribution of mail.

In Quebec City the service is reported to be practically normal but in Toronto and Windsor, where the work is being carried on by great number of substitute workers conditions are improving but slowly.

Strike Propaganda.

A new proposition has been received from the authorities at Ottawa to the postal workers, said Gordon Jackson, president of the Federation of Postal Workers at the mass meeting of the Toronto postal strikers this morning. The government's new proposition, he said, would be considered by Dominion and local strike committees this morning and would be laid before the strikers at a closed meeting this afternoon.

GAMBLING

One generation is about the same as another. During 1923 nearly 243 million shares of stocks were bought and sold on the New York Stock Exchange. Practically three times as much as in 1913, that easy-going year before the war started.

And yet, digging into old newspaper files, we find that over 265 million shares of stock were traded in 1901. U.S. Steel was being born then, and the possibilities in other fields touched a match to the gambling instinct.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Funeral of Maria Baston Yesterday Afternoon—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26.—The funeral of the late Maria Bastow, widow of W. B. Archer, was held on Wednesday afternoon from her late residence on Booth Street to Christ Church and Cemetery, and was attended by a large concourse of friends and relatives.

The late Mrs. Archer was born in Kingstone in 1842, so that at the time of her death, which occurred on Sunday morning last, she was in her 83rd year. She lived in Kingston until her marriage to Mr. Archer in 1869, when she moved to Campbellford, where she resided constantly for the remainder of her life-time.

The husband, who passed away 15 years ago, had been a resident of Campbellford since his arrival from England with his parents at the age of four, and was associated in business with the late J. M. Ferris, who was at one time postmaster here. Mr. Ferris was later elected to the Provincial Legislature, and his partner, Mr. Archer, succeeded him in the postmastership, holding the position for over 35 years.

Mrs. Archer, whose death is mourned by a large circle of friends, was a devoted member of Christ Church during her long residence in this town. She had suffered from a lingering illness, due to advancing years, for a long period, and predicted her death a few hours before the end came.

The deceased is survived by one brother, J. G. Bastow, of Kingston, and by three daughters—Mrs. J. F. MacGowan of Toronto, Mrs. George Higginson of Alberta, and Miss Edith at home. Three sons also survive: Fred. B. of the W. R. Brock Company in Calgary, James P. of town, who is with the J. B. Ferris Company, in which his father was interested so long, and George B. a medical missionary with the Church Mission Society at Ramghat, Bengal, India.

Rev. G. C. Clarke, rector of Christ Church, held a brief religious service in the home and at the church of which the deceased had been a constant attendant while her health permitted. The address of Mr. Clarke was based on the Collect for All Saints' Day, as he said that no passage in sacred writing could be found that so aptly described the influence upon the world of a person who had lived so long and so worthily as the deceased.

The floral offerings included wreaths from the Willing Workers and Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church, members of the family, and others.

The pall-bearers were Fred M. Dinwoodie, who was groomsman at the marriage of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archer, and who is the only survivor who was present at that event; G. Bedford, C. E. Bonnycastle, J. A. Stewart, D. W. Douglas, and F. W. Wood.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were J. G. Baston of Kingston, a brother, Mr. and Mrs. MacGowan of Toronto, G. A. MacGowan of Toronto, a grandson, Mrs. E. Gordon of Toronto, a granddaughter, Nelson Henderson of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Touchbourn of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. C. Roberts and daughter Edith of Havelock, Dr. and Mrs. Archer of Colborne.

St. Andrew's Garden Party.

The annual garden party of St. Andrew's Church, postponed from Tuesday on account of the weather, was held last night, and the spacious manse lawn was crowded to capacity. The Northumberland Regiment Band, under the leadership of Sergeant George T. Salter, officiating instead of Bandmaster Cowell, who is ill, rendered a fine programme of music during the evening. All of the booths did a thriving business, and the affair will net the congregation a handsome surplus.

The feature of the evening was the "Queen of Roses," a handsome pageant, in which the different parts were taken by children from the Sunday School, dressed to represent different nationalities. Those who took part were:

The Queen—Dorothy Barnum.
Maids of Honor—Willamine Allan, Marion MacArthur, Jerrine Barnum and Ella Cock.
Train-bearers—Billy McEachern and Ralph Finney.
Flower Girls — Jacqueline McEachern and Lois Meyers.
Fairy—Eva McKelvie.
Indians—Frances Anderson and Elsie Connor.
Dutch Girl—Ruby Townsend.
Spanish Girl—Jean MacArthur.
Scotch Girl—Dorothy Henson.
Japanese Girl — Marjorie Ackerman.
Uncle Sam—Lorne Scott.
Sailors — G. Scott and Donald Dunk.
Britannia—Gladys Meiklejohn.

Another feature of the programme was community singing of popular songs, the words of which were thrown on a screen by a lantern which was operated by Rev. C. F. McIntosh.

Personals.

E. W. Carter, of the Bank of Montreal staff, West Toronto, is spending his holidays with friends in town.

Mrs. Emily Boyle (nee Mason), formerly of Campbellford, but who for a number of years has resided at Darlingford, Man., is at present the guest of her neice, Mrs. H. D. Atkinson. Mrs. Boyle has been visiting in this district since the death of her husband nearly a year ago. Before returning to the West she will spend some time with relatives in Peterboro.

The Queen Alexandria Annual School Picnic

Affair Was in Charge of the Home and School Association.

The fourth annual picnic of Queen Alexandra School at Nicholls Oval Friday afternoon, June 20th, was a great success. The rain which threatened all morning held off till midnight, so that the weather was ideal for the afternoon.

The school children marked to the Oval, each teacher having charge of her own class. They made a pretty sight as they wound through the grounds to position, all looking happy and gay.

The school's Home and School Association had charge of all arrangements, under the leadership of the President, Mrs. H. G. Walker. Mrs. Geo. Lee was convenor of refreshments, assisted by members and teachers. Lemonade was served to all.

There were two ice cream stands, in charge of Mesdames Chenerill, Lacy, Tremain, Vance, Kingdon and Simpson, which did a flourishing business, giving two cones for five cents.

The sports were in charge of Mr. F. H. Dearborn, assisted by the principal, Mr. M. H. Park, and Messrs. Tedford, Touchburn, Lee, Shields and others.

Mr. Park presented the prizes to the following:

Kindergarten girls—Velma Manley, Betty Castle, Marion Curtis. Boys—Raymond Giles, Maurice Wearing, John McClennan.

Girls six years—Betty Pogue, Gene Clarkson, Marguerite Hamilton. Boys—Arthur Kingdon, Raymond Giles, Philip Riscoe.

Girls nine years—Winnifred Wood, Louise Lundy, Doris Tremaine. Boys—Gordon Dearborn, Jack Mark, Vincent Holmes.

Girls ten years—Edna Calvert, Lena Cheel, Elizabeth Smithers. Boys—Wilfred Whitnell, Frank Weart, Basil Stevens.

Girls eleven and twelve—Alma Mark, Rose Folger, Ina Terrace. Boys—Leslie Munden, Archie Cox, Henry Dearborn.

Girls thirteen and over—Leona Kingdon, Isobel Weatherstone, Marjorie Lang. Boys—Walter Outram, Charlie Dorrington, Teddy Kingdon.

Girls six years (hopping)—Betty Pogue, Ida Dudas, Betty Castle. Boys—Arthur Kingdon, Maurice Wearing, John McClennan.

Girls seven and eight (potato)—Winnifred Eggleton, Winnifred Norton, Dorothy Gray.

Boys seven and eight (three-legged)—Ivan Clemens and Sidney Lewington, Cecil Montgomery and Eddie Dorrington.

Girls nine and ten (three-legged)—Edna Calvert and Mary Vance, Elsie Gates and Florence Lemmings.

Boys nine and ten (wheelbarrow)—Gordon Dearborn and Clayton Hamilton, Reggie Kingdon and Jack Mark.

Girls eleven and twelve (needle and thread)—Isabel Mackey, Geraldine Long, Agnes Fife.

Boys eleven and twelve (club)—Carl Dorrington, Leslie Munden, Archie Cox.

Girls and boys thirteen and over (coat)—Violet Davidson and Arfere Tedford, Isabel Davidson and Alvin Tedford.

Bicycle race, girls—Violet Davidson, Gladys Ash, Ruby Curtis. Boys—Ian Wood, Robin Stewart, George Whitnell.

Mothers' race — Mrs. Geddes, Mrs. Kingdon.

Mother present with largest family—Mrs. Harold Ephgrave.

Mr. A. Mowat present the prizes for general proficiency during the year to: Margaret Wise, seven years, primer; Jimmie Morrow, seven years, junior first; Bertha Inch, eight years, senior first; Marjorie Nesbitt, eight years, junior second; Douglas Fraser, eleven years, senior second; Walter Curtis, eleven years, junior third; Alice Donnelly, eleven years, senior third; Muriel Boorman, eleven years, junior fourth; Henry Dearborn, eleven years, senior fourth.

The children had a grand scramble for nuts, presented by the Honorary President, Mrs. Mowat, who was present with a party. Mrs. W. R. Morris was one of the many visitors. All pronounced it the best picnic yet and are looking forward to the next.

DROWNED IN FOUR FEET.

Nineteen Year Old John Morris Supposed Attacked By a Cramp.

MONTREAL, June 26—(Canadian Press).—While bathing near the Montreal East wharf here yesterday afternoon John Morris, 19 of this city, sank in four feet of water and was drowned before two friends with him could come to his aid. It is believed he was seized with cramp or heart attack.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

EASY WIN FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Hastings Manager Went Through With the Game With Four Absentees.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 26. — Manager Wellman of the Hastings baseball team has the true sporting spirit, accepting victory without unseemly boosting and defeat without a whimper. He brought his nine to Campbellford yesterday afternoon with four of his regular players missing, yet rather than upset the schedule by asking for a postponement, he took the field, the leader of a forlorn hope from the start but inspired by the example of their leader the Hastings boys put up a game fight to the end. Scriver, the catcher for Hastings, was injured in the game Saturday and is still unable to play. The other regular men that in the line-up were First Baseman Stevenson, second Baseman Cruickshanks and Short Stop Howard, all good batters as well as clever and reliable fielders. Two school boys new to the game and wearing their every day clothes, were in the outfield and the entire batting order was changed. The score of 15-4 in a game that went six and a half innings, tells the story.

It would have taken a team of seasoned veterans to beat Campbellford as that team played yesterday. Scott whose only fault in an occasional aerial flight — but these are seldom costly—struck out 12 of the Hastings batters in the seven innings that they faced him and gave only one pass to first. Every Campbellford player has at least one hit to his credit; Holmes again carrying off the honors with a single and two doubles. In the second inning when he tried to stretch a two bagger into a triple, egged on by the coacher he was nabbed at third by a close shave.

Blakely, always regarded as one of the best outfielders in the league is showing steady improvement in his batting and is now looked upon as one of the most reliable batters in the league.

One of the substitute players on the visiting team yesterday was T. H. Chaplin, a Campbellford boy, who is now principal of the Hastings Public school. He was assigned to centre field where he had only one chance and accepted it. He made two of the four hits garnered by Hastings, the only other one of the visitors able to find Scott's red hot curves being Dodd and Clark, also substitutes. Chaplin won the field day cup the last year he attended the Campbellford High School and he has not lost his spurting powers as was shown by the dash with which he stole bases, and any runner who does this with Armour behind the bat has nerve as well as fleetness.

Manager Wellman umpired at the plate. It is seldom an umpire gets through a game without a razzing from the home fans but the Hastings men made that record yesterday. After the game a number of the Campbellford players congratulated him on his efficiency, adding that he had given them the squarest deal they had ever received in the league. The score:

Notes on the Game.

One of the prettiest plays in the game was Eagleson's left-hand catch of Clarke's hot liner in the second.

Campbellford's next game is at Roseneath on 2nd July, according to the schedule, but this contest may be postponed until the following Saturday, which is a half-holiday in the latter place.

ROSENEATH TRIM ORLAND PLAYERS

Orland Put Up Great Fight, But Lose Game and Allow Roseneath to Advance to Front of Race.

ROSENEATH, June 26.—Special—It was a great game of ball that the Roseneath boys won from the Orland crew yesterday afternoon in Roseneath. Colborne dropped a game yesterday and this puts the Roseneath boys in front of the tight race for the championship honours. Orland was leading up till the seventh inning but when the Roseneath boys come to bat they walloped Zufelt who had replaced Dawson on the mound for two runs that won the game for them by the score of 6 to 5. It was one of the fastest and most thrilling games ever seen in the Northumberland league. In the first inning Roseneath came through with 2 runs but the Orland boys also chalked up one in their half. Neither team scored in the second but in the third Orland advanced in front when they manufactured two more counters making the score 3 to 2. The held their lead until the fifth when Roseneath came through with several hits and two runs. In the next inning Orland advanced in front again when two men crossed the plate but the Roseneath boys weren't satisfied with this and in the seventh they hammered in two counters and held the Orland crew from scoring in the last three frames, Roseneath collected 13 hits of the Orland twirlers, while Orland came through with 10. Dunnit started on the mound for Roseneath but in the 6 1-2 innings he pitched he was touched for five runs and eight hits. He fanned two and allowed 2 walks. Leach who replaced him on mound held his opponents to two scattered hits and blanked them in the run column. He had plenty of speed and succeeded in fanning four men in the 2 1-2 innings he was on the mound. Dawson who started on the rubber for Orland was a little wild and was walloped for 10 hits ad four runs in the 4 1-2 innings he twirled. He also issued 5 walks. Zufelt replaced him in the fourth and finished the game in great style. In the 4 1-2 innings he pitched he was touched for 3 hits and 2 runs, while he struck out 4 men and issued one pass. Mulhall and Samin did the heavy hitting for Orland, each of them getting a double, while R. Thackeray for Roseneath also walloped the pill for two bags.

METHODISTS OF MILLBROOK LOSE THEIR PASTOR

Rev. S. T. Tucker and Family Received Token of Congregation's Esteem.

SERVED 5 YEARS

Pleasant Gathering Held Under Auspices of Young People's League.

MILLBROOK, June 25. — A very pleasant gathering was held in the Sunday School auditorium of the Methodist Church on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's League, which was holding its closing meeting until the fall.

The chair was taken by Rev. S. T. Tucker, and the opening Scripture lesson read by Dr. Alvin Richards, a former League worker, who has just graduated in his profession.

The programme included a number of dramatic readings by Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, who is spending a holiday in the neighbourhood, and had just returned from a business trip to Toronto. Mr. Barton was recently heard in a similar programme at the Zion Church, and the applause which greeted each of his selections showed with what favour they were received.

A piano duet by Misses Ethel Richardson and Ella Elson brought an insistent demand for an encore, and a baritone solo. "The Homeward Road," by Mr. F. N. Alcorn, cornet solos by Mr. G. E. Burnham, with a character song (in costume), "When We Went to Sunday School," by Jean Stinson and Lawrence Rowland, which literally "brought down the house," rounded out a most entertaining programme.

An interesting feature of the evening was the unveiling of an enlarged and handsomely framed picture of Rev. E. Hibbard, B.A., of Chentu, West China, the missionary who is supported by the Sunday Schools and Leagues of the Peterborough district. The local young people raise $100.00 annually toward Mr. Hibbard's salary, and in presenting the picture to them, Mr. P. Stinson, who was generously making the gift, on behalf of Mrs. Stinson and their two children, Jean and Jack, in his brief remarks expressed his personal appreciation of the excellent work in the development of Christian character, and the furtherance of missions, which the League is doing in Millbrook.

Miss Estelle Hetherington, president of the League, replied on behalf of that organisation, urging the large audience present, which was representative of the large circuit, to include Mr. Hibbard, his wife and family, in their prayers, and also give them as generous financial support as possible.

Presentation to Pastor.

Rev. Joseph Wilks was called upon for some closing remarks, and requested Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker to come to the platform, when the following address was read by W. Fred Fallis, superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. W. Pendrie presenting them with a solid walnut tea-cart on behalf of the churches of the Millbrook Circuit:

To Rev. S. T. Tucker, Mrs. Tucker, Ewart and Gladys.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Tucker and Family:

Our gathering here this evening has many pleasant features, but the fact that the ties which have bound us together in the relationship of pastor, pastor's wife and family, and people, are soon to be severed, brings a sense of loss and a feeling of genuine sadness, casting a shadow over the happiness this event would otherwise provide.

During the five years you have been with us, many warm friendships have been formed, and while sentiments of friendship which flow from the heart cannot be destroyed by absence, yet removal to another field of service means that, to a certain extent at least, such ties become somewhat broken, lacking the binding quality personal contact supplies. This is one of the hard facts that you, and we, have had to face before, and must now face again as a change of pastor and people becomes imperative because of the working out of the itinerant system of our Church.

The gracious and open-hearted hospitality which has characterised your stay among us, has made the parsonage the scene of many pleasant gatherings. Whether your people came to your door as casual callers, as church organisations finding in your home a pleasant meeting-place, or as members of your congregation seeking advice, or practical help, the warm welcome with which we were always greeted will long remain in mind as one of the most delightful circumstances in connection ith your pastorate on this charge.

We have been faithfully ministered to from the pulpit from Sunday to Sunday, and the clear exposition of Bible facts, and Bible knowledge, in which your sermons have been rich, has been to us an education. It has taught us that to have the mind stored with information from the Book of Books adds interest and importance to every other kind of knowledge, and has been a means not only of valuable intellectual culture, but of moral discipline as well.

In young people's activities we have had wise and kindly leadership, and our church life is the richer for the organisation of the C.S.E.T. and C.G.I.T. groups during your pastoral term.

Under Mrs. Tucker's self-sacrificing and faithful presidency, the Women's Missionary Auxiliary has prospered as never before in its history, while in the Ladies' Aid, the Sunday School, and other organisations, her willing help and wise counsel has added to their growth and general development, leaving us as a people under a debt which can neither be estimated or repaid.

The assistance which both Ewart and Gladys have given in many ways has been most valuable. Particular mention should be made of the service which Gladys has rendered by presiding at the piano during the Sunday School sessions in the absence of the regularly appointed pianist. The musical ability of both members of your family has added to the success and attractiveness of our programmes on numerous occasions, and the vacancy left by their removal will be most difficult to fill.

We could not let this occasion pass without expressing in some tangible form the place which you have individually won in our affection and esteem, and we ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of the regard in which you are held by the congregations of the Millbrook Circuit.

Our prayer is that God's richest blessing may go with you to your new field of labour, that health and happiness may abound in your home life, that the utmost sympathy and co-operation may continue to characterise your relationships as minister, minister's wife and family, with your people, and that the affairs of the Kingdom may especially prosper during your term in the Orono Church.

Signed on behalf of the congregations, the Sunday Schools, and other organisations of the Millbrook Circuit,

J. Whitfield,
T. H. Aiken,
S. Hamilton.

Taken completely by surprise, Mr. Tucker, who wished to reply on behalf of himself, his wife and family, found his feeling practically beyond control, and the words his heart prompted hard to say.

Rev. Mr. Wilks, who in the course of a long ministry had passed through similar trying experiences and understood thoroughly the situation, made the happy suggestion that all present understood the gratitude and appreciation to which Mr. Tucker would like to give expression, and further attempt at putting it into words was unnecessary.

Rev. Mr. Barton's proposal that all join in singing "God be with you till we meet again," was acceded to, and the gathering brought to a close.

During the informal social hour which followed, people from the three charges on the Circuit, and from the Carmel appointment as well, took the opportunity of personally expressing their regret at the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker from the pastorate here.

Had a Weak Heart Was Very Nervous For Three Years

Miss Jessie Peterson, Zealandia, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know how much good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

"For nearly three years I was very badly run down, had a weak heart, and was so nervous that sometimes I would almost faint away.

"I heard of many people who had recommended your Heart and Nerve Pills, so I decided to give them a trial. After I had used two boxes I found they had done me good, and after having taken five boxes I was completely relieved.

"I cannot recommend your Pills enough, and I would advise anyone having a weak heart or troubled with nervousness to use them."

RYLSTONE CHURCH HONOUR MINISTER

Address and Presentation to Rev. J. J. Black, Now of Orillia.

BURNBRAE, June 25.—The members of Rylstone Church met at Burnbrae Manse on Monday evening for a social hour with Rev. J. J. and Mrs. Black before their departure to Orillia. Members of session, Robert Meiklejohn, Harold Rutherford and L. Meiklejohn, spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Black as a man and as a minister. They only hoped they could have enjoyed his services longer. However, they assured Mr. and Mrs. Black of their best wishes for their success in their new field of labor.

The following address was read by Mr. Harold Rutherford:

Mr. and Mrs. Black and Family.

We, the members of Rylstone Church, have gathered here this evening to spend a social hour with you and to bid God-speed to you in your new field of service.

During the short six years you have labored amongst us, you have brought hope and brightness to many troubled hearts. Sometimes we have seemed indifferent, but we hope that you will pardon us for our indifference. We realize that a pastor's work is not always the easiest, and that many times when we might have given a word of praise and encouragement we have withheld it.

Your sermons, Mr. Black, have always been of the best, inspiring and uplifting. We would have liked you to stay with us for a longer time, but we feel that it is not our right to question God's call of a servant to another field.

We hope that you will often find it convenient to spend a few days in our midst, and that sometimes when you have a few minutes to spare you will think of your friends at Rylstone.

Mrs. Black, we would ask you to receive this tray, and Mr. Black this purse, as a token of remembrance of pleasant hours spent amongst us, and also wishing God's blessing to rest upon you in your new work.

Signed on behalf of the members of Rylstone Church.

Harold Rutherford.

Mr. Black fittingly responded and thanked the friends at Rylstone on behalf of Mrs. Black and himself for the many evidences of their love and good-will during the years of his ministry among them. He spoke appreciatingly of their loyalty and devotion to the church. Burnbrae and Rylstone, Mr. Black said, will always have an affectionate place in his heart. It was his first charge, his first home, and he would always look back to those initial years of his ministry with affectionate memory. He felt it was his duty to accept the invitation to Orillia, and he would be glad to have a visit at any time to their new home from the friends from Rylstone.

GERMANY SEEKS ADMISSION INTO NATIONS LEAGUE

Her Importance as a World Power Will Assure Her Admission to the League.

BERLIN, June 26. — (United News).—Germany intends to apply for a membership in the League of Nations at the League Assembly at Geneva next September, according to information from a reliable source. The news follows the announcement of the plans for an inter-allied reparations conference fostered by Britain and France, the Governments of which are both inclined toward increased league activity in European affairs.

Britain and other powers, recently have urged that Germany apply for a league membership, but relinquish her former demand for immediate permanent membership in the League Council. It is understood that Germany is convinced that once the experts' scheme is in operation on her importance as a world power will assure her admission to the League.

GREEK SAILORS QUIT POSITIONS

Government Has Ordered Them All Arrested For Mutiny— President's Son in Jail.

ATHENS, June 26. — (United Press).—One hundred naval officers have submitted their resignations and abandoned their ships because of the alleged unjust promotion of several navy officers by Naval Minister Hadjikyriacos.

The officers threaten to quit the navy en masse unless Hadjikyriacos resigns immediately.

The Government regard their action as constituting a mutiny and have ordered them all arrested. One of those arrested is Lieut. Countourcoutis, son of the President.

The President is solidly backing the Naval Minister, and plans to ask the Assembly this evening to defend their Parliamentary rights and not to give in to the mutineers.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After his death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses, and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XII—"I'VE TAMED WILD CREATURES!"

John Collinge had always preferred horses to motor-cars, though like the rest of the world he had accepted them as the best modern means of transport. But there had always been several good horses kept in the stables, and Paul thought how welcome a ride through the scented summer night would be. He had had very little exercise since he came home, and his long limbs felt cramped and limp in consequence.

He crossed the courtyard to the stables, and as he opened the gate he saw a light in one of the stalls and heard the restless stamping of horses' feet.

It was late, nearly eleven o'clock, and with a feeling of vague misgiving he went quickly forward, stopping short as he reached the open doorway, his face growing grim as he recognized Wanda. By the light of an old-fashioned lamp set in a corner of the stable he saw that she was deftly saddling the brown cob which was the best and most spirited mount in the stables.

She was so intent upon her task that she had not heard him, and against his will he found himself admiring the masterful way in which she handled the horse, and the confident manner with which she patted him, and pushed him round the better to adjust the bridle.

She had finished at last, and dropping a careless kiss on the animal's sleek nose she said with a gentler note in her voice than Paul had ever heard:

"Now then—come along, my beauty!"

Paul spoke then.

"And where are you going, may I ask?"

"You! Well, I'm not surprised. I suppose you followed me."

Paul ignored the question.

"I thought you were ill in bed," he said curtly.

Her brown eyes flashed defiance at him.

"You knew I wasn't ill," she contradicted him coolly. You knew I was only pretending. I thought I could stick it, but I can't. I went out on Lion last night, and I'm going again to-night. How people can stay in bed——"

Paul interrupted her.

"Lion happens to belong to me, and, besides, he's not safe for any woman to ride."

He took a step forward and closed the door behind him. "Anyway, it's too late for you to go racing about the country. You'll kindly take that saddle off and come back to the house with me."

"I shall not!"

"I think you will."

She stood confronting him, her breast heaving, her cheeks crimson.

"If you knew how I hate you——" she panted at last.

Paul smiled.

"Well, I don't know that I love you very much, if it comes to speaking of unpleasant truths, but we'll let it pass. Take off that saddle."

"I'll stay here all night first!"

"Very well. Then we'll both stay!"

Paul sat down on an upturned box with his back to the door and proceeded to light his pipe. He looked very angry, but secretly he was rather amused. She had plenty of spirit at all events, and was not going to give him the satisfaction of a walk-over victory.

"I'm not tired if you're not," he said presently.

She was silent for a moment, then she broke out:

"So this is why you were sitting at the drawing-room window, pretending to like Clare's music!"

"It wasn't pretence. I do like it, immensely."

Her eyes flashed scorn at his unconscious face.

"I don't believe you. She plays frightfully badly."

"Does she? I'm no judge. I only know what I like."

"I suppose you mean that you like her then?"

"Yes. I like Mrs. Garnet immensely," Paul agreed.

"You! Who have always boasted that you would never be managed by a woman," she scoffed.

Paul looked up, his brown face flushing.

"I am not aware that Mrs. Garnet has ever tried to 'manage' me," he said.

"Of course, you're not! She's so clever! She's not like me. She will never let you know what she means, or what she's driving at. She believes in the subtle method. The iron hand in the velvet glove."

She laughed again. "She'll have married you before you know where you are!" she mocked him.

Paul's eyes looked ugly.

"I thought you were Mrs. Garnet's friend," he said cuttingly.

Wanda's eyes fell, and she bit her lip; then suddenly she said with charming spontaneity:

"Yes, I was a pig to have said such things about her. I am sorry; please forget them."

Paul's eyes searched her face coolly, then he laughed.

"Do you know," he said frankly, "that I never believe a word you say? You're the most consummate play-actress I've ever met."

The color blazed in her face again.

"How dare you say such a thing to me?"

"I dare quite well." He rose suddenly to his feet. "But I don't want to waste time arguing. The lamp's burning low. Take off that saddle as I told you to."

"I will not."

He moved a step nearer to her.

"Shall I have to make you?"

She looked at him and her eyes dilated.

"If you touch me, I'll kill you," she said very quietly.

"Will you?" There was a dangerous gleam in his eyes. "I've tamed wild creatures like you before," he said, then broke off with a muttered oath as the lamp wavered, flickered uncertainly, and went out, leaving them in darkness.

LOCAL TAXI DRIVER IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

A Large Sedan Turned on Side With Lady Passenger.

What might have been a fatal accident occurred about 9 o'clock on Tuesday evening, when a sedan, owned and driven by a local taxi driver with one passenger, an aged lady, toppled over on its side while driving north along Driscoll Terrace near the Hydro pump.

Fortunately, the lady passenger escaped with cuts on the arm and a few bruises. The sedan, however, was badly damaged.

At the point on the road where the car turned over, the road is rounded and slopes rather abruptly, and there also being a bend in the road at this point, it makes it dangerous for motorists. At the time the accident happened the car was being driven slowly, and as the turn was being made, the back wheel slid into the ditch, the car turning on its side.

The glass was all raised on the sedan at the time, and luckily the rear window was the only one that was broken. When the car turned the occupants were removed by bystanders through the side of the car, facing upwards.

FIFTEEN PEOPLE ILL AFTER WEDDING LUNCH

BELLEVILLE, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Fifteen people, including bride and groom, Miss Pearl Taylor and Mrs. Jas. S. Kerr, were taken seriously ill late yesterday afternoon, following the wedding supper at the marriage feast near Shannonville, just east of this city. Rev. John R. Totten, Methodist clergyman, who was very ill during the night, was to-day reported as very little improved. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr were ill at first, but recovered and started on their wedding trip.

Belleville relatives of the bride, including Mr. Henry Taylor, Miss Hazel Taylor and Miss Dalton are still very ill to-day, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Sharpe, of Lindsay, are ill here. Guests and family blame the unfortunate outcome of the wedding supper to ice cream, which they say must have been re-frozen.

RE-VALUATION OF CHILDREN'S LIFE

This Was the Subject Discussed This Morning at National Conference of Social Work.

TORONTO, June 26. — (Canadian Press.)— The children's division of the National Conference on Social Work which met this morning had for their general subject of discussion different phases in the revaluation of child life,, through modern methods of readjustment. The speakers were Miss Sophie Van Senden Theis, of New York City, Miss Ruth Taylor, New York, Miss Elsa Ueland, Carson College for Orphan Girls Pennsylvania and A. P. Paget, Winnipeg, in regard to institutional life, the method supported was to plan to transform in such a way that will conform as much as possible to the normal life of the home, in connection with an address on Case work in public welfare departments given by Mrs. Ada Sheffield, director research bureau on case work, Boston, a discussion in which applause greeted the speaker who took the stand that public officials will do the work to a standard desirable, if a sufficient number is provided and present deficiency being due to pressure of work.

McGILL STUDENT SOLD HIS BLOOD FOR $300.00

MONTREAL, June 26.—(Canadian Press.)—That one McGill University student voluntarily parted with fifteen pints of his blood during the last college year, thus earning $300, was the statement of Dr. A. K. Haywood, Superintendent of the Montreal General Hospital. Dr. Haywood said the hospital authorities were at their wits' end now that the college was closed, to get the necessary blood for transfusions. He added that the process was not painful and in cases of plethoric poison was actually beneficial. A pint of blood would be made up in about forty-eight hours, he said.

A SECOND SCANDAL CASE OVER LIQUOR

Gaston Means Is Charged With Violating the Volstead Act.

NEW YORK, June 26. — (United Press).—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his secretary, Arthur Roxsmith, are scheduled to take the stand to-day in the trial of Gaston Means and Elmer Jarneike, charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act through illegal withdrawals of liquor from the bonded Government warehouses.

The secretary has been subpoened by the defence. Thomas W. Felder, defence attorney, and himself under indictment with means of another charge will attempt to show that thousands of gallons of whisky were withdrawn illegally from a distillery near Pittsburgh, and that the forged permits for the withdrawals were found later in possession of the Mellon Bank in that city.

Means, a former agent of the Department of Justice, had already testified of the withdrawals, charging the prosecution of persons involved in another $1,000,000 alleged illegal liquor deal were hampered by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Means' tale includes a story he told the Department of Justice agents about a plan to withdraw enough whisky to enable the Republican party to pay $1,700,000 it owed to the Mellon Bank on notes the bank had taken up fom a New York financial institution.

MONTREAL BANDITS ARE FEELING BAD

Mike Valentino Has Been Crying Day and Night Since He Heard His Sentence.

MONTREAL, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—With Giuseppe Serafini and Leo Davis, two of the six bandits sentenced to death for the Hochelaga collection car hold-up on a hunger strike, Tony Frank, another of the bandits, is reported to be very ill.

Mike Valentino is very voluble. He has been crying day and night since he heard his sentence, and exclaiming that he is innocent. According to Governor Seguin, Louis Morel, former star athlete of Montreal police force, is the only one of the six condemned bandits who is bearing up normally.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MAY INTERVENE IN HOME BANK ISSUES

LONDON, June 26.— (Canadian Press.)—Judicial committee of the Privy Council to-day granted the Attorney General of Great Britain, Sir Patrick Hastings, the right to intervene in appeal of Attorney General of Ontario against the judgment of Mr. Justice Middleton of the Supreme Court of Ontario granting a speedy trial before the County Judge to accused directors of the Home Bank of Canada. The contention which will be submitted by the Attorney General of Ontario through D. L. McCarthy, K.C., special prosecutor in Home Bank cases, will raise the question whether Canadian Parliament has power to take away prerogative right of appeal in criminal matters which naturally involves raising in a new form the question concerning constitutional powers and status of Canada. The committee also decided that the Dominion of Canada should be represented by counsel.

LONG SAULT RAPIDS HAVE BEEN CONQUERED

PRESCOTT, Ont., June 26. — The Long Sault Rapids in the St. Lawrence River, were successfully negotiated this week by George Trum and Duke Weldington, both of Massena, N.Y., in two light canoes. As far as is known the feat, although attempted many times has never been successfully accomplished. The trip took about 20 minutes and was made without any mishap. Old residents on the Canadian side state that this is a record never before equalled.

About 35 years ago two men in attempting to make the trip, were nearly drowned and were rescued by two Indians.

The difficulty of getting iron during the war compelled Japan to increase its foundries from 20 to 250.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, THE EXAMINER.

Dear Sir,—I gather from the remarks of several citizens, annoyed on cessation under the self-constituted authority of the men, of mail delivery for a day or two, that these citizens have only now awakened to the fact that all along the employees in the postal service have assumed that the whole system—lock, stock and barrel—facilities and including the department, belonged to the employees. Theirs to do with as they wished in making use of a bothered public as a club to get get more money, ensconce themselves in secure positions, add on old-age pensions, and become the envy of more supine civil servants. Also that the public has no rights that should be respected or even considered. That nothing and no authority is supreme above their "demands."

And on behalf of a long-suffering public it is trusted that those in authority will see to it that if legislation be necessary, such be made as will ensure that when asking for and taking employment in public service work or such functions will, on entering the service, be placed in such way that we shall have no more strikes. Together with ample and considerate boards or directors to see that things are decided in case of dispute, in an impartial way, and relative to what is paid in other forms of employment, often more onerous and calling for much more of skill and responsibility. And this shall be in the interest of the public with all other interests as in second and third place. I am advised that the time has arrived when the slogan, "the public be damned," will be eradicated from our books of pithy but esteemed definitions.

But this is not what I started to write about. I wish to put forward a suggestion that should be acceptable. That the next time, if ever, such "demands" surge up in our postal service, that we take a hand on our own hook. Make local effort to serve ourselves. Keeping in mind that the mail directed to Peterborough belongs to us (though entrusted to the Department) and does not belong to the employees. The proper thing for us to do is, when the service baulks, to go and get our own mail ourselves. And that the keynote of being helpful is to get spry and help ourselves.

We have in this city two public service clubs, real live organizations. About one hundred and fifty of our best men, really panting for something to do that will be strikingly in the public interest. Something that, when done, and well done at that, will go rolling down the aisles of the Hall of Fame (local hall, of course), and bring up against the other wall of the hall with a prodiguous thump.

Understand, the motto of the Rotary Club is "He Profits Most Who Serves Best." I know that members are living just about as close to this principle as they practically can. Then Kiwanis prides itself on the pean, "We Build." Stroll out to Jackson Park and look at what this club has done—let alone what Rotary has accomplished up on Clear Lake. Both of these memberships being ready and willing to do things, and so profit in a personal relation to all others, to them I wish to appeal in a practical way, and on behalf of a discommoded public at large.

Let each club select ten men, twenty in all. With substitutes should a man fall down. Men of energy and intelligence (and both clubs hold men who aver they can whip their weight in wildcats), and when the next (if ever) postal concussion comes, pitch in on relays, get to the post office, sort out and send abroad all the outgoing stuff, lay out as directed all incoming mail, and then we'll go to the office and help ourselves and take the things given to us. Things being in readiness, everyone who longs for mail can foot it to the building, same as we did in the days long before the Hunter Street bridge was built. I mention the bridge as a good starting date, for we have to have some particular event to snub to.

Isn't this scheme feasable. Sure thing. All these men are like Bayard of old, above fear or reproach—at least most of them above reproach. And those who are not are told of it. There will be no come-back to bother them. Just as independent as a hog on ice—which, if it couldn't stand up, could fall down. I take the extreme liberty of suggesting to an expectant public the name of the men to tackle the job, to wit;—Rotarians Linton, Wren, Rogers Turner (Reg.), Greene, Ephgrave, Thomson, Gillespie, Hamilton and Smith. As for Kiwanis—on second thoughts I'll leave the selection to Kiwanian Walter Stocker.

I expect this proposition, bye and large, to receive editorial support. In the meantime, I will stand around and look pleasant and catch hold, and lift, where a lift is desirable, so long as we help ourselves and get our precious mail. Yours hopefully,

F. H. Dobbin.

DRAGOONS ARE INSPECTED ON DAILY PARADE

Brigadier General Hill Reports Improvement Over Last Year.

CONCLUDING PROGRAM

Sport Activities This Afternoon—Officers Will Hold Social.

This morning Brigadier-General F. W Hill, of Military Division No. 3, Kingston, inspecting officer, assisted by Colonel E. O. Hodgins, a General Staff officer, Kingston, inspected the Dragoons now in training at Exhibition Park.

Major Garnet G. Greer, senior medical officer, inspected the lines as to sanitary arrangements, while Captain F. Pilley, district paymaster, checked up the pay and the horses during muster parade.

Major F. W .Walsh, district veterinary officer, was expected to arrive here some time to-day to inspect the horses.

Brigadier-General Hill was quite pleased with the results of the inspection. He remarked that taking the squadron as a whole, it was a good turnout, and that a noticeable improvement over last year's camp was evident. There were no unfavourable comments, and each inspecting officer reported everything quite satisfactory.

Preparations for inspection began early to-day. At 8.30 a.m. B Squadron were doing reconnaisance work, putting out patrols and connecting files until they had worked their way to the shooting ranges.

B Squadron were reconnoitring, and reported to the main body, C Squadron, from time to time.

At the ranges, troop and squadron drill was performed under the supervision of the troop leaders. It was here that an imaginary attack ensued. This part of the inspection programme presented a unique military spectacle. It required military skill, and this military scheme, regarded as the main feature, afforded the best opportunity for the Dragoons to exhibit their skill.

At a given point C Squadron was put on the attack, B Squadron being held in reserve. The objective was to retake the ridge just west of the caretaker's house at the rifle ranges, supposed to be held by an imaginary force of infantry.

After the completion of this event the Dragoons, taking line formation, marched past Brigadier-General Hill and returned to the camp, where the squadron lines and stables were examined by the inspecting officers.

Camp will be broken some time during the night, when C Squadron will disperse and proceed home by road, while C. Squadron will remain to dismantle and clean up, which will occupy the most of to-morrow.

The concluding activities of the Dragoons took place this afternoon. A sports programme has been arranged ,and the feature event of the mounted sports was a competition for the best trooper and horse. The "Balaclava Melee" and the bareback horse wrestling contest will provide the thrills. Softball and the usual foot races are also on programme.

When the afternoon sports programme is concluded, the officers will entertain their wives and friends to tea on the grounds.

This afternoon Brigadier-General Hill and Colonel Hodgins proceeded to Cobourg, where they will inspect the Cobourg Heavy Battery.

Last evening's sports and concert programme provided the most enjoyable evening the soldier boys have spent here.

In the baseball game B Squadron defeated Headquarters. The four teams are now tied for first place. To-day B Squadron will play the Officers, and the Headquarters Moguls will play the winners for the championship.

Capt. Doug. Loomis was introduced to the baseball world in last night's fixture, relieving Orderly Room Sergeant Sheehy in the third. The pitchers' past record mattered not to the B Squadron, for they hammered Loomis with as much ease as they did Sheehy.

Movie pictures were shown in the Manufacturers' Building, and the concert programme was conducted between intervals.

Trooper Diamond rendered vocal selections, while a recitation was given by Sergeant-Major Payne. B Squadron rendered several selections from Wild Chorus. Exhibition boxing bouts, under the supervision of Corporal T. Wright, also formed part of the evening entertainment.

DRECO IS GREAT SAYS PORT DALHOUSIE LADY

Famous Herbal Remedy Continues Its Great Work In Port Dalhousie. Mrs. Fletcher Finds Wonderful Help In Only One Bottle.

There are few of us who do not suffer from some form or other of digestive ailment. Therefore, the message of Dreco, the famous herbal remedy, holds universal appeal. Thousands are benefitting every day from its use among them. Mrs. R. Fletcher, of Port Dalhousie, who describes her experience in the following statement:

"For some time I have been a martyr to stomach trouble," says Mrs. Fletcher. "Gas would form after every meal, causing terrible pains in my chest, and I also suffered from weak kidneys that brought pains across my back. Rheumatism of the joints and muscles gave me intense pain at times, and I was chronically constipated.

"I tried many different medicines, but none of them brought me relief. Happily, however, I read the message of Dreco and decided to give it a trial. The very first dose seemed to help me, and now that I have finished one bottle, I can truly say that it is wonderful. My digestion could not be better. I can eat now without the slightest inconvenience from gas afterwards, and I no longer suffer from pains across the back. My rheumatism is much better also, and improving every day, and am no longer troubled with constipation. I have every reason, therefore, to praise Dreco highly."

There is a reason behind every statement made on behalf of Dreco, and that reason is the improved health of everyone who takes it. This grand remedy made from Nature's own herbs, roots, bark and leaves helps the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to do their work properly, and purifies the blood. People right in Dalhousie have tried and proved it. Let it help you, too. Dreco contains no mercury, potash, or habit-forming drugs, but it is absolutely reliable and quick and pleasant in action.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterborough by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold as follows:

THINKS WORLD IS MARCHING UPWARD

Sir George Foster Has Hopes For Humanity and Justice.

TORONTO, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—The world is getting better, Sir George Foster told the delegates to the National Conference on Social Work, assembled last night on the University quadrangle for the first of the general sessions, and in proof of his statement he referred to the greatly increased sense of obligation to our fellow-men, of brotherhood and of human service. "Whatever period of history they compared with the present," he said, "they would find that at no time was the spirit of brotherhood and service so pronounced. There had been a tremendous increase of late years," he stated, "of material improvement. Had these material advantages taken hold of the people to a greater extent than mental intellectual and spiritual processes? Was material or spiritual stronger? Was the influence of material beneficent or malificent? Was man the director of material or was he largely its slave?"

These were some of the queries with which Sir George prefaced his address. Answering them, he said that in the first place they could be assured of increased sense of brotherhood and service. In the second place, in order that the obligations to society might be realized, there had been thrown into the arena practical business methods of organization, never before seen. In the third place, people had entered upon a period where they were working, not as individuals, but as community organizations, as national organizations and as international organizations, in order to effect the highest aspirations of the world. "World of humanity," he said in closing, "is marching slowly onward and upward. The establishment of a world court of justice is an indication of our hopes in one direction. The League of Nations is another. Fifty-four nations concerned have a common purpose, and I believe that we are within easy distance of a combination of all nations who shall put war behind them."

LOCAL NURSES ARE HONOURED

Diplomas and Medals For Five Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital.

SEVERAL SPEECHES

The annual graduating exercises of the training school of St. Joseph's Hospital were held last evening in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, when the assembly hall was packed with a large and interested audience, over five hundred in number.

The five nurses who received their diplomas and medals last evening were Miss Thelma Sinclair, of Wiarton; Miss Anna Meagher, of Gloucester, Ontario, and the Misses Rita Coffey, Almeara Feeley and Josephine Watters, of Peterboro. Seated on the stage, in crisp white uniforms, their arms filled with pink roses, they were surrounded with the flowers which were used in profusion, red and white roses, pink and white carnations, large white and red peonies, tiny box trees and quantities of daisies, with green ferns, making a pretty setting for the occasion. The decorations and arrangements for refreshments, which followed later, were in the hands of the executive of the Catholic Women's League and the Christian Mothers' Society. Mrs. C. Snider, president of the League, had charge of the pretty floral decorations.

Seated on the stage were His Lordship Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Bishop of Peterboro, Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl, Rev. P. Costello, Mayor J. J. Turner, Dr. G. S. Cameron and Dr. F. P. McNulty. Dr. F. C. Neal occupied the chair. Ranged in the front rows were the fifteen probationers at the hospital, in their blue and white, with white caps, and back of them were seated a number of Catholic clergymen, including Rev. P. McGuire, Rev. J. Collins, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Rev. Jas. Guiry, Rev. J. McCarthy of Norwood and Rev. J. Finn, also many of the physicians of the city, among them Dr. A. Moir, Dr. Jas. V. Gallivan, Dr. Phyllis Young, Dr. D. Carmichael, Dr. A. Y. McNair, Dr. J. M. O'Brien, Dr. F. A. O'Reilly, Dr. M. Yelland, Dr. E. A. Hammond, and Dr. H. C. Cassidy, of Montreal, representative of the Standardization Board of the American College of Surgeons.

The programme opened with a few remarks by the chairman, Dr. Neal, who spoke of the progress made by the hospital since the first graduating exercises were held, fifteen years ago, when it held only twenty-seven beds, to the present time, when the former old operating room is used as an office, and the institution has ninety beds, three splendidly-equipped operating rooms, an X-ray room and a pathological department.

An address by Bishop O'Brien followed, in which he reiterated the congratulations of the first speaker, to the nurses, and thanked the doctors for their consistent kindness to the hospital, and their regular lectures. Addressing himself particularly to the graduates, His Lordship reminded them that "there is something Divine in assisting to heal the sick. This was one of the ways in which Our Lord proved His Divine power." Because of the aim and object of their lives being so very high, nurses are given a very special training, spending three years in study, under strict rule and discipline, sometimes irksome, but always for a good purpose. As well as the professional side of nursing, they are taught wonderful traits of character, such as charity and sympathy, and are taught as well how to make allowance for the whims of the sick.

His Lordship referred to an advertisement appearing in the local press for probationers at an American training school for nurses, and thought possibly this was an indication of the profession becoming thinned out.

He adjured the nurses to be true to God Almighty in the practice of their high calling, to be true to their patients, by always giving them the very best that can be given, and to be true to themselves. "If you are true to God and to your patients, you will be true to yourselves. If the hospital has been good to you, go out of the hospital then and bring credit upon it by giving of your very best to your patients, and in that way you will bring credit upon yourselves and please God. I wish you every success."

Dr. F. P. McNulty then presented the graduates with their diplomas and medals, the former tied with the white and gold ribbons of the hospital. He assured the audience that this year's graduates had reached a very high standard of efficiency, and suggested humorously, that, as the nursing profession was a constantly progressive one, that the present method of collective instruction by the doctors might be scrapped, and each doctor allowed to supervise the instruction of one particular nurse, not, however, going so far as to advocate allowing the physicians to choose their special pupils.

Dr. H. C. Cassidy, of Montreal, in the city in the interests of inspection of local institutions with regard to standardization methods, spoke briefly, congratulating the graduates on their advent into the nursing profession, congratulating the city on having such "an ideally located and equipped and admirably managed hospital in their midst," and congratulating the citizens generally on having such a "good-looking class of nurses graduate among you."

Dr. A. Moir expressed his "real pleasure" at being present, and in being able to join in congratulations to the nurses, on the commendable work done by them in the course just finished. He recommended to their attention three principles for use in the nursing profession; first, the idea of service. "No other calling gives such opportunity for real service as that of the trained nurse, and no higher type of life can be lived than the life of service. Our Master himself said: 'I came, not to be ministered unto, but to minister.' The second principle was that of sincerity. Deceit has no place in the life of a nurse or a physician. Sometimes anxious friends ask us to tell patients things that are not true, but honesty with a patients is essential. The third principle was sympathy. What is the reason that the child is always calling for its mother, but for the tenderness that is manifested in her every act? Kindness and love and sympathy are essential to the successful nurse."

Dr. Jas. V. Gallivan also added his congratulations to the general expression of opinion. He said: "You are graduating to-night from one of those benevolent institutions which has been a product of Christianity, established for the care of the sick and the needy. Christianity has never left suffering neglected. Before the Christian era, there were no hospitals, and it was not until the beginning of the great thirteenth century that a hospital for the acutely ill was established. That hospital is still in existence, and its motto is similar to your own. It was founded by Innocent Third, who looked with a sympathetic eye on the poor and helpless and sick, and is the model of the modern hospital."

Mayor Turner made a humorous little speech, alluding in passing to several experiences in his own household with training for the nursing profession. He corroborated, "from a layman's viewpoint," the opinion expressed by Dr. Cassidy as to the efficiency of St. Joseph's Hospital, and spoke of a recent trip there, when he inspected the X-ray room, and was put under the Ray himself, "so that they could find out if he had a heart." He was glad to hear that there are some places in the world where women had to take lectures from men, and explained for His Lordship's benefit his own interpretation of the advertisement for nurses in local papers, as gleaned from a trip to a sanitarium in the United States, where he had been told that thirty-three probationers in training out of a staff of forty-five were of Canadian birth, the superintendent assuring him that they were always anxious to get Canadian girls to train, "because they are a better type of girl, more reliable, and we like them better than the class of girl that offers herself for training on this side of the line."

A special prize for proficiency in bandaging, the first of its sort ever bestowed from the St. Joseph's Hospital Training School, was presented to Miss Almeara Feeley, one of the graduates, by Dr. G. S. Cameron, who spoke of the enjoyment he had received from his lectures on bandaging, and impressed on the nurses the necessity, while always paying attention to the basic principles of their progression, of also trying to have a certain amount of recreation and pleasure in their lives. He extended his congratulations to all members of the class on their skill in bandaging, and said they were competent to bandage anything, "from a broken toe to a broken heart."

Monsignor McColl, the final speaker of the evening, added his quota of congratulations. He thought that the atmosphere of the hospital and the fact that the nurses were regular church attendants had much to do with their proficiency in their work, and that the discipline exercised over their learning years, with the qualities of self-denial and self-control which they were compelled to practice, were excellent character formers. He drew attention to the fact that Dr. Cassidy, "an unbiased outsider," had commented on their good looks, and thought this was due to the absence of cosmetics. One speaker had mentioned that the computed cost of a graduate to a hospital was $2,000, but the reverend speaker thought it would be worth $2,000 to any girl willing to pay this sum to finish a three years' course with such a prospect of enhanced beauty before her. He also spoke of their excellent training in cooking, and of the great conscientiousness and precision with which they discharged their duties.

During the evening, intermissions in the programme of speeches were made, with excellent musical selections. Vocal numbers were given by Miss Mathilde Masson and Miss Ernestine McManus, with accompaniment by Miss Florence Giroux, an instrumental number was rendered by Miss Martha Baumer, and the Misses Milrred and Alma Archambault gave a piano duett. Master Gerald Hutchinson played "Traumerei" on the violin, accompanied by Lucille Nolan, who played also for the violin duett by Gerald Hutchinson and Joseph Nolan. The National Anthem at the close of the programme and a stirring march were played by the clever group of musicians composing St. Peter's High School orchestra, with Harold Armstrong as leader, and players in Jerry Collins, Francis O'Keefe and Joseph Nolan. Music for the dance which concluded the evening was also played by these young boys.

Dainty refreshments to about two hundred guests were served in the upper gymnasium and card rooms, at individual tables clustered about the big central table, decorated with pretty spring flowers. A bevy of young ladies from St. Peter's parish assisted in serving.

Cuticura Heals Itching Eczema On Arms and Face

"My trouble began with red blotches and itching and burning on my arms and face, and then eczema broke out with a rash. My face was disfigured and my clothing aggravated the breaking out on my arms. I could not put my hands in water, neither could I do my regular work. At night I lost my rest on account of the irritation.

"The trouble lasted about a month. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Leon Hallock, 104 Atkins St., Bellows Falls, Vt.

WOMAN SUFFERED FOR MONTHS

Weak and Nervous. Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Webbwood, Ont.—"I was in a very weak and run-down nervous condition, always tired from the time I got up until I went to bed. Sleep did not rest me at all. My sister recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and others told me about it, but it was from my sister's advice that I took it. It did not take long until I felt stronger, headaches left me and my appetite came back to me. I am a farmer's wife and have many things to do outside the house, such as milking, looking after the poultry, and other chores. I heartily recommend the Vegetable Compound to all who have the same trouble I had, for it is a fine medicine for women."—Mrs. Louis F. Elsasser, Hillcrest Farm, Webbwood, Ont.

Another Nervous Woman Finds Relief

Port Huron, Mich.—"I suffered for two years with pains in my side, and if I worked very much I was nervous and just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was sleepy all the day and didn't feel like doing anything, and was so nervous I would bite my finger nails. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me so much that I soon felt fine."—Mrs. Charles Beeler, 501-14th St., Port Huron, Mich.

Women who suffer from any feminine ailment should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

BRITAIN APPROVES OF FREE STATE MINISTER

LONDON, June 26. — (United News.)—Britain has finally approved the appointment of a Free State Minister to Washington.

The next step will be to submit an application to Washington for approval. It is not certain as yet whether the name of a Free State nominee will accompany the application, but it is known that Professor Timothy Smiddy, who is now in Washington, will be the eventual nominee if the United States approves his appointment.

Belleville Won 7 to 2 - Indians Scare the Cognawagas But Lose

PETES LOSE TO BELLEVILLE IN THE QUINTE CITY

Drop Another Game to the Trunks and Are Out of First Half Running.

BEHIND ALL WAY.

Belleville Jumps Into Lead With Three Runs in First Frame.

Although the Petes outhit Belleville in yesterday's league fixture in the Bay of Quinte city, the Trunks bunched their safeties better and were assisted by several defensive slips, with the result that Belleville won without trouble by 7 runs to 2, killing off any faint chance there was left for the Petes to figure in the first half honors.

The Solomon outfit did not put up the same battle they provided in Monday's fixture. Several of their fielding misplays were costly and they threw away chances by slow base running, rendering futile the fact that they made eleven hits as against nine by the Trunks.

The chief redeeming feature from a Peterboro standpoint were the fielding stunts of Legon and Holyman and the hitting of Holyman, Heckman and Swanston. Legon had several fine running catches and gathered in a fly from Harry Mills, turning a back flip but hanging tight to the ball. A little later he robbed Hagerman of a hit by stopping a fast liner with his glove and grabbing the ball with his bare hand.

Heckman pitched the whole game for the Petes. The right-hander's arm is far from being in good shape and he will have it examined by Bone-setter Bannister in Toronto this week. He had none of his old time speed yesterday and Belleville bunched four hits in the first inning for three runs. "Heck" fell back on his curve after that and was much more successful for the rest of the game, although he got the worst of several breaks.

Oulette, who shows little sign of the heavy grind, was not as hard to hit as in Monday's game but was strong in the pinches and was helped out by the Petes' bad work on the bases. Oulette allowed eleven hits but was in trouble only three innings. He was given good support by his team-mates.

The Petes started well enough when Legon drew a walk and raced to third on Johnston's sacrifice bunt. Swanston however flied to W. Mills in short left and Ross tore back and captured Heckman's long fly to deep centre.

Three for Belleville

Belleville got three. Ross lined to Hall in centre on the first ball but Weir walked, W. Mills singled to left and when Legon's throw got away from Helson, Weir scored and W. Mills reached third. Harry Mills clipped a single to centre, scoring his brother and Hagerman dropped a Texas Leaguer into right. Williams scratched a single on a slow roller to third, filling the bases and H. Mills registered while Johnston was tossing out Meahger Casey's fly to Legon ended the inning.

In the second Collins fanned. Holyman singled over Williams' head but tossed out Harrison and Helson rolled to Meagher.

For Belleville Oulette hit weakly For Belleville Oulette hit weakly and Ross and Weir struck out.

The Petes got two singles in the third but failed to score. Hall lined to Meagher and Legon popped to Weir. Johnston singled off Oulette's glove and Swanston followed with a single past first. Johnston was thrown out at third by Casey when he tried to take two bases on the hit.

In Belleville's half W. Mills tripled to deep centre and scored on H. Mills' sacrifice fly to Collins. Hagerman singled to left and advanced on a wild pitch but Helson threw out Williams and Johnston disposed of Meagher on a grass-cutter.

Bad base running threw away a counter for the Petes in the fourth. Heckman opened the inning with a triple to left, Mills falling and hurting his ankle as he tried to make the catch. Collins hit a languid roller to Oulette and was out at first and Heckman coming in standing up was doubled at the plate on H. Mills' throw to Hagerman. Holyman followed with a single to left, a perfectly good hit wasted as Harrison's fly to Weir ended the inning.

Belleville got two soft ones. Casey was walked to start with and Heckman slipped in fielding Oulette's tap and then threw badly to first giving the Belleville pitcher a life. Ross flied to Legon and Weir struck out. Swanston dropped the third one and Casey made a break for third, forgetting that the batter was out anyway and that the base runners were not forced. It was a "boner" but Belleville's luck held good, for after Casey had been caught between bases Johnston's throw hit him on the head and bounced into the crowd allowing the Trunks right fielder to score. W. Mills hit a roller to short which hopped high over Holyman's head and Oulette scored. Holyman made a sensational catch of H. Mills' high fly to put an end to the frame.

Helson started the Petes fifth by singling to short but Hall rolled to Oulette, Legon fanned and Oulette tossed out Johnston.

Legon tore off a beautiful running catch of Hagerman's smash down the left field foul line and then raced over and grabbed Williams' fly in the same territory. Meagher lifted a high one which Johnston took back of second.

In the sixth Swanston flied to W. Mills, Heckman singled over third. Collins was thrown out by Oulette and Holyman popped to Weir.

Casey flied to Collins, Oulette rolled to Heckman and after Ross had been passed Weir hit to Helson forcing Ross at second.

Harrison first up for the Petes in the seventh was hit but was forced at second when Weir running over to cover second for a steal took Helson's grounder near the bag. It would have been a hit ninety-nine times out of a hundred. Hall rolled to Williams and Legon fanned.

For Belleville W. Mills hit a hard one at Heckman who knocked it down and tossed the batter out. H. Mills skied to Harrison and Holyman knocked down Hagerman's liner with his gloved hand and caught the ball with his bare hand, a beautiful catch.

The Petes got their runs in the eighth. Johnston's hard hit liner was right in Williams' hands. Swanston singled to right and Heckman was hit. Manager Solomon batted for Collins and was extinguished on a roller to H. Mills. Holyman interjected his third hit, a single to center, scoring Swanston and Harrison hit a single between Meagher and Mills sending Heckman in. Helson was called out on strikes.

Belleville got one back. After Williams had fanned Meagher singled to right. Casey's fast liner was speared by Helson but Harrison lost the throw when Helson tried to double Meagher off first and the runner went to second. Oulette's high fly to right turned into a triple when Moore caught his spikes in a rut and fell as he was getting under the ball. Ross rolled to Heckman.

In the ninth Hall fanned. Legon beat out a hit to Williams and went to second on the third baseman's high throw but Johnston and Swanston both rolled to Oulette ending the game.

GOLF NEWS

HOYLAKE, England, June 25 (Canadian Press). — The field of 87 golfers who qualified yesterday for play in the British open championship, rested to-day in preparation for the two-day championship competition which will open over the Royal Liverpool Links here to-morrow morning.

It took superfine shooting to gain admission to the select circle, averages of 80 being necessary, as only cards of 158 and under qualified the entrants.

The field was led by the veteran, J. H. Taylor, with a remarkable 142. The championship play is over 72 holes.

INDIANS CHASE COGNAWAGAS TO EXTRA INNINGS

Curve Lake Crowd Gave East Peterborough Champions a Bad Scare.

SCORE WAS 12 TO 11.

Most Fun of the Season at Exhibition Park Last Evening.

Cognawagas got the surprise of their young lives at Exhibition Park last evening when George Coppaway's ball tossers from Curve Lake chased the East Peterborough League champions into an extra innings to gain a 12 to 11 victory. The game produced the summer's greatest laughing success before several hundred fans who were given a trillion marks' worth of fun and an epidemic of sore throats thrown in. Curve Lake sent over the first run and it was not until the teams were half way home that the Cogs scraped up a lead. To protect their margin, Williams, second string heaver, was relieved by Vannest the champs' first pitcher, and right then the fun started. Curve Lake proceeded to hit everything Vannest shot at the batters and to add to the hilarity, the infielders demonstrated their ability as soccer players. The Spalding was booted, kicked headed and otherwise manoeuvred to all parts of the field to the accompaniment of the Curve Lake merry-go-round on the runways. This sort of entertainment was provided until the Cogs' half of the eighth when Cripps got home with the winning run.

The Curve Lake team exhibited some nice throwing whips, and the battery work was real good. There was some fine fielding at first base. The visitors also showed good judgment on the bases.

The game drew the biggest crowd of the season.

The Indians scored the first run in the second inning, but the Cogs. tied the score in the third and brought in four more in the next. In the sixth, Vannesse, who relieved Williams on the rubber, allowed six hits, and the score was again tied, but another Cog. crossed the plate in their half. In the next inning the visitors brought in two men, putting themselves in the lead a second time. When the Cogs. came in they touched Taylor for 4 hits, a triple by Davis and a double by Williams, and brought in 4 runs. In the 7th the Indians also scored four but the Cogs. again evened up in their half and scored the winning run in the eighth.

Mat. Taylor, who was on the mound for Curve Lake, struck out three and was touched for 24 hits. Williams pitched good ball for the Cogs. in the first half of the game, striking out five and allowing four hits. Vannesse, in the last four innings, struck out three and allowed fifteen hits. The last half of the game was chiefly a slugging contest. Williams, Allen, J. Jacobs, W. Beaver and Williams each made a double and D. Davis made a triple. Wilson made a triple, a double, and a single in five times at bat. Shadgett made 3 singles in three times up.

BOWLING NEWS.

The lawn bowling enthusiasts of the city are looking forward to a big day on July 1st.

Three rinks from Campbellford and three from Cobourg have been invited to participate in a tournament on the local green. Peterboro will have ten rinks entered. Two games will be played in the afternoon and one in the evening. No trophy is at stake, but good prizes will be presented to the winners.

Campaigns to reduce infant mortality and the worst diseases of adults gives reason to hope for adding 10 years to the average human life.

WASHINGTON IS WASHING YANKS

Climbs Into Lead By Cleaning Up Series on World's Champions.

BABE MAKES 18TH.

NEW YORK, June 26.—(Canadian Press). — Washington retained first place in the American League and made a clean sweep of its four-game series with the world's champions by winning yesterday's contest, 3 to 2. Rain stopped the game at the end of the seventh. Ruth hit his 18th homer. Score:

Washington	2010000—3 5 0
New York	2000000—2 5 1

Marberry and Ruel; Bush and Schang.

DETROIT MOVES UP.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Urban Shocker was unable to hold the Detroit Tigers in check yesterday, and the Browns lost the third game of the series, 3 to 2. By winning, Detroit moved up from third to second place. Score:

Detroit	003000000—3 7 0
St. Louis	100000001—2 6 1

Collins, Dauss and Bassler; Shocker, Vangilder and Severeid.

BOSTON WON.

BOSTON, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—With the score tied in the ninth and two out, Ike Boone, pinch-hitting for Quinn, made a single which scored Todt with the run that enabled Boston to defeat Philadelphia, 4 to 3 yesterday. The second game was not played because of a heavy thunderstorm. Score:

Philadelphia	000000003—3 5 0
Boston	001101001—4 10 0

Burns, Naylor and Perkins; Quinn and O'Neill.

CHICAGO TOOK TWO.

CHICAGO, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—The White Sox evened the series with Cleveland yesterday, winning two games, 2 to 1 and 8 to 1, the first going ten innings. Connally gave but four hits, three of which were scratchy. Scores:

1st game—

Cleveland	0000001000—1 4 2
Chicago	0000001001—2 10 2

Chicago	20000310x—8 8 1

Roy, Cheeves, Brower and Myatt; Thurston and Crouse.

TORONTO LOST 8 TO 1.

Rochester Counted Six in the Seventh Inning and Added Two.

TORONTO, June 26.—(Canadian Press). — Walter Beall outpitched Wally Stewart in the first game of the series here yesterday, and Rochester won 8 to 1. Only his sensational support prevented the Tribe scoring on Stewart before the seventh, when they broke out and counted six. Merkle's fifteenth home run came with the bases loaded. Kelly saved two runs in the fifth when he made a circus catch of a short fly by Colan. Score:

Rochester	000000802—8 15 0
Toronto	000000010—1 4 1

Beall and Lake, Head; Stewart, Glazer, Faulkner and Vincent, Stanage.

THIRD VICTORY.

NEWARK, June 26. — (Canadian Press).—Pitcher "Cue-Ball" Ellis won his third victory since Sunday when he twirled the Newark Bears to a 7-3 victory over Baltimore in the first game of the series yesterday. Score:

Baltimore	100000101—3 8 1
Newark	01101110x—7 14 0

Parnham and McCarty; Ellis and Devine.

KINGSTON GETS ANOTHER BOOST

Defeated Oshawa Four to One in a Good Game Last Evening.

WAS NOT WALKOVER.

KINGSTON, June 26. — Canadian Press. — Kingston put a cinch knot on first place in the initial section of the C.O.B.L. running last evening, when they defeated Oshawa 4-1 in a neat game.

It was no walk-away. Oshawa scored first, and when Kingston scored in the third, kept on even terms until the sixth. In the eighth Dainty's support fell away badly and two runs put the game on ice.

Against Peterboro a short time ago Dainty pitched in losing form and won out. Last evening he pitched winning ball and lost. He had eleven strikeouts to his credit and allowed the heavy-swatting Ponies only seven hits, though one of these was good for four pillows and another for two. He walked two and hit one.

His opponent Kelly sailed along steadily. Oshawa olected six hits, with "Micky" Murray getting the only extra base on a two sacker in the third. Kelly walked one man, and fielded four chances perfectly.

Oshawa's four errors were all in booting the ball around after making the stop, with the exception of one by Dainty which gave a runner a life. Somerville had the only one for Kingston when he lost his footing in the rough going.

About 3500 fans saw the game, which was played with good overhead conditions, but a rather heavy diamond.

"Micky" Murray, Dainty, Tyson and R. Fair stood out for the visitors —their playing savoring of the sensational at times. A peculiar feature is that Oshawa marked up but three assists throughout the game. The outstanding play was Kelly's doubling up on Rodick and Tyson in the sixth when he grabbed Rodick's line drive and caught the visiting catcher napping off first.

TWO PLAYERS ARE BACK IN KINGSTON

KINGSTON, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—J. G. Nott, secretary of the C.O.B.L., who cancelled the certificates of Nickle and Summerville, of the Kingston team, notified the club yesterday that both had been reinstated. Summerville played in last night's game with Oshawa. Nickle was in uniform but did not play. The local team could not understand the action of Secretary Nott in cancelling their certificates, but it appears that the action was taken on a misunderstanding.

LAKIEVIEWS WON FROM CRESCENTS IN WEIRD GAME

Three Pitchers Fail to Stem Hitting Streak—15 Hits —15 Runs.

TIED THE LEAGUE.

Lou Lebarr Made Record by Fanning Twice in One Inning.

Three pitchers were used by the Crescents last night in an effort to check the Lakeviews, but the attempt was fruitless, as the Lakeviews hit everything the Crescent twirlers had to offer, and clouted them for 15 runs and 15 hits, while Whitehouse on the mound for the Lakeviews held the southerners to seven scattered hits and three runs.

It was a heavy hitting game throughout, with six two-base hits and six triples. Jack McDonough started on the mound for the Crescents, but was derricked after he had been touched for eight runs and five hits in the third innings.

Kinnealy took his place on the slab, and was little better, being walloped for four runs and four hits in the one inning he twirled.

Bill Collins was then called upon to do his stuff to try and pull the game out of the fire, but Lakeviews went after him just as hard as the rest, and in the fifth inning the Lakeviews netted three runs and five hits, including a double and a triple.

The Crescents sure showed the loss of the Bradley-Delahaye battery last night.

McDonough pitched nice ball in the first inning, but in the second after Whitehouse tripled he walked two men, filling the bases, and then turned around and struck out the next two batters to face him, retiring the side without having a run chalked against him. It was a great hole to get out of, but he got into a worse one in the third when the Lakeviews batted around and collected eight runs, making the score 8 to 2.

Tom Kinnealy took the mound, and succeeded in fanning the next man to face him. The Crescents were also helped greatly in this frame when McIntyre and Halliday forgot to touch the bases and were counted out.

Kinnealy took his place on the mound again in the fourth inning, but before he had the side retired four runners had crossed the plate.

It was up to Bill Collins to finish the game, but the first man up drove out a clean single, followed by a double, a single, and a triple, and three runs were chalked up. This made the fifteen, and it was enough to win the game handily, and the Lakeviews strutted home with another victory tucked under their belts.

The league is now tied up, with each team having two wins and a tie.

Ferg. Sheehy will likely be on the mound for the Crescents in their next game, and a pitchers' battle will likely take place, as Sheehy, who has been attending school in Toronto, has been reported to have greatly improved.

Whitehouse led his team in batting when he polled out two triples and a single in four trips up. Ash also came through with a triple, a double, and a single in four trips to the plate.

The feature catch of the game was made by Tom Kinnealy in centre field in the last inning when he tore back and reaped in a hard one that would have gone for three bases. A thing that happens once in a lifetime happened in this game. Lou LeBarr, the first sacker for the Lakeviews, struck out twice in the one inning.

MOLLA MALLORY IS ELIMINATED

Kathleen McKane, British Champion, Defeated Former U.S. Tennis Champ.

SUPERIOR PLAY.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Miss Kathleen McKane, British woman champion, yesterday eliminated Mrs. Molla Mallory, former United States champion, from the Wimbledon singles in straight sets. Miss McKane, who has been playing this year with remarkable speed and nimbleness, never gave Mrs. Mallory a chance. The British girl covered every inch of the court effectively.

It seems probable that Miss McKane will do battle for the honors of the tournament with the renowned Mlle. Lenglen. However, the British champion must yet meet tither Mrs. Edington, her noted compatriot, or Helen Wills, the present United States champion. Miss Wills has been picking since her disastrous defeat in the international championships last week.

Mrs. Satterthwaite yesterday eliminated another invading star in the person of Miss Eleanor Goss. Mrs. Marion Jessup, Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss George Wightman won their singles matches for the United States.

The feature match of the day was the battle between R. Norris Williams, II., of the United States, and P. Feret, of France. This was a hard-fought struggle, rivalling the spectacular Lacoste-Alonso affair of Tuesday.

SATURDAY'S GAME WILL SETTLE RACE

All Eyes Will Be Turned on Kingston-Peterborough Clash Here.

Although the Petes are now out of the running for the first half honors, all eyes will be turned on Saturday's game at Riverside Park which brings the fast-going Kingston Ponies into action against the Solomon crew. Kingston have won five games in a row and they need Saturday's fixture to give them undisputed possession of the first half championship. If the Ponies win they finish on top of the heap; if they lose Belleville or Oshawa have a chance to sew up the race. The latter two teams play in Belleville tomorrow night and back in Oshawa Saturday and both are pulling for the Petes to beat Kingston.

It is a great finish to a race in which all four teams have had their turn in leading and Saturday's game will be a fitting climax. The Petes would just about as soon beat Kingston as win the first half and they are determined to put an end to the Ponies winning streak. Kingston of course will exert every effort to cinch the first half honors by a victory.

Here is the league standing:

	Won	Lost
Kingston	7	4
Belleville	5	5
Oshawa	5	5
Peterboro	4	7

If Kingston beats Peterboro Saturday the race is over. No matter what happens in the Oshawa-Belleville series for the Ponies would finish with only four losses.

If the Petes beat Kingston, however, and either Belleville or Oshawa win the series from the other, there would be a tie up.

	Won	Lost
Kingston	7	5
Belleville	5	7
Peterboro	5	7
Oshawa	5	7

A double win for Oshawa would give this standing:

	Won	Lost
Kingston	7	5
Oshawa	7	5
Peterboro	5	7
Belleville	5	7

If Peterboro wins Saturday and the Belleville-Oshawa series is an even break the first half final standing would be:

	Won	Lost
Kingston	7	5
Oshawa	6	6
Belleville	6	6
Peterboro	5	7

Saturday's game here is the crucial fixture and even with the Petes out of the running it will be a red-hot tussle. If the Ponies win, it won't be because every man jack on the Peterboro line up has not given his best to beat them. The Petes are anxious to shake off their slump and getting into the winning habit again in order to get a flying start in the second half.

The game is called for 3 o'clock.

Tommy Holyman's work has featured the two games with Belleville this week. In the field the Petes short stop accepted thirteen chances in fine style, while he fattened his batting average with five hits out of nine times up.

Jake Solomon's appearance as a pinch-hitter in yesterday's game gave the Belleville fans a chance and they took fine advantage of it although Jake spoiled their fun by failing to strike out as they expected he would.

The second half schedule will commence on July 1st when Oshawa will be the attraction. The game will be played on the holiday morning.

Belleville are giving Oulette a terrible ride to the finishing post in the first half race. The big fellow pitched against Kingston on Wednesday and Friday of last week, against Peterboro on Monday and Wednesday and he has to face Oshawa tomorrow night and Saturday. That makes six games in ten days—and the labour may be all in vain.

CRICKET GAME ENDED IN DRAW

At the Exhibition grounds last night an interesting an enjoyable game was engaged in between teams representing the staff of The Examiner and the De Laval Cricket Club. The latter, winning the spin of the coin, elected to take first knock and ran up a total of 74, when they declared with three wickets to go, Coutts carrying his bat throughout the innings with 33 runs to his credit. The Examiner responded with a score of 71 runs for eight wickets, when failing light caused stumps to be drawn, the game ending in a creditable draw. The following is the detailed scores:

De Laval.

Coutts, not out	33
Hensby, run out	4
Whiteside, run out	5
Dyer (F.), c Dunkley, c Wyllie	15
Duggan, b Wyllie	11
Griffin, c and b Wyllie	1
Berwick, run out	0
Baurn, b Wyllie	2
Scrace, not out	0
Percy, did not bat
Extras	3
Total (for seven wickets).	74

Examiner.

Mann, not out	36
Taylor, b Dyer	5
Wyllie, run out	0
Dunkley, b Percy	16
Wallwork, b Dyer	6
Stanley, not out	1
Heron, c Dyer	0
Zeihr, b Dyer	0
Dewhurst, c Duggan, b Dyer.	0
Stocker, b Dyer	1
Chouinard, did not bat
Extras	6
Total (for 8 wickets)	71

A return game is being arranged for next Wednesday evening, starting at 6 sharp.

The hidden talent on the Examiner side was a revelation, and with more practice on the part of the older "hands" and some coaching of the "budding aspirants," the Examiner should be able to place a really good team on the field in this branch of sport.

HOLYMAN STARS IN FINE PLAYS

Peterboro Shortstop Made Two Circus Catches at Belleville.

In the report of the Belleville-Peterboro game appearing on another page of to-day's issue, several lines were omitted, with the result that Legon is given credit for a couple of sensational plays made by Tommy Holyman. The left fielder had several fine catches on his own account Holyman's two plays were sparkling. Is the fourth he ran back into left field and took a fly from Harry Mill's bat, falling over backward, but holding firmly to the ball. In the seventh Hagerman's liner that looked like a sure hit was twirled into an out when Holyman knocked the ball down with his glove and caught it with his bare hand before it could reach the ground. The short stop's work in the two games with Belleville has been high class.

YOUNG COPS RECRUITING

Jack Deannard Has Rounded Up Some Good Players and Wants More.

Sergeant Jack Deannard's Young Cops are coming along in good shape, and are due for a clash soon with Charlie Cutris' outfit. The use of King Edward Park has been granted by Mrs. W. R. Morris for practice, and there is a big turnout every evening.

The young recruits bat the ball around every night but Tuesday from 5:30 on, and all comers are welcome, provided they are under 15 years of age on May 1.

This is a great chance for any unattached boy to make a good team.

DE LAVAL C. C. AT CAMPBELLFORD.

The De Laval Cricket Club will hold a practice at the Exhibition Grounds to-morrow night. All members are requested to turn out as a team has to be picked to play at Campbellford on Dominion Day, July 1st.

POLICE PROTECTION FOR MONTREAL LETTERMEN

MONTREAL, June 26. — Extra police protection will be provided for the Montreal letter carriers, following the assaulting of two men on their rounds yesterday.

Postmaster Victor Gaudet appealed to Chief of Police Bella ger and it was later announced that the city police reserves and Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be employed on the duty.

The first assault was at three o'clock, when Etienne Depasse, one of the new employees, was attacked by five men while delivering letters in north east section of the city. He was badly bruised about the face and head and had to receive treatment at the general hospital.

Later in the afternoon, Eugene Roy, delivering mail in the west end of the new employees, was attacked His injuries were slight.

Postmaster Gaudet said last night that 241 of the 568 men who went on strike have made personal appeal for reinstatement.

AT THE CAPITOL

'HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND' IS A LAUGHING HIT

Starts in High and Never Lets Up —Audience Registers Well For It.

"Her Temporary Husband," a First National farce comedy, opens at the Capitol to-night.

The mission of "Her Temporary Husband" is to provoke laughter, to cure the blues and to take one away from the usual monotony of every day life. And it fills its mission one hundred per cent.

The picture provokes laughter—lasting laughter. Unlike most comedy features it is something more than a hodge-podge of "gags." It tells a story, based on a well-founded plot, unusual it is true, but nevertheless plausible and convincing.

The picture is a screen version of Sidney Paulton's popular stage comedy success of the same title. While taking the main theme of the play for its plot the director, John McDermott, enhanced the picture with added situations and circumstances which through the limitations of the stage could not have been included in the original play. He has evolved a rib-tickler which, without doubt, is one of the best of its kind ever shown in this city.

It would spoil the enjoyment of those planning to see the picture to outline the whole plot; it is so uproariously funny. But a few words of description will not harm.

Blanche Ingram is left a fortune by her aunt, the conditions being that she marry within 24 hours, but her husband must not be her present fiance. To win the legacy she decides to marrw a man who cannot live more than a few months at the most.

At a sanitarium she is wedded to a be-whiskered gentleman who presumably is a fitting candidate for the undertaker's wagon, but it turns out that the man she has married was very much alive—a chap who had made up to look like the graveyard candidate.

That is but a smattering of the droll plot, for the young man found that by marrying the girl he had precipitated himself into a heap of trouble and finds himself the target of a band of blood-thirsty cutthroats who had been hired to kill the old man.

The picture passes quickly from laugh to laugh, growing in intensity to a real explosive finish. Any one who fails to laugh at and with "Her Temporary Husband" is like the proposed bridegroom, a fit candidate for the undertaker.

Owen Moore is ideally cast in the character of "Tom Burton," the "temporary husband."

Sidney Chaplin, brother of the famous Charlie, is right at home as a laugh producer in the role of 'Jull,' a lugubrious butler. Sylvia Breamer is charming, too, as "the girl in the case."

Other well-known film celebrities who complete the well-balanced cast, are Tully Marshall, Chuck Reisner, George Cooper and others.

AT THE ROYAL

DOUGLAS MACLEAN HEADS SUPERB CAST OF STARS IN INCE COMEDY DRAMA.

A Feminine Jackie Coogan Featured at Royal To-Day.

The selection of the cast, "The Sunshine Trail," involved several new problems. For one thing it was necessary to find leading players who could "double" both as grownups and as children. In a novel sequence, there is a flash back to "kid days" and the audience has a chance to see some favorite stars as they looked before fame overtook them.

Douglas MacLean, star of "The Hottentot," "Bellboy 13," "23½ Hours' Leave," and "A Man of Action," has an ideal role in this new Ince comedy.

Little Muriel Frances Dana cast as a little boy who carelessly allows herself to be kidnapped by a woman crook is the centre of interest whenever she appears on the screen. Muriel has been called "a feminine Jackie Coogan," and plays a boy's role with gusto. She can boo-hoo and then turn on the laughs without a moment's intermission. Moreover, she shows that she can out-eat any kid actor in the film business.

Edith Roberts is the sweetheart of the story while Rex Cherryman has the thankless role of a spoiled son of the old home town who makes life miserable for the genial James MacTavish (Douglas MacLean). Douglas MacLean, Edith Roberts and Rex Cherryman all appear both as "grown-ups" and school children in "The Sunshine Trail" and their antics as kids are the best bits of light comedy seen in many a moon.

Four other prominent players were chosen for important roles. Albert Hart plays Colonel Duckworth, the irascible father of an irritatingly egotistic son. Barney Furey and Josephine Sedgwick flit through the dramatic scenes as a pair of flivver crooks and in their nefarious schemes they are assisted by William Courtright.

AT THE REGENT

STRIKING PICTURE OFFERS POWERFUL NARRATIVE OF DUAL PERSONALITY AND ROMANCE.

"The Wolf Man," Featuring John Gilbert, Pleases Opening Audience At the Regent—Cast Is Capable—Picture Reveals Strong Moral and Pays Tribute to Men of High Principle.

The dual personality of a man whose will is too weak to resist the temptations of drink, is strikingly portrayed by John Gilbert as "The Wolf Man," a Fox picture, which opens an engagement of 3 days at the Regent Theatre to-night. Gilbert's work is remarkable and it necessarily had to be in presenting the odd character of the story.

The story concerns the Honorable Gerald Stanley, youngest son of a noble family in England, whose weakness for drink is known from end to end of London. Under its influence, he loses his identity as a gentleman of high ideals and becomes a beast—"The Wolf Man." Following these occasions he is completely unable to remember what occurred.

His older brother, in love with Geraid's fiance, takes advantage of one of these lapses to tell the boy that he was responsible for the death of the girl's brother. In the guise of friend and brother he urges Gerald to go away.

The youth sails for Canada and becomes a lumberman in the northern Quebec timber country. The brother, back in London, tells the girl that Gerald pushed her brother to his death during a quarrel after a drinking bout in a London club.

In the timber country, Gerald fights the battle against himself and conquers. He also fights numerous and sundry half-breeds and passes through experiences which bring thrill after thrill into the picture. When a year has passed he receives a letter announcing the marriage of his former fiance and his brother. Then, he gives in to the old weakness again and meets the other girl.

He is "The Wolf Man" when he meets her. He carries her through the wilderness, shoots rapids in a canoe and performs like a demented cave-man generally. And when the effects of the drink pass away, she finds that the brute has become a gentleman, deeply regretful, very humble. And then she loves him. In London, the older brother confesses his lie on his death bed.

WIND UP THE DAY RIGHT!

ENGLISH GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Open Play Started This Morning at Hoylake With Big Following.

DIFFICULT FIELD.

HOYLAKE, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Fine, warm weather, tempered by winds from the sea, was in prospect for the start of the British open golf championship this morning, in which 80 professionals and six amateurs are entered. Two rounds will be played to-day and two on Friday.

Everyone who has observed the qualifying rounds seems to think that the open is remarkably open. No one is an outright favorite with the bookmakers, who have come into Hoylake as though it were a racing centre. Most of the expert observers go no further than to cautiously predict that eight men—four of them Britons and four Americans—are most likely to be the ones fighting for the trophy when the final round begins.

The British favorites are George Duncan, Abe Mitchell, Arthur G. Havers and E. R. Whitcombe. Whitcombe was close behind Havers when the latter won the trophy last year.

The big four from the United States are Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Jim Barnes and MacDonald Smith.

In addition to the Britons and Americans there is a trio of Frenchmen — Aubrey Boomer, Raymond Botcatow of La Boulie, and Arnaud Massy of Neville. The half dozen amateurs who survived the qualifying round are Cyril Tolley, Roger Wethered, Ernest Hassall, Samuel Robinson, M. S. Walker of the Royal Liverpool Club and W. L. Hope.

To-day will be a very long day for those who like to keep an eye on what the stars are doing, and that includes the vast majority of thousands who always tramp around in the rough watching the championship struggle. Duncan and Barnes will tee off first, the American hitting his opening drive at 8.30.

There have been no showers or rainstorms at Hoylake for several days. This being England and June, almost constitutes a minor drought. As a result of lack of moisture and 16 hours or more of daily sunshine, the championship course is becoming exceedingly fast. To prevent the greens from becoming slippery, as was the case in the amateur championships of 1921, water pipes have been laid to all of them.

The hotels and rooming houses of Hoylake and all the other neighboring seaside resorts are filled with golfing enthusiasts, who have come over to this side of England to see the championships. The Royal Liverpool course—the championship course—is very convenient by either train or motor to Manchester, Liverpool and Birmingham, from where thousands are expected to come to watch both days' play.

FRED BRETONNEL DEFEATED FRUSH

Englishman Was Thoroughly Whipped, But He Lasted Eight Rounds of the Twenty Round Bout.

PARIS, June 25 (Canadian Press) —Fred Bretonnel, the lightweight champion of Europe, defeated Danny Frush, the English lightweight, in the eighth round of a twenty-round match here last night

Frush was unable to respond to the bell, and Bretonnel therefore scored a technical knockout.

The defeat of Frush by the French boy created a sensation. The Englishman was thoroughly whipped, and perhaps not 50 out of the 5,000 spectators who packed the Cirque de Paris thought Bretonnel had a chance to stay the twenty rounds before Frush, who on 1st June knocked out Eugene Criqui, the French idol, in the eighth round of the twenty-round bout.

Bretonnel weighed in at the lightweight limit of 135 pounds. At this weight he had an advantage of about 6 pounds over Frush.

More than 150,000 miles of motion picture films are produced in the United States every year.

GOLF GRIND IS HARD ON CHAMP

Walter, a Midget to Begin, Weighed 116 Pounds at End of Fight.

BIG JOE WILLIAMS.

Cyril Walker is the smallest player to win the open golf championship since 1908 when half-pint Freddie McLeod strode on to victory at the Myopia Hunt Club. Walker is even smaller than McLeod.

The New Jersey professional weighed 122 pounds at the start of the championship. After he had run down the winning putt on the seventy-second green at Oakland Hills he weighed 11 6pounds. In two days, then, he dropped six pounds. That gives you an idea of the terrifc strain a golfer faces in the $50,000 championship." A bigger man—a man of the Ted Ray type—would have dropped about twenty pounds.

Walker came through mainly because he was hitting his shots well and did not have to "fight" for his scores. He was not often in trouble. and the blustery weather gave him only a modicum of trouble.. Walker's game is built essentially on wrist action and the secret of playing in gales, such as existed at the Michigan course, is all wrist control.

This is one reason why a midget golfer was able to survive in a battle where stamina and endurance are all-important factors. Walker didn't cave in at the knees, as most of the little fellows do. The course had something to do with this. While Oakland Hills is not flat, neither is it mountainous. One doesn't need to be a human fly in order to negotiate it. On a course more billowy Walker might not have been so successful.

Another thing that helped him was the sectional qualifying innovation, which separated the qualifying test and the championship proper into two different events. The several days' rest he got in between the two events certainly wasn't hurtful.

Heretofore the field qualified on opening day and plunged immediately into the championship play the next, continuing through three days in all. Obviously a two-day test is less exacting in physical demands than a three-day test.

TORONTO GIRL BEATEN.

Ada MacKenzie Defeated at Buffalo in Golf Tournament.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, upset pre-tournament expectations yesterday in her defeat of Ada MacKenzie, of Toronto, last year's runner-up, in the second round of the Women's Invitation Golf Tournament on the links of the Buffalo Country Club. The Toronto girl, former Canadian champion, was eliminated with comparative ease, 6 up and 5 to play.

Edith Cummings, of Chicago, national women's champion, and Glenna Collett, of Providence, R.I., former national champion, and tournament title defender, came through the second round without being fully extended.

Miss Helen Padget, Ottawa, defeated Mrs. Hope Gibson, Hamilton, four up and three to play.

England's smallest borough is Montgomery, with 591 inhabitants.

WESTERN TEACHERS SAIL FOR ENGLAND

About 200 Will Leave Winnipeg on Wednesday For Montreal, Where They Will Set Sail From Friday.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 25th—(Canadian Press). —Approximately 100 Western Canadian School Teachers will leave Winnipeg, Wednesday morning, July second, over Canadian Pacific lines for Montreal, from where they will sail two days later to spend the summer months abroad. The trip, which is an annual event arranged by the Overseas Educational League under the direction of Major Fred Ney, of Winnipeg, covers some of the most interesting and historical points in Great Britain and the continent. The party, which will be augumented by 130 teachers from the public schools of Ontario and 40 from the province of Quebec, eight from New Zealand, eight from Australia and two from Newfoundland, will sail on the C.P.R. S.S. "Marloch," bound for Belfast. From Ireland the party will journey to Scotland for six days and then travel through England, and once to France, sailing from Cherbourg late in August for Montreal. The return ocean voyage will be made on the S. S. Montreal which has been chartered by the League. The third class portion of the ship will be occupied by 220 undergraduates from the University of Toronto, McGill and Winnipeg. There will also be a party of 40 Girl Guides returning from an educational tour abroad.

POSTAL WORKERS HOLD A MEETING

Claim To Have a New Offer From Ottawa.

TORONTO, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—The Executive Committee of the postal strikers is in receipt of an offer from Ottawa, brought here to-day by Charles Collins, president of the Toronto Liberal Association, and Vice-President R. D. Ross and W. H. McGuire, which will be considered at a closed meeting of the men in the Labor Temple this afternoon.

Such was the announcement made amid tumultuous applause by Gordon R. Jackson, president of the Federation, at this morning's mass meeting. The offer was first considered by an Executive meeting this morning. The general expectation is that a settlement of the strike may result from the offer.

What was referred to as a new offer of the Dominion Government by Gordon R. Jackson before a mass meeting this morning apparently is the statement contained in the letter of Hon. Charles Stewart to J. E. Archer, secretary of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees under date of June 18: "Opportunity will be given to representatives of employees in the postal department or in other departments of the Government who have objections, to file against the salary revision proposed by the Civil Service Commission to fully present their views to a subcommittee of the Government and to discuss such matters of differences as fully as may be necessary to ensure a thorough understanding and, it is hoped, final and satisfactory agreement on points in dispute."

A. E. SMITH PLACED BEFORE CONVENTION

He Was Placed Before the Democratic Convention For Nomination For President of U.S.

NEW YORK, June 26. —(Canadian Press). — Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, was formally placed before the Democratic National convention to-day for nomination for the presidency of United States. In course of presentation of his name, Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself nominated for vice presidency four years ago at San Francisco convention and now serving as campaign manager for Mr. Smith said New York Governor, is most dangerous adversary that Republican party ever had to fear. And his name spells Victory.

After comprehensive recital of governor Smith's record during years he has served in public office, picturing him as a warrior "invincible in defence of right and in attack on wrong," Mr. Roosevelt said Democrats of United States "will stand without fear and without hesitation loyally behind." Mr. Smith as nominee of convention.

"Picture the coming campaign," Mr. Roosevelt said, "Imagine ringing through halls of nation this man's denunciation of official corruption, of un-American isolation, of sordid tariffs for benefit of few, attacking as only he can, Republican onslaught on reserve powers on States. Imagine his thrust and his genial sarcasm burning out truth where all men can see it; eloquence of his simple clean out oratory; Wave of understanding and belief in him which will follow his steps.

Tentative draft of democratic platform, containing alternative proposals of Klu Klux Klan and League of Nations was submitted to-day to plat form sub committee of eleven.

FRANK KELLOGG WILL REPRESENT U. S. GOVT.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(Canadian Press).—Frank B. Kellogg, American Ambassador to Great Britais, will represent the United States government at a conference called to meet in London, on July 16th to discuss the ways and means for putting into effect the Dawes' Reparation plan.

Ambassador Kellogg will be assisted by Col. James A. Logan, Jr. Unofficial American representative on Reparations Commission.

The announcement was made last night by the White House following the receipt of an invitation from Premier Macdonald to send a representative to the conference either official or unofficial.

The most severe earthquake in America occurred in the heart of the Mississippi valley in 1811-1812.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. T. SMART.

The death occur this morning at 94 Lindsay Avenue, Toronto of Mrs. J. T. Smart.

The deceased was born in Bristol, England, in 1837, and was married in 1869 to her husband, who survives her; also five children: two sons, Messrs J. T. Smart, and William H. Smart, of Toronto, and three daughters, Mrs. A. J. Downing, Toronto, Mrs. G. A. Goheen, and Mrs. O. S. Matchett of this city.

She came to Canada in 1853, residing in Kingston and Peterboro, removing to Toronto about twenty years ago. When living in Peterboro she was a member of the Murray Street Baptist church, transferring as a charter member to the Park street Baptist church when it was first forming, taking a very active part.

On her removal to Toronto she was a member of the College Street Baptist, later of Olivet Baptist church.

Service will be held at her late residence, 94 Lindsay Avenue, Toronto, to-morrow evening, conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. Hale, of Olivet Baptist church, and on Saturday morning her remains will be brought to Peterboro, arriving on the noon C.P.R. train, funeral taking place from the residence of her son-in-law's, Mr. G. A. Goheen, 293 Dalhousie street, service at 2:30 p.m., conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Rose of Murray Street Baptist church.

BALTIMORE EXCURSION

The Stoney Lake brought an excursion from Baltimore to the city yesterday under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Union Church. Some 250 excursionists enjoyed the sail across Rice Lake and up the Otonabee, and also their sojourn in Peterboro.

EAST CITY BEAVERS LOST TO CRESCENTS

In a midget game at the Oval last night the Sacred Heart defeated the East City Beavers by the score of 8 to 6. Sacred Heart were leading 8 to 9 till the sixth inning, when Grant took Masterson's place on the mound. Grant was as wild as a hawk, and before he had the side retired six men had crossed the plate. He was yanked in the seventh, and Masterson once more took his place on the slab and finished the game in great style. Callidyne and Johnston did the hurling for the Beavers but they were hit hard and often, and could not stop the onpour of Crescent runs. Brooks and Garvey did the receiving for the Beavers, while Bannon was behind the plate for the Sacred Heart.

KINGSTON WOMAN HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

KINGSTON, Ont., June 26. — (Special). — Crown-Attorney T. J. Rigney states that Mrs. Inez Morris, the young woman under arrest in connection with the body of the newly born infant found in the Rideau River, close to Kingston, last Friday evening, will be charged with not securing proper medical attention and illegally disposing of the body of the infant.

There will be no charge of concealment of birth, as it is understood one has thirty days in which to register any vital statistics.

While there is sympathy with the young woman, the law has to take its course.

BOWMANVILE MOURNS OVER MALLORY DEATH

BOWMANVILLE, June 26. — (Canadian Press.)— George Leigh Mallory's death while climbing Mount Everest has caused keen regret among those who met him while he was visiting his uncle, the late Wilfrid Leigh-Mallory and Mrs. Leigh-Mallory at "The Firs," in Bowmanville, in March of 1923. His visit here had a sad ending, for his uncle, just after seeing him off at Bowmanville station, met with an accident from which he died two weeks later. Mrs. Leigh-Mallory, his aunt, and her son, still reside at "The Firs" on King street east.
